BRA Has Major Role in Bicentennial Planning

According to the organization charts, the BRA's role in the city's bicentennial observance is to provide "planning for physical and environmental improvements."

Translated into action this means that the BRA has been involved in activities which range from the cleanup of the Phipps Burial Ground in Charlestown to the intricacies of planning a capital budget for bicentennial improvements.

Whether it is historic preservation activities or transportation planning required for the increased volume of people expected to visit Boston in 1975, the BRA's efforts are being coordinated under the watchful eye of Martin Adler, the BRA's project director for Boston 200.

Some indication of how the pace of Boston 200 activities will quicken as 1975 nears is the project which is literally outside the window of City Hall, i.e., the Fanueil Hall Markets restoration project, which is part of the BRA's waterfront urban renewal project.

The markets, of course, will be a focal point of the bicentennial celebration, but what is being done there is only the beginning of a wide range of historic restoration projects of various kinds which will be done before the bicentennial.

Following necessary research and documentation, BRA historic preservation staff has submitted three buildings and five districts in the city — ranging from a few blocks in Charlestown to a major portion of the South End — of local historic value to the National Register of Historic Places. Mr. Adler explains that buildings must be on the Register to be eligible for federal historic preservation funds. "Because there is no specifically designated federal money for the bicentennial," he says, "our approach is to use existing programs to achieve bicentennial goals.

"The city and private organizations have applied for a number of preservation grants, and we hope they will come through in time for 1975," he adds.

In transportation, BRA staff is working to relate ongoing city-wide traffic plans and projects to the specific needs projected for the bicentennial, and to coordinate the city's programs with those of the commonwealth. Again, existing funding programs must be relied upon, particularly the TOPICS program, which provides for half state and half federal government funding for traffic improvements.

Mr. Adler notes one BRA undertaking that should hearten Boston residents as well as visitors. "We've done a signing study for Boston 200 that provides an inventory of all directional signs found along the eleven trails proposed for the bicentennial. We hope to replace con-

OUR BOSTON

The Mayors of Boston from 1884 to 1901

In 1884, Augustus Pearl Martin presided as mayor of Boston. General Martin was born November 23, 1835, in Piscataqua, Maine, and was brought to Boston early in life. He attended public and private schools, and engaged in the leather trade. He enlisted in the army at the outbreak of the Civil War, and his bravery in leading a battery to the top of "Little Round Top" helped greatly in achieving the Union victory. He was chief marshal at the dedication of the Army and Navy Monument and at the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of Boston. After much urging he became, in 1883, the Citizens and Republican candidate for mayor, and gave the city a "plain, practical, resolute, and honest government." He was made a chairman of the Board of Police under Greenhalge, to rid the city of crime and to enforce the laws. His enemies brought charges against him, but the council did not sustain them. At the time of his death, on March 13, 1902, he was water commissioner.

Hugh O'Brien served four terms as mayor, from 1885 to 1888. He was born in Ireland, July 13, 1827, and came to this country while a child. He went to the public schools, but left at the age of fusing and redundant signs with clearer international-style signs. Also, we've done an inventory of street intersections in some parts of the city — including the Freedom Trail path, Charlestown, Beacon Hill, all of the downtown, and the North End and South End — that are lacking street name signs, and we hope to get these up as well."

Another sign project is the researching of old street names in the parts of the downtown and the North End that existed in 1815, with the idea of installing new signs with the old and new names for all of these streets.

The recommendations of these studies have been passed on to the city's Traffic and Parking Department for further processing and implementation in the near future through the TOPICS program.

"BRA staff has also drawn up and costed out a capital improvements budget request for the city, covering improvements directly related to the bicentennial," Mr. Adler says. It is based on the community wishes expressed at numerous meetings held in Boston's neighborhoods as part of Boston 200's neighborhood program. The results of these meetings were reviewed by bicentennial staff, Little City Hall staff, and the BRA district planners, and further discussed with community groups. The outcome was a list for each neighborhood of local goals to be met by April, 1975, the start of Boston 200, and included in these goals is the physical improvement of at least one site in each neighborhood.

The budget request has been given to the city's Parks and Recreation, Public Works, and Traffic and Parking Departments for further work and implementation.

Other BRA participation in Boston 200 activities has included the closing of Salem Street, in the North End, to traffic for most of each day and all day Saturday, creating a pedestrian shopping area.

"This project has been extremely successful. Encouraged by special parking rates at the Government Center Garage, and a free shuttle bus into the North End, many people who have never been to the North End before have discovered the area, and they have been most enthusiastic."

Initiated by the Salem Street merchants (who are paying for the free shuttle bus), the project has been a cooperative effort by Boston 200, the North End Little City Hall, Summerthing, the BRA, and the city's Traffic and Parking, Police, and Real Property Departments.

Also in cooperation with Boston 200 and other departments and agencies, the BRA is coordinating a pilot program for historic burial ground cleanup and documentation. With assistance from the Parks Department, young people from Charlestown — hired through the Youth Activities Commission — are cleaning up, repairing, and learning about the Phipps Street Burial Ground in Charlestown, one of the oldest cemeteries in the city. If this project is judged successful, others like it may be done in other Boston neighborhoods as well.

Besides these specific activities, Mr. Adler adds that the BRA provides Boston 200 with technical assistance — mapping, graphics, and photography — on a continuing basis.

"Boston 200 must be — and is — a cooperative effort in order to be successful," says Marty Adler.

twelve to earn his living in newspaper work and publishing, and later entered politics, where he served almost continuously from 1875 to 1883 on the Board of Aldermen. He was a strong advocate of public parks, and a powerful argument of his caused the city to acquire the Franklin Park land in West Roxbury, the Back Bay land, and the large tract at City Point. Always a champion of the laboring classes, he was most potent in passing ordinances regulating the pay of men working for city contractors. He endeavored to limit the municipal expenditures, so that the amount to be raised by taxes would be greatly decreased. During his four terms as mayor, he showed great concern in making the necessary changes in offices and in controlling the expenses made by changes in business methods. After retiring from the mayoralty, he was appointed by Mayor Matthews to the Board of Survey for planning streets. He died August 1, 1895.

Thomas Norton Hart was the twenty-eighth mayor of Boston, serving in 1889 and 1890 and again in 1900 and 1901. Mr. Hart was born in Reading, January 20, 1829, and after a country school education, came to Boston, a penniless boy, to seek his fortune. He acquired a competency in mercantile business, and became president of the Mount Vernon National Bank. From 1879 to 1881 he was a member of the Common Council, and in 1882, 1885, and 1886 a member of the Board of Aldermen. He was four times defeated for mayor, and three times elected. As alderman, he opposed the granting of a franchise to the Bay State Gas Company "to enter the streets of Boston for the sole purpose of making money." While mayor, he attended strictly to his duty, seeing that the streets were swept, the city's finances were put into systematic shape. He opposed the extinction of the City Council in 1897, and also acts of the legislature which allowed the city to incur further debts, believing, however, that money should be spent for

NEW VOLUNTEER PROGRAM

Volunteer Services for the Harbor Mental Health and Mental Retardation Area is beginning a new volunteer case aide program. This is a program in which persons volunteering as case aides will work on a one-to-one basis with persons who are mentally ill or who have a special need for a supportive relationship.

The role of case aides might include assisting with resocialization of chronic patients, visiting elderly or lonely persons, or assisting persons in coping with everyday life problems, such as helping an overwhelmed young mother.

Volunteers are being sought particularly from the communities of the harbor catchment area, which includes the Boston neighborhoods of Beacon Hill/West End, the North End, Charlestown, and East Boston, and the communities of Chelsea, Revere, and Winthrop. Persons volunteering as case aides need no special skills or educational background. The program needs people who are able to make a one-year commitment and who can be available for volunteering two or three hours a week. All case aides will also attend group supervision meetings, which will provide a chance to talk with other volunteers and staff to exchange ideas, discuss any problems if they occur, and learn more about mental illness. Supervision meetings will be held weekly during the day.

Anyone who is interested in participating in this program or who would like further information is asked to call Volunteer Services at the Erich Lindemann Mental Health Center, 727-7103.

NEW COACHES FOR MBTA SUBURBAN RIDERS

The first ten cars of a fleet of seventy stainless steel coaches have been placed in service on Penn Central commuter lines to Franklin and Needham. Originally built for use of such luxury trains as "The Merchants Limited" and "The Yankee Clipper," the cars will replace older equipment and significantly upgrade service to the southwestern and western suburbs.

MBTA General Manager Joseph C. Kelly, whose Authority subsidizes the railroad's suburban operations, described the rolling stock as "a major improvement over present equipment." The MBTA's new chairman, John T. Doolittle, Jr., noted that the equipment will "improve dependability and comfort for the Penn Central operation."

The new cars contain 64 conventional coach seats, plus a twelve-seat smoking lounge at one end. Prior to entering Boston commuter service, the cars were operated in suburban service in the New York area. They were completely rehabilitated in 1970.

The first train to be scheduled with the new equipment is No. 723. The 5:20 to Needham Heights will also use new cars. As the remaining sixty cars are delivered, they will replace all existing rolling stock in the Penn Central area. The best of the older equipment will be retained so the MBTA and Penn Central will be able to increase service to the western and southwestern suburbs in the face of the energy crisis.

OIL PRICES: UP, UP AND AWAY

The Boston Consumers' Council has reported that the average price of home heating fuel in Boston during the third week of December was 33 cents a gallon, up from 27.5 cents two weeks ago.

A survey of 130 dealers revealed a price range of 22.8 to 45.5 cents per gallon, according to Richard A. Borten, executive director of the council.

He said 21 percent of the dealers surveyed, however, reported prices ranging from 35 to 45 cents per gallon.

If prices for the remainder of the winter were to remain at the current level, which is unlikely, the average Boston homeowner could expect to pay $530 this year to heat his home unless steps were taken to reduce consumption.

This compares with last year's average heating bill of $337.

The average Boston homeowner should expect to spend $91.47 for home heating oil in January. This figure is based upon the January home oil consumption of 276 gallons, which includes an 8 percent reduction in oil use.

Mr. Borten said not only has the price of oil gone up 61 percent over the cost one year ago, but thousands of homeowners will be expected to pay cash.

The Consumers' Council bi-weekly survey of 130 local fuel dealers showed that the average price for 100 gallons of home heating oil in Boston has jumped more than 20 percent in the past six weeks, from $27.58 November 8 to $33.14 today.

Several area dealers refused to reveal the price they were charging for fuel oil.

"The days of home heating oil costing 30 cents a gallon will soon be over," Mr. Borten said.

"On November 21 only 27 percent of the 130 oil dealers included in our survey were charging more than 30 cents a gallon. Today more than 66 percent of the dealers are selling at prices more than 30 cents a gallon.

"More than 60 percent of the dealers surveyed said they were unable to take on new customers.

"A majority of the remaining dealers surveyed said they would take on new customers only if the buyer could pay cash on delivery."

MINI SKYLAB AT MUSEUM OF SCIENCE

Skylab has landed at Boston's Museum of Science.

At least, a one-fifth-scale model of the orbiting space station has arrived at the museum, and is now suspended in the Great Well of the museum's west wing.

A home away from home for the astronauts, Skylab orbits the earth at an angle of 50 degrees to the equator and at an altitude of 270 miles. From this vantage point it can observe all sections of the United States. And from the vantage point afforded museum visitors they may observe all sections of the model space station.

The Skylab program has three main purposes: to monitor the sun's activities with the Apollo Telescope Mount; to conduct medical investigation on the impact on man of long-term space travel; and to evaluate the earth's resources and environment.

The Skylab model, complete except for the Command and Service

Module, was built for the museum by Engineering Dynamics Corporation of Westford. The background material and design were prepared by members of the museum staff.

There is no charge above museum admission to see the Skylab model.

MOTORISTS, TAKE NOTICE

Your car can be towed even if there are no "tow zone" signs posted at the curb. The prime parking areas likely to result in towing are:

(1) Next to a hydrant; (2) on a crosswalk; (3) at an intersection; (4) in any spot that would impede traffic — such as on a very narrow street — or block emergency apparatus.

It can be expensive. The basic tow fee is $12. Then there is the storage charge at one of three lots and the fine — which could be up to $15.

And if the vehicle is unclaimed after sixty days it will be sold at auction.

DORCHESTER LIBRARY CLOSES SATURDAYS

Heat and light conservation measures adopted by the City of Boston's Real Property Department have resulted in the closing of the Uphams Corner Branch of the Boston Public Library on Saturday mornings. The branch library is located in a municipal building which houses other city services, normally closed on Saturdays.

When the present fuel and energy crisis has ended, consideration will be given to the possible resumption of Saturday service at this location.

Personnel Order No. 421

The Police Commissioner, having heard the complaint of Capt. Joseph J. Cummings, Communications Division, against Patrolman Donald E. Green of that division, has made the following finding:

That Patrolman Green was in violation of Department Rule 54, section 2 (c) insofar as on Sunday, August 26, 1973, he was not in proper uniform and failed to obey the uniform regulations of the Police Commissioner issued on May 8, 1973. As a consequence of this violation, Patrolman Green was ordered suspended for a period of one day, that of November 21, 1973, and was reinstated the following day.

Under the provisions of G. L., chapter 31, section 43 (e), Patrolman Green requested a hearing before the Police Commissioner and this right was exercised with counsel present at 1 P.M., on Wednesday, November 21, 1973, at Police Headquarters. As a result the above suspension of one day to Patrolman Green is hereby reaffirmed.

It is important to the morale and efficiency of the Boston Police Department that police officers on duty work in proper uniform, particularly when specifically ordered to do so.

ANNUAL LISTING OF RESIDENTS

The City of Boston Board of Election Commissioners and the Police Commissioner have announced that the annual listing of residents is now under way and will continue throughout the winter months. Police officers will call at every home to gather the following information: name, year of birth, residence January 1, 1974, residence January 1, 1973, occupation, and citizenship of everyone over seventeen years of age.

Residents are urged to have this information in the home for the officer when he arrives. This is essential for those persons who are registered voters. Should the officer not receive information concerning a person, that person's name may be omitted from the voting list.

In addition to personal information the officers will also be seeking information about dogs.

The following coupon may be clipped for your convenience to leave for the officer when he arrives.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HOSPITALS

DEAR SIR:

In accordance with the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals at its meeting of August 23, 1973, I hereby authorize amending the contract between the City of Boston Model City Administrator, the City of Boston Department of Health and Hospitals, and Trustees of Health and Hospitals of the City of Boston, Inc., (Trustees), under which the trustees have provided speech, hearing, and language services at the Family Life Centers in the Model City Neighborhoods for the period September 1, 1972, through December 31, 1972, at a cost not to exceed $41,000, said contract having been approved by the Mayor on March 9, 1973.

This amendment involves no increase in the original allotted expenditure, but expands the term of this contract to a ten-month period commencing on June 1, 1972, and ending on March 31, 1973. The purpose is to enable the City of Boston to utilize the entire amount of this contract in the payment of speech, hearing, and language personnel.

Because of the specialized and personal nature of the services to be rendered under this contract, and because of the special and peculiar fitness of the Trustees to provide this service, it is our feeling that no benefit will be to the city by publicly advertising for bids. Therefore, we respectfully request your Honor's approval to award and execute this amendment, without advertising, under the terms stated above.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS E. GUINEY,
Executive Director.

MODEL CITY ADMINISTRATION RENTAL SPACE

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

Under a contract approved by your Honor on November 6, 1972, the Boston Model Neighborhood Board, Inc., operated on behalf of the Model City Agency, its Citizen Education Program. The contract was in an amount not to exceed one hundred forty-seven thousand four hundred sixty-two dollars ($147,462), and the period of performance was from August 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

The contract budget contained certain line items, including an allocation for rental of space. The amount expended for space costs exceeded the amount allocated. The space costs referred to include rental of the central office plus the subarea offices. The lease costs for these seven sites exceeded the original estimated amount by two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500). Accordingly, we request your Honor's written approval to amend the aforementioned contract by an additional two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500), so that the contract, as amended, will be in an amount not to exceed one hundred forty-nine thousand nine hundred sixty-two dollars ($149,962). The period of performance will remain the same.

Inasmuch as the additional amount requested is to cover space rental costs, advertising for bids would serve no useful or practical purpose.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

LEASING OF PREMISES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City Agency, I hereby request authority to award a lease to Blue Hill Christian Center, Inc., for a term of one year, with options to extend for three additional one-year terms. The lease will commence on July 13, 1972. The annual rent will be $14,400, payable in monthly installments of $1,200. The premises consist of land and buildings located at 49 Wayland Street, Dorchester, Massachusetts. The building contains approximately 7,980 square feet, and the land, exclusive of the building, approximately 22,480 square feet. The building which was first used in March, 1972, as a day-care center has undergone substantial renovation and repair work for suitability as a day-care center. Rosa Parks Day-Care Center presently occupies the premises which is a Model City Day-Care program.

I hereby request authority to dispense with advertising in connection with this lease for the reasons that an investigation into the availability of buildings in the Model City area suitable for the operation of a day-care center and presently available, revealed no suitable building, and because of the financial contribution by Model Cities toward rehabilitating the present premises.

Should there be any questions or should you require further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH PROGRAM

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to award a contract for services in an amount not to exceed twenty-four thousand three hundred thirty-two (24,332) dollars, to the Twelfth Baptist Church, Inc., 160 Warren Street, Roxbury, Mass., for the operation of a community outreach program, as part of the Model City recreation program for Subarea 3.

The objective of the program is to provide organized recreational activities for Area 3 residents ranging in age from the teenager to the senior citizen. Under this outreach operation, the church shall provide teen center and senior citizen facilities, as well as conducting athletic and drama activities for approximately three hundred (300) Subarea 3 residents. An experienced staff shall organize and direct these programs, and we recommend that this contract be awarded to the Twelfth Baptist Church, Inc.

The funds to be provided under the contract will be utilized to cover the cost of salaries, space, equipment, overhead, and program expenses.

This contract will be effective during the period of December 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

It is therefore requested that notice of this contract be dispensed from public advertising in the City Record.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

REAL PROPERTY DEPARTMENT PLUMBING SERVICE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your written authority to award a contract to L. H. Jacobs, Inc., of 1764 Centre Street, West Roxbury, Massachusetts, for maintenance, and inspection service in connection with the drainage pump and plumbing system at Quincy Market for the current year at a cost not to exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000). This work is necessary this year, as it has been in the past, because of the worn out drainage plumbing and pumping equipment now in use.

The Jacobs firm is well experienced and has the capability of performing the work in an efficient manner.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

In view of the nature of these services to be supplied, I believe that public advertising for proposals in the City Record would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,

ANTHONY E. FORGIONE,
Assistant Commissioner.

SAFE STREETS ADVISORY COMMITTEE COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As Director of the Mayor's Safe Streets Act Advisory Committee, I respectfully request Your Honor's written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to the South End Neighborhood Action Program, Inc., in an amount not to exceed $35,690, for the period November 15, 1972, to June 30, 1973.

Award of the contract is made pursuant to a grant received by the city from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in the amount of $330,000, under sections 303 and 304 of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-351). The grant was accepted by order of the City Council on October 4, 1971.

Under the terms of the contract the South End Neighborhood Action Program will conduct a community education and community organization program in the South End of Boston to encourage neighborhood participation in crime prevention efforts and to promote police/community cooperation. This particular effort would be coordinated with some of the proposed contractor's current programs related to community security.

The South End Neighborhood Action Program (SNAP) is a community based self-help organization. It initiates programs designed to encourage community development. A variety of social, health, and welfare services are offered to residents of the South End. SNAP would provide the type of sponsorship and community orientation necessary to make the community security program, as per the contract, a success.

Because of the unique services required to perform the obligations of this contract, it is believed that public advertising would serve no useful or practical purpose.

Respectfully,

DONALD B. MANSON,
Executive Director.

POLICE-COMMUNITY PROGRAM

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The City of Boston is anticipating receiving a grant award in the amount of $40,000 for the police/community relations program entitled My Friend the Policeman. The purpose of this grant is to increase positive contacts between the police and the community by exposing the police to more information about community concerns and needs and by providing citizens with more information about ways the police can serve the community.

My Friend the Policeman, Inc., of 22 Elm Hill Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts, has brought the police and the community into positive contact over the past four years. Minority group and disadvantaged children and their parents have been involved in instructional sessions on safety and security and in tours of police facilities such as headquarters and the district stations.

This year the My Friend the Policeman program will be provided in police districts two, three, four, eleven, and thirteen. Six courses of four- to twelve-weeks duration involving approximately twenty-five children per course will be held over a twelve-month period.

Because of My Friend the Policeman, Inc.'s proven ability to manage such a unique program, it is respectfully requested that public bidding be dispensed with.

Respectfully,

PETER C. BORRE, JR.,
Executive Director.

CRISIS PREVENTION

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As Director of the staff of your Safe Streets Act Advisory Committee, I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to The Task Force on Children Out of School, Inc., in an amount not to exceed $64,910, for the period September 1, 1972, to June 30, 1973.

Award of the contract is made pursuant to a grant received by the city from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in the amount of $64,910, under sections 303 and 304 of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-351). The grant was accepted by order of the City Council on October 16, 1972.

Under the terms of the contract the City of Boston will support a program aimed at school crisis prevention, particularly in junior high and middle schools.

The Alliance for Coordinated Services of the Task Force on Children Out of School has in the past year organized and coordinated a new program organizing a number of district councils to match the resources of more than sixty community social service agencies with the needs of elementary school children in Dorchester. Under this grant it will extend this program (with appropriate modifications) from elementary to middle and junior high schools. Broadly representative school councils will be established at four junior high or middle schools with high crisis potential; and training, staff, and other support will be provided to help the councils evolve into effective crisis prevention mechanisms. In addition the Resource Center of the Task Force, which provides city-wide advocacy and referral services for students and parents, will be enabled to expand these services and to offer crisis prevention assistance to other secondary schools. Through the Mayor's Office of Human Rights, which will monitor the program for the city, the program will be closely linked to other crisis prevention and intervention initiatives.

Because of the unique nature of the program, and the proven ability of the corporation to mobilize resources to deal with the problems of schools and school children, it is respectfully requested that public bidding be dispensed with.

Respectfully,

PETER C. BORRE, JR.,
Executive Director.

PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT

LANDSCAPING AND IMPROVEMENT SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

It is respectfully requested that Your Honor approve my selection of the firm of Urban Design Associates, landscaping architects and site planners, Box 5637, Weybosset Hill Station, Providence, Rhode Island, as architects for the preparation of plans and specifications and for the supervision of construction of improvements, landscaping, and beautification to the bicycle paths through the Olmsted Park system at a construction cost of $80,000.

Also requested is Your Honor's authorization to dispense with public advertising in the City Record in the award of this contract. The architect's basic fee, taken from the Percentage Fee Schedule, Group II, of the American Society of Landscape Architects, 1964 recommended schedule of minimum rates, and based upon the estimated cost of construction, shall be 8.7 percent of said estimated construction, landscape, and beautification cost. In no event shall the maximum liability of the city under the terms of the proposed contract as of the date of its execution, including presently estimated expenditures of $500 for supplementary services by the architect, exceed in the aggregate the sum of $7,460.

As the proposed contract is to be one for the performance of professional services, a public solicitation for bids therefore would serve no useful purpose. The contract will be charged to Appropriation 6-61-44.

For your further information, the cost of the architect's fee and monies expended for supplementary services are eligible activities under the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and the city will receive grant assistance for such expenditures.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH E. CURTIS,
Commissioner.

CONSULTANT SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record, and to award to Wagner-Hohns-Inglis, Inc., with offices at 212 High Street, Mount Holly, New Jersey, a contract for consulting services during the period November 1, 1972, through March 31, 1973, with respect to litigation concerning the construction of a recreation building with swimming pool at Paris Street, East Boston, Mason Site, Roxbury, and Draper Playground, West Roxbury, at a cost not to exceed six thousand seven hundred fifty dollars ($6,750).

In view of the professional nature of the services to be rendered, it is my opinion that publicly inviting proposals would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH E. CURTIS,
Commissioner.

POLICE DEPARTMENT

CONSULTANT SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As Acting Police Commissioner I respectfully request Your Honor's written authorization to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to Robert Wasserman, 24 Warwick Road, Belmont, Mass., in an amount not to exceed $6,045 for the period October 2, 1972, through January 12, 1973. The consultant shall provide his services during this period for at least three working days each week and he shall receive ninety-three (93) dollars per day.

Award of this contract is made pursuant to a grant received from the Governor's Public Safety Committee in the amount of $31,000, under sections 303 and 304 of the Federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-351).

Under the terms of the contract the consultant shall develop a comprehensive review of all police projects supported by Safe Streets funding and prepare a plan for fiscal year 1973 funding. Mr. Wasserman is knowledgeable in the administrative requirements of the GPSC and is familiar with operations in the Boston Police Department. As a consequence of his professional background, Mr. Wasserman is uniquely qualified to assist the Police Department in the tasks mentioned above.

In view of the professional services required to perform the functions of this contract, it is believed that public advertising for the acquisition of a consultant is not advisable.

Respectfully,

WILLIAM J. TAYLOR,
Acting Police Commissioner.

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT

LEASING CERTAIN PREMISES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Under a delegation of its power from the Public Facilities Commission to the Director of Public Facilities, I hereby respectfully request Your Honor's written authority to dispense with public advertising in leasing certain premises deemed necessary and convenient by the Director for School Department purposes, specifically to provide gym facilities for the students at the William E. Russell School in Dorchester, Mass. There is a further delegation of power from the Commission to the Director to execute such lease upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor of Boston.

The premises to be included in the proposed lease are the gymnasium attached to the building known as the Little House, numbered 275 East Cottage Street, Dorchester, Mass. The term of the lease shall be from April 1, 1972, through June 30, 1972. The rent will be $4,800, payable in one payment at the conclusion of the term.

The School Department will not be using this facility for the 1972-1973 school year.

Since these facilities are both adequate and convenient, it is not believed that public advertising would be useful here.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

Under a delegation of its power from the Public Facilities Commission to the Director of Public Facilities, I hereby respectfully request Your Honor's written authority to dispense with public advertising in leasing certain premises deemed necessary and convenient by the Director for School Department purposes. There is a further delegation of power from the Commission to the Director to execute such lease upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor of Boston.

The premises to be leased consist of the swimming pool at the South Boston Boys' Club, for the use of the physical education program of South Boston High School and Patrick F. Gavin Junior High School.

The terms of the lease will be seven (7) months, beginning September 6, 1972, and terminating March 31, 1973, school days only. The lease provides an option to extend the term of this lease for an additional three (3) months, if so desired, upon the same terms and conditions.

The rental for the term is $8,848 (eight thousand eight hundred forty-eight dollars), payable in equal monthly installments of $1,264 (one thousand two hundred sixty-four dollars). This rental is based on four hours use daily, with the term to be divided between the two using schools.

Since this facility is both adequate and convenient, it is not felt that public advertising would be useful in this instance.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

There is a further delegation of power from the Commission to the Director to execute such lease upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor of Boston.

The premises to be leased are the physical education facilities of the Huntington Avenue YMCA at 316 Huntington Avenue, Boston, for use by students of the Copley Square High School for its physical education program.

The terms of the lease will be thirty-three weeks from September 25, 1972, through March 31, 1973, school days only. The lease provides an option to extend the term of this lease an additional two months upon expiration of the initial term.

The term rental will be $6,988.75 (six thousand nine hundred eighty-eight dollars and 75 cents). If the option to extend is exercised, the second term rental will be $2,236.40 (two thousand two hundred thirty-six dollars and 40 cents), payable in two equal monthly installments of $1,110.20 (one thousand one hundred ten dollars and 20 cents).

Since these facilities are both adequate and convenient, it is not felt that public advertising would serve any useful purpose in this instance.

DESIGN OF ALTERATIONS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

At its last regularly scheduled meeting the Public Facilities Commission of the City of Boston voted to authorize the Director of Public Facilities to request of His Honor, the Mayor of Boston, in both the name and on behalf of that Board, and upon which authorization I now act, formal permission to dispense with public advertising in the City Record in awarding to Universal Engineering Corporation, a Massachusetts corporation, consulting engineers, with offices at 100 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass., a contract to prepare design development drawings, basic outline specifications, working drawings, detailed specifications, and detailed construction cost estimates (but not including supervision of construction) for the alterations necessary to be effected on the fifteenth floor of the New Suffolk County Courthouse, to provide the offices and appurtenant facilities required for the newly established six appellate judgeships and the attendant clerks, and for the alterations needed on the fourth floor of the Old Suffolk County Courthouse, in order to locate the jury duty pool there, including the modifications that must be made in both the mechanical and electrical systems, at a cost for such services not to exceed $16,970 (including the amount of $1,500 for supplementary services); and to execute such contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

The proposed contract's basic fee of $15,470 ($16,970 less $1,500) was arrived at as follows: the "B" rate taken from the 1967 A.I.A. proposed schedule of minimum rates, for an estimated construction cost of $200,000 is 8.87 percent, to which was added 2.50 percent since this is an "alterations" project, resulting in 11.37 percent, from which 2.27 percent (20 percent of 11.37 percent) was deducted as the contract services are not to incorporate field supervision, leaving the contract rate as 9.10 percent; $200,000 times a 9.10 rate, minus a $2,730 credit payment under the prior contract with this engineer for this project, leaves us with a basic fee of $15,470.

Public advertising for competitive bids for professional types of service, as is the case here, could in my considered judgement very likely defeat one of our prime objectives, namely to contract only with the most competent for the performance of such services.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

DESIGN FOR ELECTRICAL SYSTEM

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Recently, I was authorized by the City of Boston Public Facilities Commission to request, as I hereby do, both in the name and on behalf of that Board, formal permission to forego advertising for proposals in the City Record, in awarding a contract to Lottero and Mason Associates, Inc., a Massachusetts corporation of 120 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass., consulting engineers, to prepare design recommendations for the electrical system to be incorporated into the BOSTCO Design Manual for Track IV schools, namely the Charlestown High School, the Mattapan School, the Fuller replacement school and the Andrew-O'Reilly School, at a cost for such services not to exceed $25,000 (including $5,000 for supplementary services); and to execute such contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission, upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

For the further information of Your Honor, expenditures under the terms of the proposed contract will be equally divided among the above-named four schools.

The services to be rendered under this contract are not only professional but highly technical as well and it is therefore felt that advantage would not accrue to the city if formal public advertising procedures had been employed in the present instance.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

DESIGN OF FIRE STATION

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I have now been authorized by formal action of the Public Facilities Commission, to request of Your Honor, in both its name and on its behalf, as I herewith do, executive permission to forego the formality of public advertising in our municipal chronicle, the City Record, in awarding to Masiello and Associates, Architects, Inc., a Massachusetts corporation, of 791 Main Street, Worcester, Mass., a contract to prepare working drawings, detailed specifications, and construction cost estimates for, and to supervise the construction of, the Dudley-Harrison Fire Station in the Roxbury district of the City of Boston, at a cost for such services of 8.3 percent of the presently estimated cost of construction of $600,000, less the $13,765 fee paid Masiello and Associates, Architects, Inc., under its prior Phase I contract, the cost of the now proposed services not to exceed $43,535, including the amount of $7,500 for supplementary services; and to execute a new contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

For the further information of Your Honor, the architect has prior to the date hereof, fully and satisfactorily completed all its services under its prior Phase I contract providing for the preparation of schematic designs, design development drawings, and basic outline specifications, as well as construction cost estimates for the subject fire station.

Since architects are paid at rates established for their services by their own association and since it is professional services which are to be rendered under the projected contract, it would, be in the opinion of the Commission, avail the city nothing to publicly advertise for competitive bids.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

ALTERATIONS STUDY, POLICE STATION

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Public Facilities Commission has now authorized me to request of Your Honor, both in its name and on its behalf, as I hereby do, authority to omit the customary public advertising in the City Record and to award a contract to John Guarino, an architect, of 2 Lexington Street, East Boston, providing for the conducting of a feasibility study to ascertain the availability of space and to determine the alterations which would be necessitated at District 4 police station, 7 Warren Street, Boston, in order to create the laboratories, offices, and ancillary facilities required, so that all functions assigned to the Boston Police Department Crime Laboratory may be performed as efficiently and expeditiously as possible and thereafter to prepare and furnish to the city a comprehensive report thereon, incorporating, among other things, appropriate recommendations, with preliminary cost estimates thereof, for converting these spaces, including as well, a recital of the modifications to be made in the mechanical and electrical systems, together with the space use and renovations being simultaneously presented on line diagrams, at a cost for such services, payable in accordance with the schedule of hourly rates to be set forth in the contract, not to exceed $15,000 (including the cost, plus ten (10) percent, of directly related out-of-pocket expenses authorized by and under the contract); and to execute such contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

The aforementioned architect will be rendering services to the city customarily furnished by persons competent in that professional field of endeavor and, understandably, such services simply do not lend themselves to a public solicitation for competitive proposals.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As authorized recently by the Public Facilities Commission, I hereby respectfully request in that Board's name and on its behalf, of Your Honor, formal authorization not to publicly advertise in the City Record for proposals in awarding to Project Management Services, Inc., a Pennsylvania corporation duly licensed to do business in Massachusetts, with offices at 400 East Lancaster Avenue, Saint David, Pennsylvania, a contract for scheduling and coordinating construction activities in connection with the construction of renovations to the surgical building at the Boston City Hospital, at a cost for such services not to exceed $4,940 (including $2,800 for services in eight updatings of critical path criteria for and during construction, and a $840 allowance for extra services that may be ordered under the contract at $40 per hour); and to execute such contract in the name and on behalf of the Commission, upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

The foregoing arrangements are proposed in order to implement beneficial use of the subject renovations by providing for an analysis of material affecting the scheduling of construction. Our use of the proposed services will, we believe, assure completion and utilization of the aforementioned building, as renovated, as expeditiously as possible and at the lowest cost to the city.

In the realization of the very technical services to be provided under the contract now proposed, it is the judgment of the Board that a public solicitation for proposals for the same would not guarantee the procurement of such expertise as is needed here.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT SNOW REMOVAL

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This department publicly advertised in the City Record for "Removing Snow and Furnishing Labor and Equipment for the Purpose of Supplementing the Department Forces and Equipment in Connection with the Work of Keeping Highways and Streets Open Following Snowstorms," in all districts of the city, on October 2, 1972. Bids were publicly opened on October 12, 1972.

In Area 1, District 1A, there were two bids received—G. Conway, Inc., $73,020, and Gennaro Construction Co., Inc. $87,420.

Inasmuch as the low bidder failed to comply with one of the requirements of the proposal, that is, the filing of a copy of the bid with the City Auditor, and the second bidder was higher than prices estimated, I have rejected both bids. Because of the experience of the low bidder in this district and his prices which I consider fair, your permission is requested to dispense with public advertising and award a contract for this work to G. Conway, Inc., 42 Chapman Street, Charlestown, Mass., at the unit prices bid and an estimated cost of $73,020.

In Area 1, District 1B, the following bid was received—South Shore Paving Co., $120,020.

As this company was also low bidder in District 5 and District 7 and can only qualify for one district, I have negotiated with the Wales Corporation who was an unsuccessful bidder in District 6, to accept the contract for the work in District 1B for their prices bid in District 6.

Accordingly, your permission is requested to award a contract, without public advertising, to the Wales Corporation of 3593 Washington Street, Jamaica Plain, Mass., for the work in District 1B at the unit price for District 6, at an estimated cost of $120,200.

In Area 3, District 5, the only bid received was—South Shore Paving Company, $103,160.

As the above company can only qualify for one district and has been awarded District 7, I have negotiated with the Gennaro Construction Co., Inc., who were unsuccessful bidders in three other districts to accept the work in District 5 at prices I consider fair. Accordingly I request permission to dispense with public advertising and award a contract to the Gennaro Construction Company of 44 Springdale Street, Boston, Massachusetts, at an estimated cost of $106,940.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH F. CASAZZA,
Commissioner.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES COMMISSION VEHICLE RENTAL

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I hereby request your permission to award a contract to the General Rental Company, P.O. Box 599, Boston, Mass., for rental of station wagon automobiles during the period June 21, 1971, through September 3, 1971.

These automobiles enabled the Youth Activities Commission to properly supply and supervise the personnel of the Recreation Support Program.

Total cost of this contract will not exceed $4,600, and will be allocated from the Recreation Support Program Budget (3-22-45).

In view of the availability of the automobiles, and the costs being competitive with other rental companies, it is my view that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully,

PAUL V. McCAFFREY,
Executive Director.

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I hereby request your permission to increase the amount of the contract previously awarded by you to the National Car Rental Company, during the period of June 26, 1972, through September 1, 1972.

This contract will provide vehicles to transport staff members, equipment, and children in the operation of the summer recreational program.

Payment under this contract will not exceed the sum of $8,400, and will be made from the Youth Activities Commission Recreation Support Program funds.

In view of the National Car Rental Company's special ability and experience in providing these vehicles for this program, it is my view that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully,

PAUL V. McCAFFREY,
Executive Director.

TRANSPORTATION SERVICE

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

Your permission is requested to award a contract to the Brush Hill Transportation Company, 109 Norfolk Street, Dorchester, Mass., for transportation facilities furnished on August 20, 21, and 22, 1971, inclusive.

The transportation was needed to carry out a segment of the city's recreational program. Funds can be allocated from the Summer Recreation Support Program to reimburse the carrier for expenses.

Total cost of this contract will not exceed $3,200.

In view of the special ability and experience of the Brush Hill Transportation Company in the past in providing special bus service for children of the city and the fact that the Brush Hill Transportation Company costs are comparable, in my view public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully,

PAUL V. McCAFFREY,
Executive Director.

SUMMER PROGRAM

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I hereby request your permission to award a contract to the Boston Mental Health Foundation, Inc., at the Boston State Hospital, during the period July 5, 1972, through August 30, 1972.

This contract will provide staff members and field trip expenses for a summer recreational program for twenty-five students in the special education class at Boston State.

Payments under this contract will not exceed the sum of $3,000, and will be made from the Youth Activities Commission Recreation Support Program funds.

In view of the fact that the twenty-five children involved are patients and students at Boston State in the winter and that this program provides necessary continuity so that they may not lose nine months' progress in school, it is my view that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully,

PAUL V. McCAFFREY,
Executive Director.

Mayor Delivers State of the City Address

Remarks of the Honorable Kevin H. White, Mayor, in his State of the City Address, January 7, 1974.

When I first took office as mayor of this city, in 1963, national attention was focused on the "urban crisis." Now other crises have captured that attention. The problems of urban America in 1974 have been overshadowed by Watergate, the prospects of a recession and the realities of an energy crisis.

As a consequence, we in the cities are more on our own now than we have been at anytime in the last decade. We are more responsible for the burden of our own destiny.

And so my message to you today is that we must accept that fact and realistically address our problems in that context.

There are three areas of concern I particularly want to touch on today. Many others could be mentioned. However, these three seem to me of paramount importance, now in 1974. They are the fiscal stability of Boston, the situation of our schools, and the very serious matter of crime.

First — The financial stability of Boston.

One of the highest priorities is our obligation to see this city restored to fiscal health. That means many things to the people of Boston. Above all, it means relief from excessive taxation.

A year ago I presented the outline of a fiscal program designed to eliminate waste and to encourage greater efficiency in government. We set ourselves the difficult task of holding the line on city spending — in the face of major inflationary pressures. Our goals were a no-growth budget and a stabilized tax rate.

We have achieved both of these goals.

A year ago I promised to reduce the city payroll by 1,600 jobs. Our quota will be met.

A year ago I promised to cut the Mayor's Office budget by 10 percent. The cuts have exceeded 15 percent.

A year ago I promised to eliminate the Office of Civil Defense. This promise has been kept.

We have also kept our promises to hold the county budget to zero growth, to cut $120,000 from the BRA, to trim expenses at City Hospital.

These promises which were made were kept — promises which, combined with numerous administrative reforms, have enabled us to keep the city's tax rate below the $200 mark, something which a year ago our critics contended was a wild boast, without hope of achievement.

Well, let me put this achievement into a larger context of managerial reform. With little publicity, we have shifted to the federal fiscal cycle in order to allow for a more

OUR BOSTON

Boston's Mayors, 1891 to 1899

Nathan Matthews, Jr., Boston's twenty-ninth mayor, was a native of Boston. He was born March 28, 1854, educated at Harvard, also studied in Germany, and received from the Harvard Law School an LL.D. He was a lecturer on municipal government at Harvard.

Entering politics early in life as a Democrat, he was elected mayor four times, receiving at his second election the largest majority given any mayor up to that time. He opposed Mayor Hart's suggestion that the tax and debt limit be increased, and during his term of office stood for economy and efficiency in the management of public affairs. He reduced the number of executive departments; brought the street departments into closer relations thereby effecting economy; systemized street cleaning; brought the ferries under one head, and wire inspectors under the Fire Department. Many schoolhouses were erected, and the Tremont Street subway built. His whole course as mayor was opposed to laxity or corruption in city management. He was first chairman of the Boston Finance Commission in 1907-09.

The thirtieth mayor of Boston, Edwin Upton Curtis, who served from 1895 to 1896, was born March 26, 1861, in Roxbury. His father, an ex-alderman of Boston, rational budgeting procedure. We have begun to make better use of our data processing capability. We have mounted an all-out campaign to upgrade the rating of our bonds, which will save the City of Boston more than $280,000 in interest over the life of the bonds to be issued this year alone.

In short, we are hauling ourselves out of the nineteenth century in terms of financial management. In ways that are both visible and invisible to the general public, the City of Boston is proving that it can put its fiscal house in order.

I have begun with a review of the objectives set forth in my message to you a year ago for two reasons.

First, I want to leave no doubt in anyone's mind that our commitment to austerity was in dead earnest. We have done what we said we would do.

And second, I want this review of our previous objectives to serve as an assurance that I intend to continue a policy of the strictest economy — consistent with our essential needs — for the remainder of my term, or until such time as we can guarantee substantial and equitable tax relief.

Unfortunately, we cannot do the job of assuring fiscal stability by ourselves, no matter how careful we are with budgets and payrolls. To put it simply, we are caught in a vise. We are squeezed on one hand by inflation and by increasing demands for services, and on the other by an inelastic revenue base.

The question is always asked why are we unable in Boston to tap the enormous revenues generated by our productivity in this city?

The answer is a reason both simple and criminal.

The state has imposed on us a system under which 70 percent of our revenues must come from the property tax. No other major American city raises more than 50 percent of its revenue from the property tax.

But the problem does not end there. At the same time the state has compelled us to rely on the property tax for the bulk of our revenues, it has also mandated a set of exemptions which now result in 60 percent of our assessed value being free of taxes.

By way of example, we have calculated that every man, woman, and child in this city in effect pays $140 to support the property of the state government itself. And, in the same way, the taxpayers of Boston provide $228 for every student enrolled in a private college and $120 for every admission to a private hospital.

The consequence is an intolerable burden on homeowners, tenants, and businesses alike.

It is the state's responsibility to end this chronic injustice. It is our responsibility to see that our situation is presented to the Legislature and the Governor so forcefully that it cannot be ignored.

We need to remind ourselves that we're not paupers asking for hand-outs. This city supports a $10 billion economy . . . 28 percent of the state total. This city generates 520,000 jobs, and the number is growing. This is the base of our strength and the context in which we demand help.

To help in that effort, I am asking you today to support two major items in my legislative package for 1974.

The first is a bill which will mandate state reimbursement for 20 percent of the revenue lost to us because of the exemptions granted to schools, colleges, hospitals, and similar institutions.

In the past, demands have been made that the institutions themselves assume the tax burden. This is unreasonable. Many of them are as hard pressed for funds as we are. We do not intend to force the closing of schools and hospitals or the curtailment of their services.

Instead, I will be asking these institutions to join with us in a major legislative campaign to bring about a broader sharing of the tax subsidy granted their operations.

The second item is a bill to end the exemptions enjoyed by private profit-making enterprises located on lands controlled by the Massachusetts Port Authority. Current law deprives the City of Boston of approximately $40 million of tax revenue a year. You are well aware of this situation, and I am asking your help to bring this awareness forcefully to the notice of our Legislature.

During the last legislative session, we won a significant victory. We persuaded Beacon Hill that it was right and proper for the state to assume at least a part of the MBTA deficit.

Our senators and representatives deserve credit. With your help, we will convince them again this year that their support is indispensable and our case for fiscal relief is just.

When we look toward the late 70s and 1980s, we can see clearly that Boston's population will be growing.

Neighborhoods will change and new demands will be placed on the city.

These neighborhoods are our greatest strength. They are our greatest hope.

I created Little City Halls to bring city government to the neighborhoods. I created Summerthing to bring cultural resources to the neighborhoods. I have spent $500 million to bring badly needed new public facilities to the neighborhoods.

But there is one area of neighborhood concern in which we have much yet to do — education.

One of the most important considerations — perhaps the most important consideration — for a young family is the quality of education available to its children.

In the past, families have left the core cities of America by the millions in search of better educational quality in suburban school systems. This is a historical fact. We must recognize that we cannot have a viable city with an inferior school system. We cannot hope to preserve our neighborhoods when parents have lost confidence in the educational system.

Over the past five years, we have begun the job of restoring confidence in Boston's schools. We have spent more than $120 million for new and renovated school buildings.

The Kent School in Charlestown, the Tynan in South Boston, the Marshall, the Holland, the Murphy, the Lee, the Ohrenberger, the Agassiz, the Hennigan — these facilities are the equal of any in the United States today, and we are going to have more of them.

This afternoon we will be breaking ground for the Barnes in East Boston, the Jackson-Mann in Allston, the Mason-Baker-Logue in Mattapan, the Southwest High School.

You have generously supported this building program. You have endorsed quality in design, construction, and outfitting. I know that you have done so because the Council has shared my belief that our new community schools are an investment in the future of the neighborhoods.

Yet buildings alone will not restore confidence in our school system. Talented teachers alone will not restore confidence in our school system. Millions of tax dollars alone will not restore confidence in our school system.

What we must bring about is a basic restructuring of the system itself.

The City Council faced the urgent need for reform several months ago. It accepted its responsibility when it voted to put school reform to a referendum. I commend the members of the last Council for that very important legislative act.

On the second of April, the voters of this city will have the chance to take the next step toward a long-needed overhaul. I see this opportunity as immensely significant to the future of the city. I see it as immensely significant to the continued vitality of our neighborhoods. I see it as an opportunity that may not come again for a long time.

Of the plans put forward, Plan III has my strongest endorsement.

The neighborhood councils provided for in Plan III will offer the parents and teachers of Boston a means for breaking the strangle hold of petty politics and bureaucratic red tape. It will give them latitude to adapt educational policy to student requirements at the local level. It will allow them to monitor how school dollars are spent, and it will provide them with all-important professional resources.

It must be made clear to everyone that the possibility now exists for the children of Boston to be given a superior school system. This is within our power to provide. We do not have to turn to the state. We do not have to turn to the federal government. We do have to go to the polls on April second.

If reform fails, it will be our failure and ours alone.

Finally, I must turn to the problem of crime in our city.

Most of us have felt the blight of crime and violence on our lives. I have. I know that many of you have. You are frustrated and angry, as I am, that decent men and women cannot feel secure on the streets and in their homes. You have mourned with me the death of police officers who have made the supreme sacrifice to protect us.

Comparatively, Boston remains one of the safer cities in the United States. We sometimes forget that. But I have no intention of glossing over a bad situation. It corrodes neighborhood life. It is a tax of suspicion and fear that all of us have to pay.

What are we, as a city government, doing to combat it?

Well . . .

We have put our Police Department in the hands of Commissioner di Grazia — a professional dedicated to modernizing police methods.

We have decentralized police field operations in order to increase responsiveness to our neighborhoods and housing developments.

We have established the 911 emergency number, resulting in a 40 percent increase in calls for assistance and crime alerts reported by citizens.

We have initiated a new Anti-crime Unit of 150 handpicked officers who will circulate through high-crime areas disguised as ordinary citizens in order to stop felonies as they are happening.

This September we undertook a major reallocation of equipment and personnel which has put eighty-three more cruisers and 120 more men on street patrol to date.

We have begun developing our computer capability in order to analyze patterns of crime so that our resources can most effectively be used to deter would-be criminals.

Obviously these measures, and the many more we are taking to improve law enforcement in Boston, will not end the problem. An elevated crime rate will be part of our urban — and our suburban — environment for years to come. But if each one of us, as a concerned citizen, resolves to make crime prevention and crime control a personal responsibility, we will make progress. Each of us must deputize himself as the eyes and ears of the police.

Without this personal element, the police must work under a terrific handicap. We have got to give up, once and for all, the illusion that the police by themselves, or any number of federal programs by themselves, can do the job for us.

We have got to get involved in public safety. By that I mean — the Mayor's Office — the City Council — all of city government and the average citizen.

What is the state of our city today? One of many problems, but it is also one of much hope and many opportunities.

As little as fifteen years ago we were a city with a brilliant past but very little future.

But that situation has radically altered. Boston has turned itself around, and the momentum toward economic growth and a population influx is continuing. We can be proud of our role as citizens of a city that decided it could and did influence its own destiny.

My message today is to remind us all of that fact: that though our power is in many ways limited, we are far from helpless. We can bring about change for the better. We can improve neighborhood life when we act as a community, rather than as individuals with no one to look out for but themselves.

In a time of great uncertainty for the nation, we need to turn more to our own resources. We need to realize we have resources of leadership and initiative to turn to.

We have a reputation to maintain — a reputation as a city with one of the brightest futures in America today. As we approach the nation's bicentennial, I am confident that we will maintain that reputation, and in the process become a model (with your help) for urban revitalization in the decade to come.

Our Boston . . .

was one of the picturesque characters of the city, always wearing a blue coat with brass buttons. Mr. Curtis graduated from Bowdoin College, and was admitted to the bar. Entering politics early, he held several offices, serving as city clerk of Boston, secretary of the Republican City Committee, mayor of Boston, assistant United States treasurer at Boston, collector of customs for the Port of Boston, and also as a member of the Metropolitan Park Commission.

In his inaugural he advocated the importance of special financial provision for educational buildings and facilities, the desirability of a board of election commissioners, the policy of having special examinations of the city's financial system and resources, and the making of provisions for public parks and other needs. All election machinery was placed in the control of a board of election commissioners, composed of four men, two from each great political party. His whole administration was characterized by a regulation of expense.

Josiah Quincy, the last of Boston's famous Quincys, was born October 15, 1859, in Quincy, Massachusetts, the son of Josiah Phillips Quincy and Helen F. Quincy. Graduating from Harvard in 1880, he was admitted to the bar in 1884. He became a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1887, and served in 1888, 1890, and 1891. He was chairman of the Democratic State Committee in 1891-92 and again in 1906. In 1893 he was first assistant secretary of state under Grover Cleveland. Quincy, who had become an effective speaker in the state campaign of 1895, was elected mayor in that year and served the first two-year term, the election to that office having previously been annually. In 1897, he was reelected, and served until January, 1900. He appointed an advisory board of leading businessmen to act with him in business matters, taxes, and finance affecting the municipality. His administration was marked by the building of the South Union Station, uniting the terminals of the various railroads entering the city from the south and west. Mr. Quincy was especially interested in the system of public baths, gymnasias, and playgrounds, which were growing to large dimensions in Boston, and in other progressive measures for the benefit of the masses of the people.

Mr. Quincy was a member of the Union Club, the Society of Colonial Wars, Loyal Legion, the City Clubs of Boston and New York, and various other organizations. In 1906 he also served as a member of the Boston Transit Commission.

GAME GIVES MASSACHUSETTS $35 MILLION

The 351 cities and towns in Massachusetts have received $35,040,299 in 1973 from the state lottery called "the Game." The distribution of funds was announced December 28. For its share, Boston has received $6,245,508.73. The lottery started selling tickets March 22, 1972. The first weekly drawing was held on April 6, 1972. Members of the lottery commission are: Executive Director William E. Perrault, State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, State Comptroller Arthur H. MacKinnon, Commissioner of Public Safety Richard E. McLaughlin, retired Judge Frederick S. Pillsbury, and Joseph P. McDonough, comptroller of the New England Aquarium.

YAC TO OVERSEE HUB YOUTH PROGRAMS

An agreement which enables Boston's Youth Activities Commission to determine which local youth programs will receive state funding from the Massachusetts Department of Youth Services, has been announced.

Paul McCaffrey, executive director of the Youth Activities Commission, said his department will be the "prime contractor" responsible for distributing specific grants to several local nonprofit organizations involved in providing services to young people.

The agreement, according to Mr. McCaffrey, guarantees that his department will be involved in the planning of all future Boston youth programs funded by the Department of Youth Services.

"This represents a tremendous step forward in developing an overall strategy for meeting the needs of Boston adolescents," he said. "City government will be working closely with state government to fill gaps in the delivery of services and to prevent any unnecessary duplication of programs," he added.

The agreement was signed by Mr. McCaffrey and the Commissioner of the Department of Youth Services, Joseph Leavy.

MAYOR BREAKS GROUND FOR NEW MATTAPAN SCHOOL

Mayor White broke ground on January 7 for a 1,000-student elementary school in Mattapan to replace the present, outdated Mason, Baker, and Logue Schools.

Brief ceremonies took place at 4 P.M., at the construction site, a wooded area off Livermore Street.

The new school, scheduled for completion in September, 1975, will be built at an estimated cost of $8 million, including special gymnasium, pool, and theater facilities.

"I look forward to breaking ground for the Mason, Baker, and Logue replacement school as a concrete sign we are moving quickly to our goal of quality education for Mattapan," Mayor White said.

"It is very gratifying to me to begin to see the results of the long, difficult effort the people of Mattapan have undertaken to improve the quality of life in their neighborhoods," he said.

Public Facilities Director Robert J. Vey said that his department, using streamlined construction methods, can meet the 1975 completion date for the new school.

The replacement school for the Mason, Baker, and Logue Schools will be a community school with all of its facilities open after hours to Mattapan residents.

Reaching the groundbreaking date culminates many months of cooperative effort between the city and Mattapan residents.

"Particular praises should go to the Mattapan Community School's Advisory Council, among others, who worked very hard with the city agencies to make adjustments that will maximize the potential of the new school as a community asset," said Miss Doby Flowers of the Mattapan Little City Hall.

REGISTRY URGES CAUTION

The Federal Emergency Daylight Saving Time Energy Conservation Act, which started on January 6, can create additional hazards for motorists unless they follow preventive measures.

The Registry of Motor Vehicles reminds motorists that they will then be driving to work during darkness which is not customary on their morning trip. They are cautioned that the law requires that headlights — not parking lights — be used during darkness.

Car lights should be turned on when leaving home and kept on while visibility is poor or until one-half hour before sunrise.

Drivers are also cautioned to drive slower than usual because it will be more difficult to see pedestrians. They should also be on the lookout for children on their way to school who may be wearing dark clothing and are not easily visible.

CONFERENCES FOR WOMEN CITY EMPLOYEES

Conferences for women who work for the City of Boston will be held on January 15, 22, and 29, and on February 5, 1974, at 12 noon to 1 P.M.; and a repeat session from 1 P.M. to 2 P.M.

METRIC SYSTEM GUIDE AVAILABLE

In anticipation of the United States conversion to the metric system, J. J. Keller & Associates, Inc. has just announced the publication of the "Metric System Guide — Volume 1." This is the first and only such guide in the United States, and deals with orientation and structure of metrication in this nation.

The executive binder edition provides the basic background information necessary for understanding and evaluating the problems involved in metrication for America. The "Metric System Guide — Volume 1" parallels the announcement by such major industries as General Motors, International Harvester, and the California School System to go metric. Its planning, research, and development have been several years in the making. From introduction to glossary, the first volume contains fifteen comprehensive parts designed for specific background in metrology. It is first in a series of volumes on the metric system, which can be used individually or collectively.

Another exclusive will be the addition of a monthly updating publication called the "Metric System Guide Bulletin," designed to present up-to-date metric information.

A fully descriptive brochure relative to the "Metric System Guide — Volume 1" may be obtained by phoning 800-558-5011, toll free, or by writing J. J. Keller & Associates, Inc., 145 West Wisconsin Avenue, Neenah, Wisconsin 54956.

MAYOR LAUDS CITY EMPLOYEES' GENEROSITY

City employees have given in excess of $90,000 to the United Way of Massachusetts Bay Fund as of January 1, 1974. This amount has more than doubled the contributions given in 1972. The Mayor, apprised of these figures, happily stated, "I would like to sincerely express my thanks and gratitude to Joanne Prevost, chairwoman of the 1973 City of Boston Employees Campaign, department heads, full-time United Way coordinators, solicitors, and all the employees whose contributions have enabled us to make the 1973 campaign the most successful in the city's history. The contributions accrued from the drive have exceeded all expectations."

NEW MBTA CHARLESTOWN LINE NEARING COMPLETION

The MBTA is planning to open the first segment of the new Haymarket-North rapid transit line to a relocated Sullivan Square station in Charlestown within a few months. This will be the second major project of the MBTA billion dollar, master expansion plan to be completed by the transit line.

The red line, extended to Quincy center was opened in 1971 and is considered very successful. The more than two mile Haymarket-North section includes the new North Station underground; Community Center station which will serve the new Community College area in Charlestown; and the relocated Sullivan Square station at Route I-93.

The remainder of the line through Medford to the Malden-Melrose town line is expected to open in the spring of 1975. Power for the new extension will be furnished by the system's two generating plants and from the Boston Edison Company.

The opening of the new extension will enable the MBTA to dismantle the present overhead structure from North Station to Charlestown and Everett. The federal government, through the Boston Redevelopment Authority's Charlestown renewal program has provided nearly $12 million for removing the overhead structure.

A multimillion dollar train storage and repair facility is being constructed at Wellington Circle and will serve the orange line. The total cost of the new Haymarket-North extension will exceed $200 million. It has been under construction almost six years. Key projects included a tunnel under Charles River behind North Station and a new bridge over Mystic River. The new span has additional tracks for Boston and Maine freight trains.

DIRECTIVE NO. 1 ANNUAL REPORTS — 1973-74

January 2, 1974.

To All Department Heads:

Due to the change in our fiscal year from January 1 - December 31 to July 1 - June 30, your next annual report should cover the eighteen-month period from January 1, 1973, to June 30, 1974, and should be filed with Mr. Joseph Brogna, staff director of the Boston City Council, on or before July 31, 1974.

The purpose of this directive is to notify department heads that annual reports being considered for filing for the period from January 1, 1973, to December 31, 1973, will not be accepted and that filing of same in the future will be a requirement after June 30 of each year rather than December 31 as was the policy and requirement in the past.

Incidentally, my attention has been directed to a few departments that have been lax in filing annual reports for 1972 and previous years. This will afford an excellent opportunity for such departments to bring delayed reports up to date prior to submission of the eighteen-month report which you are expected and required to file this year. Thereafter, all future reports will be based on the twelve-month fiscal year, July 1 to June 30.

Sincerely,

EDWARD T. SULLIVAN,
Director.

RATE INCREASE DELAYED

Postage rate hikes scheduled to go into effect on January 5, 1974, have been postponed until March 2, 1974, according to an announcement by the United States Postal Service.

The new rates will raise first-class postage from eight to ten cents and airmail from eleven to thirteen cents, plus increases in other classes of mail. The delayed increases are in compliance with a Cost of Living Council decision.

HOW'S YOUR ENERGY?

Well, it's here. The energy crisis that everyone was crossing their fingers about is now in front of our eyes and resoundingly real. Thermostats are going down, gasoline prices are going up, and we're all having to tighten our energy belts. The demand for energy is soaring and the supply is dwindling. Yet in many ways the situation is worse than it should be. Enormous amounts of energy are wasted in the United States, even though stopping waste is often a simple process that can be accomplished by you and every other citizen.

A booklet is available containing a factual account of the energy problem and practical suggestions on how you can do something to alleviate it. You get tips on conserving energy at home, at work, and in your car, and you will learn how a smart program of energy conservation can lead to lower gasoline and electric bills for you.

The booklet also includes suggestions on how citizens can combine their efforts and work toward energy conservation at the community level. It gives the name and address of the state contact for energy information in every state, and tells what the federal government is doing to help overcome this crisis.

The booklet costs $1.75. It is entitled Citizen Action Guide to Energy Conservation, and can be obtained by ordering from the Superintendent of Documents, United States Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

LOUIS B. POTO

Hundreds of employees of the City of Boston were saddened when they learned of the sudden death of Louis B. Poto of Mission Hill, on December 30. A City Hospital employee for more than forty-two years, Mr. Poto started his career as a center orderly on May 1931, and at the time of his retirement in 1972, had risen to the position of administrative assistant to the Deputy Commissioner of Finance. He was a respected, diligent worker and a credit to the City of Boston. He will be sadly missed.

He is survived by his beloved wife, Margaret (O'Brien) Poto. He was the brother of Margaret S. Stinazolla and Eleanor DiNuccio and the brother-in-law of Mary, Alice, and Francis O'Brien. A funeral Mass was celebrated in the Mission Church, Roxbury, on January 3.

He was a late member of Mission Church Holy Name Society and Kennedy Post VFW. May his soul ever rest in peace.

U. S. Allocates Funds for Disaster Relief

More than a quarter of the nation's counties were hit by natural disasters in 1973, requiring expenditures of three-quarters of a billion dollars of federal funds to assist local governments and citizens in thirty-one states covered by forty-six presidential disaster declarations. Total estimated damage is in excess of $1.2 billion.

Over 75,000 disaster-struck families received advice and assistance at individual assistance centers of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration (FDAA), Department of Housing and Urban Development, which coordinates the disaster relief efforts of some twenty federal agencies.

In reviewing year-end statistics, Thomas P. Dunne, administrator of FDAA, noted that the frequency of disasters continues to be high in the United States.

Last year's disasters were not quite as severe as the record year of 1972, in which forty-eight major disasters hit twenty-three states and caused approximately $3.5 billion in property damages. However, the combined expenditures from the President's fund for the last two years will exceed that used for major disaster declarations for the preceding ten years. Over $2.5 billion in federal funds were expended in recovery efforts in 1972.

The majority of the disasters in the last two years have been caused by flooding, and devastation from water will continue to increase until there is a reversal of current practices of building on flood plains.

Since assuming his post when the disaster assistance mission was transferred from the Office of Emergency Preparedness to FDAA under HUD on July 1, Mr. Dunne has found there is a lack of adequate disaster preparedness by all levels of government.

Declarations of major disasters during 1973 are expected to result in a total obligation, after all eligible work is completed, of over $174 million from the disaster relief fund. Assistance from the fund includes: $138 million for emergency and permanent restoration of public facilities belonging to approximately 3,000 state and local governmental entities; $20 million for temporary housing for over 8,500 families; $15 million for supplemental unemployment benefits; and approximately $1 million for state disaster planning assistance.

In addition over $315 million was disbursed during the year for ninety major disasters which had been declared by the President prior to 1973.

Although final figures are not available for the total expenditures of some twenty federal agencies charged with disaster recovery tasks coordinated by FDAA, preliminary estimates include the following disaster program costs for declared disasters:

Small Business Administration and the Department of Agriculture's

Patrick Andrew Collins,
Mayor, 1902 to 1905

General Collins was one of Boston's greatest Irishmen, and was as respected by the "blue stocking" element as much as by his own. He was born at Ballina Fauna, Ireland, March 24, 1844, where his father was a respected farmer, who was often called to settle disputes among his neighbors, and was an ardent supporter of Irish liberty and rights, so that Mayor Collins as a child was imbued with devotion to Irish freedom.

The Collins family came to America, and finally settled in Chelsea, where Collins attended school and spent some unhappy years, as the "Know-nothing" movement at this time, 1848, was at its height. He was persecuted as Irish and as a Catholic by his schoolmates. During one of the "Know-nothing" riots, Collins' arm was broken. After leaving school, he worked in a fish market. Through the influence of Robert Morris, the first black lawyer in Massachusetts, who took a great interest in the boy, Collins was filled with a desire for an education. His mother went to Ohio in 1857, and Collins tried to earn a living in many ways, working as a miner, carter, and upholsterer. He wished to become a machinist, but was not physically strong enough. He finally returned Health, Education, and Welfare (Office of Education expenditures for school repair; inoculation of disaster-zone residents to avoid epidemics; Food and Drug Administration inspections of damaged grocery and drug stocks; engineering and inspection of sanitation systems following disasters, etc.). $6 million.

Department of Agriculture (Food and Nutrition Service expenditures for surplus commodity foods used to feed victims in mass care facilities; programs of Agricultural Soil Conservation Service designed to restore damaged farm lands and grazing property, etc.). $39 million.

Corps of Engineers (Estimated total expenditures from P. L. 84-99 funds to restore navigational waterways, locks, levees, and protective structures damaged in flooding or in prevention of water destruction under "Operation Foresight"). $170 million.

Department of Transportation (Federal Highway Administration expenditures on federal aid system roads, bridges, and applicable structures). Over $36 million.

Of the forty-six presidentially-declared disasters last year, thirty-nine involved flooding. Other disaster causes included tornadoes or other storms, dam failure, earthquake, mudslide, and urban fire.

Four states — Colorado, Oklahoma, Tennessee, and Texas — each suffered three disasters. Designated twice during the year were seven states: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kansas, Missouri, New York, and Ohio. Single disasters occurred in twenty states: Alaska, California, Florida, Hawaii, Iowa, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Maine, Michigan, Mississippi, North Carolina, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Vermont, and Wisconsin.

In addition, nine forest fires in three states — Alaska, Montana, and Oregon — caused requests for federal fire suppression assistance under section 225, Public Law 91-606. Under section 221 of the same law, federal funds were used in California to minimize the imminent threat of a major disaster from forest fires due to hundreds of thousands of dying eucalyptus trees.

to South Boston, where he worked at his trade, soon becoming the highest paid journeyman, and working in Boston, to which he walked every day, going back in the evening for his supper. After supper he returned to Boston to spend the evening studying in the Public Library, and at the close of his evening, read Greek, Roman, French, and English history, fiction, and poetry. Having a remarkable memory, he stored his mind with facts, which he was afterward able to use to great advantage in his public career.

He finally saved money enough to study law, first with James Keith, a Democrat and a fine lawyer of the old school, and later took a degree at Harvard Law School. When he opened his office, the first case was brought to him by Leopold Morse, who always took pleasure in bringing opportunity to others. In 1867, when he was only twenty-three, he captivated an audience at a political meeting he chanced to attend, and was made a delegate to the party convention.

His support of the Fenian movement brought upon him the disapproval of the Catholic clergy, who sharply criticized him.

He was a representative in the Legislature in 1868 and 1869, and of the state Senate in 1870 and 1871, where he was then the youngest man who had ever become a member, and was chairman of the Harbor and Land Commission. In 1883 to 1885 he was in Congress, where he served on the Judiciary Committee and worked for uniform bankruptcy laws and international copyright. Under Governor Gaston he was judge advocate, and later was president of the Irish Land League and received the freedom of Dublin and Cork. His campaign work for Cleveland swung the Irish vote to the latter, and he was appointed consul-general to London. He felt that Boston had gone too far in the direction of "benevolent socialism," and made new appointments to the heads of most city departments while mayor. He impressed upon the heads he appointed that he would hold them, and no one else, responsible for any dishonesty or laxity in the management of their department. He favored home rule in city affairs; opposed enlargement of taxes or drafts for maintenance and improvements of parks and sewers; held out firmly against raising the salaries of city employees or pensions for their widows. He stood against injuries to the historic interests of the city, such as encroachments on the Common, tearing down the Old South Meeting House, changing Copp's Hill or the Granary Burying Ground. Governor Crane accepted his opinion on all matters relating to Boston that came before him, vetoing all measures which the mayor deemed improper. Collins approved the freeing of Cuba, but disapproved of the acquisition of Puerto Rico and the Philippines. He died September 14, 1905, while in office. Of him, Grover Cleveland said, "In public life he was strictly honest and sincerely devoted to the responsibilities which office holding involves."

A rate of $4 per inch of 12 lines (set solid) has been established for such advertisements as under the law must be printed in the City Record. Advertising and other copy must, except in emergencies, be in hand at the City Record office by noon, Tuesday of each week to insure its publication in the Monday issue.

Correction: In the January 14 issue of the City Record the first line of the Mayor's "State of the City" address states that he first took office in 1963. It should read 1968.

NEW APPOINTMENT AT BCH

William P. Morrissey, senior vice-president of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, was sworn in as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Boston City Hospital and the Department of Health and Hospitals January 8, 1974. The oath of office was administered to him by Mayor Kevin H. White.

In addition to the office of senior vice-president, Mr. Morrissey is also a member of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank's executive committee.

He held the post of deputy commissioner of banks for eight years and was a faculty member and special lecturer for several organizations including the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks.

Active in community affairs, he is the director of the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation and a member of the Public Affairs Council of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

A graduate of Boston College and the Graduate School of Savings Banking at Brown University, Mr. Morrissey and his wife, Donna, reside in West Roxbury with their five children.

OIL PRICES EXPECTED TO INCREASE

The Boston Consumers' Council has reported that the average price for 100 gallons of home heating oil is $33.74, relatively unchanged from two weeks ago.

While the figures are encouraging, large disparities between dealers still exist, according to Richard A. Borten, executive director of the Council.

The range among dealers was from $23.20 to $47.70.

Many dealers surveyed indicated that their prices will jump in the next ten days to reflect increased wholesale costs.

Also, additional increases can be expected if requests for increased profits for both wholesale and retail oil companies are allowed by Federal Energy Director William Simon.

Mr. Borten said, however, that the overriding concern among consumers is the difference in prices between oil dealers. "We are receiving dozens of calls each day, nine out of ten of which are complaints relative to fuel price discrepancies.

"While everyone is prepared for shorter supplies and cooler indoor temperatures, the average person cannot accept the fact that he is paying as much as $23 more for 100 gallons of oil than his next door neighbors," Mr. Borten said.

NEW PROGRAMS FOR PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

Boston Commissioner of Parks and Recreation Anthony E. Forgione has announced that his department will provide increased programs and services for physically handicapped children and adults in the coming months.

"Our department is committed to serving individuals who have physical limitations," Mr. Forgione said. "We are considering activities such as day camping, basketball and hockey leagues, Olympic competition, swimming instruction, and boating."

To assure that the programs being developed will serve the needs and interests of prospective participants, the department is soliciting responses, in writing, from parents and physically handicapped adults.

The following information is requested:

(1) Name; (2) address; (3) age; (4) telephone number; (5) description of disability; and (6) suggestions as to programs and services of interest.

Please direct correspondence to: Mr. Daniel Needham, Coordinator of Recreation, Handicapped, Room 802, City Hall, Boston, Massachusetts 02201.

MARTIN LUTHER KING DAY

January 9, 1974.

To All Department Heads:

January 15, 1974, has been declared Martin Luther King day in the Commonwealth by the Governor.

As you know, Martin Luther King was the catalyst in the United States Civil Rights movement and a major figure in Afro-American history, symbolizing equality and justice for all men and women.

It should be noted that the Boston public schools will be closed on that day and that although we cannot follow suit, we are asking department heads to be generous in excusing from work those who are sincerely interested in attending commemorative exercises, a list of which is available in the Office of Human Rights.

If any department head has questions about this directive, please call me on Extension 600.

EDWARD T. SULLIVAN,
Director.

GONE WITH THE WIND

Abnormally high tides and serious flooding could strike the east coast should severe Atlantic storms occur, states Director Louis F. Saba of the Massachusetts Civil Defense Agency and Office of Emergency Preparedness.

On February 7, the moon will be in its fullest phase, thus it will cause high tides, and it also will be unusually close to the mid-Atlantic coast.

Similar conditions accompanied by an offshore storm and onshore winds, generated unusually high water levels in February and March, 1972, which caught a number of affected communities unprepared.

The cooperative efforts are continuing between the National Weather Service, Logan International Airport, Boston, and MCDA, in trying to keep the public informed and the casualty and property loss to a minimum during natural disasters, and we are continually maintaining close liaison between the two agencies to identify potential problem areas, Mr. Saba said.

CELTICS FANS: TAKE NOTE

When the Boston Celtics play the Philadelphia 76ers on Friday, January 25, among the fans rooting for them will be a contingent of Museum of Science members.

These will be the foresighted people who had picked up a bonus package being offered everyone who takes out a new 1974 family membership in the Museum before the game date.

The bonus package comprises half-price ($2 each) tickets, obtainable at the Museum on the night of the game; free parking in the Museum garage while they attend; and — for one lucky new member at the game — a basketball autographed by all of the Celtics team. This will be personally presented during half time by Tommy Heinsohn. Only those attending will be allowed to participate in the drawing for this prize.

As the Museum has a rooftop restaurant and a Friendly Ice Cream and Sandwich Shop on the premises, the new members can plan to have dinner or a snack when they come to get their tickets and park their cars. (The Museum is only a few minutes' walk from the Garden.)

The January members also get the usual privileges of $20 annual family membership, including unlimited free admission for everyone in their immediate family (or for three guests, if they prefer this variation); six free passes to the Planetarium; reduced rates at the parking garage and Museum Shop; access to the members' entrance; and a free year's subscription to the Museum Newsletter, plus mailings announcing programs and courses.

Family memberships are available at the Museum of Science, or call the membership office at 723-2500.

POSTAL SERVICE ACCELERATES MODERNIZATION PROGRAM

Boston is one of forty-three cities selected by the United States Postal Service to receive high-speed, multi-position letter sorting machines as part of an accelerated modernization program, Postmaster Walker announced.

"A total of $1.4 billion has been earmarked for improving the Postal Service's physical plant and facilities and for new mechanization and vehicles during the fiscal year," he said. "This sum represents a 74 percent increase over the estimated $803 million committed for capital investment in 1973, and is almost double the amount ($725 million), for 1972."

The Boston Post Office will receive two multistation machines. These letter sorters are among the most advanced equipment for the rapid handling and processing of mail.

Equipped with a solid state computer called a ZIP Mail Translator, each multistation letter sorter is capable of processing an average of 30,000 incoming or outgoing letters per hour to any one of 277 destination bins. Letters are automatically presented to trained operators seated at twelve consoles, who route the letters to their ultimate destinations by keying in ZIP code numbers on ten-digit keyboards.

AUDITIONS OPEN FOR HUB TEEN MUSICIANS

Open auditions for the new Boston Youth Jazz Ensemble (BYJE) will be held on Saturday, January 26, and young musicians between thirteen and eighteen years of age who are Boston residents are urged to bring their instruments, some jazz or popular music pieces, and try out for the new orchestra which is a project of the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs.

The auditions will be held from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M. in Room 305 at Wheelock College, 180 Riverway, Boston, which may be reached by taking the Riverside trolley on the MBTA Green Line to the Fenway stop.

According to BYJE directors Keith and Chris Sipes, the BYJE especially needs those who can play saxophone, flute, trombone, and trumpet. Participation in the twenty-one-piece group is free, and rehearsals will begin on Saturday, February 2, at the same location which is being made available through the courtesy of Wheelock College.

"The BYJE offers a unique playing and performing opportunity in the jazz idiom for developing musicians," says Keith Sipes, "for they will have a chance to build a mixed repertoire of contemporary music from both the mainstream big band sound as well as from the new directions offered by young composers and arrangers, and then they will have an opportunity to perform for the public in the late spring."

For further information, call the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs at 722-4478.

"BACK TO EARTH" AT ICA

The Institute of Contemporary Art presents "Back to Earth," an exhibition of the terra-cotta sculpture of Costantino Nivola, on exhibit at the ICA, 955 Boylston Street, Boston, from January 23, until February 19.

Perhaps better known for his monumental sculpture and wall murals, Costantino Nivola is also a prolific sculptor in the medium of terra-cotta, or low-fired earthenware. Born in Sardinia, Nivola shows a fascination with the prehistoric sculpture of his native land, the ancient legends and the traditional Sardinian art of pasta-making. The earthy material's coarse texture and warm, intense color create a sensuousity fully intended by the artist. Nivola manipulates the clay in a variety of techniques to produce figure groups and tablets which represent everyday scenes and old Sardinian legends with equal ribaldry.

Costantino Nivola is presently a visiting professor at the Carpenter Center, Harvard University.

The exhibition is open Mondays through Fridays, 10 to 5, and Saturdays, 11 to 5. Admission is fifty cents to nonmember adults and twenty-five cents to nonmembers under sixteen.

Accordingly, the general public safety so requiring, I ask Your Honor's approval for the awarding, without advertising, as required in the city charter of a contract in the sum of $4,100, to Bunker & Sons.

Very truly yours,

COMMERCE AND MANPOWER JOB COUNSELING AND DEVELOPMENT

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Department of Labor requires us to make a concerted effort to place present Emergency Employment Act participants into unsubsidized employment in private industry. In order to accomplish this goal, it was determined that nine individuals should be instructed in job counseling and job development. Therefore, as Director of Commerce and Manpower, I respectfully request Your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and awaiting bids, and to award a contract for a training program to develop expertise in job counseling and job development techniques, to Inter-Group Corporation, 17 Academy Street, Newark, New Jersey, in the amount of $8,948.69.

The subject services are of a highly special and unique character and, for this reason, it is felt that a public solicitation for bids for these services would serve no useful purpose. The sole source of funding is derived from the Federal Emergency Employment Act Program with no financial assistance from the City of Boston.

Respectfully,

GERALD W. BUSH,
Director.

PROGRAM STUDY

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Department of Labor requires recipient agents of Emergency Employment Act funds to seek out innovative programs that will produce more public service benefit by creating jobs that either: (1) are of very high priority with the community; or (2) will be funded eventually by private or other federal funds. Therefore, as Director of Commerce and Manpower, I respectfully request Your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and awaiting bids, and to award a contract for E.E.A. Program Innovation Study to the University of Massachusetts, 100 Arlington Street, Boston, Mass., in the amount of $5,290.

The subject services are of a highly special and unique character and, for this reason, it is felt that a public solicitation for bids for these services would serve no useful purpose. The sole source of funding is derived from the Federal Emergency Employment Act Program with no financial assistance from the City of Boston.

Respectfully,

GERALD W. BUSH,
Director.

CORPORATION FUNDING

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

Your permission is requested to dispense with advertising and to award a contract to the Economic Development and Industrial Corporation in the amount of one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000), to assist in the formation and operation of said corporation.

This request is made on behalf of the Economic Development and Industrial Commission which is the recipient of a grant in the aforementioned amount from the New England Regional Commission. The purpose of the grant is to provide funds for the initial operations of the newly formed Economic Development and Industrial Corporation.

The Development Corporation, which was recently enacted into law, is designed to be a quasi-public organization with the capacity to assemble parcels of land within the city and therein locate industrial and manufacturing firms with the idea that industry will increase tax revenues for Boston and provide new job opportunities for city residents.

It was originally intended that the corporation itself would apply to the New England Regional Commission for grant funds to finance its initial operations. However, at the time application was made the corporation, although enacted into law, had not been officially formed and therefore it was unable to make a direct application. In its stead the Economic Development and Industrial Commission submitted an application for grant funds for the express purpose of providing financial assistance to the corporation. It was done with the understanding that once the corporation was established the funds would be transferred thereto so as to enable it to function more efficiently in the development of its economic programs.

I have enclosed both a copy of the grant from the New England Regional Commission to the Economic Development and Industrial Commission, and the agreement between the Economic Development and Industrial Commission and the Economic Development and Industrial Corporation. You will note that the agreement incorporates the basic terms of the grant from the New England Regional Commission. The agreement to transfer funds is merely a technical method designed to award the grant to the organization for which it was originally intended.

On the basis of the foregoing, I respectfully submit that no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising this contract. Thus, I ask that you present this award to the Economic Development and Industrial Corporation.

Your honoring this request will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

GERALD W. BUSH,
Director.

CONSERVATION COMMISSION CONSERVATION PLANNING

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with inviting proposals for advertisement in the City Record, and to award a contract for conservation project planning and administrative services to John Blackwell of One Center Plaza, Boston, at a cost not to exceed $3,750 for personal services to the Commission on its published Charles-to-Charles green space project, during the period September 5, 1972, through December 30, 1972, inclusive.

Under the contract proposed, Mr. Blackwell will assist the City of Boston Conservation Commission, under the close direction of the chairman, in its project achievement of a wide variety of conservation agreements to permanently protect neighborhood openness and thereby enhance the property-tax-paying values of private properties in Boston, along and near that part of the Boston city boundaries adjoining the Town of Brookline, the City of Newton, and the Town of Needham, between the Charles River at the Fens Gate, and the Charles River at Spring Street, in the West Roxbury district of Boston.

Short-term consulting assistance, expanding the unpaid personal efforts of the Commission chairman, is required for completion of this project. Because of the unique nature of the required services, public advertising would serve no useful purpose. Award of the proposed contract to Mr. Blackwell will be in the best interests of the city.

Respectfully,

EUGENIE BEAL,
Chairman.

HEALTH AND HOSPITALS DEPARTMENT HEALTH CENTERS GRANT

DEAR SIR:

At a meeting of the Board of Health and Hospitals of the City of Boston held on August 9, 1972, it was voted to enter into a contract with Trustees of Health and Hospitals of the City of Boston, Inc., a Massachusetts nonprofit corporation, with offices at 909 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, Mass. (hereinafter referred to as the Trustees), under which said corporation would be reimbursed by the city for advancing a total of $152,000 to five neighborhood health centers located in the City of Boston as the city's contribution under City of Boston Matching Grants Program.

Inasmuch as a prior contract with the said Trustees for a grant of $30,000 to the Brighton-Allston neighborhood for the period January 1, 1972, through March 31, 1972, under the Matching Grants Program was never executed or performed, it is requested that this letter serve to rescind the previous letter of award, approved on March 13, 1972, and that said contract be incorporated hereunder.

The neighborhood centers and their particular grantee-agents are as follows:

Brighton-Allston Health Center, Brighton-Allston Health Corporation, grantee.

Chinese Community Health Center, Boston Chinese Community Health Services, Inc., grantee.

Neponset Health Center, Port Norfolk Committee, Inc., grantee.

North End Health Center, North End Community Health Committee, Inc., grantee.

The term of this contract shall commence on September 6, 1972, and end on December 31, 1973.

In each case under this program, as set forth above, the city's contribution is better than matched by an amount contributed by a voluntary hospital in or near that particular neighborhood.

Included in this $152,000 figure is a $7,000 overhead cost to be paid to the said corporation for monitoring and administering these funds.

Inasmuch as this is a contract of a specialized and personal nature and inasmuch as the said corporation is specially suited to perform this service to this department, your permission is respectfully requested to dispense with public advertising and to authorize this contract under the terms stated above.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS E. GUINEY,
Executive Director.

ADVERTISING SERVICES

DEAR SIR:

At a meeting of the Board of Health and Hospitals held on August 23, 1972, it was voted to enter into a contract, without advertising, with the Harold Cabot Corporation of Boston, for the furnishing of advertising services to the Personnel Department of Boston City Hospital, Department of Health and Hospitals for the period October 1, 1972, through March 31, 1973, in an amount not to exceed $25,000.

Advertising services require unique and creative skills. The services to be provided by Cabot include creative supervision, art work, photography, copy writing, layout design, printing, placement, and media selection. Additionally, Cabot will provide counsel and research as requested in such areas as classified or journal advertisements, brochures, booklets, displays, exhibits, and audio-visual presentations deemed necessary for the most effective staff recruitment.

Harold Cabot Corporation has demonstrated to the department's satisfaction that it is uniquely qualified to develop a dynamic and imaginative recruitment program at a reasonable cost. The severe shortage of nurses at Boston City Hospital which was being experienced in June of that year for the utilization of somewhat similar services from another company. The advertising contract with Cabot will be utilized for continuing nurse recruitment and, for continuity, the recruitment of needed administrative personnel.

Included among the considerations resulting in the selection of the Harold Cabot Corporation to provide the needed services beyond traditional personnel classified advertising, and especially oriented to the particular needs of Boston City Hospital, were the following:

1. As the largest ad agency in New England it is qualified to supply a full complement of services in all phases of advertising.

2. Its broad base of experience in all types of accounts gives a depth of background information that will enable it to give constructive counsel to the department in the direction of recruitment efforts.

3. The financial base of the agency is extensive enough that it can contract and pay for advertising in lead of the usual longer payment processing time required by the Department of Health and Hospitals.

4. As a leading member of the advertising community and as a fully recognized advertising agency, Harold Cabot can directly place advertising in all media.

Inasmuch as this contract involves unique and highly specialized skills and services in the nature of a consultant's contract rendering it difficult, at best, to write meaningful specifications, your Honor's permission is respectfully requested to dispense with public advertising and to award this contract to the Harold Cabot Corporation under the terms stated above.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS E. GUINEY,
Executive Director.

SPEECH, HEARING, LANGUAGE SERVICES

DEAR SIR:

At a meeting of the Board of Health and Hospitals held on November 1, 1972, it was voted to enter into a contract, without advertising, with the Trustees of Health and Hospitals of the City of Boston, Inc., a nonprofit charitable corporation with offices at 909 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, under which said corporation will provide speech, hearing, and language services at the three Family Life Centers in the Model City neighborhoods for the period commencing September 1, 1972, and ending December 31, 1972, in an amount not to exceed $41,000.

Prior to September 1, 1972, these services were funded by the federal government through the City of Boston Model City Administration. However, because of a cutback in federal funds for these programs, the Model City Administration has been forced to withdraw a portion of its financial support for these services. Consequently, because the uninterrupted continuation of speech, hearing, and language services in the Family Life Centers is considered vital, the department has agreed to provide funds to maintain these programs.

The uncertainty of the timing and the scope of these cutbacks caused the delay in the transfer of the financial responsibility to this department.

Inasmuch as this is a contract for services of a specialized and personal nature, and inasmuch as the said corporation, Trustees of Health and Hospitals of the City of Boston, Inc., is specially suited to perform these services to this department, your permission is respectfully requested to dispense with public advertising and to authorize this contract under the terms stated above.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS E. GUINEY,
Executive Director.

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT PERIODICALS AND SERIALS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Board of Trustees in charge of the Library Department of the City of Boston, respectfully request the approval of your Honor for the award of a contract, without public advertising, to F. W. Faxon Company, Inc.,

15 Southwest Park, Westwood, Mass., for supplying periodicals and serials to the Boston Public Library for the year 1973 and for servicing the subscriptions for the individual items throughout the year.

The F. W. Faxon Company, Inc., has had over eighty years experience of servicing libraries, has a reputation for rendering good service, and has all of its records on data processing equipment. Also, this company, located as it is near to Boston, is convenient when it is necessary to register claims for materials not received from publishers, and for corrections.

The matter of service and of continuity of receipt of periodicals and serials is of the highest importance. Missing issues, resulting from delays in renewing subscriptions, lower the quality of service. To prevent this gap in service to the public, many libraries have placed "til forbid" orders with their subscription dealers. Under such an arrangement the agency sends to the Library in August each year a preliminary invoice which is double checked and on which any additions or deletions are made. The agency then prepares a final invoice and automatically renews with the publishers the subscriptions several months in advance of their expiration, thus eliminating gaps in the Library's files. This also reduces the amount of paper work involved in the renewing procedure. The "til forbid" arrangement was in effect this year in connection with the Library's 1972 contract with the F. W. Faxon Company, Inc.

Therefore, in the interests of service to the public and of economy of operation it is recommended that the Boston Public Library serial subscriptions be placed on this "til forbid" basis with the F. W. Faxon, Inc., for the year 1973.

The company will base its charges on the cost to it of each title plus a service charge per title—the same formula used by the F. W. Faxon Company, Inc., in computing its bid price for the last year. It is estimated the total cost of this contract will not exceed one hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($125,000).

In view of the above the Trustees have Voted, That there be entered into, without public advertising, with F. W. Faxon Company, Inc., 15 Southwest Park, Westwood, Mass., a contract for (1) supplying periodicals and serials for the year 1973 and (2) servicing the subscriptions for the individual items throughout the year, subject to the terms, agreements, and conditions set forth in said contract.

The permission of your Honor is hereby requested to award the contract to F. W. Faxon Company, Inc., in the amount indicated above.

Respectfully,

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES IN CHARGE OF THE LIBRARY DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,

By PHILIP J. McNIFF,
Director.

MECHANICAL EQUIPMENT MAINTENANCE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On September 29, 1972, your Honor approved action taken by the Board of Trustees in charge of the Library Department of the City of Boston for entering into a contract, without public advertising, with Baleo, Inc., 327 Mystic Avenue, Medford, Mass., for a preventive maintenance program for mechanical equipment in the addition to the Central Library building, for the period September 1, 1972, through March 31, 1973.

Since that earlier action by the Board of Trustees taken on August 15, 1972, to enter into such an agreement, further investigation has revealed that Cabot, Cabot and Forbes, Inc., of 28 State Street, Boston, Mass., recently has started a subsidiary company whereby this company also operates and maintains mechanical systems similar to the system installed in the addition. At the request of the Trustees, the engineers who were consultants on the installation of the heating, ventilating, and air conditioning system were asked to discuss with representatives of both Baleo, Inc., and Cabot, Cabot and Forbes, Inc., the kind of maintenance program that, in the opinion of the engineers, was required. Following receipt of proposals from each company it was ascertained by the engineers and confirmed by the Trustees that the service proposed by Cabot, Cabot and Forbes, Inc., would be less costly and yet meet the requirements for maintenance of the system.

In the earlier letter sent to your Honor it was stated that the heating, ventilating, and air conditioning equipment presently installed in the addition to the Boston Public Library is both sophisticated and expensive. The guarantees on this equipment are contingent on the Library's maintaining it during the guarantee period according to the manufacturer's instructions. Should a failure occur in any part of the machinery, the Library will be obliged to prove that proper maintenance procedures were in effect with adequate trained staff and records, or the guarantee will become void.

Inasmuch as the Library does not have on its staff individuals with technical knowledge to maintain the mechanical equipment, it is believed to be in the best interests of the city to engage the services of an air conditioning company which provides this type of service.

In view of the foregoing, the Trustees have rescinded their action of August 15, 1972, and now have taken the following action, setting an upper limit of $40,000, on the amount to be expended under this contract:

Voted, That there be entered into with Cabot, Cabot and Forbes, Inc., 28 State Street, Boston, Mass., without public advertising, a service contract for the period November 24, 1972, through March 31, 1973, for establishing and setting up a complete preventive maintenance program for mechanical equipment in the addition to the Central Library building, for supplying qualified heating, ventilating, and air conditioning mechanics as required to maintain equipment, and the provision of a record-keeping system, engineering back-up assistance, supervision, miscellaneous lubricating and cleaning materials, and necessary hand tools, as specified in the contract, said total to be in an amount not exceeding forty thousand dollars ($40,000).

Inasmuch as the total cost of the maintenance service to be provided will exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000), there is respectfully requested permission of your Honor to enter into this agreement without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES IN CHARGE OF
THE LIBRARY DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,

By PHILIP J. McNIFF,
Director.

MODEL CITY ADMINISTRATION AUDITING AND CONSULTING SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City Agency, I hereby request your Honor's approval to award a contract, without advertising, to Mr. Paul Gerry, certified public accountant, with offices at 2414 Washington Street, Roxbury, Mass., in an amount not to exceed fifty-six thousand ($56,000) dollars to carry out on behalf of the Model City Agency, a contract for auditing and consulting services.

Under the terms of the contract, Mr. Gerry and his staff will be obligated to audit and examine contractors with special regard to the fiscal and accounting operations of these contractors. Mr. Gerry will audit approximately sixty agencies now under contract with the Model City Agency. Each audit will require submission of a shortform audit report in compliance with the requirements of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Mr. Gerry will evaluate the management internal controls of each agency and the agency's accounting, financial, and operating procedures and practices. In addition, to the auditing services as aforesaid, Mr. Gerry will conduct a series of seminars for Model City personnel in the matter of budget preparation and the development of internal controls. He will also be required to undertake a cash reconciliation of the Model City Agency and City of Boston Auditing Department records pertaining to this agency. Mr. Gerry will also advise, meet, and consult with the Administrator as the Administrator may from time-to-time request.

A contract for similar services was approved by your Honor on September 29, 1972, to Cohen, Cohen, Havian and Shaller of 85 Devonshire Street, Boston, Mass., in an amount not to exceed seventy-five thousand ($75,000) dollars for the period August 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973. Cohen and Cohen was awarded this contract on the basis of outstanding performance under contracts awarded them in the second- and third-action years of the Model City Program. The contract for the fourth year contained terms which identified Mr. Paul Gerry, then an employee of Cohen and Cohen, as a key employee under which provision it was stated that Mr. Gerry's services were considered essential to the contract. Inclusion of the key man provision was not indiscriminately inserted. Mr. Gerry had undertaken the audit of our contractors almost exclusively for Cohen and Cohen under three previous contracts. He is familiar with their financial and operating procedures and had in some instances instituted and established contractor's accounting systems and record systems. Over the period of his services he has constantly demonstrated a unique understanding and appreciation of the Model City programs and goals.

Mr. Gerry subsequently resigned from Cohen and Cohen and established his own firm. We had recommended to Cohen and Cohen that they employ Mr. Gerry under a subcontract. However since Mr. Gerry would have to hire his own staff to support and supplement his services, it was therefore likely that the amount of any subcontract awarded would almost equal in amount the total value of the contract. Cohen and Cohen were graciously amenable to the recommendation that we terminate their contract; and effective as of the close of business on October 31, 1972, we terminated the contract with Cohen and Cohen for convenience, pursuant to a clause in the contract providing for the same.

It is our purpose to award the unexpended portion of the contract to Mr. Paul Gerry for the reason that Mr. Gerry has the necessary skills and expertise to carry out the auditing and consulting services required under the contract. As an additional consideration, he has agreed to locate his office within the Model City area and to hire and train area residents for his staff.

The period of performance will be from November 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

For the foregoing reasons we feel that advertising for bids would not serve any necessary or appropriate purpose. We request therefore that notice by advertising in the City Record be waived.

Sincerely yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

RECREATION PROGRAM

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to award a contract for services in an amount not to exceed sixteen thousand dollars ($16,000), to the Roxbury Multi-Service Center, Inc., 317 Blue Hill Avenue, Roxbury, Mass., for the operation of a recreation program at the Teen Education Center, located at 530 Warren Street, Roxbury, Mass., as part of the Model City recreation program for Subarea 5.

Under the direction of experienced instructors, the program will offer training in photography, sewing, dramatic arts, creative writing, and dancing. These workshops will be conducted at facilities of the Teen Education Center during after-school hours. In addition to the Creative Workshop Program, an organized four-season athletic program will be offered. These programs will service approximately three hundred (300) area youth, and for these reasons we recommend that this contract be awarded to the Roxbury Multi-Service Center, Inc.

The funds to be provided under the contract will be utilized to cover the cost of salaries, space, equipment, overhead, and program expenses.

This contract will be effective during the period of August 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

It is therefore requested that notice of this contract be dispensed from public advertising in the City Record.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

STAFF TRAINING PROGRAM

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City Agency, I hereby request your approval to award a contract in an amount not to exceed four thousand five hundred dollars ($4,500), to the Berlitz Schools of Language of America, Inc., 437 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass., for conducting a staff training program.

Under the terms of the contract qualified Berlitz instructors will conduct Spanish language training courses at Model City Agency for fifty Model City staff members. The courses shall provide for sixty (60) three-quarter hour lessons per student. The class of fifty will be divided into five groups of ten students each. For each group, each scheduled class session will meet for one and one-half hours, or two lessons per session, twice a week, until the sixty lessons have been completed. The Berlitz School will also provide one multi-media study album for each ten-persons group and will make library albums available on a loan basis. In addition, the school will furnish to each individual student a course workbook and necessary supplementary text materials.

Berlitz has operated an established and internationally known language school offering courses in international languages. This program offers an excellent opportunity for instructing Model City administration personnel in conversational Spanish.

Our purpose is to develop bilingual capability among the Model City staff in order to better serve and assist the Spanish-speaking community of Boston.

The contract will be effective during the period November 20, 1972, through March 30, 1973.

Because of the international reputation of Berlitz School and furthermore because of its willingness to conduct classes at our convenience within the Model City Agency, we request that notice of this contract be dispensed from public advertising in the City Record.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

SUFFOLK COUNTY

Jail

LEGAL SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This is to request your approval of a contract without advertising to Joseph Oteri, attorney at law. Pursuant to the contract, Mr. Oteri would represent the Sheriff of Suffolk County in matters specifically related to Civil Action No. 71-162-G Inmates of Suffolk County Jail, et al. v. Thomas S. Eisenstadt, et al. He would perform work under the general direction of the Corporation Counsel and he would be compensated in the amount of $50 per hour for his services and for certain out of pocket expenses, the total amount, however, not to exceed $25,000.

In my opinion, it is necessary for the County of Suffolk to contract for the services involved and Mr. Oteri is capable of performing them well.

Respectfully,

THOMAS S. EISENSTADT,
Sheriff

Registry of Deeds COPYING MACHINES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with writing proposals of advertisement in the Boston City Record and to award to the Xerox Corporation a contract for the supply and maintenance of two No. 720 (one positive and one negative) Xerox copying machines during the period April 1, 1972, through December 31, 1972, at a cost not to exceed $3,150, which I believe is fair and reasonable.

In view of the quality of the machines and service to be provided, it is my opinion that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH D. COUGHLIN,
Register of Deeds.

Municipal Court, Roxbury District DUPLICATING MACHINES

DEAR SIR:

On October 30, 1972 I wrote to you requesting permission to award, without advertising, a contract to the Xerox Corporation of 100 Charles River Plaza, Boston, Mass., for the rental of Xerox Model 4000 duplicating machine for the period from April 1, 1972, to March 31, 1973, at a cost not to exceed four thousand dollars ($4,000).

The City of Boston Law Department has today informed us that this contract should have as its termination date December 31, 1972, rather than March 31, 1973. As a consequence of this, the total value of the contract should be revised downward from four thousand dollars ($4,000), to thirty-one hundred dollars ($3,100).

The basic monthly charges for the rental of that machine are the minimum charge of one hundred seventy-five dollars ($175), plus a features charge of fifty dollars ($50), plus a cost of $.029 per copy. The payment of the minimum charge of $175, is to be credited to the total amount of the obligation for copies actually produced.

Inasmuch as Xerox Corporation already has contracts with the City of Boston for the rental of the same or similar machines, we feel that no useful purpose would be served by soliciting bids for such rental.

Therefore, we trust that you will award this contract to that company thereby enabling us to handle our business efficiently.

Sincerely yours,

KEESLER H. MONTGOMERY,
Clerk of Court.

THE CITY SEAL

As it appeared prior to 1827

The City Seal was adopted by "An Ordinance to Establish the City Seal," passed January 2, 1823, which provides "That the design hereto annexed, as sketched by John R. Penniman, giving a view of the City, be the device of the City Seal; that the motto be as follows, to wit: 'Sicut patribus sit Deus nobis'; and that the inscription be as follows:—'Bostonia condita, A.D. 1630. Civitatis regimine donata, A.D. 1822.'" The motto is taken from 1 Kings, viii, 57: "God be with us as He was with our fathers."

The seal as it was afterwards changed, and has ever since continued to be used, was first shown on page 221 of the volume of laws and ordinances, commonly known as the "First Revision," published in 1827, and is established as the City Seal at the present time by Revised Ordinances of 1914, Chapter 1, Section 5, which provides that "The seal of the City shall be circular in form; shall bear a view of the City; the motto 'SICUT PATRIBUS SIT DEUS NOBIS,' and the inscription, 'BOSTONIA CONDITA, A.D. 1630. CIVITATIS REGIMINE DONATA A.D. 1822.'"

Columbia Point to Be Revitalized

Mayor White has unveiled an extraordinary proposal calling for an investment of $150 million to change completely the character and image of the Columbia Point peninsula.

The plan includes totally remodeling 1,000 existing housing units, creation of 3,000 units of new housing, creating new beaches, parks, and public facilities, and revitalizing local commercial services.

The Mayor made the announcement at a joint press conference with University of Massachusetts President Robert Wood and citizen spokesmen from Dorchester, Columbia Point, and South Boston.

A 2,000-word brochure details the policies and goals of a task force assembled six months ago by the Mayor to define development policies that capitalize on the potential of Columbia Point.

"We present here today the hard-wrought, collective vision of what can be done to take Columbia Point from near-total decay to a day when it is one of Boston's greatest assets," Mayor White said.

"Our proposal is certainly a vision — a cautious step toward a social, economic, and physical revolution of a most depressed community.

"Ahead lie many obstacles, the first and most pressing of which is to interest responsible developers in investing more than $100 million in such an unusual project.

"But one remarkable victory is secure — we have won proof, through preparation of this proposal, that a community, an educational institution, and government working together can maximize the potential for constructive change.

"We now aim cautiously, but optimistically, toward creation of a new Columbia Point, serving broad ranges of incomes on a superior waterfront location."

Eighteen community, city, university, and state agencies contributed to the revitalization plan, which focuses initially on a sweeping land-use proposal by Benjamin Thompson & Associates of Cambridge.

(Thompson's services to the task force were provided by the University of Massachusetts.)

The proposal, which recommends filling nineteen acres of land on the north shore of the 317-acre peninsula, suggests one way Columbia Point can be physically changed to create a new environment.

Major elements of the design are:

Approximately 4,000 dwelling units arranged in neighborhood groups, without any visible distinction between low-, moderate-, and medium-income housing.

A "town" center providing central meeting facilities and municipal services.

A new main street and public transportation link.

A major shopping facility.

OUR BOSTON

The Thirty-fifth Mayor of Boston, George Albee Hibbard

George Albee Hibbard was born October 27, 1864, in Boston, and was educated in the Boston public schools. His father was a strong antislavery man. At twenty, Hibbard was a clerk in Quincy Market working for his father, a wholesale produce dealer. Later he went into the insurance business, became a member of a firm of commercial paper dealers, then finally, treasurer of a tailoring company. As a businessman, he was not a success. He entered politics, served on ward and city Republican committees, managed minor companies, and was elected in 1894 to the state Legislature, and missed by one vote being elected to the office of state Treasurer to fill out the unexpired term of Henry M. Phillips.

After serving in the lower house of the Legislature, he was appointed postmaster of Boston in 1890, making such an efficient and honest public servant that in 1908 he defeated John F. Fitzgerald for mayor in a closely fought campaign. He gave the city so efficient a business administration that he effected savings in one year of over a million dollars. He removed all "students" and politicians who were not needed from the city payroll, and paid no attention to the slates of appointments made by the professional politicians. He naturally made Recreation facilities, especially along the shoreline.

Specific policies set by the task force as guidelines to be followed through the development phase regardless of the content of the final design, are:

Residents of Columbia Point will not be displaced from the peninsula.

A more broadly based social structure must be created with major emphasis on the needs of low- and moderate-income families.

Shopping facilities must be capable of serving wide areas of the South Boston and Dorchester communities.

Adequate public facilities, including elementary and high schools, must be provided if it is likely that the new population would overburden existing neighborhood facilities.

Implementation of the proposal may require control of some land which is not now owned by public agencies participating in the task force.

Boston Redevelopment Authority Director Robert T. Kenney said his department's power of eminent domain might be used to complete site assembly.

"The Columbia Point proposal is the most dramatic development proposal in Boston's neighborhoods in many years," Mr. Kenney said.

"It has shown already what co-operation between public agencies and institutions and concerned community organizations can produce when they plan together for the future."

The BRA, during the task-force effort, performed the technical analysis and planning needed to place the land-use plan in a preliminary design stage.

Dr. Samuel Thompson, administrator of the Boston Housing Authority, said he is pursuing funding from the Department of Housing and Urban Development to insure that Columbia Point residents will not be dislocated.

"I think we all understand that renovation and new construction must recognize that the future of Columbia Point and the needs of its current residents are inexorably interrelated," he said.

The Mayor's Economic Development and Industrial Commission, under the direction of Dr. Gerald W. Bush, surveyed employers in the Columbia Point area on hiring practices, number of available jobs, and expansion possibilities.

Explorations for sources of funding for development of Columbia Point are under way, particularly in discussions with William J. White, executive director of the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency.

The estimated cost of the revitalization program is $150 million, with most of the development costs — about $125 million — to be invested by the private sector.

It is expected that an expenditure of about $25 million of public funds may be required to allow for construction of public utilities and facilities, acquisition of privately held land, landfill, and other related items.

Development plans may include establishment of a nonprofit corporation with participation by the agencies and community organizations on the Columbia Point Revitalization Task Force.

many enemies, and under the provisions of the new charter the Reformers chose James J. Storrow instead of Hibbard as the Reform candidate. Hibbard, with no money and against the advice of many of his best friends, ran independently, but was badly beaten. Mayor-elect Fitzgerald named him for City Collector, but the Civil Service Commission rejected his name, and Hibbard died shortly afterward, on May 29, 1910, a disappointed man, feeling that his efforts to give his city an honest and efficient administration had not been appreciated by the very ones who desired economy and efficiency in public affairs. "In spite of mistakes, he ended all known practices of a vicious nature embraced within the meaning of the term 'graft,'" said John A. Sullivan, chairman of the Finance Commission at the time.

CITIES AND TOWNS GIVEN BILINGUAL FUNDS

Nearly $1.9 million in state reimbursements for local bilingual education programs has been released to thirty-six Bay State cities and towns, the State Department of Education has announced. Boston received $473,412.

The reimbursements are for the first year of operation of the transitional bilingual education law, which provides that students who cannot do normal school work in English learn English as well as their own language and culture.

The average per-pupil cost for each child in the bilingual programs was set at $1,147, about $373 above the average per-pupil cost statewide.

The thirty-six communities took part in the program, and about fifty are expected to participate next year. The law requires that communities with twenty or more students needing bilingual programs offer such a program.

Before enactment of the law in 1971, only five communities offered such programs.

RENT CONTROL HEAD URGES: SHARE ENERGY CRISIS

Statement of Boston Rent Control Administrator John S. Grace.

The energy crisis has driven up the price of home heating oil rapidly in recent months and the price is expected to rise still more before leveling off later this year.

It now appears that there will be no real shortage of home heating oil this winter, but it is quite clear that the increase in the price of oil is very real and here to stay.

The question facing tenants and owners in Boston is: How will the increasing price of oil affect rents?

On the basis of current estimates of both availability and the price of oil, it now appears that the average home heating oil bill for 1974 will be at least 62 percent higher than the average bill for 1972.

What this means in terms of rent increase, however, necessarily depends on the building in question. Some buildings use more oil than others to maintain the same inside temperature. In some buildings as little as five cents of each rent dollar goes to pay for oil heat. For these buildings, a rent increase of 3 percent would be enough to cover the full increase in fuel costs. In other buildings, as much as twenty cents of each rent dollar goes to pay for oil. For these buildings, a rent increase of 12 percent would be necessary to cover the full increase in fuel costs. There simply is no such thing as an average rent increase that can fairly account for the many differences that exist between buildings heated by oil.

For this reason, it would be unfair to landlords and tenants alike to grant a general rent increase at this time. Any general increase would be either too much or too little as applied to specific cases and would inevitably fail to take into account even the major differences that exist among oil-heated buildings.

The only fair way to proceed is building by building on individual petitions as we have successfully done in the past.

We are revising our procedures in two important respects in order to assure that all petitions filed during 1974 will be processed in an efficient manner that is fair to landlord and tenant alike.

First, as the number of petitions will increase sharply in response to the increasing price of oil, we are assigning additional personnel to process these petitions and will take whatever further steps are necessary to assure that all petitions are processed within four to six weeks of filing.

Second, a uniform standard will be used in processing all petitions filed during 1974. Rent increases will be allowed in all cases to the extent necessary both to cover established cost increases for 1973 and to cover one-half of the projected increase in the cost of home heating oil for 1974.

I want to point out that increases in costs are not usually projected in determining allowable rent increases. Rather, owners are required to absorb normal cost increases over a period of one year before obtaining rent increases to offset these cost increases.

However, the projected increase in fuel costs for 1974 is obviously not normal and is clearly too heavy to be borne entirely by either landlords or tenants during 1974. It would be unfair to landlords to provide no rent increase in the face of rapidly increasing current costs of oil. In some cases, this would make it impossible for owners to pay for and provide oil that would otherwise be available. On the other hand, it would be unfair to tenants to require them to bear the full burden of cost increases caused by the energy crisis before these increases have been fully established by experience. Even the most conservative estimates based on the best available information are necessarily speculative and uncertain at this point. Finally, we must remember that tenants are already "paying" for the energy crisis through reduced temperatures along with everyone else.

It is only fair, then, that the burden of the energy crisis be shared equally by owners and tenants alike during 1974. For this reason, we will allow one-half of the projected increases in fuel costs during 1974 in computing allowable rent increases on petitions filed during 1974. Any cost increase experienced during 1974 in excess of this amount will be allowed on petitions filed during 1975.

While there is no such thing as an average rent increase, we expect that the rent increase required to cover the increasing cost of oil will, in most cases, fall within a range of 2 to 7 percent during 1974 and another 1 to 5 percent in 1975.

JOHN J. MONAHAN

The funeral for John J. Monahan, 42, of 20 Sturges Road, West Roxbury, well known in Greater Boston Irish circles, was held on January 16, with a 9 A.M. Mass in St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury. Mr. Monahan died suddenly on January 13.

A former resident of South Boston and a graduate of high school there, he attended Bentley College. He and his wife were popular figures on many trips to Ireland and attended a great number of Irish-American functions.

He was a member of the Lynch Taxi Corporation of South Boston; administrative assistant to City Councilor Patrick F. McDonough; former Rent Control Board hearing officer for the City of Boston; and a police officer for the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

He was also a Past Grand Knight of Rose Croix Council, K. of C., No. 1131, Bishop Cheverus Fourth Degree K. of C., and St. Theresa's Holy Name Society.

He leaves his wife, Theresa M. (Collins) Monahan; a son, John J. and six daughters, Patricia M., Maria T., Denise M., Janet M., Theresa M., and Christine M. Monahan, all of West Roxbury; a brother, William P. of Belmont, and a sister, Mrs. William (Mary) Mahoney of Arlington.

SCHOOL TRUANCY: A NEW APPROACH NEEDED

A Boston Municipal Research Bureau Report

In simpler, more pastoral times, the image of the school truant was a young boy with a long pole on his shoulder, heading off to his favorite fishing spot. No more! Today, especially in our cities, truancy is regarded as one of the possible danger signals of deeper emotional, social, or learning handicaps. The modern truant may be the concern of several departments in the school system, the policy department, the courts, the welfare system, and various public and private agencies and clinics. Clearly, the need is to provide appropriate, well-orchestrated professional service to insure school attendance and to deal effectively with students whose truancy is a manifestation of other serious problems.

Statute provides that every school committee in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts enforce school attendance rules and certain regulations pertaining to child labor practices. In Boston, these rules and regulations are enforced through the Attendance Department and its supervisors of attendance. The organizational structure of the Attendance Department and the procedures used by the supervisors of attendance, however, are costly and result in inefficient handling of school truancy problems and overlap with the Guidance and Pupil Adjustment Counseling Departments.

The cost of operating the Attendance Department can be reduced, and greater benefits can be gained for students with truancy problems, if the Boston School Committee streamlines and modernizes its methods for dealing with truant.

The Attendance Department

The Attendance Department is comprised of two heads of department, one coordinator who provides liaison with school and nonschool organizations that deal with the department, thirty-eight supervisors of attendance assigned to schools and to the downtown and theater area, and six clerical workers.

The 1972 expenditure for the department was about $861,200, or approximately $10.37 per student based on Boston's average daily school attendance. According to the Cost of Education Index, published in the January, 1973, edition of School Management magazine, the $10.37 is about $2.05 or 24.6 percent higher than the average per pupil expenditure for attendance service in other large New England school districts (over 25,000 pupil enrollment).

The salary for Boston supervisors of attendance in 1973 was $18,177. This was about $1,000 more than Boston school teachers with a doctorate degree and nine years' teaching experience — the maximum teaching salary.

The fact that there are two heads of the Attendance Department — each with equal supervisory authority — is one organizational problem. The dual appointment was made because two candidates rated the almost identical high rank on the Civil Service list. The rationale was that one could be concerned with the attendance of the public schools and the other with the private schools. Considering that the department's own statistics show comparatively few trancies reported from private schools, this reasoning would seem unsupportable. Moreover, an individual supervisor of attendance may be assigned to both public and private schools. Although there is presently an attempt at some division of responsibility between the two heads for staff and line functions, Attendance is the only school department with more than one top administrator.

Supervisors of attendance are responsible for investigating suspected trancies that are reported to them by school personnel and by outside sources — court officials, for example. During the 1972-1973 school year, the supervisors of attendance reported about 96,270 "investigations," but a student may be involved in more than one investigation, several investigations may be included in one case, and the effort expended in an investigation varies greatly. Checking a possible truancy, the supervisor of attendance may make a telephone call and two visits to the home — resulting in three separate investigations. Even after these investigations, the supervisor of attendance may not have been able to locate the student or to contact his family. Only about 3 percent of the investigations were made on Sunday or in the evening, the times when parents are more likely to be found at home.

About 160 complaints for truancy were brought to the courts by the supervisors of attendance during the last school year. This ultimate step in attendance enforcement is used only as a last resort with those considered incorrigible. The supervisors of attendance perceive their role more as counselor, than as strict law enforcer. They attempt to convince students that they should attend school or to help them to accept the classroom environment. This, however, is the function of the School Department's Guidance and Pupil Adjustment Counselors — professionals trained specifically to work with students with a variety of social and emotional problems.

Updating Truancy Treatment

As a result of recently enacted legislation, truancy in the Commonwealth is no longer considered a crime if the students "have unmet social, psychological, medical, or educational needs." This underscores the importance of providing corrective care for troubled students, but does not relieve the School Department of its responsibility to insure students' attendance.

It is necessary for the School Department to define precisely the enforcement and the guidance functions necessary for attendance service and to assign departments responsible for each in order to eliminate overlap.

The Attendance Department should be responsible for law enforcement. The size of the department should be reduced through attrition to six supervisors of attendance, and, certainly, the department should not continue indefinitely with two top administrators. Each of the remaining six supervisors of attendance should be assigned to one of the School Department's area superintendents and should be responsible for student attendance in that section of the city. The Boston Police, if necessary, could assist the supervisors of attendance in locating suspected truants.

Completed, successful disposition of cases should be the goal of the supervisors of attendance. Currently, supervisors of attendance are not required to work beyond the middle of the afternoon. They should be assigned hours when parents are more likely to be contacted.

Students whose school problems extend beyond truancy should be identified for treatment. Correcting deviant behavior is the responsibility of the guidance and pupil adjustment counselors. Students with acute problems that are beyond the resources of the School Department to cope with should be sent to state or to private agencies.

RESPECT THE NONSMOKER

"When a lovely flame dies," goes the sad refrain of an old popular song, "smoke gets in your eyes." Many people in the Boston area, however, are sick and tired of standing silently by while inconsiderate smokers puff away, filling the air with clouds of eye-smarting, foul-smelling smoke.

Recently, Mayor Kevin White, who privately disclosed that he gave up smoking over a year ago, declared January 11 to 17 Smoking Education Week. In a ceremony held in his City Hall office, the Mayor asked smokers to "become aware of, and more importantly, to respect the rights of the nonsmoker by refraining from smoking in public places which have been designated as nonsmoking areas."

Presently these areas would include MBTA facilities, schools, theaters, and privately owned stores and businesses where the management has specifically requested that smoking be banned.

The American Lung Association of Boston, local representative of the Inter-Agency Council on Smoking and Health, sponsored the week-long observance to mark the tenth anniversary of the Surgeon General's first report on Smoking and Health, issued on January 11, 1964. The theme for the week was "Nonsmokers have rights too!"

Throughout the week, the Lung Association conducted smoking education classes in Boston public and parochial schools. According to Lung Association health educator, Cynthia Cohen, the classes were designed to acquaint the students with the health hazards of smoking and to make them aware of their fundamental right as a nonsmoker to breathe clean air.

"We want to impress upon these children that they are perfectly within their rights to say yes, I do mind if you smoke," stated Miss Cohen.

The Lung Association is cosponsoring a bill presently before the Massachusetts General Court that would prohibit smoking in certain public places.

The legislation, introduced by Representative Lois Pines of Newton, would make smoking in a public place punishable by a fine of not more than fifty dollars and would be enforced through the issuance of tickets much the same as for parking violations. Public places designated by the bill for the smoking ban include: public conveniences, polling places, elevators, public areas of hospitals, museums, libraries, and every place where smoking is already prohibited by law.

DON'T TIE UP MAIL SERVICE —USE ZIP CODE

PLEASE BE CONSIDERATE

Postmaster George K. Walker has appealed to customers of the Boston Postal District to be aware of hazards of sidewalks, approach walks, steps, and porches that have not been cleared of snow and ice.

The postmaster issued the appeal in consideration of the time of the year when snowfalls and freezing rain conditions make it most difficult for the letter carrier to safely deliver the mail.

Last year more than 300 carriers were disabled by slips and falls while making deliveries in the Boston Postal District. This represents an estimated loss of thousands of dollars to the Postal Service.

The Postal Service and the letter carriers would appreciate it if customers would clean and sand their sidewalks and clean their steps of snow as soon as possible after a storm to reduce the hazards associated with inclement weather. Please be kind to your letter carrier and your own family and friends.

ARE YOU OVER 65?

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority has announced that Medicare cards issued after July 1, 1973, cannot be used in obtaining an MBTA senior citizen reduced fare pass.

Medicare cards do not bear the applicant's date of birth and since July 1 of last year, the card has been issued to citizens who have not reached their sixty-fifth birthday.

To be eligible to receive senior citizen fare privileges, the applicant must present, in person, a document proving that he or she is sixty-five years of age or older and resides in one of the seventy-nine cities and towns of the T district.

The senior citizen registration center is located at the Government Center Green Line Station and is open daily, Monday through Friday, excluding holidays, from 9 A.M. until 3:30 P.M. There is a fifty cents charge for the senior citizen reduced fare pass.

MBTA ANNOUNCES A NEW PUBLIC SERVICE PHONE

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority is increasing its efforts to make riding mass transportation easier for an expected influx of new patrons and has announced a new public information phone which will provide up-to-date information about service conditions.

By dialing 722-5050, Monday through Friday, excluding holidays, between 7 A.M. and 5:30 P.M., the public can receive a recorded message telling how service is operating on all MBTA lines — streetcar, bus, trackless trolley, and rapid transit. Should there be a delay in service, information about the incident, alternate transit routes and, when possible, an estimate of the length of the delay will be put on the public information phone.

"The MBTA has always tried to make riding the 'T' as convenient as possible," said Board Chairman John T. Doolittle, Jr. "We distribute thousands of free timetables and system route maps. We have a special Customer Service Center to handle complaints and suggestions. The new public information phone will enable anybody to quickly find out how the 'T' system is running.

"When the New England weather deals us a blow such as was struck recently, the public information phone becomes vitally important in keeping our riders informed of how we are faring," Mr. Doolittle continued.

"During the height of the recent storm, our Community Affairs and Marketing staff put an updated report on the public information phone every half-hour to keep our passengers aware of operating conditions.

"Service of this frequency is equivalent to affording the public a direct line to our operating and control center," said Mr. Doolittle. "I know that our riders will appreciate it. I urge its use by anyone who wants to avail himself of good public mass transportation during the current gas and oil shortage."

LOBBYING AND LIBRARIES

Librarians, trustees, and others interested in what is happening in libraries met on January 18 to define statewide legislative goals and to find an effective way to mobilize for constructive action to attain them. A legislative workshop entitled "Lobbying and Libraries" was held at the Holiday Inn, Marlboro.

Sponsored by the Legislative Committee of the Massachusetts Library Association, an organization with a membership which includes librarians from most of the public and many of the private, college, school, or special libraries, the workshop's primary objective is to develop goals for needed legislation involving all the various types of libraries.

The speaker, Mr. Michael Ventrescu, Executive Director of the Massachusetts Forest and Parks Association, has had considerable experience in lobbying in the Massachusetts State House. During his talk entitled "What Happens In the State House," Mr. Ventrescu explained how the legislative branch of the state's government actually functions and told how and why some bills before the Legislature either pass or fail.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

MODEL CITY ADMINISTRATION

EMERGENCY HOUSING SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City Agency, I hereby request Your Honor's approval to award a contract, without advertising, jointly to Roxbury Multi-Service Center, Inc., with offices at 317 Blue Hill Avenue, Roxbury, Mass., and the La Alianza Hispana de Dorchester y Roxbury, Inc., with offices at 655 Dudley Street, Roxbury, Mass., in an amount not to exceed ten thousand (10,000) dollars to carry out on behalf of the Model City Agency, emergency housing services for residents of the Model Cities area.

Under the terms of the contract, Roxbury Multi-Service Center and the La Alianza Hispana de Dorchester y Roxbury, Inc., will rent nine (9) apartments which will be available for handling freeze-outs or condemned buildings emergencies within the Model Cities area during the winter months. They will be responsible for providing one nighttime worker in addition to using their already existing staffs for aid in emergency situations. Workers will assess eligibility for emergency housing and transport families to the apartments. The two organizations also will be responsible for purchasing and providing cots, blankets and portable heaters, for use in emergency situations.

Roxbury Multi-Service Center and the Alianza Hispana have been selected to perform the above services since they already provided housing counseling services on a day-to-day basis. However, in emergency situations housing cannot always be found immediately for low- and middle-income people. This contract for emergency capability would allow these two organizations, as well as other agencies involved in housing, a brief time in which to find alternate housing or provide other solutions to problems within the various buildings.

The period of performance will be from December 15, 1972, to April 15, 1973.

For the foregoing reasons we feel that advertising for bids would not serve any necessary or appropriate purpose. We request therefore that notice by advertising in the City Record be waived.

Sincerely yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT YOUTH CONCERT BAND

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with inviting proposals by public advertising in the City Record, and to award a contract to Mr. William K. Kahn, an individual having residence at 2 Canaan Street, Mattapan, Mass., for continued organization and supervision of a Youth Concert Band for the Parks and Recreation Department.

Under the terms of the proposed contract, Mr. Kahn will keep organized and supervised, a concert band for youths, fourteen to eighteen years of age, who are music students in the private, parochial, and public school systems of the City of Boston. Mr. Kahn will be paid at a monthly rate of $320, and the cost to the city will not exceed $960. The contract will be for the period January 1, 1973, to March 31, 1973, inclusive, and Mr. Kahn will provide no service to the Parks and Recreation Department under this contract prior to 3 P.M. on any day. This contract to be charged to the Parks and Recreation Department budget, 1-11-41 (29), Miscellaneous Contractual Services.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be rendered by Mr. Kahn, it is my opinion that no useful purpose would be served by advertising publicly for bids for the above services.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH E. CURTIS,
Commissioner.

PUBLIC RELATIONS SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with inviting proposals by public advertising in the City Record, and to award a contract to Herbert H. Foster, 400 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, Mass., from January 1, 1973, to March 31, 1973, at a total cost not to exceed $6000.

Mr. Foster will be paid a monthly rate of $1,500, for a period of four (4) months, which is to be charged to Parks and Recreation Department budget, 1-11-41 (29), Miscellaneous Contractual Services.

Mr. Foster's primary objective will be to maximize community participation in departmental programs and to insure that such programs are coordinated for optimum utilization by neighborhood residents. He will deal extensively in developing relations with the public sector, for the purpose of encouraging maximum community participation not only in existing programs but also in those to be proposed.

Because of the special nature of the services to be furnished no useful purpose would be served by publicly advertising for bids.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH E. CURTIS,
Commissioner.

PENAL INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT OFFENDERS ASSISTANCE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As Commissioner of the Penal Institutions Department, I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to the Massachusetts Correctional Association, 33 Mt. Vernon Street, Boston, Mass., in an amount not to exceed thirty thousand dollars ($30,000), for the period November 18, 1972, through May 31, 1973.

Award of the contract is made pursuant to a grant received by the city from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in the amount of $225,000 under section 301 (B) of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Acts of 1968 (P.L. 90-351). The grant was accepted by an order of the City Council and was approved by the Mayor.

Under the terms of the contract, the Massachusetts Correctional Association will be obligated to: (a) provide prerelease planning assistance to offender's at the Suffolk County House of Correction, (b) make referrals to existing social service resources, (c) develop presently under-utilized resources, and, (d) conduct limited referral follow-up. The funds are requested to permit the Massachusetts Correctional Association to employ staff and engage services in the rendering of its obligations under the proposed contract.

Because of the unique services to be rendered by the Massachusetts Correctional Association, it is felt advertising would serve no useful or practical purpose.

Respectfully,

A. REGINALD EAVES,
Commissioner.

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT ARCHITECT SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

During the course of its most recent regular meeting, I was authorized by the Public Facilities Commission to request, in the name and on behalf of the Commission, from the Mayor, as I hereby do (the A.L.A.-P.F.D. Liaison Committee having reviewed the proposed selection of Stahl Associates, a division of Stahl Bennett, Inc.), written authority to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record, in awarding a contract to Stahl Associates, a division of Stahl Bennett, Inc., a Massachusetts corporation with a usual place of business at 177 Milk Street, Boston, to prepare working drawings, detailed specifications, and construction cost estimates for, and the supervision of, renovations to the Faneuil Hall Market Building in the Boston Proper district of the City of Boston, at a cost for such services of 10.92 percent of the presently estimated cost of construction of $540,000, less the $22,450 fee previously paid the aforementioned architect, the cost of the now proposed services not to exceed $46,518, including the amount of $10,000 for supplementary services; and to execute such contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

Again, it is not the general practice of the City of Boston, to publicly advertise bids for professional services; and it is, we believe, a prudent course which we pursue, since such services are not really conducive to public advertising in the City Record for competitive bids.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

COST CONTROL PROGRAM

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

That Board, known as the Public Facilities Commission, acting pursuant to its power under the enabling statute, the Acts of 1966, chapter 642, extended to the undersigned authority to request of Your Honor, both in its name and on its behalf, permission to waive public advertising in the City Record, and award to Wagner-Hohns-Inglin, Inc., a New Jersey corporation duly licensed to do business in Massachusetts, project planning consultants, with offices at 212 High Street, Mount Holly, New Jersey, a contract to perform the following services for the benefit of BOSTCO Track IV schools: (1) to implement a cost control program; (2) carry out periodic cost reviews; (3) research the BOSTCO systems to fix the most economical results from the BOSTCO method; (4) research the city's cost control methods and thereafter suggest improvement therein for inclusion in the city's systems manual, and (5) carry out other cost work assignments as given from time to time by the Director during the contract period December 1, 1972, to May 31, 1973, in connection with the Track IV schools; namely, the Charlestown High School, the Mattapan Elementary School, the Fuller Replacement School, and the Andrew-O'Reilly School, at a cost of such services not to exceed $40,000, payable in accordance with the schedule of daily rates to be set forth in the contract; and to execute such contract in the name and on behalf of the Commission, upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

As stated on earlier occasions, the subject consulting firm, together with its corporate predecessor, has contracted with this municipality for, and has and presently is, most effectively performing earlier assignments for this department; and we know from those experiences that the proposed contract too, will be efficiently and satisfactorily carried out.

Due to the foregoing circumstances, and the technical nature of the functions to be rendered here, it is our considered opinion that public advertising would not serve the city's best interest.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

SURVEYING PARKING GARAGES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Pursuant to the provisions of its enabling act, chapter 642, St. 1966, the Public Facilities Commission has just extended to the undersigned, authority to request, both in its name and on its behalf, as I now do, of the Mayor of Boston, written permission to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record, in awarding to Yunits Engineering Company, Inc., a Massachusetts corporation with offices at 11 Technical Park Drive, Holbrook, Mass., a contract (a) to conduct a field survey of the existing physical condition of, and thereafter (b) to prepare and submit to the city a comprehensive written report delineating all items of repair necessary, as well as the related estimate of the cost of each item of repair for five (5) city-owned public parking garages located as follows: at Lincoln-Essex Streets; Copley Square; Kingston-Bedford Streets; Kilby Street; and Fort Hill Square, at a cost for such services not to exceed $11,500 (including up to an amount of $1,500 for supplementary services), payable in accordance with the schedule of hourly rates to be recited in the contract; and to execute such contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission, upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

The proposed services are in the technical and professional fields of endeavor and therefore, it is not considered that public advertising here would be of any avail to the city.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

COPYING MACHINES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I hereby respectfully request, on behalf of, and at the direction of, the Public Facilities Commission, Your Honor's written authorization to dispense with a public solicitation for bids in the Boston City Record, and to award and enter into a contract with Xerox Corporation, a New York corporation, duly licensed to do business in this state, with a place of business in Boston, at 100 Charles River Plaza, providing for the renting and servicing of a Xerox 3600 copier machine, including a sorter and adapter so that the machine will accommodate paper size 8½ inches by 14 inches, during the period April 1, 1972, to December 31, 1972, inclusive, the total cost for the aforesaid machine and maintenance services for the contract period being not to exceed $15,500. The figures set forth below show the cost of copies:

From 10,000 copies per month, $.030 per copy; from 10,001 to 25,000 copies per month, $.0225 per copy; from 25,001 to 50,000 copies per month, $.014 per copy; from 50,001 copies per month and up, $.006 per copy.

This Xerox machine has the unique capability of making exact copies of whatever is placed in the machine in the nature of written, printed, diagrammatic, or illustrative text or matter set forth on paper, whether in the form of a single sheet, magazine, or bound book. The machine utilizes a dry reproductive process, and automatically produces as many copies as desired. Further, this machine does not require the use of specially treated sensitized paper.

In view of the very technical nature of the machine and because the design of same is such that it fills our particular needs, and has, in fact, proven to be extremely helpful to this department as time has gone on, I feel that publicly inviting bids therefor would not serve a useful purpose nor indeed be of avail to the City of Boston.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

PROFESSIONAL ASSISTANCE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Recent action by the Public Facilities Commission authorizes me to request, in the name and on behalf of the Commission, of the Mayor of Boston, as I now do, formal executive authorization to dispense with conforming to those otherwise mandatory provisions of our City Charter requiring City Record advertising, in awarding to Wilson H. Rains, d/b/a Wilson H. Rains and Associates, with a usual place of business at 4 Brattle Street, Cambridge, Mass., a contract to provide, as ordered from time to time during the period September 1, 1972, to June 1, 1973, both dates inclusive, assistance in the: (a) preparation of guidelines for school furnishings bulk bidding; and (b) development of an interior space study; and (c) providing formal documentation for incorporation in the city's system manual, including various pertinent research studies and engineering reports as they become available, during the design phase of the BOSTCO Track IV schools, namely the Charlestown High, Mattapan Elementary, Fuller School Replacement and Andrew-O'Reilly Schools, at a cost for such services not to exceed $30,000, including the sum of $5,000 for supplementary services; and to execute such contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission, upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

For the information of Your Honor, expenditures under the proposed contract sum will be the same in connection with each one of the four (4) named schools and further that Wilson Rains and Associates will be paid for its services at the hourly rates to be recited in the proposed contract.

Since we are to be involved here under the proposed contract, with the rendition of professional services, it does not appear that public purpose would be served by a public invitation published in the City Record for competitive bids therefor and thus this written request to forego the same.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

Hot Meals Program Set for Boston's Elderly

Mayor Kevin White has announced the award of $736,418 to three social service agencies for a program to provide low-cost, nutritionally sound hot meals to low-income, elderly residents of Boston. The meals will be served at strategically located centers such as schools, churches, community centers, and senior citizens centers around the city.

"Older people, especially those on fixed incomes, have been hit hard by spiraling costs, to the point that many cannot afford even basic necessities," Mayor White said.

"This program is an important step toward providing better nutrition and hopefully, better health for many elderly people who cannot afford a nutritious diet," he said. "And, by providing the meals in a congenial setting, we hope to reduce the isolation and loneliness of many of our older people."

The grants were awarded by the state Executive Office of Elder Affairs, under Title VII of the Older Americans Act. Through an agreement signed last spring by Mayor White and the state Elder Affairs Office, the Boston Commission on Affairs of the Elderly exercises review and approval of all state and federally funded programs for the elderly in Boston.

"I am particularly pleased to see the close cooperation between city and state officials which was so crucial in choosing qualified agencies to provide these services," Mayor White added. "I hope that this spirit will continue as we advance in our efforts to provide a decent standard of life for the older people who have contributed so much to this city."

"In planning the nutrition program, the Commission worked closely with the Mayor's Advisory Committee on the Elderly," said Taylor Wagenseil, Boston Commissioner of Elderly Affairs. The Advisory Committee is comprised of elderly consumers and service agency representatives from throughout the city.

"Although allocations for the nutrition program had to be made quickly, the Advisory Committee studied a number of alternative proposals and was in close contact with the various neighborhoods before making their final recommendations for the grantees," Mr. Wagenseil stated.

The Commission sponsored a series of community meetings in City Hall and in the community schools during the recommendation process.

"We worked closely with the state office through the entire process, and I feel strongly that the cooperation between that office and the Commission was largely responsible for the successful initiation of this important nutrition program," Mr. Wagenseil said.

Grants were awarded to the following agencies which will provide meals in the three city service areas

OUR BOSTON

The Mayors of Boston from 1905 to 1913

Daniel A. Whelton became the thirty-third mayor of Boston, becoming acting mayor to fill out the unexpired term of Mayor Patrick A. Collins, who died in office, on September 15, 1905. He was born on January 1, 1872, in the West End, and was educated at St. Mary's School, from which he graduated in 1886. After attending the evening high school for a few months, he entered the employ of Henry A. Young and Co., book publishers, and then became a salesman for DeWolfe & Fiske Company.

In 1895, he was United States revenue gauger, and held the office until 1903. He was at one time a warden in caucus and also an election officer. He became interested in politics, and was a member of the Common Council in 1894, and again in 1895, when he served on the Finance Committee. He was chairman of the Board of Aldermen in 1905. In 1909 he served as one of the deputy sheriffs of Boston.

John Francis Fitzgerald served as the thirty-fourth mayor of Boston, and served terms in 1906-07, and from 1910 to 1913. He was considered one of the most energetic men to have held the office. During his terms as mayor, he left no stone unturned to make Boston one of the great seaports of the east coast, as well as a greater manufacturing and previously determined by the Advisory Committee:

To Southwest Boston Senior Services, Inc., a grant of $148,429, to serve West Roxbury, Roslindale, Hyde Park, and parts of Mattapan, and Jamaica Plain.

To the Council of Elders, Inc., a grant of $294,944, to serve Roxbury, Mission Hill, South End, Allston-Brighton, Back Bay-Fenway, and parts of Jamaica Plain and North Dorchester.

To Federated Dorchester Neighborhood Houses, Inc., a grant of $300,045, to serve South Boston, Charlestown, Chinatown, East Boston, North End, South Dorchester, and parts of North Dorchester and Mattapan.

All three grantees have begun organizing advisory consumer project councils and are meeting with elders and community leaders to determine the local sites in each area where meals will be served. They expect to begin serving meals within two to three months. Social services and transportation will also be provided for those who need them.

industrial center. He traveled all through New England advocating the bringing of new steamship lines to Boston, the improving of harbor facilities, the building of better wharves, and the creation of many lines of civic work that would make Boston bigger and busier, which was needed at that time.

Mr. Fitzgerald provided the means for every citizen to voice his need by establishing a series of district town meetings, held in sections of the city which were not represented in the City Council by the aldermen-at-large. To accomplish better representation, the mayor and City Council held a meeting at various periods of the year in the sections not represented, at which any citizen had an opportunity to present his grievance or request.

These meetings served to strengthen the mayor's popularity, and gave the public a feeling of more control of their government.

Mayor Fitzgerald was also active in humanitarian affairs. He instituted free rides on the ferries for the poor on hot nights, and had the Fire Department flush the streets at intervals during intensely hot weather. He increased the efficiency of the Board of Health by adding a corps of ten nurses, directed by a medical inspector, for the care of diseases dangerous to the public health. It was Mr. Fitzgerald who instituted the practice of the City of Boston officially observing Christmas by providing a celebration on the Boston Common.

He was born on February 11, 1863, in the North End, where it was said that he had a speaking acquaintance with every man, woman, and child. He was educated at the Eliot Grammar School, the Boston Latin School, and had one year at Harvard Medical School. For a brief period he was employed in the Custom House, but soon left to give his attention to business and politics. He went into the real estate and insurance business, and was not long engaged when he was soon looked upon as one of the most successful men in that line in the whole city. He spent considerable time and much thought in becoming acquainted with and gaining the goodwill of everyone in his ward who had a vote. Taking a keen interest in the personal affairs of all in his district, not only did he keep a card index of all men needing work and employ a secretary to look after them, but he often went out personally and looked for work for the unemployed in his district. His practical efforts for the poor of his district, as well as his social qualities, created a body of devoted and faithful admirers upon whose support he could always count.

He served as a member of the Boston Common Council in 1892, and the Massachusetts Senate in 1893. He served the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, and fifty-sixth Congresses from 1895 to 1901, and was for six years the mayor of Boston, having been first elected in 1905. He obtained his first election by defeating the organization forces in twenty-one out of the twenty-five wards then in the city.

During his administration the High School of Commerce was opened, and the School of Practical Arts for Girls, and the Consumptives' Hospital established. He inaugurated the Saturday half-day for city employees, who up to that time had worked six days a week. He built many playgrounds, the Charlestown Armory, new bath-houses, increased the pay of laborers, and started the annex to the old City Hall. During his term, the subway was opened to Cambridge, and other developments were done on underground transit. The zoo at Franklin Park was opened, and the soil of Boston Common was renewed. Mayor Fitzgerald was one of the most popular of the men to have held the office of mayor of Boston.

SEPAC FUNDS ALLOCATED FOR 1974

Following several months of negotiations, the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA), and the South End Project Area Committee (SEPAC), have signed a contract providing funds for SEPAC's operations in 1974 and outlining the scope of services during that period.

"This agreement between SEPAC and the BRA is indicative of the Authority's continuing commitment to citizen participation in the urban renewal process," said Robert T. Kenney, BRA director. "Under the contract that has been agreed upon, the BRA and the South End community can work in partnership toward the successful completion of the South End renewal plan."

The responsibilities of SEPAC include the preparation of a community newsletter, the study of information relating to the South End urban renewal plan, and the recommendation of action to the BRA board regarding South End matters, and the focusing of the community's attention on issues of major importance to the South End.

SEPAC Moderator, Ron Geddes, observed, "The South End plan, the most ambitious and complex of the BRA's projects, can be completed with constructive community planning and a responsive BRA. With this contract, SEPAC is equipped to do the technical tasks necessary for meaningful participation, and the BRA has indicated its willingness to pay attention to South End residents."

The contract amount includes salaries for a service manager and secretary, publication of the SEPAC newsletter, and consultant services.

SEPAC consists of thirty-nine members elected for a two-year term. Thirty members are elected from fifteen districts within the project area, with nine at-large members. The most recent SEPAC election was held in June, 1973.

"A very representative committee has been elected to oversee the direction and implementation of urban renewal and related activities in the South End," said Karen Gould, SEPAC service manager.

"They know all the problems and pitfalls that the South End is faced with and are already working on these matters."

SEPAC was created in 1969 in accordance with federal regulations governing citizen participation in urban renewal projects. Funds for its operation are provided by the BRA through federal renewal funds allocated to the South End.

ENGRAVE YOUR VALUABLES

The Boston Police Department has begun a crime prevention program called Operation "Ident-I-Guard" aimed at making burglaries less profitable.

Engraving tools are being made available at all district police stations so that homeowners and apartment dwellers may engrave all of their valuable property with their social security numbers.

This will make the property more difficult to resell and will prove a deterrent to theft.

Any property that is stolen will have a better chance of being returned. Police stopping suspicious persons carrying valuable objects will have a sure means of checking ownership.

Deputy Superintendent Herbert Craigwell, head of the Community Affairs Division, and members of the Crime Prevention Section unveiled three billboards announcing the new program.

Sergeant Edward J. Lamb, Patrolman Specialists Harry Prefontaine and Charles Sullivan of the Boston Police Crime Prevention Section, all recent graduates of the National Crime Prevention Institute, University of Louisville, Kentucky, will coordinate the program under the direction of Deputy Craigwell.

The Ident-I-Guard program had been instituted in Boston on an experimental basis two years ago. Crime prevention officers said a recent survey has shown that less than 1 percent of those using the Ident-I-Guard tools suffered loss through burglary.

The engraving tools are safe to use and require no special skill. Citizens wanting further information on the program should contact the Community Service officers in their districts.

Residents using the tools should engrave their social security numbers and the city in which they reside. Tools are available on loan to all community residents.

EDUCATION IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Would you relish knowing how maps are made — exactly what waves are — how a lighthouse could throw its beam so far?

If you would like to broaden your own education and pass some of it on to others, join the exhibits guide project at Boston's Museum of Science.

Beginning in mid-February, the museum will prepare volunteers to help visitors improve their understanding of exhibits. The guides will talk informally to visitors, point out aspects of an exhibit that might otherwise be missed, answer questions, and suggest related exhibits.

After an initial training course, guides will continue learning at once-a-month sessions.

A commitment of four hours a week, on either Wednesday or Thursday morning, or Sunday afternoon, is required. Volunteers with a background in education, science, or experience in dealing with the public are invited to apply.

Such qualifications may also enable interested persons to apply for other volunteer openings, such as gift shop work or Project Eye-Opener, in which volunteers shepherd very young inner-city children around exhibit halls. The museum also frequently has openings for volunteers with special expertise, such as technicians and linguists.

Appointments for interviews may be made by calling the Service League office, at 723-2500, ext. 258.

CULTURAL AFFAIRS PRESENTATIONS

The paintings and graphics of six men and women of differing experiences, but commonly bound by their Baltic heritage, will be presented by the Baltic American Society in cooperation with the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs, from February 4 through February 28, in the Main Gallery at Boston City Hall.

Entitled "Six Baltic Artists," the show includes works by Hardu Keck and Epp Ojamaa of Estonia, Viktoras Vizgirda and Romas Viesulas of Lithuania, and Urdis Purins and Maira Dreimanis-Reinbergs of Latvia, all of whom now live in New England.

Hours for the Main Gallery are Monday through Friday, from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M., and Saturday, from 10:30 A.M. to 3:30 P.M.

Other February exhibits at Boston City Hall include:

In the Mezzanine, an exhibit with the theme "Kick the Sweet Snack Habit!" prepared for Dental Health Month (February), by the Massachusetts Dental Health Society in conjunction with Tufts, Forsyth, and other area dental schools.

Outside the entrance to the Main Gallery, from the recent "Touch and Go" exhibit at the Boston Center for the Arts, a selection of sculptures by Jack Donnelly and Ellexander Knevsenn who, with Paul Jeffries, will also show their works at a major outdoor exhibit in the City Hall Courtyard in May.

Viewing hours for exhibits in the Mezzanine and Registry areas are Monday through Friday, from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M.

DISCRIMINATION COMPLAINTS PROCEDURE

In order to familiarize all department heads with MOHR's (Mayor's Office of Human Rights), handling of discrimination charges, here is a brief outline of the complaint procedure, from the filing of the complaint to the conciliation conference.

(1) Filing a Complaint

Any employee of the City of Boston who feels he/she has been discriminated against may file a complaint with MOHR. MOHR does not handle class action complaints or those filed against the Boston School Committee. Once filed and to fully protect the complainant's rights, a notarized copy of each complaint is forwarded to the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination. All respondents named in the complaint are notified of the charge against them. The complainant is then notified of the field investigator handling the case.

In addition, any complaint originally filed with the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination charging the City of Boston, or a representative, with discrimination is forwarded to the MOHR for investigation.

MCAD will not investigate until after MOHR has completed its investigation. MCAD retains this option, but it is highly unlikely they will exercise it.

(2) Investigations

All discrimination complaints against the City of Boston will be investigated by a field investigator from the MOHR. Every complaint will be investigated, regardless of any action taken by the respondent(s) after notification of the complaint. When the field investigator has gathered all the facts relative to the case, he/she will write up a finding of either Probable Cause or Lack of Probable Cause. This finding will, in turn, be reviewed and approved or disapproved by the Investigative Division's legal counsel and, finally, by the Administrator of MOHR.

(3) Final Dispositions

When the finding has been approved by the Administrator, both the complainant and respondent(s) are sent copies of the final disposition.

(A) Lack of Probable Cause

If the complainant wishes to appeal a finding of Lack of Probable Cause, he/she may do so by filing an appeal with the MOHR within ten days after receipt of the final disposition. The appeal will then be heard by the Employment Practices Appeal Board. If the appellate board upholds the Lack of Probable Cause finding, the complainant may then utilize other judicial and administrative remedies available at the state and federal levels.

(B) Probable Cause

If a determination of Probable Cause is found, a notice is sent to both the complainant and the respondent(s), informing them of the findings and the proposed terms of conciliation.

(4) Conciliation Conference and/or Public Hearing Before Employment Practices Board

The respondent is then contacted by phone and asked to attend a conciliation conference. If the respondent refuses to participate in such a conference or fails to respond to MOHR's attempts to set up a conciliation conference within five (5) days of receipt of the notice, the case will be scheduled to be heard before the Employment Practices Appeal Board. In the same manner, if the conciliation conference is not productive and one party or the other wishes to appeal, the case will then go before the Employment Practices Appeal Board. The decision of the board members will become binding with the approval of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX BOOKLET AVAILABLE

Postmaster George K. Walker has announced the official Internal Revenue Service guide, "Your Federal Income Tax," is on sale again this year at all post offices in the Boston Postal District.

The booklet provides assistance to taxpayers filing separate or joint returns. It contains sample completed forms with entries keyed to appropriate pages and many clear examples of allowable expenses, deductions, and contributions.

Postmaster Walker said this year's revised edition, priced at $1, is expected to be another "best seller."

MANAGEMENT REORGANIZATION AT BOSTON POSTAL DISTRICT

A major management reorganization of the Boston Postal District was announced at a news conference on January 23, by Sectional Center Manager/Postmaster George K. Walker.

"The new organizational structure is designed on a four-division plan that will provide modern management practices and consistently reliable service to our customers. It reflects the needs of the Boston District, which encompasses the City of Boston, the twenty-five cities and towns surrounding it, plus sixty communities of the Sectional Center Facilities prefixed with Zip Code numbers 017 and 020," Mr. Walker stated.

The new structure is built around four major postal divisions: Mail Processing, Customer Services, Support and Employee, Labor Relations. "Our objectives in this changeover are to decentralize operating authority, to organize around major postal purposes, to recognize the special needs of the metropolitan areas, to provide improved working conditions, and better career opportunities for our postal employees."

Promoted to the newly established positions are four career postal employees. Appointed SCF director, Mail Processing, is Edward J. Sheffield, a twenty-five-year veteran of postal service and most recently manager of the South Postal Annex, the largest mail distribution center in New England. Mr. Sheffield will be responsible for mail distribution, plant maintenance, detached units, and logistics.

Promoted to the position of SCF director, Customer Services, is John L. Mahon, who has directed the Delivery and Collection Services in the Boston Postal District and previously served as superintendent of the Malden Post Office during his thirty-nine years of service.

James J. Gavin assumes the position of SCF director, Employee and Labor Relations.

The SCF director, Support, is Philip L. Sullivan, a sixteen-year postal employee most recently serving as acting assistant director, Operations Division, Local Services.

"The men I have appointed to direct this new organizational structure possess the expertise necessary to operate a modern postal service, to perform on a businesslike basis, and to provide the public with consistent day in and day out service," Mr. Walker stated.

JANE W. CURRIE: FIRST WOMAN POSTAL INSPECTOR

Like countless other women, Jane Williams Currie casually begins her day with a cup of coffee and then spends considerable time preparing herself for work. But, the one thing which distinguishes Jane from the millions of women who go through this morning ritual is her job.

Jane is a postal inspector — the first female in the history of the United States Postal Service to hold such a position.

Mrs. Currie, a thirty-four-year-old Texan, admits being pleased with having such an honor, but readily adds that it is "more gratifying" to be a part of the oldest federal law enforcement agency.

"Do you know that the Postal Inspection Service has a history which dates back to 1737?" she proudly asks.

It has been a little over two years since Mrs. Currie completed her basic training and joined some 1,700 other postal inspectors who enforce postal laws and safeguard the mails.

Since her appointment, sixteen other women have been named. Jane works in Chicago on financial fraud cases.

"As far as efficiency as an inspector is concerned, I feel no hindrance at all by being a woman," she said. "I have as much confidence in my ability as the men do."

During her two years as an inspector, Mrs. Currie has investigated dangerous postal fraud suspects, unraveled their phony alibis, and even made several arrests.

"In my way," she explains, "I am doing something that may keep a great many people from being defrauded. If I can get the guilty prosecuted, then it's going to save someone from losing something — money or property or whatever."

Now what does this attractive Texan, living in Chicago, do in her spare time? Cook Mexican dishes, of course.

CEREBRAL PALSY CAMPAIGN

The Cerebral Palsy Association of Greater Boston, Inc., has started its door-to-door fund campaign in Boston.

The money received in this drive will benefit the children and adults at the Cerebral Palsy Center. Over 400 handicapped persons from the Greater Boston area participate in preschool, vocational, and recreational programs. Part of the money contributed will also go towards supporting Camp Sea Haven, a residential camp for the cerebral palsied and other handicapped children.

Serving as chairman of this year's campaign in Boston, is Mr. Herbert Connolly. Mr. Connolly said, "We will appreciate any contributions from residents. You may be assured that your gift will provide direct services to the cerebral palsied."

EMPLOYEES, PLEASE BE ALERT

The Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs has been enlivening the public spaces of City Hall for four years by arranging for artists to display their work in the building. We have been fortunate to have had exhibits by local and international artists, both developing and professional.

Unfortunately, in recent months the success of the Exhibit Program has been jeopardized by numerous thefts of paintings and sculptures from the Human Rights Corridor, the Mezzanine, and the Concourse Gallery on the third floor.

In order that the Exhibit Program might continue in our public corridors, we ask that City Hall employees be on the alert for people who are seen tampering with the displays, and to report it immediately to Dave Hurley at ext. 169, or to Jane McIntosh at ext. 189. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT

Purchasing Division COPY MACHINES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Authority is requested to award a contract, without public advertisement, to International Business Machines Corporation, for the rental of copy machines from April 1, 1972, to March 31, 1973, inclusive.

In view of the quality and dependability of the I.B.M. machines, it is my opinion that publicly advertising for bids would serve no useful purpose.

The amount of the contract is not to exceed $10,000, net.

Respectfully yours,

KEVIN P. FEELEY,
Purchasing Agent.

EDIBLE COMMODITIES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

It is the practice of the City of Boston to purchase perishable foods and other edible commodities on the basis of bids submitted weekly or monthly because of the perishable nature of these goods, and the fluctuation in their prices, and the quantities required.

It is required by law that contracts be executed with various companies covering said purchases for one year beginning April 1, 1973. Because these purchasing procedures, which accrue considerable savings to the city, do not lend themselves to formal public advertising, authority is requested to award contracts, without public advertisement, to the companies listed below for the period from April 1, 1973, to June 30, 1974, inclusive. The prices, however, are based on formal quotations from several suppliers.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This office is in receipt of a requisition from the Public Works Department, for Keiser bucket parts for incinerator cranes. An informal written quotation has been received from Detroit Stoker Company, the manufacturer and sole supplier of these parts.

AUDITORIUM COMMISSION

MECHANICAL EQUIPMENT MAINTENANCE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In keeping with Your Honor's stated announcement concerning holding the line in this year's budget requests, your authority is hereby respectfully requested to dispense with advertising in the City Record, in awarding to Bay State York Service Company, a full maintenance contract for heating and air conditioning in the city's John B. Hynes Veterans' Auditorium at 900 Boylston Street, Boston, during the period commencing April 1, 1973, and ending March 31, 1974, at a cost to the city of $74,000.

This Commission has a written statement from Bay State York Service Company, committing it to another year's full maintenance contract as it now exists, at the same cost to the city as for the previous year, and we feel it is incumbent upon us to request permission to accept the offer of Bay State York Service Company. Building management has advised this Commission that the present contractor has been more than adequate in the performance of the terms of the contract.

Because of the professional nature of the work and services involved, and because we believe this to be in the best interest of the city, it does not appear that any useful purpose would be achieved by advertising for bids for this contract. Therefore, we respectfully request your permission to dispense with advertising, and award a contract to Bay State York Service Company, 94 Beaconsfield Road, Brookline, Mass., in the amount of $74,000.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT C. LINNELL,
Acting Chairman.

SERVICING ELEVATORS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In keeping with Your Honor's stated announcement concerning holding the line in this year's budget requests, your authority is hereby respectfully requested to dispense with advertising in the City Record in awarding to Delta Elevator Service Corporation, a full maintenance contract for servicing the two Otis electric passenger elevators, the two Otis plunger electric passenger elevators, the three Otis plunger electric freight elevators, and the four Otis escalators in the city's John B. Hynes Veterans' Auditorium, at 900 Boylston Street, Boston, during the period commencing April 1, 1973, and ending March 31, 1974, at a cost to the city of $16,320. The contract is to include emergency repair call-back service at any hour.

This Commission has a written statement from Delta Elevator Service Corporation, committing it to another year's full maintenance contract as it now exists, at the same cost to the city as for the previous year, and we feel it is incumbent upon us to request permission to accept the offer of Delta Elevator Service Corporation. Building management has advised this Commission that the present contractor has been more than adequate in the performance of the terms of the contract.

Because of the professional nature of the work and services involved, and because we believe this to be in the best interest of the city, it does not appear that any useful purpose would be achieved by advertising for bids for this contract. Therefore, we respectfully request your permission to dispense with advertising, and award a contract to Delta Elevator Service Corporation, 50 North Beacon Street, Brighton, Mass., in the amount of $16,320.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT C. LINNELL,
Acting Chairman.

GUARD AND PATROL SERVICE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In keeping with Your Honor's stated announcement concerning holding the line in this year's budget requests, your authority is hereby respectfully requested to dispense with advertising in the City Record, in awarding to Excelon Security Services, Inc., a contract for the furnishing of guard and patrol service in the city's John B. Hynes Veterans' Auditorium, at 900 Boylston Street, Boston, for the period April 1, 1973, through April 1, 1974, at a cost to the city of $34,000.

This Commission has a written statement from Excelon Security Services, Inc., committing it to another year's contract as it now exists, at the same cost to the city as for the previous year, and we feel it is incumbent upon us to request permission to accept the offer of Excelon Security Services, Inc. Building Management has advised this Commission that the present contractor has been more than adequate in the performance of the terms of the contract.

Because of the professional nature of the work and services involved, and because we believe this to be in the best interest of the city, it does not appear that any useful purpose would be achieved by advertising for bids for this contract. Therefore, we respectfully request your permission to dispense with advertising, and award a contract to Excelon Security Services, Inc., 80 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass., in the amount of $34,000.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT C. LINNELL,
Acting Chairman.

COMMERCE AND MANPOWER CONSULTANT SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

Your permission is requested to dispense with advertising, and to award a contract to Spindler, McClure and Associates, of 1150 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D. C., for consultant services to be furnished to the Boston Economic Development and Industrial Commission to promote the city as a desirable place to live, to visit, and to do business. The cost to the city for this service will not exceed $9,900, and will cover a ninety-day period.

The purpose of this request is to further implement programs EDIC has formulated in its effort to stabilize the economy of the City of Boston. The consultant would also assist in building federal support for local programs important to Boston's development, as well as to enhance the climate for capital investment. After a thorough investigation, I have concluded that Spindler, McClure and Associates is the only firm which will meet our deadline at a price within the amount specified above.

On the basis of the foregoing, I respectfully submit that no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising this contract. Thus, I ask that you present this award to Spindler, McClure and Associates.

Your honoring this request will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

GERALD W. BUSH,
Director.

EMPLOYEE TRAINING

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request permission to award, without advertising for bids, a contract to Boston University Human Relations Center, for the training of eight Emergency Employment Act employees or supervisors of E.E.A. employees. The consultants are specialists in teaching the techniques of diagnosis and problems-solving, community organization, and crisis prevention and intervention. The city employees will be trained to work with such programs as community schools and Little City Halls to help reduce tensions in volatile situations. The total amount of the contract will not exceed $6,000, and will terminate March 1, 1973.

The subject services are of highly special and unique character and, for this reason, it is felt that a public solicitation for bids for these services would serve no useful purpose. The sole source of funding is derived from the Federal Emergency Employment Act Program, with no financial assistance from the City of Boston.

Respectfully,

GERALD W. BUSH,
Director.

CONSERVATION COMMISSION CONSERVATION PLANNING

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with inviting proposals for advertising in the City Record, and to award a contract to John Blackwell of One Center Plaza, Boston, for the period September 5, 1972, to March 31, 1973. On December 19, 1972, you approved my earlier request dated November 28, 1972, for permission to award such a contract for the period ending December 31, 1972. This request should be substituted for my earlier letter so that Mr. Blackwell's services can be engaged through March of 1973.

Under the terms of the proposed contract, Mr. Blackwell will be engaged for conservation project planning and administrative services in the implementation of the Charles-to-Charles greenspace project, assisting the Conservation Commission under the close direction of its chairman. The total cost to the city will not exceed $6,525. Project achievement of a wide variety of conservation agreements to permanently protect neighborhood open space and thereby enhance the property-tax-paying values of private properties in Boston and along the Brookline-Boston boundary, extending from the Charles River at the Fensgate to the Charles River at Spring Street, in the West Roxbury district of Boston is expected.

Because of the unique nature of the services needed by the Commission, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose and that executing the proposed contract for the extended period will be in the best interests of the city.

Respectfully,

EUGENIE BEAL,
Chairman.

FIRE DEPARTMENT INVESTIGATING BUILDING COLLAPSE

DEAR SIR:

I respectfully request your written permission to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record, in amending the contract for the investigation of the collapse of a section of the Hotel Vendome, 160 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, on Saturday, June 17, 1972, by adjusting the original contract price in the amount of $9,630.33. The contract then shall not exceed $24,630.33.

This increase in the original contract price of $15,000 is necessary due to the amount of work required in performing the investigation. The sum of $15,000 was established to initiate the project with the mutual understanding that this amount would be increased if necessary.

It is my opinion that public advertising is not appropriate under the circumstances and the contract with Walter J. Hickey Associates, Inc., 135 Wood Road, Braintree, should be amended.

Very truly yours,

JAMES H. KELLY,
Fire Commissioner.

The above-numbered contract is more fully described as follows: DEMOLITION OF DRAWBRIDGE NO. 8, BRIDGE APPROACH TRESTLES AND FENDER PIERS, Somerville and Medford, Massachusetts.

The work to be done under this contract consists of the complete demolition, removal, and disposal, in its entirety, of drawbridge No. 8, which formerly carried the B & M Railroad (Reading Branch) over the Mystic River, all in accordance with the plans and these specifications.

Drawbridge No. 8 is located upstream of the Amelia Earhart Dam and is parallel and adjacent to the easterly side of the new MBTA structure known as the Edward Dana Bridge.

The structure to be demolished consists of timber pile trestle approaches, a jackknife type drawspan (which is presently locked in open position), and fender piers supported on timber piles.

Approach trestles are of typical wood construction consisting of timber piles, bracings, caps, and stringers; carrying three (3) abandoned railroad tracks consisting of steel rails on wood ties. There are also wood plank walkways in place, outside of track area.

The drawspan is of timber and steel construction and consists of a movable deck-type structure (with steel beam floor system), supported by a fixed tower structure which is constructed principally of timber framing and steel hanger rods.

Related fixtures include a draw rest pier, operating machinery, housings, and electrical facilities, all located on the main fender pier structure on the northerly side of the channel-way.

The drawspan also carries three (3) abandoned railroad tracks on wood ties.

Fender piers throughout are of typical timber construction consisting of wood piles, bracing, caps, wales, and decking.

There is also some existing steel sheet piling in place as noted on plan, as well as wood piles and timber work below water surface which are not part of or fastened to the existing structure.

Boston Site for New Life Learning Center

The Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) and the Massachusetts Association for the Blind (MAB) have announced detailed plans for a "life learning residential center" that MAB intends to build in the South Cove urban renewal project.

The BRA, which owns the land where the center will be constructed, recently gave preliminary approval to MAB for the development.

BRA Director Robert T. Kenney said, "I am pleased that we have been able to work out a design and location that meets the requirements of both MAB and the BRA. This development is an outstanding example of how the urban renewal process can serve a humanitarian purpose, and at the same time provide development of a scale, use, and design that are compatible with the existing community.

"We stand ready to do everything we can to facilitate the development process and to help MAB make this residential center a reality," Mr. Kenney said.

To cost an estimated $700,000, the two-story brick structure, designed to complement the surrounding neighborhood, will house twenty-four blind adults from state institutions, plus two full-time staff persons, while they learn everyday skills and participate in workshop training programs.

The program for the life learning center is based on that of Sunlight House in Scituate, where MAB has operated vacation and holiday programs for blind and visually handicapped persons for the last twenty-five years.

"MAB's programs provide services of various kinds to a significant segment of the blind and visually handicapped population of Massachusetts, which we should soon be able to serve better than ever and in considerably greater numbers," said Albert K. Gayzagian, president of the MAB board. "By making available to us this ideal location for our new facility, the Boston Redevelopment Authority is presenting us with an opportunity to carry on programs which have already been initiated as well as to inaugurate new programs which constantly changing circumstances will inevitably require."

Mr. Gayzagian is himself blind, and read his statement from a text typed for him in Braille.

Graham Gund, architect for the facility, explained that the two-story structure will include eight two-person living units, two four-person units, and two one-person house manager units. Classrooms, dining and lounge areas, a recreation room, kitchen, laundry, and office and administrative space are also planned, along with a small enclosed garden at the rear of the site.

Site for the building is on Tremont Street between Jefferson and Church Streets in South Cove.

"The MAB was started here in Boston in 1902," explained Paul O'Friel, MAB's development coordinator. "It was the first social agency for serving the blind and visually handicapped, and is the oldest in the country.

"The needs of the blind in 1974 are just as pressing as they were at the turn of the century," he continued. "What we need today is a new program for community residency and training for multihandicapped individuals, particularly residents of state school programs. For this type of community residence program to be successful, we believe that it is necessary to have a site location within the City of Boston. We are pleased that Mayor White, Bob Kenney, and the BRA board and staff have appreciated the dimension of this program and are making available this particular piece of property which will provide ready access to transportation and to community and recreational facilities."

With tentative designation as developer of the site, the MAB must now complete its design and financing arrangements and obtain final BRA approval before construction can get under way. Start of construction is anticipated for the spring of 1975.

TRACKLESS TROLLEY FACILITY

The Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA), on January 30, authorized the award of a $1,136,981 contract to W. T. Rich Company, Inc., Newton, for the conversion of the Watertown carhouse on Galen Street to a trackless trolley facility.

John T. Doolittle, Jr., Chairman of the Board, said conversion of the Watertown carhouse is the most feasible solution to providing a major maintenance and repair facility for the trackless trolleys to replace the Bennett Street yard properties in Cambridge, sold for a part of the site for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

The conversion project is being undertaken with part of the approved funds in the $11.9 million program for Plant Improvements—Phase II. Last June, the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) approved a two-thirds grant of $7.9 million toward the cost of the Phase II program.

The scope of the contract includes site preparation and rehabilitation of the interior and exterior of the carhouse.

The Watertown carhouse was built in the early 1900s and was remodeled in 1935. For the past two years, the Authority's federally aided program to refurbish and modernize fifty streetcars has been carried on there.

At the present time, the Authority owns fifty-five trackless trolleys and has received UMTA approval for a grant toward purchasing fifty more vehicles, minus the electrical components. Of the fifty-five cars, thirty-two are in daily service operating on routes in Cambridge, Belmont, and Watertown.

IT'S YOUR MOVE

Postal employees can seal the fate of a queen or destroy a castle, and the chances are they won't even know it. But know it or not, the Postal Service is the key to an increasingly popular way to play the game of chess — by mail.

Postal chess enthusiasts generate millions of pieces of mail each year playing individual games and competing in tournaments arranged by chess clubs. In the latter, prizes, titles, and the chance to match skills with top players attract enthusiasts.

Largest and among the most prestigious of chess organizations is the United States Chess Federation, located in Newburgh, New York. Edmund Edmondson, director of the federation, estimates his 18,000 postal chess players alone account for more than 20 million pieces of mail annually just in tournament play.

How? Mr. Edmondson explains: "We have three tournament classifications for postal chess. Players enroll in one according to their proficiency. We place them in tournament groups, usually by geographic location. Six players make up a group and each player plays six games. Since each game averages thirty moves, you can see that's a lot of mail."

Postal chess is played just like over-the-board chess, except players send their moves on postcards. A player must respond to his opponent's move within seventy-two hours according to tournament rules. Mr. Edmondson says the Postal Service does a good job of getting the cards to players. "It takes an average of three days for a card to be delivered."

Most of the people sending cards are adults, he says, but some are as young as seven years old. At least part of the popularity of postal chess is the opportunity to make new friends, even though players rarely meet face to face.

"We have all kinds of people who play by mail," says Mr. Edmondson, "from taxi drivers and professional athletes to housewives — and they play well. We think interest in the game through the mail will continue to grow." Over the past four years, the federation's postal chess enrollment has increased by 600 percent.

One other reason postal chess enthusiasts account for so much mail is that many play more than one game at a time. "It isn't unusual for players to be busy with many games simultaneously," Mr. Edmondson said, noting he knew of one man who played 500 at a time. But Edmondson thinks that is too many. "Forty or fifty at one time is enough," he said.

REMEMBER THIS ADDRESS?

The Gettysburg Address was delivered by President Abraham Lincoln at the dedication of the National Cemetery on Gettysburg Battlefield, November 19, 1863. It is a masterpiece of literature. President Lincoln, our sixteenth president, was born February 12, 1809, and died April 15, 1865.

Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work they have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honoured dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that the dead shall not have died in vain, that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

BRANCH LIBRARY PRESENTATIONS

The Codman Square Branch of the Boston Public Library will observe Black History Month with a special film showing on February 11, at 6 P.M., and with two exhibits which will be on view concurrently from February 10, through February 16. The first of the exhibits will include materials from the Afro-American Institute of Northeastern University, and the second will be a display of photographs taken by Greater Boston students engaged in the METCO program in Boston. The latter show has been arranged by Boston's own cultural leader, Marcus Mitchell, managing editor of "Image" — a newsletter of METCO — and consultant to the Negro History Museum. Title of the film to be shown on Monday of the same week will be Black World (a fifty-five minute film about the life of blacks in the United States and Africa). All are invited to view the exhibits and to attend the film showing, free of charge.

Not directly connected with the Black History Month observance, but promising to be of interest, is a special program for women on the topic of "Child Health Care," to be given at the Codman Square Branch on Tuesday, February 12, at 10:30 A.M. Guest speaker at the program will be Ms. Margaret Keough, R.N., of the Codman Square Health Unit. If you have any questions on the subject, here's the chance to ask Nurse Keough for the answers.

ZONING CODE TEXT AVAILABLE

The City of Boston Building Department in concert with the Boston Redevelopment Authority has recently published a revised edition of the City of Boston Zoning Code and Enabling Act. This major task was the work of Mrs. Patricia Brennan, Mrs. Lucille Sims, Mr. Mace Wenniger, and Mr. Richard R. Thuma, Jr.

The Boston Zoning Code is a capitulation of all of the laws promulgated by the City of Boston Zoning Commission which are enforced by the City of Boston Building Commissioner and his staff.

The old text was a spiral bound 5-inch by 7-inch text which has been replaced by an 8½-inch by 11-inch loose leaf edition which is complete with all of the amendments through the end of 1973. It is generously illustrated showing typical examples of the applications of the Zoning Law for buildings and the relatively new sign code regulations, has a comprehensive table of contents, and an appropriate appendix. The purpose of the loose leaf text is to enable owners of the code to keep their copy current by the simple insertion of amendments as they are produced by the City of Boston Zoning Commission.

The revised edition is available in City Hall, Room 807, Boston, Massachusetts 02201, at the Cashier's Office. The price is $5 and an additional $2 if the text is to be mailed. This price does not include a binder. Suitable binders are readily obtainable in nearly any stationery store.

Copies of revisions, when and if they become necessary, may be obtained from the office of the Zoning Commission in the Boston Redevelopment Authority offices on the ninth floor of Boston's City Hall. The charge for revisions is a modest copy machine fee.

General Order No. 5

I. FIRE FIGHTER BERNARD G. TULLY

It is with deep regret that the Fire Commissioner announces the death on January 22, 1974, of Fire Fighter Bernard G. Tully of Engine Company 30 who was killed in the performance of his duty. Fire Fighter Tully was appointed to the department on July 27, 1966.

The funeral was held from the Carroll-Thomas Funeral Home, 22 Oak Street, Hyde Park, at 0900, January 25, 1974, followed by a Concelebrated Mass of Requiem in St. Ann's Church, Readville, at 1000 hours.

The Chief of Department made the customary detail to act as funeral escort, and members of Engine Company 30 were excused to attend the services.

II. RETIREMENT

The following retirement, in accordance with the provisions of section 5, chapter 32, G. L., which became effective at 0800, February 1, 1974, is hereby announced:

Fire Fighter Joseph P. T. McNeil, Engine Company 14.

Fire Fighter McNeil was appointed to the department July 16, 1937, and he leaves the department with the best wishes of his associates.

III. CHANGE IN DESIGNATION OF FIRE ALARM BOXES

V. COMMENDATIONS

The following members are hereby commended for volunteering, while off duty, to cover Ladder Company 25 while the members of Ladder 25 attended the funeral of the late Fire Fighter Bernard G. Tully of Engine Company 30, on January 25, 1974:

Fire Fighter Stephen T. Langone, Ladder 15; Fire Fighter Francis J. Walton, Jr., Ladder 15; Fire Fighter Robert H. Lindsay, Ladder 15; and Fire Fighter Ronald Holmes, Engine 33.

VI. HIGH COMMENDATION

On January 12, 1974, at 1503 hours, the department responded to the rear of 54 Hilburn Street, Roslindale. Upon arrival, Engine Company 53 and Ladder Company 16 were informed that a child, five years of age, had fallen from a cliff onto a ledge twenty feet from the top. The total height of the cliff was approximately fifty feet.

Fire Fighter Edward K. Fitzgerald of Engine Company 53 immediately volunteered to be lowered by lifeline over the edge of the cliff. Fire Fighter Fitzgerald put the child at ease, secured the lifeline to the boy, and had him hauled to the top and safety. This act was accomplished under snow and ice conditions that precluded exact judgment as to where the edge of the cliff was located.

Because this rescue was performed at great personal risk, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to highly commend Fire Fighter Fitzgerald, and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

VII. LETTER OF THANKS

The following letter is published for the information of the department:

"January 16, 1974.

DEAR MR. COMMISSIONER:

On the evening of January 14, 1974, my father was stricken with a severe cardio-vascular attack. In addition to the police, Ladder 6, Group 4 responded to my emergency call. In fact, the men of Ladder 6 were on the scene and were administering oxygen to my father before either the police or ambulance arrived at the scene.

Those men worked quickly, efficiently, and patiently over my father for more than fifteen minutes and without a doubt saved him from death. I believe that his survival from this attack was due primarily to the gentleness and efficient service of your men.

Please convey our thanks and appreciation for a wonderful service to these kind, generous, neat, and sympathetic men for a 'job well done.'

Gratefully yours,

MRS. ALBERT L. McGEORGE,

CONTRACTS AWARDED
WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT

MECHANICAL EQUIPMENT MAINTENANCE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On September 29, 1972, Your Honor approved action taken by the Board of Trustees in charge of the Library Department of the City of Boston, for entering into a contract, without public advertising, with Balco, Inc., 327 Mystic Avenue, Medford, Massachusetts, for preventive maintenance program for mechanical equipment in the addition to the Central Library building, for the period September 1, 1972, through March 31, 1973.

Since that earlier action by the Board of Trustees taken on August 15, 1972, to enter into such an agreement, further investigation has revealed that Cabot, Cabot & Forbes Company of 28 State Street, Boston, Massachusetts, recently started a subsidiary company (CC&F Property Management Co., Inc.) whereby this company also operates and maintains mechanical systems similar to the system installed in the addition. At the request of the Trustees, the engineers who were consultants on the installation of the Heating, Ventilating, and Air Conditioning system were asked to discuss with representatives of both Balco, Inc. and CC&F Property Management Co., Inc. the kind of maintenance program that, in the opinion of the engineers, was required. Following receipt of proposals from each company it was ascertained by the engineers and confirmed by the Trustees that the service proposed by CC&F Property Management Co., Inc. would be less costly and yet meet the requirements for maintenance of the system.

In the earlier letter sent to Your Honor it was stated that the Heating, Ventilating, and Air Conditioning equipment presently installed in the addition to the Boston Public Library is both sophisticated and expensive. The guarantees on this equipment are contingent on the Library's maintaining it during the guarantee period according to the manufacturer's instructions. Should a failure occur in any part of the machinery, the Library will be obliged to prove that proper maintenance procedures were in effect, with adequate trained staff and records, or the guarantee will become void.

Inasmuch as the Library does not have on its staff individuals with technical knowledge to maintain the mechanical equipment, it is believed to be in the best interests of the city to engage the services of an air-conditioning company which provides this type of service.

In view of the foregoing, the Trustees have rescinded their action of August 15, 1972, and now have taken the following action, setting an upper limit of $40,000, on the amount to be expended under this contract.

VOTED, That there be entered into with CC&F Property Management Co., Inc., 28 State Street, Boston, Massachusetts, without public advertising, a service contract for the period November 24, 1972 through March 31, 1973, for establishing and setting up a complete preventive maintenance program for mechanical equipment in the addition to the Central Library building, for supplying qualified Heating, Ventilating, and Air Conditioning mechanics as required to maintain equipment, and the provision of a records-keeping system, engineering back-up assistance, supervision, miscellaneous lubricating and cleaning materials, and necessary hand tools, as specified in the contract, said total to be in an amount not exceeding forty thousand dollars ($40,000).

Inasmuch as the total cost of the maintenance service to be provided will exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000), there is respectfully requested permission of Your Honor to enter into this agreement without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES IN CHARGE OF
THE LIBRARY DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,

By PHILIP J. MCNIFF,
Director.

MODEL CITY ADMINISTRATION

We recommend that this contract be awarded to the Federated Dorchester Neighborhood Houses, Inc.

The funds to be provided under the contract will be utilized to cover the cost of salaries, space, equipment, overhead, and program expenses.

This contract will be effective during the period of December 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

It is therefore requested that notice of this contract be dispensed from public advertising in the City Record.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to award a contract for services, in an amount not to exceed eight thousand four hundred dollars ($8,400), to the United Neighbors of Lower Roxbury, Inc., 90 Windsor Street, Roxbury, Mass., for the operation of a recreation-teen center project, as part of the Model City recreation program for Subarea 2.

The objective of the program is to provide constructive activities for the youth of lower Roxbury through the establishment of a youth center. Workshops in drama, dance, cooking, sewing, and arts and crafts shall be conducted during after school hours. The center will service on a daily basis approximately one hundred (100) teen-agers, from Subarea 2. We recommend that this contract be awarded to the United Neighbors of Lower Roxbury, Inc.

The funds to be provided under the contract will be utilized to cover the cost of salaries, space, equipment, overhead, and program expenses.

This contract will be effective during the period of January 1, 1973, through July 31, 1973.

It is therefore requested that notice of this contract be dispensed from public advertising in the City Record.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT OVERVIEW ANALYSIS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Public Facilities Commission, as of a recent date, authorized the undersigned to request of Your Honor, written permission to dispense with inviting proposals by advertising in the City Record in awarding to Gladstone Associates, Inc., a Delaware corporation, duly licensed to do business in Massachusetts, economic consultants, with offices at 1750 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C., a contract to make, in connection with the projected Southwest High School Project, and thereafter submit to the city a summary report of (including appropriate background documentation) an overview analysis of the West Roxbury area concentrating on the following elements: (a) area needs and demands, in the form of a preliminary market reconnaissance of the community encompassing the proposed Southwest High School project; (b) developmental approaches, including alternate physical, financial, and organizational arrangements with respect to the mix of possible public and private uses; (c) financial factors, presenting a recital of the potential costs of creating space of various types for private occupancy and (d) a project evaluation from the standpoint of its net costs to the city, if any, in relation to social costs and benefits which might be realized in the undertaking, at a cost for such services not to exceed $5,500 (including the estimated net cost, up to the amount of $500, for directly related out-of-pocket expenses authorized by and under the contract) payable at hourly rates to be set forth in the contract, and to execute such contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission, upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

The subject firm is an experienced specialist in furnishing the subject types of services and that is why we propose to engage the aforementioned company subject to Your Honor's approval thereof.

Additionally, in view of the professional nature of the services proposed to be rendered here, it did not appear to us that advantage would accrue to the city, through the employment of public advertising for proposals in the City Record.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

EMERGENCY REPAIRS TO JAIL

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On Monday, November 13, 1972, a riotous demonstration at the Suffolk County Jail, Charles Street, resulted in extreme destruction of the windows, locks, plumbing system, electrical distribution system and fixtures, steam distribution system, including steam tables and security grilles and doors.

All of these items are in need of immediate repair so as to provide the security features and procedures so demanding at a facility such as the jail. The scope of work in all of these categories listed above could not be instantly determined and fixed; therefore, it is necessary to proceed with repairs as they are found during the process of corrective work.

It is my intention to engage a contractor on a basis for contract, wherein the contractor will be reimbursed for all cost of labor based on wage rates established by Labor and Industries, plus direct labor cost, invoiced cost of materials, and rental cost of tools, equipment, and scaffolding, with the factor of 10 percent for overhead added to the cumulative total of these payment items and a second factor of 10 percent for a margin of profit added to the previous cumulative total.

We communicated with and received approval from Labor and Industries to dispense with the requirements of section 44A of chapter 149, G.L., and treat this as an emergency; therefore, Your Honor's written approval is respectfully requested to dispense with public advertising for bids and award a contract to Scott-Prescott Corporation, 21 Intervale Street, Quincy, Mass., for an amount, estimated at this time, not to exceed ($70,000), seventy thousand dollars.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT BRIDGE INSPECTION

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

A highway bridge located at the dead end of Gardner Street, West Roxbury, over the Needham branch of the Penn Central Railroad, provides the only means of access to our sanitary landfill which is the disposal site for 60 percent of Boston's refuse. Over 150 trucks per day pass over this bridge and the truck sizes and gross vehicle weights are increasing with time. Because of the vital necessity for maintaining access to the landfill and in view of the increasingly heavy traffic over the bridge, it appears prudent to determine the safe carrying capacity of the existing bridge and what reinforcement is necessary in order to carry the present heavy loads.

Accordingly, I propose to engage the services of the Universal Engineering Corporation, consulting engineers, who have an outstanding reputation in the field of bridge analysis and design to perform the necessary inspections, review the original design, determine the present safe carrying capacity, and develop a practical method to reinforce the Gardner Street Bridge. As this is a professional service, there would be no advantage to be gained by requesting bids for providing the required services.

Therefore, Your Honor's permission is respectfully requested to dispense with advertising and award a contract to Universal Engineering Corporation, 100 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass., for the above-described services for the lump sum of six thousand nine hundred fifty (6,950) dollars, the work to be completed within six (6) months from the date the contract is approved.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH F. CASAZZA,
Commissioner.

REAL PROPERTY DEPARTMENT MAINTAINING EQUIPMENT

YOUR HONOR:

I respectfully request your written permission to dispense with inviting proposals in the City Record in awarding a contract to Carrier Air Conditioning Company, 69 Hickory Drive, Waltham, Mass., for executing a preventative maintenance program to the water-chilling equipment in City Hall.

The equipment in the building is Carrier equipment and this is the wisest and least expensive way to keep the equipment maintained, and since the cost is not to exceed nine thousand one hundred eighty-eight dollars and forty cents ($9,188.40), is reasonable and fair, it is advisable for the Carrier Air Conditioning Company to service it.

Services performed and materials provided under this quotation will be guaranteed through March 31, 1973.

In view of the circumstances, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Yours truly,

ANTHONY E. FORGIONE,
Assistant Commissioner.

REVOLVING DOOR UNITS

YOUR HONOR:

I respectfully request permission to award, without public advertising for bids, a contract to F. E. Ciccone & Co., Inc., 278 California Street, Newton, Mass., to supply and install in the Boston City Hall, three (3) revolving door units at a cost of thirty-six thousand, two hundred and twenty-seven ($36,227) dollars.

Three other contractors, namely, Hentoff Construction Company of Canton, Mass., Newton-Waltham Glass Company of Waltham, Mass., and Suffolk Erection Company, Inc., of Boston, Mass., have also tried to submit proposals to install said doors, however, since F. E. Ciccone & Co., Inc., is the only source of supply in the New England area, and since the above contractors would necessarily purchase the required units from this supplier, it is quite unreasonable for them to prepare a competing proposal.

The doors described above are necessary for the exclusion of excessive cold in the mezzanine area, thus preventing the heating plant in the area from being constantly overburdened and also permitting the public to efficiently effect their business in a reasonable and comfortable atmosphere.

In view of the circumstances mentioned and since F. E. Ciccone & Co., Inc., has the privilege of being the only company listed in the yellow pages in the New England area, therefore, I do not believe that public advertising would serve a useful purpose.

Yours truly,

ANTHONY E. FORGIONE,
Assistant Commissioner.

SWITCHBOARD MAINTENANCE

YOUR HONOR:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with inviting proposals in the City Record so that I may award a contract to Electrical Equipment Maintenance Corp., 30 Walkhill Road, Norwood, Mass. 02062, in an amount not to exceed four thousand (4,000) dollars. This contract is to institute a program of preventative maintenance on the main-normal and emergency electrical switchboard panels in City Hall. It is a highly complex system requiring special skills and specially designed equipment not common to most electrical firms.

Every piece in our six million dollars ($6,000,000) worth of sophisticated equipment is controlled collectively and individually by the subject electrical system. The possibility of subjecting this complex equipment and the proper functioning of City Hall and its business to an unknown quantity in the form of an electrical contractor who may not be familiar with or have the proper equipment for servicing, must not be allowed. It would be a false economy.

I first selected the contractor, who was the original installer of this electrical equipment, to do the required maintenance. I asked that the firm, Federal Pacific Electric Company of New Jersey, be selected to do our work. Since then I've learned that their best man left their firm and is in business, in Norwood, Mass.

He has the proper equipment, will not require travel and lodging costs, and he was the key man in the original installation of the system.

Electrical Equipment Maintenance Corporation is the lowest of three bidders who responded. They are Electrical Equipment Maintenance Corporation, $4,000, Federal Pacific Electrical Company, $4,200 (plus expenses), and H. & F. Electric Company, $6,200.

In view of the special skills and equipment required, the low price, and geographic proximity of Electrical Equipment Maintenance Corporation to Boston City Hall, I urge Your Honor to award this contract forthwith so necessary work may commence while most of our mechanical systems are on the winter program.

Respectfully yours,

ANTHONY E. FORGIONE,
Assistant Commissioner.

SAFE STREETS ADVISORY COMMITTEE SOCIAL WELFARE SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As Director of the staff of your Safe Streets Act Advisory Committee, I respectfully request Your Honor's written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to Roxbury Multi-Service Center, Inc., a Massachusetts corporation, in an amount not to exceed $30,640 (thirty thousand, six hundred and forty dollars) for the period October 15, 1972, through January 31, 1973.

Award of the contract is made pursuant to a grant received by the city from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in the amount of $225,000, under sections 303-304 of the Federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-351), as amended by the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1970 (P.L. 91-644). The grant was accepted by an order of the City Council on October 16, 1972, and signed by you on October 18, 1972.

Under the terms of the contract, Roxbury Multi-Service Center, Inc., will be obligated to provide comprehensive social welfare services to paroled and released offenders from the Suffolk County House of Correction, and their families. This project will develop a community-based service delivery system to give released offenders returning to the Roxbury, North Dorchester community both the short-term assistance and the long-term social support necessary to facilitate reentry into society and make continued law abiding behavior a desirable and attainable alternative.

This project will provide individualized services, including as appropriate: employment counseling, job development, and job placement services; housing services for the released offender and his family, including "foster home" situations for ex-inmates who have no family ties and who have been assessed to need and want a family setting, personal and family counseling and psychotherapy, a transitional reorientation program, and legal counseling. Depending upon the needs of the paroled or released offender and his family, additional services will be offered through connective referral to health, educational, and other specialized social welfare agencies.

Because of the unique service required to perform the function of this contract, it is felt that public advertising would serve no useful or practical purpose.

Respectfully,

DONALD B. MANSON,
Executive Director.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As chairman of the Mayor's Safe Streets Act Advisory Committee, I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising in the award of a contract between the Mayor and Donald Manson of Boston as Acting Director of the Mayor's Safe Streets Act Advisory Committee. The contract period is November 6, 1972, to February 2, 1973, and the maximum liability under this contract is $10,000.

The City of Boston has received, since the adoption of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-351), grant awards from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in excess of $6,000,000. These grants from the federal government are channeled to the city through the Governor's Public Safety Committee, and are administered for the city by a staff of approximately twenty persons. The Director of this staff is in overall charge of the daily project administration, fiscal accounting, and program planning for the City of Boston.

Since the resignation of Peter Borre, as Director, Donald Manson has agreed to succeed to his position on a temporary basis. Mr. Manson has worked extensively throughout the United States with the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in his capacity as a project manager for the National League of Cities/U.S. Conference of Mayors. In this federally created bureaucracy he has a unique and valuable city viewpoint and I feel that he is singularly qualified for the position of Director of the Mayor's Safe Streets Act Advisory Committee. I therefore recommend that public advertising be dispensed with.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. FISKE,
Chairman.

The "Constitution"
Affectionately called "Old Ironsides"

The U.S.S. Constitution lies in dock at the United States Naval Shipyard, across the Charles River at Wapping and Chelsea Streets, Charlestown. She was launched in 1797 at Hartt's Shipyard, a short distance from her present resting place. In the next year she helped clear the coast and the West Indies of French privateers. Later engagements with the British in the War of 1812 brought her undying fame and her nickname Old Ironsides. The 44-gun frigate was constructed of well-seasoned live oak and red cedar timbers secured by bolts and copper sheathing made by Paul Revere. Now restored and seaworthy, the historic craft may be boarded daily, 9:30 to 4, free. Uniforms, cannon, and newspaper accounts of the War of 1812 are displayed.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Pursuant to section 3 (d) (1) of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended, the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority will hold a PUBLIC HEARING, on March 12, 1974, at 10 A.M., at the Parker House, 60 School Street, Boston, Massachusetts, concerning its program entitled "Plant Improvements — Phase III."

This project is a concentrated effort by the Authority to upgrade and modernize its existing plant and facilities. The application for federal assistance consists of five sections, which are identified as follows:

I. Plant and Facility Improvements.

II. Acquisition and Installation of Plant Machinery and Equipment.

III. Acquisition of Nonrevenue Equipment and Rolling Stock.

Salem Street Closing Lauded by Merchants

What happens when a local shopping street is closed to automobile traffic and turned into a pedestrian mall?

A recent survey of the Salem Street merchants in the North End, conducted by the Boston Redevelopment Authority's Research Department three months after Salem Street was closed to traffic last August, has found that the majority of the merchants are pleased with the results and want to see the pedestrian mall stay indefinitely.

BRA Director Robert T. Kenney said, "The BRA's planners have been greatly interested in the findings of the Salem Street survey. The success of the street closing suggests the possibility that merchants in other neighborhoods in Boston might want to consider similar programs in their own local shopping districts."

The BRA's survey indicated that sales for the most part increased or stayed steady, the number of customers increased for nearly half the merchants, customers themselves are in favor of the street closing, and servicing proved to be less of a problem than anticipated.

Thirty-one of the thirty-five Salem Street merchants were interviewed to determine the impact of the closing of Salem Street on their businesses.

In response to the question whether the street closing should continue, the reply was overwhelmingly positive—77 percent said yes, 23 percent said no.

The survey concludes that the pedestrian mall has had a positive effect on sales and customers. An increase in sales was reported by 32 percent of the merchants, while 52 percent stated that sales had remained about the same as they had been before. Only 16 percent indicated that sales had decreased.

The most significant statistic derived from the survey in terms of potential business was that 71 percent of the merchants said that their customers thought that the pedestrian mall was a definite improvement over the usual automobile-congested street. It made no difference to about 13 percent of customers, while 13 percent also said it was less convenient.

It was also learned through the survey that Salem Street is more than just a neighborhood shopping street. According to the merchants, on Saturdays, the stores' busiest day, 17 percent of their customers come from the North End, but 80 percent come from other parts of Boston. The remaining 3 percent come from the suburbs or are tourists.

Further, despite the fact that half of the people coming to the North End travel by automobile, they were in favor of closing the street to traffic.

The Salem Street project was a cooperative effort by the Salem Street Merchants, Boston 200, the North End Little City Hall, Summerthing, the BRA, and the city's

OUR BOSTON

James Michael Curley, 1914

One of the most colorful and prominent figures in Boston's political history was James Michael Curley, who was elected to the office of Mayor of Boston four times.

James Michael Curley was born on November 20, 1874, the second surviving son of his Irish immigrant parents. Their home was at 28 Northampton Street, Boston, which at that time fringed Boston Harbor.

His father, Michael Curley, and mother, then Sarah Clancy, had both arrived on Boston's shores from County Galway, Ireland, in 1864, though they were on separate ships, and not acquainted with each other at the time. By that time, the immigrants escaping the potato famine in their native Ireland numbered 50,000 of Boston's total population of 310,000, and accounted for a third of the City of Boston's registered voters. The ward boss was firmly established along the waterfront, and Michael Curley, father of James, obtained work as a hod carrier for the rising boss of Ward 17, P. J. (known as Pea Jacket) Maguire.

Michael Curley remained a hod carrier for Maguire, and he and Sarah Clancy were married in 1871.

When James Michael Curley was old enough, he attended public school, along with his older brother John. At the age of ten, he went to Traffic and Parking, Police, and Real Property Departments.

The closing of Salem Street grew out of discussions in the North End on the impact that the Bicentennial will have on that neighborhood, the location of many key historical tourist attractions and one of the most crowded sections of Boston. In particular, the Salem Street merchants were concerned about the impact on their street, which is narrow and constantly used by residents and visitors alike.

Discussions among neighborhood groups, the merchants, and various city departments led to the decision to close the street from noon to 5 P.M. on weekdays and from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. on Saturdays. Deliveries were to be done during off hours or to be hand carried during the hours the street was closed.

The Salem Street merchants had started a free shuttle bus from the Government Center Garage to the North End when the street was first closed, but the program was discontinued after three weeks due to traffic problems. The discontinuance of the bus did not appear to have a negative effect on customers.

DISCUSSION GROUP MEETING

A Great Books Discussion Group meets at the Boston Public Library in Copley Square on alternate Thursdays at 7 P.M. At the next meeting on Thursday, February 21, the group will discuss Sigmund Freud's book entitled General Introduction to Psychoanalysis. The meetings of the group are held in Conference Room No. 4 on the Concourse Level of the new General Library Building.

The public is invited to join the discussion group, free of charge, by calling the Boston Public Library, 536-5400, extension 246. Each member is required to read, in advance of the meeting, the "Great Book" scheduled for discussion. For further information, telephone 536-5400, extension 246.

work selling papers, and soon afterward, his father died, at the age of thirty-four.

The period following his father's death left a deep impression on him. His mother was forced to work as a scrubwoman, working nights in office buildings, to support him and his brother, though they both obtained part-time work to contribute money to maintain their household.

When James graduated from school, he went to work for a grocer, C. S. Johnson, delivering groceries in a horse-drawn cart. He spent his free evenings at "One-Arm" Peter Whalen's cigar store, which had become a regular stop on every politician's list. It was there he became indoctrinated into ward politics. From the store he was petitioned to canvass for various officeholders as he delivered Johnson's groceries. His politics began to interfere with his job, so he decided to give up the grocery business.

He reached voting age in 1895, and in 1896 campaigned against the ward boss's choice for mayor, Thomas Hart, and worked for the election of Owen Galvin instead. Though Galvin lost the election, young James M. Curley became a figure to be reckoned with in Ward 17.

When the next election time arrived, James Michael Curley ran for Common Council. Opposed by ward boss Pea Jacket Maguire, he lost that bid. Undaunted, he ran for Common Council a second time, and won a seat for the 1900-1901 term. As a freshman councillor, he was responsible for the order to provide a permanent half-holiday on Saturdays to city employees. He began to establish his reputation as a friend of the workingman.

In 1900, still serving as councillor, he ran for chairman of the Ward 17 Democratic Committee. Running against his old adversary, P. J. Maguire, he found the contest vicious. When the votes were counted, though, James M. Curley, twenty-six, was boss of Ward 17.

Politics became his full-time job. He formed the Tammany Club in Roxbury, a group of loyal political supporters he carried with him throughout his political career. In 1901, when his term as councillor ended, he took the next political step, and won the contest as state representative for the 1902-1903 term. In the legislature he concentrated on labor measures and furthered his political education, developing his art of public speaking. Even his enemies concurred that as an orator James Michael had no peer.

After his term as state representative, he was successful in his bid for the Board of Aldermen, the higher body of Boston's bicameral government. Curley was a member of the Board of Aldermen from 1904 to 1909.

Alderman Curley met Mary E. Herlihy at St. Philip Church, on Harrison Avenue, at a minstrel show, and after a steady courtship, they were married on June 27, 1906.

When James Michael Curley returned to the City Council in 1910, he was under great expense and, since a councillor was poorly compensated then, he decided to try for the higher salary and position of Congressman.

Boston had never seen such showmanship in a political campaign. Candidate Curley gathered more publicity than any other political candidate in the city's history. In 1911, James Michael Curley's family joined him in Washington, where he served two terms as a Congressman, until 1914.

Mr. Curley wasn't happy in Congress. It was too far away from his ward and his city. In 1914, he returned to Boston and announced his candidacy for Mayor. He ran against the popular John F. Fitzgerald, who was running for re-election. Congressman Curley had consulted none of the ward bosses about his candidacy, a great break in tradition, and a battle was brewing. Mr. Fitzgerald dropped out of the election, and the panicked city committee chose a scholarly lawyer, Thomas Kenny, as James Curley's opponent, but since Mr. Curley's showmanship improved with each campaign, the outcome was no surprise. James Michael Curley began his first term as Mayor of Boston in 1914.

As Mayor of Boston, he reshuffled 600 city employees. It was no coincidence that most of those who were transferred had worked for Thomas Kenny. Mayor Curley plainly declared: "Mr. Fitzgerald has left in office a number of people who are hostile to me, and as I have no desire to be ambushed in my own camp, I am removing them. Every time I drop a friend of his from the payroll, I substitute an equally competent citizen, who has the additional advantage of being a friend of mine."

ED KENNEDY RECOVERING

City Hall employees are elated at the gratifying news that Edward J. Kennedy, assistant commissioner of the Real Property Department, is now out of danger and recovering rapidly from severe bodily injuries incurred in an automobile accident while driving home from work on December 27.

We visited Ed at the City Hospital recently and were informed that his condition is greatly improved. Accolades are certainly deserving to the doctors and nurses who are ministering to Ed on a round-the-clock basis.

His fervent desire now is to completely recover and to return to supervise the awesome task of maintaining the needs of all the city's municipal department buildings. Mayor White could not have chosen a better man for this most important and responsible job, for Ed is capable, conscientious, and is endowed with the proverbial "patience of a saint." Let us invoke the good Lord to restore Ed's health and expedite his return to his duties here in City Hall.

In the meantime, may we suggest sending him a get-well card. We know he will greatly appreciate hearing from his legion of friends, for there is nothing so satisfying to one who is hospitalized than knowing that people still care. Please send your cards to: Edward J. Kennedy, Boston City Hospital, Dowling Building, 818 Harrison Avenue, Boston, Mass. 02118.

NUMBER ONE PRESIDENT (1732-1799)

Rules of Civility — from George Washington's Copybook

Before he was sixteen years old, President Washington copied down 110 "Rules of Civility and decent behaviour in company and conversation" as an exercise in penmanship. Thus early did Washington learn the secret of gracious manners and apply it to his own gentlemanly conduct. The "Rules" cover ten pages in one of Washington's copybooks now in the Library of Congress at Washington. Originally published by French Jesuits around 1595, the "Rules of Civility" were translated into English with various changes and were published many times. The "Rules" do not follow exactly the text of these English versions. Here are some of the Washington "Rules," just as he spelled and punctuated them:

Associate yourself with Men of good Quality if you esteem your own Reputation; for 'tis better to be alone than in bad company.

Wear not your Cloths foul, unript or dusty but see they be Brushed once every day at least and take heed that you approach not to any uncleanness.

Be not hasty to believe flying Reports to the disparagement of any.

Shift not yourself in the sight of others nor gnaw your nails. Treat with Men at fit times about business and Whisper not in the company of others.

Be not curious to know the affairs of others neither approach those that speak in private.

Eat not in the streets nor in ye House, out of Season.

Read no letters, books, or Papers in company but when there is a necessity for the doing of it you must ask leave; come not near the Books or Writings of Another so as to read them unless desired or give your opinion of them unask'd also look not nigh when another is writing a Letter.

If you cough, sneeze, sigh, or yawn, do it not loud but privately; and speak not in your Yawning, but put your handkerchief or hand before your face and turn aside.

Let your discourse with Men of Business be short and Comprehensive.

Let your recreations be Manfull not sinfull.

Turn not Your back to others especially in speaking, jog not the table or Desk on which another Reads or Writes, lean not on anyone.

Think before You Speak pronounce not imperfectly nor bring out Your words too hastily but orderly & distinctly.

Undertake not what You cannot perform but be careful to keep Your Promise.

Speak not evil of the absent for it is unjust.

When You Speak of God or his attributes, let it be seriously & with Reverence. Honour & Obey Your Natural Parents altho they be poor.

MBTA DEVELOPS NEW LIGHTING SYSTEM

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA), announced on February 4, the successful completion of preliminary tests on a new type of solar energy transit car emergency lighting system, components of which represent a technological spin-off from the nation's space program. The tests were carried out by the MBTA with the cooperation and participation of the United States Department of Transportation, Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA).

The newly developed emergency lighting system has two special features: complete independence from existing electrical systems within the car, and emergency power passively supplied by sunlight, stored in a small battery and converted to electricity via advanced technology solar cells.

Working with UMTA's Urban Rail Technology Development people at the Transportation System Center (TSC), in Cambridge, the lighting system requirements were developed following a scientific analysis of the MBTA's emergency procedures.

The test system consists of a gelled electrolyte battery to provide power, three roof-mounted panels of solar cells to keep the battery charged, a control switch, a current steering diode, and several strategically placed lights.

The battery was purchased from a commercial manufacturer, TSC provided the solar panels from existing laboratory equipment, and the lights and light housings were common farm tractor equipment and were purchased from an auto parts store. MBTA personnel installed the equipment.

Initial tests on the Orange Line have demonstrated that the system is feasible and successful. Sufficient light for any emergency situation is provided for over three hours. The solar cells can completely recharge a spent battery within twenty-four hours even under weak sunlight conditions. Repeated discharge-recharge cycles do not harm the battery and, equally important, the equipment has been installed in order to minimize accidental damage.

The MBTA plans to install additional solar energy lighting systems on a total of ten cars on its rapid transit and streetcar lines to provide a full-scale, revenue service test of the design and the equipment under all environmental conditions.

THIRD RAIL HEATERS INSTALLED

Installation of 239 third-rail heaters has been completed at three locations on the MBTA's Red Line rapid transit system, the Authority has announced.

This installation, and others under study by the MBTA's engineering department, will put a stop to troublesome icing at critical points on the Red Line. Heaters have been installed on the West Boston Bridge between Charles and Kendall Stations, the Savin Hill flyover, and the George L. Anderson Memorial Bridge over the Neponset River.

Installed by the electrical contracting firm of Comstock-Manzi and MBTA electricians, the heating elements are called calrod units and operate on the same principle as the heating unit in your kitchen electric stove — except that the third-rail calrod units are seventeen feet long.

When inclement weather threatens, the units are activated by push button at the MBTA's operations control center on High Street, Boston, and pick up an electrical charge of 600 volts from the third rail which, by means of a wire conductor, heats the rail and prevents a buildup of ice.

Set up in groups of three, fifty feet apart, the third-rail heaters have proven successful during the last series of ice storms. "The next area to be equipped with these heaters will be the Freeport Street curve section on the South Shore Red Line," said Warren J. Higgins, director of operations. "Ongoing feasibility studies by our engineers will insure that third-rail heating units will be installed at potential icy spots on all future extensions, thus insuring trouble-free operations in winters to come."

CORRECT ADDRESSING: BEST MAIL SERVICE

Mistakes in parcel post packaging and addressing each year cause millions of Americans unnecessary delays in the delivery of their mail.

The Postal Service is trying to familiarize its customers with some of the most common errors so that they can get the best mail service for their money.

A frequent mistake by many customers in packaging is putting the address on both sides of a parcel. Since postage and postmarks go on only one side of a package, clerks handling the parcel may see the opposite side and assume the package was mailed without postage. This results in delays and flopping packages over to see if postage was paid and occasionally damaging address labels in the process.

To insure against damaged or lost address labels, the Postal Service suggests customers place address information and a list of contents inside all packages. This also aids postal workers in re-wrapping, where possible, poorly wrapped packages that may come loose in handling.

Some customers make the mistake of marking packages "Special Delivery" without paying for the extra service. When this happens, the parcels arrive "Postage Due." Other customers write endorsements on parcels, such as "Please Rush."

One of the most economical ways to "rush" a parcel is by buying "Special Handling" for third- and fourth-class mail. For as little as twenty-five cents a package weighing up to two pounds can be sent "Special Handling" which will move packages on the fastest available dispatch and transportation, but it does not provide for special delivery.

A common problem, especially during the holiday season, is lack of a return address. Each year millions of letters and packages end up in dead mail office, because they cannot be forwarded if the addressee moved more than a year ago and the sender doesn't know his letter or package didn't arrive.

REMINDER: PREPARE FOR POTENTIAL FLOODING

Hardly a year goes by without loss from rampaging floods, stated Louis F. Saba, Director of the Massachusetts Civil Defense Agency and Office of Emergency Preparedness. He reminded flood-prone communities to continue to prepare for potential flooding within the next few months.

Every city and town in the Commonwealth is subject to flooding and flash floods, and particularly those communities in low-lying areas along streams and rivers.

If we have an unusually excessive rainfall, coupled with high water tables, flooding may affect many communities where soil and geographic conditions do not permit rapid drain-off. Also, rapid temperature changes from one extreme to another will compound the problem, should any further snow or rainstorms occur.

The agency is working closely with the National Weather Service, Boston, and the River Forecast Center, Hartford, Connecticut, to keep apprised of any potential flooding.

Also, the MCDA staff is continuously in contact with the New England Division Corps of Engineers, State Department of Public Works, and Water Resources Commission, planning and preparing for flooding contingencies. This is a regular routine procedure.

It is urgent that local civil defense directors and heads of government which have experienced flooding from streams, rivers, and coastal waters, immediately review plans, supplies, and equipment inventories essential to combat flooding and its effects.

Pumps, generators, sandbags, plywood, plastic sheeting, lumber, transportation, and personnel are essential materials to have on hand. Local officials are urged to inspect their dams to insure that they are safe and clear of debris.

It is possible that threatened flooding fails to become a reality. However, Mr. Saba recalls the eight-day devastating storms and coastal flooding of February, 1972, and a series of severe floodings in 1973, in the Berkshires, which caught the affected communities totally unprepared.

SUGGESTION FOR 1974

Here is our suggestion for putting into practice, the betterment of a new year. Let no day pass without lending a helpful hand to someone—a smile, perhaps, or a compliment (we all like them); a worthwhile service; sending a get-well card to a sick person; or even better, visiting someone in a hospital or nursing home. By doing these things we bring a little more joy into this presently upset world of ours.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE, MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

GERALD F. O'LEARY
PRESIDENT, CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 66

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1974

NO. 8

Harvard University Sets Precedent

Mayor Kevin White has announced the signing of an unprecedented agreement with Harvard University which guarantees the city at least $12 million over forty years.

The agreement for payment in lieu of taxes resulted from negotiations concerning Harvard's plans to build 481 units of student-faculty housing on Soldiers Field Road in Allston.

Harvard, beginning a year after initial occupancy, will pay the city 17 percent of the gross rental receipts of the housing or $300,000, whichever is greater.

In addition, Harvard will pay 20 percent of the gross of a 481-car parking garage, and 20 percent of the gross of commercial enterprises to be included in the construction.

Consummation of the agreement marks the first time Harvard, a tax-exempt institution, has agreed to pay the city an amount in lieu of taxes.

The University now maintains in Boston the Harvard Business School, Harvard Medical, Harvard Stadium, and various other athletic fields, for which it makes no payments in lieu of taxes.

"Harvard's generous commitment is the most significant contribution any tax-exempt institution has ever made to the City of Boston," Mayor White said.

"It hopefully sets a standard for cooperation other major institutions will follow, but, the amount of payment involved is inconsequential to the burden that tax-exempt property imposes on Boston taxpayers.

"The Commonwealth has limited the cities and towns to the property tax, and, at the same time, has exempted 58 percent of the city from taxation.

"It is long past time for the Legislature to reimburse all cities and towns for the revenues lost to state-mandated exemptions," the Mayor said.

Development of plans for the housing complex, to be built next to the Harvard Business School, was a cooperative effort by Harvard, representatives from the Allston neighborhoods, and Mayor White's administration.

"Not only will the agreement with Harvard bring revenue to the city, the housing itself will substantially alleviate the housing shortage in Allston and Brighton.

"Harvard and President Derek C. Bok have clearly, in these two ways, taken a large step toward recognizing Harvard's responsibilities to the City of Boston," Mayor White added.

Signing the in-lieu-of-taxes agreement with Harvard was also the first major victory for Mayor White's administration in its campaign this year to gain relief from the impact of tax-exempt property.

OUR BOSTON

James Michael Curley,
Part Two

Mayor Curley's first term established the Curley machine and what became known as "Curleyism" in Boston politics. Because of his policy of personally seeing any citizen who came to his office, he eliminated the ward boss system, and ward boundary lines were never again important in mayoral campaigns. He started Boston on a spending spree, and reconstruction of the city was prolific. Many jobless persons in the city gained employment.

During the first year of his mayoral term, the United States was at war, which kept business booming. Unemployment was not an issue. The ward bosses were hungry for control of the city again, and the bankers and financiers had become angry and frightened by the rise in taxation caused by Mayor Curley's spending. Andrew J. Peters, a Republican of unquestionable integrity, defeated Mr. Curley for mayor, and started his term in 1918. James Michael Curley became politically unemployed for the first time in eighteen years.

James Michael Curley returned as Mayor of Boston for his second term in 1922, successfully defeating John R. Murphy. He embarked once again on reconstruction of the city, wiping out slums, building roads, and expanding City Hospital.

Harvard University . . .

Boston's ratio of tax-exempt property—58 percent—is the highest in the nation, and is a key reason why the city's tax rate of $196.70 is the highest of any major city in the nation.

In December, 1973, Mayor White filed legislation at the State House that asks the state to reimburse the city for 20 percent of the revenue it loses to tax-free property.

"I have established a task force within the administration to vigorously pursue relief from the tax-exempt situation, and further developments, including possible court action, are forthcoming.

"Our intention is not to bankrupt the institutions; certainly, we recognize the tremendous contributions they make to the city.

"We will attempt to obtain an agreement for payment in lieu of taxes in every instance where an exempt institution undertakes an income-producing project.

"But, the thrust of our campaign will be to get the Legislature to take the responsibility to correct a problem which it created," the Mayor concluded.

Along with the major elements of the housing agreement, Harvard has offered its assistance to Mayor White in seeking a long-term solution to the tax-exempt problem.

SOLDIERS FIELD ROAD HOUSING

The Harvard University Soldiers Field Road housing which is being designed by Benjamin Thompson Associates of Cambridge, will have a gross floor area of 340,000 square feet.

The development will consist of 481 dwelling units, including 71 efficiency units, 177 one-bedroom units, 209 two-bedroom units, and 24 three-bedroom units.

The $20.5 million complex will consist of four red brick buildings. The buildings closest to the river will be three stories high; other sections step up to four, five, and seven stories, with a single element of nine stories.

An 801-car garage of four stories will provide parking for the 481 dwelling units and 320 spaces will serve as replacement parking for the current on-grade parking spaces which will be displaced by the construction.

Bicycle parking spaces will also be provided, as well as a small grocery store and outdoor recreational facilities.

A child care center which will accommodate approximately 105 children will be part of the development.

Our Boston . . .

While serving this second term, Mayor Curley made an unsuccessful attempt to become governor of Massachusetts. He was defeated by Alvan T. Fuller, who had been the Republican lieutenant governor.

Mayor Curley returned to City Hall, and one of his accomplishments during his second administration was the establishment of the George Robert White fund for the administration of seven new health units.

Since a statute had been added to the city charter to prevent a mayor from succeeding himself, Mr. Curley did not serve his third term until 1930. Within months after his election, bulldozers were knocking down buildings. He revitalized all of Boston's beaches, including the now world-famous L Street bathhouse.

His personal life was one of great tragedy during this period. His beloved wife died, and six months later his son James Michael, Jr., died also. Five of his family members were now dead, including the twins, and his daughter Dorothea, who had died six years earlier.

From his position as Mayor of Boston, he again ran for governor of Massachusetts, this time against Republican Gaspar G. Bacon. Mayor Curley's record in Boston was good. He kept the people working. On his second try, James Michael became governor of Massachusetts.

His two years as governor have been chronicled as having produced some phenomenal successes. One of his better legacies as governor was the establishment of one of the most efficient tax departments in the country.

In 1936, James Michael Curley was defeated for the United States Senate seat by Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.

In 1937, prior to leaving the governor's office, James M. Curley married Gertrude Casey Dennis. That same year, 1937, he was defeated in his next bid for Mayor of Boston by young Maurice J. Tobin of Mission Hill, Roxbury.

The defeat was bitter, for Maurice Tobin had learned the art of politics from the great James Michael.

Mr. Curley gained the Democratic nomination for governor in 1938, but lost the election to Republican Leverett Saltonstall. He later ran for Congress and won, serving from 1943 to 1946.

Again he returned to Boston as mayor in 1945, with the great support of Boston's voters.

James Michael Curley died on November 12, 1958. His body was viewed by thousands in the rotunda of the State House. His final resting place is in Calvary Cemetery, Dorchester, Mass.

A recapitulation:

Resigned February 2, 1914, after assuming office as mayor of Boston. Mayor of Boston, 1914-1917; reelected for terms 1922-1925, and 1930-1933. AND THERE WAS HAPPINESS

Mayor Kevin White invited all Boston senior citizens to attend one of eight Valentine's Day parties held in neighborhood recreation centers on February 14.

The parties, sponsored jointly by the Parks and Recreation Department and the Commission on the Affairs of the Elderly, featured music, ice cream, and an individual box of candy for each guest.

"Valentine's Day provides an excellent opportunity for a celebration during the dreary winter months," the Mayor said. "And this year we've arranged a special permanent gift for each center which added to the enjoyment of the many elderly people gathered there."

"The elderly citizens of this city face many serious problems. Home care, nutrition, and health services are all areas where the city, through the Commission on the Affairs of the Elderly, is working to improve conditions for older people," Mayor White said. "But we should not overlook the need of the older person for socializing and recreation. The city is committed to providing a wide range of recreational opportunities for older people, whether it be parties, bus trips, or use of the swimming pools, and I hope that many will take advantage of activities offered."

According to Anthony Forgione, Commissioner of Parks and Recreation, this year for the first time arrangements had been made to distribute gift boxes of candy at sixteen other locations so that seniors who were not able to get to the recreation centers would be remembered on Valentine's Day.

BRA APPROVES STATE STREET PROJECT

The Boston Redevelopment Authority on February 14 approved the plans for the construction of 60 State Street. This will be one of Boston's major redevelopment projects. The City Council must approve the new plan which is a scaled-down office building near City Hall.

Director Robert T. Kenney is hopeful that construction could start in September. Cabot, Cabot and Forbes will build the 500-foot structure.

MBTA ADDS EMERGENCY EXITS

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) will provide an additional seven emergency subway exits under a contract award authorized on February 6, by the Board of Directors.

The $106,768 contract will be executed with Caputo-Boston, Inc., lowest of five bidders.

The additional exits will be located on the Green Line at Kenmore and Copley Stations and on Berkeley Street adjacent to Arlington Station; on the Red Line, on Summer Street adjacent to Washington Station, on Ellery Street adjacent to Andrew Station, and on Welles Avenue, adjacent to Shawmut Station; and on the Blue Line at Aquarium Station.

Caputo-Boston was awarded a $266,207 contract in December for emergency exits for Bowdoin Station on the Blue Line, on Cambridge Street opposite Joy Street; and for fourteen others on the Red Line, nine of them between Harvard and Kendall Stations and five between Broadway and Andrew Stations.

Providing for emergency subway exits is a part of the Authority's $15.9 million Safety Improvements Program for which the Urban Mass Transportation Administration last June approved a two-thirds grant of $10.6 million.

MBTA DIME-TIME PROGRAM EXTENDED

The Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) voted on February 14, to continue and extend the Authority's popular dime-time reduced fare program by expanding the hours of operation and the days that it is in effect.

Beginning March first, dime-time will be in effect weekdays from 10 A.M. to 2 P.M., at all rapid transit stations and, for the first time, all day Sunday and at all Green Line (streetcar) stations, namely: Lechmere, Science Park, North Station, Haymarket, Government Center, Park Street, Boylston, Arlington, Copley, Auditorium, Kenmore, Prudential, and Symphony.

During dime-time, passengers may ride the Red, Orange and, Blue rapid transit lines and the Green Line streetcar subway system for ten cents instead of the usual twenty-five cent fare. The one exception is at the three South Shore Red Line rapid transit stations (North Quincy, Wollaston, and Quincy Center) where the regular fifty-cent fare is reduced to twenty-five cents.

An analysis of dime-time, which has been in effect since April 2, 1973, indicates a loss of revenue much lower than anticipated — less than 1 percent of gross revenue — accompanied by an increase in total system ridership of a little more than 1 percent. In addition, dime-time has increased ridership in the midday, off-peak hours, thus easing the rush hour crush.

MAYOR APPOINTS THREE DEPUTY MAYORS

Mayor White, reorganizing his administration, has officially appointed three deputy mayors. Edward T. Sullivan, present head of the Administrative Services Department, and unofficial deputy mayor during this administration, will be the number one deputy mayor. He will be responsible for handling labor negotiations with schoolteachers, police, and fire fighters, staff meetings, personnel policies, tax rate, budget matters, and matters which pertain to financing.

Robert R. Kiley, Mayor White's assistant for the past two years, will coordinate city agencies dealing with human services which include Little City Halls, Building Department, Model Cities, ABCD, Department of Elderly Affairs, and a part of the operation of the Public Works Department.

Robert J. Vey, present head of the Public Facilities Department, will be third deputy mayor. He will be responsible for coordinating all agencies involved with construction or capital improvement programs and assure that construction proceeds as scheduled. If, at any time, two departments involved with the same project, disagree over procedures, Mr. Vey will act as mediator.

TANDEM PLAN MODIFIED

An important modification in the terms of the new Tandem Plan for assisting in the construction of 200,000 housing units at below-market interest rate mortgages has been announced by Secretary James T. Lynn of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The change now allows an unsubsidized FHA-insured or VA-guaranteed mortgage to qualify under the HUD-Government National Mortgage Association plan if the house covered by the mortgage has not been sold before application to GNMA has been made for a mortgage-purchase commitment.

GNMA President Woodward Kingman pointed out that under the announcement of January 21, applications for GNMA purchase commitments would be eligible only if the conditional commitment for FHA insurance or VA guarantee were received on or after January 22, and construction on the house had not started.

The new regulation still requires that the mortgages be limited to new construction, but the definition of new construction has been broadened to include homes which are under construction or have been completed but not yet sold. Thus, FHA conditional commitments or VA Certificates of Reasonable Value dated prior to January 22 are accepted.

The program is an expansion of the Tandem Plan under which GNMA aids financing by purchasing mortgages bearing $7\frac{3}{4}$ percent, one-half percent less than the present FHA ceiling. GNMA purchases the mortgages at a price of 96, thus assuring that the seller pays no more than four discount points, and then sells them at periodic auctions, absorbing the difference between the purchase price and market price as a subsidy.

Re: Award of the American Arbitration Association.

Mention at Roll Calls.

Post until February 15, 1974.

The American Arbitration Association in a recent decision has ruled the city violated Article IV, section 1 of its Collective Bargaining Agreement with the Boston Police Patrolman's Association, when in 1971, it transferred a patrolman from District 7 from the night shift to the day shift and thereafter from that district to District 15. As a remedy for the violation, it was directed that the city shall give the officer in question "the option of being reassigned to District 7, on the night shift, if he so chooses."

The parties were advised that the arbitrator in this case interpreted Article IV, section 1 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement to mean that the city may not reassign, transfer, or in any other fashion adversely affect the employment rights of employees because they have sought to enforce the contract, or to assert rights under the contract, or to complain about the administration of the contract.

As set forth in its grievance, the Association alleged in substance that the officer was transferred in reprisal for his exercise of statutory and contractual rights to participate in Association activities in pursuing his belief that the system of paid details in District 7 was not administered equitably.

The city's contention was that the transfer of said officer was not with animus toward him because of union activities but was motivated by matters of administrative concern unrelated to union activities, including his interpersonal difficulties with other employees.

In commenting on the latter, the Arbitrator, Tim Bornstein, stated, "I am not insensitive to the fact that a police department is not like ordinary employers, public or private. I can appreciate that it is uniquely important that officers within a police district get along with, and trust each other, for matters of teamwork, morale, and the like are undoubtedly important in police work. It may be appropriate in some cases, therefore, to justify a transfer of an officer on the grounds that his relations with fellow officers are so bad that his continuance within the district would jeopardize the mission of the district. But the contract (and labor laws) just as surely prohibit transfer of an officer to punish him for exercising his contractual and legal rights. Where, as may have been the case here, an employee's unpopularity with fellow employees and superiors is directly attributable to his exercise of contractual and legal rights, the employer cannot defeat the exercise of those contractual and legal rights by seizing on the employee's consequent unpopularity."

It has come to the attention of the department that some police officers are attending institutions of higher learning, without first checking on the accreditation of such educational institutions. Colleges and universities should be accredited by either the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools or the Board of Higher Education. Additionally, in order to qualify for credits earned, the credits must be earned toward the acquisition of a degree. Should these requirements not be met, the officer cannot be reimbursed under the Career Incentive Plan. Moreover, the officer may not be able to transfer these credits to an accredited institution at a later date.

Commissioner's Memorandum No. 74-8

To: All Bureaus, Divisions, Districts, Offices, Sections, and Units.

Post until February 22, 1974.

The American Arbitration Association recently handed down a decision upholding the Police Commissioner's right to decide "Uniform Policy," including changes in the uniform dress of police members of the department.

The issue was whether or not a Special Order dated February 19, 1973, and Special Orders No. 45 and No. 46 were subjects for collective bargaining and covered by the Collective Bargaining Agreement, and whether or not grievances regarding these Special Orders are arbitrable.

Briefly, the Union claimed that the orders do not provide for safe and healthy working conditions in that: (1) a daily notification of the uniform-of-the-day made no provisions for temperature changes; (2) an appropriate day shift uniform could be a health hazard for night shifts; and (3) it is not reasonable to expect that one uniform-of-the-day would adequately protect all officers where there are different weather changes.

The city contended: (1) that chapter 322 of the Acts of 1962 established the powers and authority of the Police Commissioner and thus Rule 32 of the Boston Police Department Rules and Regulations which states among other things . . . that the Police Commissioner prescribe the uniform . . . is properly established; (2) that there is no language in the Collective Bargaining Agreement inconsistent or conflicting with this rule; and (3) that the Association failed to show any specific instances regarding the uniform policy which are unsafe or unhealthy.

In ruling that the grievance was not arbitrable, the arbitrator, Jerome J. Judge stated, "It is my opinion that the Commissioner of Police decides the uniform policy. This decision is within the Management Rights Clause, Article V of the Agreement, and appears to be supported in the Acts and in the Police Rules and Regulations. I do not find that the Agreement intended to modify or disturb these rights with respect to the uniform policy nor make this policy a matter of collective bargaining."

Cooper Community Center, Inc.

The funds to be provided under the contract will be utilized to cover the cost of salaries, space, equipment, overhead, and program expenses.

This contract will be effective during the period of December 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

BRA Plans Dock Square Beautification

A Boston Redevelopment Authority plan for realignment of North Street and construction of a park in Dock Square has been approved by the state's Department of Public Works.

The $1 million project, to be funded by the Urban Systems program, will involve improving North Street by narrowing it to a width of 44 feet from Dock Square to the entrance of the Sumner Tunnel.

As part of the project, traffic islands in the Dock Square area will be eliminated and a park, designed by the BRA, will be constructed in front of Faneuil Hall.

Granite cobblestones and brick pathways will be constructed on a $\frac{3}{4}$ -acre area surrounding the statue of Samuel Adams which now stands in Dock Square. Two groups of cork trees will be planted adjacent to the statue, but the trees will not impair the view of Faneuil Hall from Congress Street. Benches will be installed in the area to provide a resting place for visitors walking the Freedom Trail.

BRA Director Robert T. Kenney said, "The park in Dock Square and the North Street improvements are part of our continuing effort to upgrade pedestrian amenities throughout downtown and to provide a series of miniparks throughout the downtown retail core.

"With the assistance of the state DPW, we will now be able to eliminate the extensive amount of surplus roadways and pavements which are not needed in the area and help ease pedestrian passage in the Faneuil Hall and Quincy Markets area."

Mr. Kenney said the new traffic patterns and landscaping have been planned so that the improvements conform with the work now under way to restore the Faneuil Hall Market.

State DPW Commissioner Bruce Campbell, commenting on the Dock Square plans, said, "These improvements will help clarify the movements of pedestrians and motorists in the area, and in doing so we will upgrade an area that is bound to be the focus of attention when Bicentennial observances begin in Boston in April, 1975.

"We are pleased that the city, state, and federal agencies have been able to join forces to ensure that this historic shrine is given the setting it properly deserves."

Mr. Campbell said that work would begin on the project in the summer of 1974 and that completion is scheduled for spring, 1975, when the Faneuil Hall Market is expected to open.

Sidewalks along North Street will also be widened to 25 feet and new street lights will be installed along North Street and in the Dock Square park.

The Urban Systems program is a federally supported program to finance improvements on major urban streets. Costs are shared on a matching basis, with the federal government providing 70 percent and the state contributing 30 percent.

The state DPW intends to use Beautification Funds which are 100 percent federally reimbursable for the area around Faneuil Hall and the statue of Samuel Adams.

NEW BCH APPOINTMENT

Dan Rodriques, a Protestant minister and long-time social worker, has been appointed assistant deputy commissioner and director of the Office of Orientation and Training of the Department of Health and Hospitals.

Mr. Rodriques is responsible for coordination and development of employee training programs and on-the-job education. He also develops educational materials and visual aids to keep employees informed of department policies.

Prior to joining the Department of Health and Hospitals he was deputy director of programs for ABCD.

With a B.A. from the University of Puerto Rico, and a B.T.A. from the Interdenominational Evangelical Seminary of Puerto Rico, Mr. Rodriques was a Baptist minister in Puerto Rico and New York for eleven years before entering social service work in the lay community.

He has also worked as a teacher and social worker in Bridgeport, Connecticut; and is a member of the Association of Baptist Ministers of Puerto Rico and Public Administration Association of Puerto Rico.

Mr. Rodriques resides in Boston's South End.

NEW APPOINTMENT BY BCH TRUSTEES

Dr. Lester F. Williams, Jr. has been appointed director of Surgical Services at Boston City Hospital by the Trustees of the Health and Hospitals Department.

Dr. Williams, who has specialized in treatment of trauma and gastrointestinal problems, replaces Dr. John A. Mannick, who resigned to become surgeon-in-chief of University Hospital, and chairman of the Division of Surgery, Boston University School of Medicine.

For Dr. Williams, the appointment is the culmination of a distinguished medical career which began at Boston City Hospital when he was a medical student. He has also served BCH as an associate director of the former Boston University Surgical Service.

Prior to the recent appointment, Dr. Williams was a senior professor of surgery at Boston University School of Medicine and chief of the Gastrointestinal Section, Department of Surgery, University Hospital.

Dr. Williams said he is looking forward to working in what he calls "the new medical center environment," created through the cooperation of Boston City Hospital with Boston University Medical Center.

He said the reorganization, which gave Boston University Medical School responsibility for medical staffing at BCH, had "eliminated the medical competition and administrative inefficiencies that were common with three medical schools running separate services.

"The reorganization lets us address ourselves to the care of patients as our first and most important job," he said. "The physical accident of having BUMC across the street makes us an active part of a medical center which expands the resources available to us for improved patient care. The type of research that can be done in a medical center environment is an asset for the high quality care we can deliver to BCH patients.

"An important part of our new strength," he added, "is the number of dedicated individuals, from all the medical schools, who have chosen to stay with us."

Dr. Williams said he saw BCH as a hospital where "clinical care is absolutely superb and will be second to none in the city."

He is the author of more than seventy-two articles and publications and is a member of the American College of Surgeons, the American Gastroenterological Association, the Society of University Surgeons, Alpha Omega Alpha, Sigma Xi, the Society of Alimentary Tract Surgeons, Boston Surgical Society and New England Surgical Society.

SCULPTORS EXHIBIT

A Boston sculptor joins six from New York in the exhibition "Seven Sculptors: New Involvement with Materials" at the Institute of Contemporary Art (955 Boylston Street, Boston), through March 29. On exhibit will be work by Yael Bentovim of Boston, and Jackie Ferrara, Jud Fine, Mary Miss, Ree Morton, Hannah Wilke, and Barbara Zuckerman of New York.

The sculptors work in such materials as colored latex, rope, jute and sisal fibre, cotton batting, and cast resin bamboo. While no single philosophy is shared by the artists, all their works involve a close examination of the properties of different materials to an extent that the meaning of a piece is totally integrated with the materials used.

BOOKMOBILE SCHEDULE AVAILABLE

The seemingly impossible is being accomplished by a new schedule of Bookmobile service! In spite of the gas shortage and rising operation costs, the Boston Public Library is adding new stops to the current Bookmobile schedule.

Instead of having a schedule of three routes on a weekly basis — to schools, shopping districts, or residential areas — the Bookmobiles will visit all the former stops, plus making new stops on four routes, on alternate weeks, on a dependable basis. The loan period, if for home use, will remain unchanged.

The new schedule may be obtained at the Bookmobiles, at the Central Library, or at any of the Branch Libraries in Boston. Further information about the Bookmobile service is available by telephoning 536-5400, extension 238.

HISTORIC JENNEY BUILDING TO BE PRESERVED

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has gone to great lengths — 60 feet to be exact — in order to preserve the historic Jenney Building in the Waterfront Urban Renewal project.

The lengths are two 60-foot-long pipes that were recently installed beneath the nineteenth-century brick structure, with great care and ingenuity on the part of the contractor, according to BRA Director Robert T. Kenney.

The Waterfront Urban Renewal plan had originally called for the demolition of the Jenney Building for the construction of a six-lane roadway around the neighboring Custom House, as part of the overall traffic circulation system for the waterfront. In 1971, the BRA voted to amend the waterfront plan to preserve the Jenney Building.

Built in 1816, the Jenney Building is typical of the federal style of architecture that predominated in Boston in the early 1800s. So named because the Jenney Gas Company once had its offices there, the building is one of the few remaining segments of Central Wharf, which in the nineteenth century stretched from the Jenney Building to the present site of the New England Aquarium. The 1,300-foot-long row of fifty-four buildings included stores, auction rooms, and counting rooms that were a vital part of the mercantile activities of Boston Harbor.

Remaining sewer and water installation in the area of the Jenney Building is nearing completion. The BRA plans to take steps to make the Jenney Building available for private rehabilitation once the utility work is finished.

INCOME TAX GUIDE

Answers to income tax questions are now as close as your post office in most cities. More than 22,000 offices are now selling "Your Federal Income Tax," the 190-page guide published by the Internal Revenue Service.

The $1 book provides many examples of the deductions an average family can take, the types of income which are not taxable, and it provides sample filled-in tax forms to make it easier to file individual returns.

The 1974 edition has been extensively revised to reflect recent changes in tax laws and regulations and to make it more readable.

In addition to the guide, many post offices are also making available the more commonly used federal tax forms.

DIRECTIVE NO. 5 OUT-OF-TOWN TRAVEL

February 15, 1974.

To All Department Heads and County Officials:

Out-of-town travel has become something of a budgetary concern during this year, and we want to do a more thorough job of reviewing all travel requests. Henceforth, fewer requests are likely to be honored.

In order to be fair in evaluating requests for more limited travel, we will need more time to review travel letters and to put an end to last-minute submissions of travel letters,

Therefore, it is now city policy that all travel letters must be submitted to this office no later than thirty (30) days before the requested departure.

Travel letters submitted with less than thirty days lead time will have to be refused, unless extreme urgency can be demonstrated.

EDWARD T. SULLIVAN,
Director.

THE CITY SEAL

As it appeared prior to 1827

The City Seal was adopted by "An Ordinance to Establish the City Seal," passed January 2, 1823, which provides "That the design hereto annexed, as sketched by John R. Penniman, giving a view of the City, be the device of the City Seal; that the motto be as follows, to wit: 'Sicut patribus sit Deus nobis'; and that the inscription be as follows:—'Bostonia condita, A.D. 1630. Civitatis regimine donata, A.D. 1822.'" The motto is taken from 1 Kings, viii, 57: "God be with us as He was with our fathers."

The seal as it first appeared is shown above.

The seal as it was afterwards changed, and has ever since continued to be used, was first shown on page 221 of the volume of laws and ordinances, commonly known as the "First Revision," published in 1827, and is established as the City Seal at the present time by Revised Ordinances of 1914, Chapter 1, Section 5, which provides that "The seal of the City shall be circular in form; shall bear a view of the City; the motto 'SICUT PATRIBUS SIT DEUS NOBIS,' and the inscription, 'BOSTONIA CONDITA, A.D. 1630. CIVITATIS REGIMINE DONATA A.D. 1822.'"

EXTRAORDINARY STEP-RATE ADVANCE
UNDER COMPENSATION PLAN FOR EMPLOYEES OF SUFFOLK COUNTY.

MUNICIPAL COURT, CITY OF BOSTON
CRIMINAL BUSINESS

DUNCAN T. FOLEY,
Supervisor of Personnel.
DEAR SIR:

On December 3, 1973, I appointed Francis N. Sheils, of 8 Cataumet Street, Jamaica Plain, a deputy assistant clerk of court in the Criminal Session of the Boston Municipal Court.

There are exceptional circumstances for this permanent full-time employee to receive the step-rate increments to Step 5 of Grade R-14, under Rule 15F of the Suffolk County Compensation Plan, effective January 9, 1974, because Mr. Sheils worked at the Boston School Department as an administrative assistant since January 5, 1970. His duties as deputy assistant clerk are similar to his duties in the School Department where he acted in a supervisory capacity over certain clerical personnel and dealt with various groups of individuals who held meetings at the Boston School Department such as lunchroom monitors, custodial employees, attendance officers, and home and school association groups. His present duties as deputy assistant clerk include acting in a supervisory capacity over our personnel such as senior clerks, principal clerks, and head clerks. He advises members of the bar, litigants, and the public relative to court procedure, practice, and the status of cases. He performed duties similar to this while in the Boston School Department in that he dealt with the public and their complaints concerning teachers, pupil assignments, custodial assignments, and other related work. His position in the School Department included keeping confidential records and correspondence files, which is similar to his duties as deputy assistant clerk in that he performs difficult and complex legal clerical work, keeps our personnel files current, and makes decisions as to methods of preparing court records and dockets. In both capacities as administrative assistant and deputy assistant clerk, Mr. Sheils acts in a supervisory capacity and makes judgments relative to the operation of these departments.

This office would appreciate favorable consideration of this request for said increments under Rule 15F, because Mr. Sheils is a competent and intelligent individual performing work in the Boston Municipal Court similar to what he did in the Boston School Department.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN J. CRAVEN, JR.
Clerk of the Court.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

MODEL CITY ADMINISTRATION RENOVATING PREMISES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to award a contract in an amount not to exceed twenty-three thousand dollars ($23,000) to the Women's Improvement League, Inc., 322A Blue Hill Avenue, Roxbury, Mass., for the operation of a comprehensive recreation program for residents of Subarea 5; and which amount included seven thousand dollars ($7,000) so that the Women's Improvement League, Inc. might renovate its facility so that the same will be suitable as a recreation center.

The recreation center operated by the Women's Improvement League, Inc., shall be open daily Monday through Friday, and shall provide recreational, social, and cultural programs as well as creative skills workshops.

The Women's Improvement League shall renovate its premises in accordance with the terms and conditions of the contract, which terms and conditions include the requirement that the League request bids from no less than three area contractors in consultation with the Contractor's Association of Boston, that it submit for the approval of the Administrator or his designee a set of drawings, and that in the event it shall be terminated for non-performance, the city shall have right to operate the facility for any municipal purpose for a one year period thereafter.

The contract period of performance shall be from December 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

The Women's Improvement League, Inc. has successfully carried out a recreational program for Model Cities during the third-action year. We are confident of their ability to provide outstanding service and ask therefore, for these reasons, that the contract be dispensed from being advertised in the City Record.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

DROP-IN CENTER

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to award a contract for services in an amount not to exceed four thousand five hundred forty-one dollars ($4,541), to the Roxbury Action Program, Inc., 10 Linwood Street, Roxbury, Mass., for the operation of a teen drop-in center, located at the Norfolk House, 14 Elliot Square, Roxbury, Mass., as part of the Model City recreation program for Subarea II.

The objective of the program is to provide recreational and educational activities for teen-agers residing in the Highland Park section of Subarea II. Workshops in leather work, jewelry design, drama, music, and black history will be offered under this program. A complete athletic schedule will also be offered along with general recreational facilities which will be maintained at the center. It is expected that this program will service approximately two hundred (200) teen-agers weekly and for these reasons, we recommend that this contract be awarded to the Roxbury Action Program, Inc.

The funds to be provided under the contract will be utilized to cover the cost of salaries, space, equipment, overhead, and program expenses.

This contract will be effective during the period of December 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

It is therefore requested that notice of this contract be dispensed from public advertising in the City Record.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

DAY-CARE CENTER

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

We hereby request your approval to award a contract for services, in an amount not to exceed eight thousand five hundred dollars ($8,500), to the Hawthorne House, Incorporated, 9 Fulda Street, Roxbury, Mass., for the operation of a day-care center as part of the Model City Recreation program for Subarea II.

The objective of this program is to provide day-care facilities for children of persons who are recipients of AFDC under Title IVA of the Social Security Act. Quality day care will be offered for approximately sixty (60) children in the thirty-three month to six-year age range. The facility will be open on a daily basis from 8 A.M. to 5:30 P.M., Monday through Friday, and the daily programs will help develop cognitive skills for these young children. We recommend that this contract be awarded to the Hawthorne House, Incorporated.

The funds to be provided under the contract will be utilized to cover the cost of salaries, space, equipment, overhead, and program expenses.

This contract will be effective during the period of December 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

It is therefore requested that notice of this contract be dispensed from public advertising in the City Record.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

MODEL CITY ADMINISTRATION CLEANING SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City agency, I hereby request your approval to award a contract, without advertising, to Courtney Young, d/b/a Cy Cleaning Company, 88 Blue Hill Avenue, Boston, Mass., in an amount not to exceed eleven thousand five hundred sixty-eight ($11,568.00) dollars.

Under the terms of the contract Cy Cleaning Company will provide cleaning services on a nightly basis, Monday through Friday, at the Model Cities Administration offices, located in the State Street Bank Building, 2343 Washington Street, Roxbury, Mass., the Kenmore Building, 2414 Washington Street, Roxbury, Mass., and the Little City Hall Building, 29 Roxbury Street, Roxbury, Mass.

The contract shall be effective during the period January 1, 1973, through December 31, 1973.

Bids were informally solicited for each building and responses were received from the following firms to wit:

State Street Bank Building, 2343 Washington Street, Roxbury, Mass. 02119—Cy Cleaning Company, 88 Blue Hill Avenue, Roxbury, Mass. 02119, $274 per month; J.A.H. Industrial Cleaning Company, 664 Haverhill Street, Rowley, Mass. 01969, $197.74 per month; Preen Building Maintenance System, 201 Chestnut Street, Lynn, Massachusetts 01902, $275 per month; A.C.S. The Kenmore Building, 2414 Washington Street, Roxbury, Mass. 02119—Cy Cleaning Company, 88 Blue Hill Avenue, Roxbury, Mass. 02119, $390 per month; J.A.H. Industrial Cleaning Company, 664 Haverhill Street, Rowley, Mass. 01969, $369.86 per month; Preen Building Maintenance System, 201 Chestnut Street, Lynn, Mass. 01902, $385 per month; Coastal Services, Inc., P.O. Industrial Cleaning Company, 18 Sonoma Street, Dorchester, Mass. 02121, $175 per month; Anderson and Sons Cleaning Company, 49 Wellington Hill Street, Mattapan, Mass. 02126, $165 per month.

Bids were solicited for each of the above mentioned buildings plus the Bartlett Building, 2401 Washington Street, Roxbury, Mass., the main Model City administrative building. Cy Cleaning was awarded the contract for maintenance of the three buildings as aforesaid for the following reasons. Its bid for each of the buildings was competitive with that of the lowest bidder. With the exception of Preen Building Maintenance Service, it was the only firm which had previously performed services for the agency. Thirdly, Cy Cleaning Company was the only Model Neighborhood area firm to bid on each of the jobs.

Under a mandate from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, we are to award contracts whenever possible to locally qualified firms. Our decision to award the maintenance contract to Cy Cleaning was in accordance with this mandate.

For the foregoing reasons it is requested that notice of said contract by advertising in the City Record be waived.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

KEYPUNCH MACHINES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City agency, I hereby request Your Honor's written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to the International Business Machines Corporation (IBM), Gateway Center, Newton, Mass., in an amount not to exceed six thousand and forty-six dollars ($6,046).

The equipment will be installed at the Model City Administration building, 2401 Washington Street, Roxbury, Mass.

The rental period shall be from August 1, 1972, through July 31, 1973.

IBM is the only supplier of the keypunch equipment providing the necessary desired features. Under a previous contract, equipment performance and service delivery had been excellent.

For the foregoing reasons, advertising in the City Record would serve no useful or practical purpose.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

The contractors solicited and the one selected primarily employ people who are residents of the Boston Model City area or are members of minority groups therein.

For the foregoing reasons, it is requested that notice of said contract by advertising in the City Record be waived.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

This will require forty bus trips at a total cost not to exceed $2,400, which is to be charged to the Parks and Recreation Department budget 1-11-41 (29) Miscellaneous Contractual Services.

Because of the professional and efficient manner in which Hudson Bus Lines provides for short-haul excursions for the elderly, no useful purpose will be served by publicly advertising for bids.

Commissioner.

HOCKEY LEAGUE DIRECTOR

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with inviting proposals by public advertising in the City Record in awarding to Mr. John A. Whelan, 50 Monument Avenue, Charlestown, Mass. 02129, a contract as director of the Boston Neighborhood Hockey League for the period from October 1, 1972, to March 31, 1973, at a total cost not to exceed $4,431. Mr. Whelan will be paid at a monthly rate of $738.50 for a period of six (6) months, which is to be charged to the Parks and Recreation Department budget 1-11-41 (29) Miscellaneous Contractual Services.

The services to be provided by Mr. Whelan will include organization of a complete city-wide hockey program for approximately 1,200 boys, ages eight through fifteen. Because of the professional nature of the services to be furnished, no useful purpose will be served by publicly advertising for bids.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH E. CURTIS,

PENAL INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT LEGAL ADVISER

DEAR MAYOR:

I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record, in awarding to The Boston Foundation, Inc., a Massachusetts nonprofit corporation, a contract for the development and implementation of a comprehensive legal assistance program at the Suffolk County House of Correction at Deer Island.

Under the terms of the proposed agreement The Boston Foundation, Inc., will employ the services of a full-time legal adviser for the inmates. Said adviser shall develop a comprehensive program designed to assist the inmates with a broad range of legal problems.

The cost to the city will not exceed $20,000 (twenty thousand) dollars. The contract will be for the period December 15, 1972, to December 15, 1973.

In view of the nature of the professional services to be rendered, and the need for such services, it is my opinion that public advertising would serve no useful purpose, and that award of this contract will be in the best interest of the City of Boston.

Sincerely,

A. REGINALD EAVES,
Commissioner.

MEDICAL SERVICE SYSTEM

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with public advertising in the award of a contract to the Trustees of Health and Hospitals of the City of Boston, Inc., a Massachusetts nonprofit corporation, for the development and implementation of a comprehensive and efficient medical service delivering system at the Suffolk County House of Correction at Deer Island, in an amount not to exceed thirty-one thousand seven hundred eighty-eight dollars ($31,788), for the period November 15, 1972, to September 15, 1973.

Award of the contract is pursuant to a grant received by the city from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in the amount of $225,000, under section 301 (b) of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-351). The grant was accepted by an order of the City Council on October 16, 1972, and approved by the Mayor on October 18, 1972.

Under the terms of the proposed agreement the Trustees of Health and Hospitals of the City of Boston, Inc. will set up and implement the program of medical services. This program will include medical services and supplies.

In view of the nature of the professional services to be rendered and the need for such services, it is my opinion that public advertising would serve no useful or practical purpose.

Respectfully,

WILLIAM C. MURPHY,
Acting Commissioner.

POLICE DEPARTMENT CONSULTANT SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On November 22, 1972, you approved a contract between the City of Boston, acting by and through its Police Commissioner, and Robert Wasserman, in the amount of six thousand and forty-five dollars ($6,045). Under the terms of the contract, Mr. Wasserman was to provide consultant services to the Boston Police Department in the area of federally funded projects under the Safe Streets Act.

As part of his services rendered to date, Mr. Wasserman has developed, in conjunction with my command staff and your Safe Streets Committee, a series of grant applications to utilize unexpended funds, and the draft of a plan for fiscal year 1973 funds. Since the Boston Police Department is about to implement the programs which have been outlined in these proposals, it is necessary that Mr. Wasserman be allowed to continue consultant services.

I respectfully request Your Honor's written authorization to dispense with public advertising in increasing the amount of this contract to twelve thousand two hundred and twenty dollars ($12,220), for the total contract period of six and one-half months. The reason for the increase is to allow the consultant to continue for another three months, from January 15, to April 13, 1973, and to increase the consultant's daily stipend by two dollars ($2), for medical insurance. Because of the quality of Mr. Wasserman's current service to the Police Department and professional qualifications to perform the functions under the contract, it is believed that public advertising is not advisable.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. DI GRAZIA,
Police Commissioner.

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT CENTRAL FOOD FACILITY PLANS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Public Facilities Commission has authorized me, to request of Your Honor, for and on its behalf, executive permission to dispense with the formality of public advertising in the City Record, in awarding to Arthur D. Little, Inc., consulting engineers, a Massachusetts corporation with offices at Acorn Park, Cambridge, Mass., a contract to: (1) perform the program management tasks required to support the Public Facilities Department in bringing on line a central food processing facility; (2) prepare and present to the city, having first gathered and analyzed the vast amount of data and information required therefor, preventive maintenance plans for the central food processing facility; and (3) fully implement the aforesaid plans, at a cost for such services, payable at the rates to be recited in the contract, of not to exceed $96,254 (including the cost up to the amount of $33,000 of directly related out-of-pocket expenses authorized by and under the contract); and to execute such contract in the name and on behalf of the Commission, upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

In view of the fact that the subject facility is planned to be capable of producing 40,000 meals per day on a two (2)-shift basis, and because it is planned, even at the initial start-up, that the plant will support 10,000 meals per day for the children's hot lunch program; it is vital indeed that the expertise to be provided for under the terms of the proposed contract be arranged for as expeditiously as possible.

Therefore, Your Honor's approval for the award of projected contract is urgently solicited. Public advertising has not been contemplated because of the fact that the city could not be at all certain that it would acquire, by such procedure, the essential skills, competence, and professional know-how that will be at hand under a contract awarded to Arthur D. Little, Inc., all as herein proposed.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

FOOD PACKAGING

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Although prospective arrangements have been undertaken, such as the Public Facilities Commission vote of August 8, authorizing the undersigned to request of Your Honor, as has been done, permission to omit public advertising in the City Record, in awarding a contract to Arthur D. Little, Inc., located at Acorn Park, Cambridge, Mass., (1) to perform the program management tasks required to support the P.F.D. in bringing on line a central food processing facility; (2) to prepare and present to the city, having first gathered and analyzed the vast amount of data and information required therefor, preventive maintenance plans for the facility; and (3) to fully implement the aforesaid plans, the aforementioned contract has not yet been fully processed and executed.

Nevertheless, it has now been determined that, rather than waiting until all areas of the Central Food Facility are fully completed, and proven, which is the primary design of the aforementioned contract, immediate steps should now be taken to concentrate on carrying out the most critical production functions, e.g. the filling and packaging of hot and cold lunches using the installed Rogue line equipment.

As a result of the foregoing determination, on October 27, 1972, the Commission by vote, authorized the Director of Public Facilities to request of Your Honor, in the name and on behalf of that Commission, as I hereby do, written authority to dispense with seeking proposals by advertising therefor in the City Record, in awarding to Arthur D. Little, Inc., a Massachusetts corporation, with offices at Acorn Park, Cambridge, Mass., a contract to create and effectuate the operation of, at the Central Food Processing Facility, an interim production of packaging consisting of temporarily supplying the filling and packaging line with frozen, ready-to-package food until the rest of the facility is completed, proven out, and able to support production packaging for full-scale operation, the accomplishment of which interim production phase shall entail the carrying out of the following: (a) substituting purchased, frozen-precooked, prepared items instead of items prepared on site; (b) limiting the menu cycle to fifteen days and volume to 5,000 lunches per day; (c) arranging for contract delivery service until a detailed program is developed; (d) constructing temporary sanitary isolation of uncompleted areas, until completed; (e) requiring the facility general contractors to finish critical punch list items immediately and to finish the remainder as well; and (f) correcting now only those deficiencies (not presently covered by the aforementioned firm's other projected contract which was heretofore voted by the Commission on August 8, 1972) as are necessary to accomplish the facilities subject interim production phase, as aforesaid, and reschedule the correction of the other deficiencies until the 1973 summer interval, at a cost for such services not to exceed $95,000 (including the cost, up to the amount of $25,000 of directly related out-of-pocket expenses authorized by and under the contract); and to execute such contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE, MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

GERALD F. O'LEARY
PRESIDENT, CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 66

MONDAY, MARCH 11, 1974

NO. 10

Mayor Details Policy Toward Tax-Exempt Property

Mayor White has detailed a new four-point policy designed to prevent any further erosion of Boston's tax base by tax-exempt institutions.

He made the announcement at a speech to the Massachusetts Historical Society in the Fenway, celebrating the opening of twenty-four units of newly rehabilitated housing on Hemenway Street.

The housing, through a long process of negotiations by the Mayor's Office, the Society, and the Fenway community, was saved from demolition.

The Mayor said the four elements of the new policy toward tax-exempt property are:

The city will not tolerate any further removal of property from the tax roles. All available resources will be used to prevent this.

The city will not tolerate any further transfers of property from one institution to another, when such transfers result in reducing the tax base.

The city will insist that any new development on land already tax-exempt must involve cooperative planning with the city and its neighborhoods. (However, the city will be receptive to new development when it creates new jobs, housing, or services for a neighborhood.)

The Mayor will ask several major institutions to submit their plans for physical development, and to work toward contributing to neighborhoods — not threatening them.

"These guide lines are reasonable; they are not meant to be punitive, and they will not be, if cooperation is forthcoming," he said.

"They are meant to show that the city is dead serious about the need for a long-term solution to the impact of tax-exempt property on the city's fiscal survival."

Boston, with 58 percent of its total property valuation exempted by the state from local property taxes, has the highest exempt ratio of any major city in the country.

The Mayor, in his address, also said he will file suit next month in Superior Court asking that the state be ordered to grant Boston some relief from the impact of tax exemptions on the tax rate.

In December, Mayor White personally filed legislation on Beacon Hill asking that the state reimburse the cities and towns for 20 percent of the revenues they lose to state-imposed tax exemptions.

In Boston, 20 percent of the revenues lost would amount to more than $40 million annually.

Andrew J. Peters
1918-1921

Andrew J. Peters was born in Jamaica Plain April 3, 1872. He prepared for college at St. Paul's School, where he excelled in athletics, particularly aquatic sports. He was a clever oarsman and skipper, and swimming was also a favorite pastime.

He entered Harvard College in 1892. While at Harvard, he maintained his interest in sports, but never allowed it to interfere with his studies. Mr. Peters received his degree in 1895, and entered Harvard's Law School, obtaining his law degree in three years.

Mr. Peters entered the political arena in 1901, running as the Democratic candidate for State Representative in his district. Although campaigning in a heavily Republican district, he was successful in his effort, and entered the House of Representatives in 1902.

From 1904 to 1905 he was a member of the Massachusetts Senate, and in 1911, he served as United States Congressman from the Eleventh District, and served four terms as Congressman.

In 1910, Mr. Andrews married Martha R. Phillips, a descendant of John P. Phillips, the first mayor of Boston. Six sons were born to them, but two died at a young age.

Andrew J. Peters' reputation as a man of integrity helped elect him

Mayor of Boston in 1917, and he served from 1918 to 1921.

During his administration, he concentrated on fiscal responsibility for the city. He consolidated many departments for this purpose, and he was a proponent of a "metropolitan control" system that eventually became reality in 1930 under Mayor James M. Curley, when the Metropolitan District Commission was established.

Unfortunately, Mayor Peters' administration was marred by the great Boston police strike, which occurred September 8, 1919. Prominent citizens enrolled as special police to protect the city during the strike, and the State Guard was called out. Mayor Peters refused the strikers' demands; the strike was broken; and all strikers, who were the majority of the force, were discharged.

Although Mayor Peters himself was of the highest integrity, a few less than honest persons disgraced his administration, and he left his office a disillusioned man.

Mr. Peters subsequently served as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. He died on June 26, 1938.

THE TEST OF PATRICK

By Bob Aldrich

In troubled times as these the test of Patrick,
His constant thrust against the scourge of darkness,
The scourge which made a vacuum of God's treasure,
And robbed the soul of all its priceless grandeur:
In troubled times as these the flame is lighted,
And with that light a man need fill his hours,
To turn toward God and find within His Wisdom
The path which courses from increasing shadow,
From world of clay to world of the celestial:
No times are these for man to idle on!
Saint Patrick made no compromise with truth,
Nor did he seek appeasement with the snake!
The devil's fang he met with courage, strength,
And banished it forever from the land.
The challenge we must meet as Patrick did,
With faith and fortitude and freedom's might;
And he who passed through Ireland's fragrant earth
Will shine as that compelling light of faith
In troubled times as these when shadows fall
And lengthen over righteous paths of peace!

Our thanks to Bob Aldrich, one of Boston's better writers, for the use of his excellent poem.

The Boston 200 office is located at Boston City Hall.

EVACUATION DAY

A famous event in Boston's history took place on March 17, 1776, Evacuation Day. Except for defeat in Canada, the American colonists were holding their own against the British forces. The colonial forces in Boston were stronger than ever despite the lack of guns and ammunition.

Fortunately, cannons and ammunition arrived to add an ironic touch to the triumph; for the guns which Ethan Allen had captured from the British at Fort Ticonderoga almost a year before were available for use against the invaders.

During the winter, the American troops, commanded by Colonel Henry Knox, hauled the cannons over the wilderness trails on sledges drawn by oxen. By early March, 1776, the captured cannons were mounted on Dorchester Heights, South Boston, and were made ready for action.

Viewing the awesome sight of these cannons aimed directly at their ships, the British invaders realized that their occupation of Boston must cease at once. They evacuated Boston, March 17, 1776, and set sail for Nova Scotia. It was a great victory for General George Washington, for the British never again returned to that area.

77th FOR MUNICIPAL PRINT SHOP CHAPEL

The Municipal Printing Plant was established in March of 1897 by Mayor Josiah Quincy for the purpose of supplying the city's printing needs. Mayor Hugh O'Brien was one of the four founders of Boston Typographical Union No. 13 and served as secretary-treasurer of the local.

The City Printing Plant (James J. Duffy, Superintendent), is capable of supplying the city with all its printing needs from business cards and social announcements to legal briefs, annual reports, and brochures. Many of the city's printing needs are unique in that they are required by law to be printed, but the small quantity needed is not considered worth the trouble of outside commercial printers. The plant at 174 North Street employs a total of seventy-six persons, including compositors, proof-readers, pressmen, bindery workers, office staff, and maintenance men.

The City Record (edited by Joseph Fahey) is printed weekly and is the official chronicle of the City of Boston. Through the City Record, advertisements for bids on city contracts are published, also notice of awarding of contracts, tax abatements and sales. All the news from City Hall and the Mayor's Office is printed weekly along with Fire and Police Department orders and department changes.

The members of the chapel are proud of their plant and its seventy-seven-year history.

THEODORE V. ANZALONE ELECTED TO AUDITORIUM COMMISSION

Boston Assessing Commissioner Theodore V. Anzalone has been elected general manager of the John B. Hynes Veterans Auditorium by a unanimous vote of the Auditorium Commission.

Mr. Anzalone, who will be paid $28,000 annually, moves from the Assessing Department to the auditorium, filling a vacancy created last June by the retirement of George Lang.

Mayor White said the appointment of Mr. Anzalone to the auditorium signals the beginning of a time of much greater emphasis on developing the tourism industry in Boston.

"Ted Anzalone has the kind of thorough, amicable relations with the business and hotel communities needed to take Boston's potential as a tourist center to maturity," he said.

"The imminence of the Boston Bicentennial makes it all the more important that the city's prime convention headquarters be led by a highly motivated, experienced individual such as Mr. Anzalone."

Mr. Anzalone, Assessing Commissioner for six years before this appointment, came to Mayor White's administration from the office of the Secretary of State.

On Beacon Hill, he was Director of Corporations and later Deputy Secretary of State during a fifteen-year career.

Mr. Anzalone, 48, is a native of Boston, was graduated from East Boston High School, Huntington Preparatory School, Suffolk University, and Suffolk Law School.

He served in the United States Coast Guard in World War II.

His position as Commissioner of Assessing will be taken by Bernard F. Shadrawy, now First Deputy Assessor.

TOP O' THE MORNING

Saint Patrick (389?-461), Ireland's patron saint, whose special day the Irish celebrate on March 17 with their annual parade through South Boston, was reputed to have been born in England. He lived in Southwestern Britain and was educated as a Christian.

When he was sixteen years old, a group of Irish raiders took him as a slave to Ireland. After serving in Ireland for six years as a swineherd, he escaped in a ship bound for Gaul, France. He later became a monk and then returned to his home in Britain.

After his return, he dreamed one night that a man came to him with a paper bearing these words, "The voice of the Irish," and at the same time he heard the Irish calling, "We pray thee, holy youth, to come again and walk amongst us as before."

Beloved Patrick then decided this was a missionary call to Ireland. He returned to Gaul and spent fourteen years preparing for his work. With the title of bishop, and the Pope's blessing, he arrived in Ireland and became its patron saint.

He did much to establish Christianity firmly in Ireland, building churches, monasteries, and converting the people. This remarkable work was accomplished in spite of fierce tribal chieftains ruling the land.

Many legends grew in Ireland concerning Saint Patrick. One story related how he compelled the snakes of Ireland to fling themselves into the sea. There is another story to the effect that when some converts questioned the doctrine of the trinity, Saint Patrick ended the argument by displaying a shamrock leaf as an example of "three in one." When he died on March 17, 461, it was claimed there was no night for twelve days.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

February 22.

General Order No. 8

I. FIRE FIGHTER DANIEL J. LYDON

It is with deep regret that the Fire Commissioner announces the death on February 18, 1974, of Fire Fighter Daniel J. Lydon of Ladder Company 10. Fire Fighter Lydon was appointed to the department on February 19, 1947.

The funeral was held from the Fallon Funeral Home, Greenough Avenue, Jamaica Plain at 0900, February 21, 1974, followed by a funeral Mass in St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Jamaica Plain at 1000 hours.

The Chief of Department made the customary detail to act as funeral escort and members of Ladder 10 were excused to attend the services.

II. RETIREMENTS

The following retirement, in accordance with the provisions of section 5, chapter 32, G. L., which will become effective at 0800, February 27, 1974, is hereby announced:

Fire Fighter Albert J. Ferretti, Engine Company 51.

The following retirement, in accordance with the provisions of section 5, chapter 32, G. L., which will become effective at 0800, March 1, 1974, is hereby announced:

Fire Fighter Peter H. DiRocco, Engine Company 34.

Fire Fighter Ferretti was appointed to the department August 26, 1942. Fire Fighter DiRocco was appointed September 1, 1943. Both of these members leave the department with the best wishes of their associates.

III. FIRE ALARM BOXES ESTABLISHED

In the near future the following fire alarm boxes will be installed. The response to these boxes will be the same as for Box 325. The circuit numbers will be announced when the boxes are installed.

3248, Morrissey Boulevard, opposite No. 818.

12-3248, Chalet Susse Motor Lodge, 800 Morrissey Boulevard.

IV. FIRE ALARM BOX INSTALLED

The following fire alarm box has been installed, and company commanders shall add it to circuit card No. 79:

12-3613, Lena Park Community Center, 150 American Legion Highway.

V. HEART FUND DRIVE

The Boston Fire Department will cooperate with the Heart Association in its drive on Sunday, February 24, 1974. Company commanders are requested to provide the workers with a table and chair on the main floor so that they may collect from the marchers from 1400 to 1800 hours. Company commanders may call the Heart Association office, 738-4920, to have the kits picked up.

VI. COMMENDATION

Fire Fighter James F. Ford of Ladder Company 15 is hereby commended for his alert and efficient handling of the apparatus on February 7, 1974. District 4 car and the apparatus, due to respond to Box 1511, were experiencing difficulty getting out of Newbury Street due to traffic. District Chief William H. Doherty was directing the movement of apparatus, and as Ladder Company 15 made the turn out of Newbury Street he slipped on ice and fell to the ground. Had it not been for alert action on the part of Ladder 15 chauffeur, James F.

Ford, who brought the truck to an abrupt stop, Chief Doherty would most certainly have gone under the tractor wheels.

VII. LETTER OF THANKS

The following letter is published for the information of the department:

"February 17, 1974.

DEAR COMMISSIONER KELLY:

I want to commend the firemen from the West Roxbury station for the fantastic work, the kindness and understanding that was extended by them, when my brother, George Scalponeti had a heart attack on Friday, February 15, at five-thirty A.M.

My sister-in-law and the other members of our family who were with her feel that without their outstanding work he would not be resting comfortably at Faulkner Hospital.

In our excitement we neglected to get their names. In this day and age we hear of only the horror of the day, not enough is said about men such as these firemen. From all of us, God bless and protect them.

Gratefully,

THERESA FITZGERALD
(Mrs. WALTER J.)."

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT LEASING CERTAIN PREMISES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

Under a delegation of its power from the Public Facilities Commission to the Director of Public Facilities, I hereby respectfully request Your Honor's written authority to dispense with public advertising in leasing certain premises deemed necessary and convenient by the Director for School Department purposes. There is a further delegation of power from the Commission to the Director to execute such lease upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor of Boston.

The premises to be leased consist of the gymnasium facilities at the Charlestown Boys' Club, for use by Charlestown High School and its physical education program. The initial term of the lease will be seven (7) months, from September 6, 1972, through March 31, 1973, school days only. The lease provides an option to extend the term for an additional three (3) months upon the same terms and conditions.

The rental for the initial term is not to exceed $21,780 (twenty-one thousand, seven hundred and eighty dollars) and this rental is based on an hourly rate of $30, or $165 daily, multiplied by 132 school days. The lessor will maintain proper records and bill only for the actual hours of use.

Since these facilities are both adequate and convenient, it is not felt that public advertising would be useful in this instance.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Under a delegation of its power from the Public Facilities Commission to the Director of Public Facilities, I hereby respectfully request Your Honor's written authority to dispense with public advertising in leasing certain premises deemed necessary and convenient by the Director, for Public Works Department purposes from Benjamin Ginsberg of Brookline, Mass., with a place of business at 40 Court Street, Boston, Mass. There is a further delegation of power from the Commission to the Director to execute such lease upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor of Boston.

The premises to be leased are located at 29-43 Dorchester Street, in the South Boston District of Boston, and consist of approximately 8,000 square feet of garage/storage space on the second floor of this building.

The term of the lease will be from December 1, 1972, through March 31, 1973. The lease will contain an option to extend the term for an additional thirty- or sixty-day period if required. The monthly rental will be $800, with the lessee paying for its own heat and light. Based on last winter's figures, supplied by the lessor, the cost of these utilities amounted to about $750, although for a longer period of time. The Auditor is requested to encumber this amount, in addition to the rental figure shown. The rental and utilities are to be charged to Account No. 1-23-31.

The use of this garage space will be to store various pieces of equipment belonging to the Public Works Department in connection with snow removal.

Since these facilities are both adequate and convenient, it is not believed that public advertising would serve any useful purpose in this instance.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

ARCHITECTURAL SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Pursuant to an authorization recently extended to me by the Public Facilities Commission, I hereby request of Your Honor, for and on behalf of the aforementioned Board, executive permission to dispense with, in accord with the Acts of 1909, chapter 486, section 30, as amended, public advertising in the City Record in awarding to John Guarino, architect, of 2 Lexington Street, East Boston, Mass., a contract to prepare design development drawings, basic outline specifications, estimated construction costs, working drawings, detailed specifications, and detailed construction cost estimates for, and to supervise construction of alterations and repairs to the Animal Facility Laboratory, located on the fourth floor of the Mallory Building, Boston City Hospital, at a cost for such services of 9.78 percent of the presently estimated cost of construction of $70,000, the cost of the now proposed services being not to exceed $7,846 (including the amount of $1,000 for supplementary services); and to authorize the Director to execute such contract in the name and on behalf of the Commission upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

For the additional information of Your Honor, the proposed contract fee rate of 9.78 percent was arrived at as follows: The 1967 A.I.A. "B" rate for $70,000 is 9 percent; adding the standard 2.5 percent to the aforesaid rate for alteration and repairs results in a cumulative rate of 11.50 percent; however, since the schematic designs for the project have been produced by the city, fifteen percent (15%) of the latter rate was deducted from it leaving a final rate of 9.78 percent.

In view of the fact that architects, who perform professional services, are paid in this city in accordance with the 1967 A.I.A. table of recommended minimum rates, it is considered that advantage would not accrue to this municipality through the medium of public advertising for competitive bids for such services in our City Record.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On March 19, 1971, the City of Boston entered into a contract with ERA, Inc., architects, a Massachusetts corporation, of 1300 Soldiers Field Road, Boston, Mass., for architectural and engineering services in the preparation of plans and specifications, cost estimates, and for the supervision of construction of six recreation buildings, one each, at or near, six (6) B.H.A. sites.

Thus far the architect has produced schematic designs, design development, working drawings, and detailed specifications for three (3) building superstructures and for five (5) building foundations. The lowest general bid price for the three (3) building superstructures was $873,220, and the total of the lowest general bid prices for five (5) building foundations (bid in lots of 2, and 3, respectively) was $278,250, for an aggregate bid cost of $1,151,470. The A.I.A. minimum "B" rate at the aforespecified total figure is 7.4 percent, which when multiplied against the $1,151,470, and then, by only 75 percent (since this architect is not in fact going to be in a position to supervise our further construction here and, incidentally, which circumstance is destined to cause the formal discontinuance of that firm's services) equals $63,907. To this latter sum of $63,907 is to be added an additional 1.1 percent (allowed the architect at the very outset of the contract's original award because of the very unusual extra services the architect was to perform in the development of the project's entire program, which he did accomplish) of $1,731,470 (the project's presently projected entire cost, consisting of the above $1,151,470, plus the estimated cost of the remaining two (2) building superstructures of $580,000, derived by dividing the above $873,220 by 3 and then multiplying by 2) which is $19,046, constituting a new project basic fee of $82,953, and thus, now resulting in a proposed addition to the contract basic fee in the amount of $4,653 because the present contract basic fee of $78,300, deducted from $82,953, leaves $4,653 to be added thereto.

As a result of the subject contract's status as recited above, the Public Facilities Commission on November 30, 1972, authorized me to request, as I hereby do, in the name and on behalf of the Commission, from the Mayor, written authority to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record, and to enter into an agreement with ERA, Inc., architects, a Massachusetts corporation, of 1300 Soldiers Field Road, Brighton, Mass., amending a contract between the City of Boston and ERA, Inc., dated February 2, 1971, approved by the Mayor on March 19, 1971, to prepare working drawings, detailed specifications, and construction cost estimates for, and to supervise the construction of six (6) recreation buildings at six (6) Boston Housing Authority sites so as to increase the basic fee in the amount of $4,653, and to execute such agreement in the name and on behalf of the Commission upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

For the further information of Your Honor, the initial estimated cost of the originally contemplated six (6), since reduced to five (5), recreation buildings was $900,000 or $150,000 each. The original idea here was to establish relatively modest community meeting places at each one of the designated Boston Housing Authority sites. Instead, due to the presently characteristic, long-sustained clamor, and insistent demands of persons from the various communities involved, these buildings simply pyramided in exterior and interior facilities, construction costs, as well as in required furnishings, and equipment costs, so that as of the time of public advertising for competitive general bids, as indeed the bid prices tend to confirm, each of them had become pretty sophisticated physical education (gym) facilities, resulting in the bid and estimated figures recited above. Also, a certain amount of delay (engendered because of the necessity of enumerable meetings with representatives from the five (5) communities) in getting the various segments of the project "on the market" so to speak, also contributed to the cost increase on account of a rising market.

Since contracts may only be altered by a writing executed by the parties thereto, and including the Mayor and bonding company, public advertising is, it is felt, not feasible in this instance.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As of a recent date, I was authorized to request, in the name and on behalf of the Public Facilities Commission, from the Mayor, as I hereby do, written authority to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record, and enter into an agreement with Alonzo B. Reed, Inc., and Interior Design Group, a Division of Stahl Bennett, Inc., both Massachusetts corporations, d/b/a ABRIDG, a joint venture, with offices at 177 Milk Street, Boston, Mass., amending a contract between the City of Boston and ABRIDG, dated October 27, 1970, approved by the Mayor on November 11, 1970, providing for the preparation of plans and specifications for, and the supervision of, alterations and repairs to existing facilities at the former City Hall Annex, Court Street, Boston, Mass., so as to increase the amount of the basic fee from $142,600 to $212,360, a $69,760 addition; and so as to increase the supplementary services figure from $75,000 to $165,000, an addition of $90,000; and to execute such agreement in the name and on behalf of the Commission upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

For the information of Your Honor, the estimated construction cost, as such, of the subject renovations has, thus far, increased from $2,300,000 at the outset, to an estimated $2,900,000 at this time, constituting a $600,000 cost addition. The aforementioned added cost results from fundamental and necessary changes made in the scope of the project by the city after an approval of preliminary designs with a resulting commensurate enlargement in the volume of services required to be provided by the architect. The added items of construction referred to and their respective estimated work costs follow: replacing 360 feet of sidewalk ($30,000); replacing three fourths (¾) of the building windows ($40,000); roof repairs ($15,000); repair certain exterior stone work ($20,000); constructing 5,000 square feet basement storage area ($130,000); reroute basement plumbing pipes ($10,000); patch and paint all ceilings, floors 1-10 ($65,000); replace and refinish first floor surface, paint and refinish its walls and ceilings, replace its light, replace its piping, replace its radiators, and ventilating, and air conditioning ($290,000). Furthermore, our presently anticipated requirements from the architect in certain of the supplementary service areas, viz. "furnishings" is estimated to cost up to the amount of $65,000, and again, "changes and contingencies" is estimated to cost up to the sum of $25,000, for an aggregate addition of $90,000.

The subject of this communication is basically "professional services" in connection with which the city, customarily, and understandably, does not publicly solicit the submission of competitive bids therefor; additionally here, we have a subsisting contract which, by law, may be altered only by written agreement of the parties thereto, including the Mayor and surety on the contract bond.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

a subtrade, nor the subbids for the same subtrade as shown on the general bids of the three lowest responsible and eligible general bidders, may be withdrawn after the opening of the general bids and for five (5) days (Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays excluded) after presentation of the subcontract to the subbidder selected for that subtrade by the general bidder selected as the general contractor.

may be obtained at the office of the Awarding Authority.

A performance bond, and also a labor and specified or that less than three such subbids were received and that the prices are not reasonable for acceptance without further competition, in accordance with section 44D,

NO. 11

Major Improvements Planned For South End

Five parks and playgrounds are among the more than $10 million in public improvements scheduled to start construction in the South End during 1974, according to Boston Redevelopment Authority Director Robert T. Kenney.

A major feature on the list of South End improvements is a $5 million pollution abatement and flood control facility, or pumping station, at Albany and Malden Streets. The pumping station will pump water from South End storm drains into Boston Harbor, eliminating the problems of flooded basements for South End residents.

In addition, extensive work is scheduled for installation of new street lighting along South End streets and sidewalks, as well as construction of new sanitary sewers and storm drains.

Mr. Kenney said, "In a sense, the public improvement work we are doing is the 'phase two' of renewal. Many of us sometimes forget that renewal is more than eradication of blight and construction of new buildings. It is just as important that we install new lights, build parks, repave streets, and complete those improvements that complement the new buildings."

Mr. Kenney pointed out that funds for the parks construction, pumping station, and other improvements are provided to the BRA through a combination of federal urban renewal funds and a city bond issue which was approved by the City Council last November.

The five parks to be built in 1974 are:

A park, between Shawmut Avenue and Washington Street on Lenox Street. Planned as a major neighborhood recreational area to serve residents of the new housing in that section of the South End, Derby Park will include a football field, baseball diamond, basketball courts, two tennis courts, and a children's play area, plus overall landscaping.

A playground, bounded by Shawmut Avenue and Waltham, Groton, and Washington Streets, near the Dover Street MBTA station. This park provides extensive game areas and other recreational activities such as basketball, volleyball, and handball courts, a children's play area and spray pool, shuffleboard, and pathways with trees and grass.

West Rutland Square Park, behind Union Methodist Church. Planned with extensive community participation, designs of this neighborhood park call for provisions for basketball, tennis, and street hockey, a children's play area and fountain, and landscaping.

ETC Plaza, adjacent to the Emergency Tenants' Council housing tower for the elderly on West Dedham Street. The plaza is designed to provide the main pedestrian area connecting the various phases of "Viviendas La Victoria," ETC's development in the South End. The plaza is designed with trees, benches, and a fountain, in the manner of a Spanish-Puerto Rican "plaza."

West Concord Street Park, adjacent to the Mass. Housing development at West Concord and Newland Streets. This small neighborhood park includes a sitting area, children's play area, and landscaping.

To be built by the BRA on land acquired through the urban renewal program, all the parks except for the ETC Plaza will be turned over to the city's Parks and Recreation Department for maintenance on completion of construction. ETC Plaza will be conveyed to the Boston Housing Authority, which owns and manages housing tower for the elderly.

NEW PIKE SERVICE

The Massachusetts Turnpike Authority announced on March 6 the start of a new 24-hour gasoline and weather reporting service for the convenience of motorists using the Masspike. Authority Chairman John T. Driscoll said the information could be obtained at all toll booths and that advance information can be obtained by calling the following numbers: Boston 237-5210; Worcester, 791-3316; Chicopee, 594-6648; and Lenox, 637-2555.

MBTA REACTIVATES BELMONT COMMUTER RAIL SERVICE

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority has reactivated Boston and Maine commuter railroad service at the Waverley and Belmont stations in the town of Belmont.

This latest step by the MBTA is but one in an extensive series of community-oriented programs that the Authority is implementing in order to provide greater access to public transportation for the cities and towns it serves.

Fares between Boston and the two stations are as follows:

Belmont, one way, $1.05; twelve rides, $10.20; twenty rides, $16.25; twenty rides, student, $14.75.

Waverley, one way, $1.05; twelve rides, $10.45; twenty rides, $16.65; twenty rides, student, $15.15.

"SEEING STARS" AT HAYDEN PLANETARIUM

The advantages of a telescope in stargazing will be examined in the spring course, "Seeing Stars," at the Hayden Planetarium of Boston's Museum of Science.

The Planetarium will show participants how to get the most out of their telescopes and how to photograph celestial objects through them.

Starting April 9, the course will make it possible to see the rings of Saturn, the craters of the moon, multiple star systems, and a host of other phenomena not visible to the naked eye.

Persons aged sixteen and older are eligible if they have had a general course in astronomy or receive the consent of the instructor. Conducting the course is Jeffrey Baumgardner, a member of the Planetarium staff. Mr. Baumgardner holds a B.A. in astronomy from Boston University and is the Planetarium's telescope expert.

Class sessions, held in the Planetarium, Museum classrooms, and outdoors will meet eight successive Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9. The fee is $26, or $22 for family and contributing Museum members. To register, call 723-2500, ext. 274.

"GREEN LIGHT" FOR HEADSTART PROGRAM

The long-standing problem of insufficient funding for Boston's Headstart program has been resolved, it was announced on March 7, in a joint statement by the regional office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) and Action for Boston Community Development (ABCD).

"As a result of additional funds made available to the Boston regional office by the Office of Child Development national office, the level of the approved program for ABCD is established at $2,854,767," announced Mrs. Rheable M. Edwards, assistant regional director of HEW's Office of Human Development.

She added that $233,310 would be made available to ABCD to cover administrative costs of the Headstart program from last September 1 to next August 31. ABCD had been waiting for six months to collect the past-due federal monies for managing the program.

ABCD Executive Director Robert M. Coard stated, "This action means that over 1,500 children and their families can receive the necessary educational, social, and health services so critical to their growth in an urban environment."

FANEUIL HALL RESTORA- TION SHOWS PROGRESS

Exterior restoration has been completed on the first fourteen buildings in the Faneuil Hall Markets project, according to an announcement by BRA Director Robert T. Kenney.

Mr. Kenney, in a letter to the developer of the project, The Rouse Company, said, "I am pleased to inform you that units forty-one through forty-seven have been completely cleaned out and the structures are now available for the commencement of your construction program."

Exterior restoration of the forty-three buildings is being done by the BRA under a $2.3 million historic preservation grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The markets development is part of the BRA's Downtown-Waterfront Urban Renewal Project.

When the exterior restoration is completed, the buildings, as well as the granite-domed Quincy Market Building, will be turned over to The Rouse Company for development as a retail-office complex which will house fifteen to twenty-five restaurants and 200 or so retail outlets.

The Faneuil Hall Markets will serve as the focal point of Boston 200, the city's bicentennial observance.

Built in 1824-26 under the administration of Mayor Josiah Quincy, the markets are generally considered to be this country's first "urban renewal" project. The complex was designed by Alexander Parris, and was built on what had been the town dock. The restoration project, using Parris's original plans, will return the structures to their original appearance while the interiors will be renovated for modern commercial needs.

Mr. Kenney said, "We envision the markets project as a way to restore not only the physical structures of these beautiful buildings, but also a restoration of this area to be the crossroads of commerce and urban activity it was when first developed by Mayor Quincy."

The first touch of spring is the Internal Revenue Service.

DIRECTIVE NO. 6
SERVICE CONTRACTS —
SPECIAL DRAFTS
NEW PROCEDURE

March 7, 1974.

To All Department Heads and County Officials:

The City Auditor, Walter W. Merrill, has recommended for approval a new procedure in the handling of payments on Service Contracts, with which I am in thorough agreement, and which is to be placed into effect on and after March 15, 1974.

Mr. Merrill has pointed out that under present procedures, payments on Service Contracts are normally handled through Special Drafts. This procedure was designed to provide prompt payments to contractors with payrolls to meet and others who require similar treatment. However, the Special Draft procedure is cumbersome, requiring extra hand-prepared documents, manually typed checks, and individual approvals by both the City Auditor and the Mayor. When the volume of Special Drafts becomes too large, it is difficult to process them promptly so that the objective of prompt payment is not fully or completely accomplished.

A number of Service Contracts cover repetitive payments for rentals of equipment, leases, repairs, and similar items. These could very well be paid through data processing under regular Service Order routines without seriously inconveniencing the vendors and, at the same time, would enable us to provide better service on necessary Special Drafts.

In view of the above circumstances, it is necessary and imperative that the following procedure be adopted:

On and after March 15, 1974, whenever a Service Contract is prepared for a service such as those mentioned above, which involves repetitive payments throughout the year, a Service Order for the full amount of the contract should be submitted to the Auditing Department with the contract. Payments should then be processed with partial receiving reports against the Service Order in the same manner as other payments made under Service Orders.

Your complete cooperation in complying with the establishment of this new procedure is respectfully requested.

EDWARD T. SULLIVAN,
Director.

“T” SEEKS MORE LIGHT RAIL VEHICLES

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) will seek a $7.6 million federal grant toward purchasing another twenty-five light rail vehicles for the Green Line.

Authorization has been granted by the Board of Directors to file an amendatory application with the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA), Department of Transportation, to increase the original $32.8 million grant for 150 cars by $7,628,488 for the additional twenty-five cars.

John T. Doolittle, Jr., Chairman of the Board, said that approval of the new federal aid will mean the Authority will be able to exercise its option with Boeing Vertol Company to increase the 150-car order to 175 cars at the same per unit price of about $300,000. He said local share funds are available under the 1971 and 1973 bonding authorizations approved by the General Court.

With a 175-car fleet, the Authority plans to add service on the Green Line to meet future demands resulting from a continuing energy crisis.

The 150 new-type streetcars are being purchased with a two-thirds capital facilities grant, approved by UMTA in October, 1972. The new request is for an 80 percent grant.

Preparatory to the arrival of the new cars, the Authority has under way a $38.1 million Green Line System Improvements Program to upgrade the roadbed and track, modernize passenger facilities, and improve maintenance facilities. For this program, UMTA has approved a two-thirds grant of $25.4 million.

CHARLESTOWN RESIDENTS: TAKE NOTE

A Boston Redevelopment Authority booklet, “Revitalizing Older Houses in Charlestown,” is one of three booklets being distributed to renewal agencies throughout the country by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The brochure, a joint effort of the BRA Urban Design Department and the Boston Landmarks Commission, was written for residents of the Charlestown Urban Renewal Project to guide them in rehabilitating the unique architectural styles of houses in Charlestown.

Shortly after the brochure was published by the BRA, HUD requested permission to reprint the brochure so it could be available through the United States Government Printing Office.

In a letter accompanying distribution of the brochure to renewal agencies throughout the country, HUD Secretary James T. Lynn, said, “The booklet illustrates, from the viewpoint of widely different communities, how preservation can be made an integral part of urban planning and a positive force in the revitalization of America’s cities and towns.

“It is in the spirit of one community sharing its hard-won wisdom with another that these materials have been collected and are being distributed.”

BRA Director Robert T. Kenney said, “We’re pleased that the booklet we printed for the use of Charlestown residents can be of help to residents of other communities undergoing renewal.

“To date, more than $6.5 million has been spent or committed on the rehabilitation of some 1,600 dwelling units in Charlestown. This number represents one-third of the housing stock in Charlestown and it shows how important rehabilitation has been in the Charlestown Urban Renewal Project, and why the Charlestown Project is regarded as one of the most successful renewal projects in this country.”

LET’S KEEP AMERICA CLEAN

FIRST AIRMAIL

The first letter to travel by air in America was written by President George Washington. Its purpose was to introduce a daring French airman and his balloon craft to the American public.

That initial piece of airmail correspondence was written by Washington on January 9, 1793, the date that Frenchman Jean-Pierre Blanchard made his forty-six-mile balloon flight from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, to Deptford, New Jersey, in fifteen minutes. This unique method of transport for the Washington letter has become an annual commemorative event for residents of New Jersey. Actually, the first mail to travel by airplane occurred on an experimental basis in 1911, and scheduled airmail service began in 1918.

On that day, however, 181 years ago, Washington watched with hundreds of others on the grounds of the prison yard on Walnut Street, in Philadelphia, as the Frenchman's enormous yellow balloon ascended into the skies and then floated towards Delaware. Strong winds caused the balloon's course to shift and it landed in New Jersey rather than Delaware as originally planned.

Since the idea of man in space was so novel at that time, the President felt he should give Blanchard an introduction to American people to prevent any attacks on him when his balloon landed. The President did so in his letter:

"(I) . . . recommend to all citizens of the United States, and others, that in his passage, descent, return or journeying elsewhere, they oppose no hindrance or molestation to the said Mr. Blanchard."

The French aeronaut was in awe of the President and regarded the letter with great respect. Referring to it in his diary of the flight Blanchard wrote, "the most flattering mark of his goodwill was in the passport which he was pleased to deliver to me with his own hand."

About 320,000 mailboxes are maintained in postal facilities and at street locations across the United States for the deposit of letters.

SUPPLEMENTARY PAYMENTS AVAILABLE FOR ELIGIBLE CITIZENS

Mayor White has announced that Boston's blind, disabled, or elderly citizens can learn if they are eligible for cash payments under the new federal Supplementary Security Income Program by contacting their local Little City Hall.

The new program replaces public assistance as a source of additional cash income for qualified individuals in these groups.

"It has been estimated that 50,000 people in the Boston area are eligible for payments under this program, but have not applied," Mayor White said. "To make it easier for people to find out if they are eligible, I have asked the Commission on the Affairs of the Elderly and the Office of Public Service to arrange for the Little City Halls to help in completing screening applications and to answer questions about the program."

Taylor Wagenseil, Commissioner of Elderly Affairs, stressed that although the program is run by the Social Security Administration, Supplemental Security Income is not the same as Social Security. Those who meet the requirements may be eligible to receive payments from both programs.

II. COMMENDATIONS

At 2356 hours, February 16, 1974, Box 3343 was struck for a fire at 7 Morse Street, Dorchester. Engine Company 24 and Ladder Company 23 were the first to arrive at the scene and reported fire showing from the third-floor windows. The entire third floor and hallways were heavily charged with smoke, and occupants were fleeing from the front and rear doors.

Fire Lieut. William D. Shea of Engine Company 24 was notified that a man was trapped on the third floor. Lieut. Shea and Fire Fighters Daniel M. Polvere of Ladder Company 23 and Francis J. Manning of Engine Company 24 immediately ascended the stairs to the third floor. These men, without benefit of gas masks and before ventilation could be performed, searched the entire floor, crawling on hands and knees, and found a man lying on the floor unconscious and badly burned. They carried him to the street and administered first aid. He was taken to Boston City Hospital by A-19.

The Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend these members for this rescue which was made under extreme heat and adverse conditions, and without consideration for their own safety.

At 2240 hours, February 23, 1974, the department responded to Box 7315 for a fire at 16 West Seventh Street, South Boston.

Enroute to the fire, the Fire Alarm Office reported "Woman trapped in her apartment." Upon arrival of Engine Company 1, Fire Lieut. Martin E. Pierce, Jr. immediately entered the apartment which was heavily charged with heat and smoke and made his way to a rear bedroom where he found the body of an unconscious woman. He immediately removed her to the street where members of Ladder Company 18 revived her with a resuscitator and sent her to Boston City Hospital with the police of District 6.

This rescue was carried out without an air mask and before lines of hose were brought into play, or ventilation effected. The Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend Lieut. Pierce for his prompt action which probably saved the woman's life.

The respect and courtesy shown us for Thomas Packard can only remain in our hearts with a growing love for the men on the Boston Fire Department.

God bless and keep every one of you.

Sincerely,

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT ARCHITECTURAL SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Public Facilities Commission on January 9, 1973, authorized the undersigned to request Your Honor, in its name and on its behalf, as I now do, executive authorization to dispense with publicly advertising in the City Record for competitive bids in awarding to Parsons, Brinkerhoff, Quade, and Douglas, Inc., a New York corporation duly licensed to do business in this Commonwealth, with local offices at 711 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass., a contract to prepare schematic designs, design development drawings, and basic outline specifications for use in the construction of an elementary school in the Mattapan district of the City of Boston, at a cost for such services not to exceed $146,359 (including $25,000 for supplementary services, encompassing among other things, a feasibility study of housing combined with school construction); and to execute such contract in the name and on behalf of the Commission upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

On September 30, 1971, following the vote on July 20, 1971, by the Public Facilities Commission, the Mayor approved the award of a contract to the aforementioned architectural firm for preparing schematics, design development, and construction cost estimates for use in constructing an elementary school in the Mattapan district of the city. However, that contract, by mutual understanding between the proposed parties thereto was not executed.

The overall reason for the presently proposed contract and the determination not to execute the one first authorized is that: the subject project, the Mattapan Elementary School is one part of the city's current plan for the coordinated design and construction of the BOSTCO Track IV schools, each having certain uniform designed modular components with respect to structure, atmosphere, integrated ceilings, plumbing, interior space division, and electric-electronic systems; and the aforementioned architect is willing to cooperate with the city and with the architects for other projects in Track IV in the selection and engagement of common consultants for structural, mechanical, electrical engineering portions of the design work, as well as for architectural research, each one of which common consultants are also to have a contract with the city. Again, the aforementioned course of action will achieve the greatest practical degree of uniformity and consistency of design, quality, and performance of the mechanical, electrical, and structural systems in the four (4) school buildings comprising the program, which cannot be achieved when each building is in the care of a different engineer.

The fee for the now proposed contract has been arrived at as follows: the presently estimated construction cost of \$5,040,000 was multiplied by the A.I.A. interpolated "B" rate fee of 5.49 for that amount, resulting in a total project estimated fee of \$276,696, from which was subtracted \$33,978 in credits, leaving a total project estimated fee, less credits, of \$242,718, which was then multiplied by $\frac{1}{2}$, constituting the Phase I contract basic fee of \$121,359.

For the further information of Your Honor, the $33,978 credit mentioned above is because certain segments of some of the project professional services are to be carried out by others than the aforementioned firm, broken down as follows: mechanical engineering ($6,930); electrical engineering ($4,851); structural engineering ($8,039); architectural research ($4,158); and construction cost estimating services for Phase I and II of project ($10,000).

It is of course, our purpose following successful completion of all services under the architect's new Phase I contract to award the architect the Phase II contract for preparation of construction contract documents and supervision of construction, contingent upon the prior approval of the Commission and His Honor, the Mayor. The fee for the Phase II contract shall be determined by multiplying the appropriate 1967 A.I.A. fee schedule "B" rate times the approved estimated cost of construction, less the above-mentioned basic fee, plus the aforementioned credit amount.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Public Facilities Commission on January 9, 1973, authorized the undersigned to request in the name and on behalf of the Commission, from the Mayor, written authority to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record and to enter into an agreement with Edward J. Tedesco Associates, Inc., a Massachusetts corporation, architects, with offices at 48 Mt. Vernon Street, Winchester, Mass., amending a contract between the City of Boston and Edward J. Tedesco Associates, Inc., dated January 26, 1971, and approved by the Mayor of Boston on June 29, 1971, as amended on June 19, 1972, providing for the preparation of working drawings, detailed specifications, detailed construction cost estimates, and for the supervision of construction of a new English High School at 77 Avenue Louis Pasteur, Boston, Mass., so as to increase the amount authorized for expenditure for supplementary services under the contract from $137,028 to $187,028, representing an increase of $50,000, with a corresponding addition in the contract maximum allowable expenditure from $808,703 to $858,703; and to execute such agreement in the name and on behalf of the Commission.

For the information of Your Honor, these proposed added funds for supplementary services are needed and intended to be utilized in having concrete and soil tested and in having structural steel and reinforcing steel inspected. It is true that the so-called tower portion of this project is almost completed, but there remains the gym, plaza, and underground parking facility to be constructed.

In that municipal contracts may be altered solely by the parties thereto or their successors in interest, through the medium of a writing signed by the parties, including the Mayor, as well as the surety on the contract bond, public advertising would not appear to be of avail here.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

GENERAL ENGINEERING SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Pursuant to the terms of a certain current vote of the Public Facilities Commission, I was authorized to request, both in the name and on behalf of that Commission, as I hereby do of Your Honor, written permission to omit the customary solicitation for competitive bids by advertising therefor in the City Record, in awarding a contract to Comprehensive Designs, Inc., a Pennsylvania corporation licensed to do business in this Commonwealth, with local offices at 197 First Avenue, Needham, Mass., to provide the Public Facilities Department during the period January 1, 1973, to March 31, 1973, both dates inclusive, general engineering services and technical assistance in connection with the department's preparation of numerous plans and specifications for use in accomplishing additional and emergency work resulting from inevitable incidents such as the severe storm of February 18-20, or other type of disaster, at a cost for such services not to exceed $10,000, payable at the actual hourly rates paid (but not more than the hourly rates to be set forth in the contract) times 1.33; and to execute such contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

In the light of the foregoing and the circumstances that the proposed contract is intended to provide for the provision of professional services, we are of the view that the procurement of competent professionals in the aforementioned area of our operation would not necessarily be assured here if the city employed public advertising procedures to effect its purpose.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT ENGINEERING SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On March 4, 1971, Your Honor authorized the award of a contract to Fay, Spofford & Thorndike, Inc. (the engineer), 11 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass., to provide certain engineering services required for the Jamaica Plain and Fields Corner-Ronan Park Code Enforcement areas. On January 11, 1972, Your Honor authorized an amendment to the contract for additional services in the form of design, survey, resident engineering, and construction supervision. The contract, as amended and subsequently approved by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), provides for a termination date of December 1, 1972, and for an amount not to exceed $270,000, with this amount to be provided on a basis of two-thirds federal money and one-third city money.

The contract, as amended, provides that the engineer does the research and design for the preparation of Public Improvement Commission plans and the preparation of contract plans and related documents for the construction or reconstruction of streets and street lighting systems; that the engineer, if city forces are not available, furnish as supplementary services the necessary field survey, resident engineering and construction supervision, and prepare related "as built" record plans. The present contract, as amended, presumes substantial field services to be provided.

The contract further provides that the engineer prepare all documents required for installation of traffic signals, fire alarm signals, police signals, tree planting, and general street beautification, whether part of the street construction contracts, or as separate construction contracts. The engineer is required to compile all bidding documents and coordinate all activities in accordance with standard procedures and forms of the City of Boston Public Works, Traffic and Parking, Fire, Police and Parks and Recreation Departments, with special attention given to HUD requirements to insure that in no way the federal two-thirds funding of these public improvements is jeopardized.

Public Improvement Commission plans and construction contract documents required for the Jamaica Plain and Fields Corner-Ronan Park Code Enforcement areas are complete. Two street reconstruction contracts, approximating $900,000, remain to be advertised and bid. Because of the pressure of our summer-time street construction activity city forces will not be available for the required supervision and field work, as the engineer should be asked to provide these necessary services.

It is estimated that construction work for the two remaining construction contracts will require a combined period of 325 calendar days. A review of the engineering contract as it now stands shows remaining funds available for approximately forty days of services only. Therefore, it will be necessary to increase the present contract amount by $70,000 to provide for the approximate 180 days of field engineering not funded.

A study of the total federal grant for public improvements in the two subject code enforcement areas shows that with the encumbrance of the two remaining construction contracts all the funds, including the allowance for engineering, will have been committed. This means that monies for further engineering services will have to come from the city's Public Way Loan. However, if construction costs should be less than estimated, any savings achieved can be assigned as engineering costs and thus lighten the encumbrances against our loan money.

Therefore, because of the professional character and satisfactory performance of engineering work already provided and in order to insure continuous uninterrupted engineering services relative to the Jamaica Plain and Fields Corner-Ronan Park Code Enforcement Projects, Your Honor's authorization is respectfully requested to dispense with public advertising and to amend the present contract by increasing the maximum amount from $270,000 to $340,000 and by extending the termination date from December 1, 1972, to December 31, 1973.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH F. CASAZZA,
Commissioner.

REAL PROPERTY DEPARTMENT OVERHEAD DOORS

YOUR HONOR:

On December 21, 1972, I submitted a letter which referred to a prior letter dated November 27, 1972, in which I requested your permission to award a contract to Crawford Door Sales, Division of Cliff Compton, Inc., 34 Gardner Street, Braintree, Mass., to supply and install steel rolling overhead doors at the City Hall loading dock, the cost not to exceed eight thousand nine hundred eighty-five (8,985) dollars.

The original intent of these doors was to accomplish security of the building, prevent heat loss, overwork of the mechanical units supplying that area, and to eliminate a hired guard. However, demolition of neighboring buildings has caused a migration of rats in the loading dock area of City Hall, thus creating an emergency situation. We must move quickly and expeditiously to preclude an invasion of City Hall by these rodents. Every day of delay increases the danger.

Unfortunately, the letter of December 21, 1972, was made available to the news media and published verbatim in the Boston press. Consequently we received one additional proposal of eight thousand eight hundred (8,800) dollars from the Kinnear Corporation, 301 Reservoir Street, Needham, Mass., on January 23, 1973.

In my opinion any vendor that could compete with the published price has been allowed ample time to come forward. The publicity has served as more than ample public advertisement, thus any further delay would serve no useful purpose.

I will make the award to the latest and lowest bidder, the Kinnear Corporation, in that they are a substantial and qualified firm, capable of performing this installation in a good and workmanlike manner, for a sum not to exceed eight thousand eight hundred (8,800) dollars.

Yours truly,

ANTHONY E. FORGIONE,
Assistant Commissioner.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE, MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

GERALD F. O'LEARY
PRESIDENT, CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 66

MONDAY, MARCH 25, 1974

NO. 12

Mayor Submits Budget to City Council

Mayor Kevin White, noting that the city is subject to the same spiraling price increases as the consumer, has submitted to the City Council a $256 million city budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The proposed 11 percent increase in spending — $26.8 million above the current year's appropriation of $229.1 million — nearly parallels the 9.5 percent increase in the Consumer Price Index during the past year, Mayor White said. Fuel costs, for example, including gasoline and heating oil for public buildings, have doubled and, in some cases, nearly tripled during the year, he said.

"Increased spending made necessary by economic forces beyond the city's control should be offset, in part, by additional state and local revenues, with the result that we can anticipate a modest increase in the tax rate," the Mayor continued. "At the present time, the runaway inflation makes it appear unlikely that we will be able to hold the line on taxes for the second year in a row despite the elimination of more than 1,500 jobs," he explained.

In addition to a reduction in the city budget and a strict austerity program during the current year, he noted the city was instrumental in having the state for the first time assume a portion of the MBTA operating deficit, which will result in a $10 million savings to the taxpayers of Boston.

"It is our hope that this state assistance, coupled with continued prudent financial management, will enable us to avoid a tax-rate increase this year of more than the amount necessary to pay for recent jumps in the cost of fuel oil, gasoline, electricity, steam for heating, and telephone service," he said. The present tax rate is $196.70 per $1,000 valuation, the same as in 1972.

Major increases in the proposed city budget include:

$3.1 million for annualizing the cost of wage increases which were in effect for only a part of last year;

$8 million for wage increases that will take effect during the 1974-75 fiscal year;

$2 million for the city's increased share of hospitalization and insurance costs; and,

$1.1 million for the Public Works Department, representing the increased cost of refuse collection contracts and electricity for street lighting.

Some $21 million in revenue-sharing funds are earmarked in the spending outline for the Police, Fire, Health and Hospitals, Public Works, and Parks and Recreation Departments.

The proposed county budget also shows an increase from $20 million in 1973, to $22.9 million for the next fiscal year. Major items contributing to the hike are 1973 wage increases that will cost an additional $825,389 in 1974-75, new wage increases that will cost $812,507, and legislated salary increases of $414,000. In addition, there is a total increase of $457,938 for thirty-eight new probation officer positions which the city is compelled to include in the budget, but which the Mayor does not recommend be approved.

Boston pays the entire cost of operating Suffolk County government. Chelsea, Winthrop, and Revere contribute nothing toward its support.

Proposed in the city budget is creation of the Mayor's Office of Community Services, which would replace the Model Cities Administration which is being terminated by the federal government. The new office would have virtually the same level of funding ($200,000) from the city as did Model Cities ($181,000).

Other increases in the proposed budget are:

$584,852 for the Public Facilities Department for support of the Community School Program;

$502,792 for the Administrative Services Department to streamline and consolidate computer operations in the city;

$709,000 for the Parks and Recreation Department for park and playground improvements; and $585,000 for the office of the Boston Bicentennial.

BICENTENNIAL PROGRAM PLANS MEDICAL EXHIBITION

Every major medical institution in Boston is involved in an ambitious bicentennial program to present to Boston's residents and the millions of expected visitors during 1975 and 1976, the rich medical heritage that has made this city the "Medical Capital of the World," according to an announcement by Mrs. Katharine D. Kane, director of Boston 200, the city's bicentennial program.

The first major project in the program calls for a permanent exhibition on medicine to be housed in the Museum of Science. The exhibit will focus on the major parts of the body, and will explain, in depth, the contributions of medicine toward understanding the functioning of the healthy body and toward protecting it against injury and disease. Boston 200's Task Force on Medicine and Health, led by its executive committee, is planning this exhibit.

Among other projects the task force's resource committee is developing a brochure, which will contain many of Boston's medical "firsts"; a "Medical Freedom Trail" where visitors will be exposed to Boston's medical facilities by visiting sites such as the Ether Dome at the Massachusetts General Hospital; and the 1975-1976 Lowell Lectures in Medicine with each participating medical institution hosting one lecture.

Included in the task force are representatives from: Boston City Hospital, Boston Hospital for Women, Boston University Medical Center, Boston University School of Nursing, Children's Hospital Medical Center, Harvard Medical School, Lahey Clinic, Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, Massachusetts General Hospital, New England Baptist Hospital, New England Deaconess Hospital, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Robert Breck Brigham Hospital, and Tufts-New England Medical Center.

This task force — one of eighteen participating in Boston 200 — is being coordinated by William D. (Jim) Brown, of Duxbury, the head of a medical communications firm in Boston. He is working with both the Medical Foundation and Boston 200.

Cochairmen of the executive committee are Drs. Samuel Proger, of Brookline, and George Thorn, of Cambridge. Chairman of the resource committee is Dr. Merle W. Mudd, of Concord.

Boston 200 begins in April, 1975. The bicentennial celebration will contribute a wealth of new exhibits, trails, information centers, and environmental improvements to the city, as well as coordinating a very active cultural and commemorative events program.

SHIPBUILDING FIRM PLANS $200 MILLION IN SHIP ORDERS

The South Boston and Charlestown Community Advisory Committees on conversion of the Boston Naval Shipyard recommended to the Mayor that he continue "every possible effort" to support a proposal by a local shipbuilding firm to occupy the South Boston Naval Annex and a portion of the Charlestown Naval Shipyard.

As a result of the Advisory Committees' favorable vote, Mayor Kevin H. White has moved to grant the local firm, the Boston Shipbuilding Corporation, a 120-day moratorium on other uses for the shipyard properties. In a letter to Boston Shipbuilding Corporation President Lloyd Bergeson, Mayor White said the city will cooperate with the firm to advance its plan to build more than $200 million in ship orders over the next ten years, providing as many as 3,000 jobs in the shipbuilding trades.

He added that Gerald W. Bush, director of his Office of Commerce and Manpower and chairman of the city's task force on conversion of the shipyard, has been successful in getting assurances that the Department of Defense will leave the shipyard intact to the extent necessary for shipbuilding. Mr. Bush has been working since last April, when the Defense Department announced the shipyard would be closed, to assure that the property is converted to a job and tax-generating purpose. About 5,000 civilian employees will have lost their jobs when the 220-acre shipyard closes down this May. Of these about 2,000 have retired, with most of the remainder collecting unemployment benefits and severance pay.

"Besides the shipbuilding corporation, which is the most logical reuse for a shipyard," said Mr. Bush, "the Community Advisory Committees have also explored the possibilities of a new town — in-town at Charlestown, and a free trade zone; light industrial facility in South Boston; a laboratory and research center in Charlestown; and assorted industrial operations in South Boston. We are also moving ahead on the proposed National Maritime Historic Park in a portion of Charlestown to house the Constitution and to be operated by the National Parks Department."

Mayor White indicated that his office has worked closely with the state's Congressional delegation and with the state Commission on Federal Base Conversion, chaired by Hale Champion, to assure the support and cooperation of both federal and state agencies in developing a reuse for the Boston Naval Shipyard which benefits the residents of Boston.

ALIEN LIFE FORMS CONTEST FOR YOUNGSTERS

Walking plants or little green men? Cyclopes or starfish eight-feet wide?

Can you justify your idea of life on some other planet? If you can, enter the Alien Life Forms Contest at Boston's Museum of Science.

In addition to submitting an original drawing, painting, or model of an extraterrestrial life form, you also write 100 words or less about the hypothetical conditions of the world on which your imaginary life form exists and how it adapted to those conditions.

Prizes will be given in three age categories: twelve and younger; thirteen to seventeen; and eighteen and older.

First prizes are 2.4-inch Altazimuth telescopes provided by the Unitron Instrument Company of Newton Highlands. Second and third prizes will also be awarded.

The contest is run in conjunction with the forthcoming program in the Charles Hayden Planetarium which runs from March 26 through June 16. "Earth Calling" reviews attempts being made to reach intelligent life in distant star systems and discusses current and future space exploration.

The contest closes April 15. Winning entries will be displayed in the Planetarium lobby. Entry blanks and rules may be obtained in the Museum.

THE ART OF SELF DEFENSE

Johnny "Pie" Arigo, former Massachusetts Golden Gloves champion, was named boxing instructor for the North Bennet Street Recreation Center by Boston Parks and Recreation Commissioner Anthony E. Forgione.

"The department is fortunate to have such a talented and dedicated man to run the new boxing program. He is an expert in the field of boxing and enjoys a rapport with the young people of the North End," said Commissioner Forgione in making the announcement.

"The boxing program was specifically developed to meet the interests of the youth in the North End. Our department is looking forward to developing more programs to meet the special needs of the city's neighborhoods," added Mr. Forgione.

Mr. Arigo has held a variety of posts with the North End Athletic Association since it began in 1961, among them: Little League director, softball director, assistant basketball director, and publicity director. He is a community organizer for N.E.C.A.P., and he has served the Boston Parks and Recreation Department in the past as a referee, an umpire, and a scorekeeper. His boxing record from 1947 to 1952 is fifty-three wins and twelve losses as an amateur.

The Parks and Recreation Department boxing program meets in the North Bennet Street gym and consists of classes for boys who are beginners and advanced. Ages seven to thirteen meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 3 P.M. to 4:30 P.M. Ages fourteen to sixteen meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, from 6 P.M. to 7:30 P.M.

Boxing fundamentals training includes foot and hand movement, positioning, and various defenses. Conditioning sessions include body building, running, and abdominal fitness calisthenics.

BRA PLANS NEW PLAYGROUND-PARKS

A $5.2 million infusion of funds into the Brunswick-King and Kittredge Square area will result in new parks, public utility improvements, and housing rehabilitation, the Boston Redevelopment Authority has announced.

The two projects are a joint venture of the BRA and the Model Cities planning staffs.

"We expect construction to begin early this summer on five new playgrounds and parks in the Brunswick-King area," BRA Director Robert T. Kenney said.

The largest of the playground-parks will be constructed at the

Martin Luther King School. A park, intended for the use of senior citizens, is planned for Magnolia Street.

Two parks, one for tots and one for teen-agers, will be developed. The younger set's recreation spot will be on Intervale Street, while the other park will be on Normandy Street.

A half-acre, wooded site next to Brunswick Gardens will be designed as a recreation area featuring benches, picnic tables, and game areas.

Over a half million in funds for low-interest loans and grants will be made available for residential rehabilitation. The city's Housing Inspection Department will survey existing housing to determine eligibility to the extent of rehabilitation needed.

A person, to be eligible for a loan or a grant, must be an owner of property or a resident of the area. Application should be made to the Model Cities Rehabilitation Office, Washington Street, near the Dudley Street station.

Kittredge Square, which has eighteen structures considered historically significant, will also have available over a half million in funds for historic preservation and residential rehabilitation.

Two of the buildings in the square, the Edward Everett Hale House and the Alvah Kittredge House, are on the National Register of Historic Places. The Hale House is privately owned while the Kittredge House is owned and occupied by the Roxbury Action Program under the direction of George Morrison.

Rehabilitation loans and grants will be available to residents to bring their property up to code standards. In addition, the BRA is seeking developers interested in rehabilitating 100 units of vacant housing under private financing.

Plans are under way for reconstruction of various streets in the area and rehabilitation of Alvah Kittredge Square. The lack of housing subsidy funds is still stalling the proposed building of eighty dwelling units on cleared land in the sector.

VOTERS: VOICE YOUR OPINION

Mayor White has signed a home rule petition which would grant Boston voters the right to voice their opinions on the issue of forced busing.

The petition, if passed by the Legislature and signed by Governor Sargent, asks that the following question appear in a special city-wide referendum on June 4:

"Shall Boston public school children be assigned to a particular Boston school on the basis of race, sex, or creed, without the consent of his parent or guardian?"

The Mayor, in sending the petition to the State House, said he did not believe that this referendum would be binding, but he endorsed the right of the electorate to be heard.

"Neither the State Board of Education nor the Boston School Committee has listened to the parents of the city on this issue," the Mayor said, "and consequently, people are terribly frustrated. They want to be heard, which is why I am signing this home rule petition. This issue ultimately will be decided in the courts, but, in the meanwhile, the voters deserve an opportunity to express their views.

"Frankly, I do not agree with the intent of the proposed referendum question, but I do agree that the people of Boston have a right to be heard at the polls on such an important issue.

"Similarly in the past, I was opposed to cutting the size of the House of Representatives, but I supported placing the House cut on the ballot.

"And last year, despite the fact that I opposed legislation that would have required a referendum to change school district lines, I again endorsed the right of the electorate to exercise its right to vote."

United States mail volume recently soared to a record peak of about 89.7 billion pieces annually. This is almost half the world's total mail volume.

MOHR ADVOCATES EQUALITY FOR MINORITIES

The Mayor's Office of Human Rights has officially announced an affirmative action program to increase the number of minorities and women in government in the City of Boston.

Clarence Jones, the office's director, said that minority groups make up 9.9 percent of the city's government employees, but 23 percent of the city's population.

Mr. Jones said he hopes the program will result in bringing the percentage of minority employees in city government close to the 23 percent figure.

Under the plan ordered by Mayor Kevin H. White each city department will be responsible for the drafting of its own plan, "suited to fit its particular needs and circumstances."

Mr. Jones and Phil Boyle, the deputy director, stressed that there will be no quota system for departments to follow.

The Office of Human Rights will work in conjunction with the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination (MCAD) in receiving and investigating all charges of discrimination filed by city employees.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN

Registrar of Motor Vehicles David J. Lucey has called attention to the forthcoming compulsory motor vehicle inspection period which begins April 1, and suggested that during the balance of this month drivers would be wise to preinspect their motor vehicles and have necessary repairs made now.

While it is too soon to determine whether the shorter hours and gas lines will affect the availability of mechanics, we do know by experience, that the official inspection stations are usually deluged with last-minute inspections and that when parts are required, it becomes difficult to complete the work prior to the end of the inspection period.

Now is a good time to check your vehicle, and if you find that parts are required for repair work, give the garage mechanic time to seek the necessary components to do the work so that you won't be caught short at the end of the inspection period. There are 2,900,000 vehicles which must be inspected from April 1, to May 15.

Items to be checked include: brakes, stop lights, lights, horn, exhaust system, steering gear, windshield, windshield cleaners, number plates, rear windows, tires, fenders, bumpers, external sheet metal, reflectors, splash guards, chock blocks, pollution control systems or devices, and vehicle identification number.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

SAFE STREETS ACT ADVISORY COMMITTEE SECURITY PROGRAM

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As Director of the Mayor's Safe Streets Act Advisory Committee, I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to the Roxbury Multiservice Center, Inc., in an amount not to exceed sixty-one thousand four hundred eighty-seven dollars ($61,487), for the period December 1, 1972, to September 30, 1973.

Award of the contract is made pursuant to a grant received by the city from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in the amount of $235,000, under section 301 (b) of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-351). The grant was accepted by an order of the City Council on June 26, 1972, and approved by the Mayor on June 28, 1972.

Under the terms of the contract, the Roxbury Multiservice Center, Inc., will continue a community security program in the Sav-More area of Roxbury, focusing on community organization and education. The Sav-More community is bordered by Savin Street, Moreland Street, Warren Street, and Blue Hill Avenue.

Over the last two or so years, under contracts with the city, the Sav-More community security program has been conducting a program which generally encourages citizens to cooperate with each other and the Boston Police Department in striving to check criminal activity. Citizen education efforts related to crime reporting procedures, police services, and self-help crime-stop methods have also been undertaken.

The Roxbury Multiservice Center has demonstrated its capacity to sponsor such a program. I feel that the corporation is uniquely qualified to continue providing the services mentioned to residents of Sav-More.

In view of the unique professional and community support required to perform the functions of this contract, it is believed that public advertising would serve no useful or practical purpose.

Respectfully,

DONALD MANSON,
Executive Director.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As Director of the Mayor's Safe Streets Act Advisory Committee, I respectfully request Your Honor's written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to the South Boston Action Council in an amount not to exceed $32,000, for the period February 1, 1973, to June 30, 1973.

Award of the contract is made pursuant to a grant received by the city from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in the amount of $330,000, under sections 303 and 304 of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-351). The grant was accepted by orders of the City Council on October 4, 1971.

Under the terms of the contract the South Boston Action Council will conduct a pilot community education and community organization program in the D Street neighborhood in South Boston, to encourage neighborhood participation in crime prevention efforts and to promote police/community cooperation. The full cooperation of the Boston Police Department in the overall program is anticipated. If successful as a pilot project, the effort will be refunded in the near future.

The South Boston Action Council is a community-based, self-help organization. It initiates programs designed to encourage community development. A variety of social health, and welfare services are offered to residents of South Boston, many of which will be directly tied into the security program. The Action Council will provide the type of sponsorship, community orientation, and staff competence necessary to make the project, as per the contract, a success.

Because of the unique services required to perform the obligations of this contract, it is believed that public advertising would serve no useful or practical purpose.

Respectfully,

DONALD B. MANSON,
Executive Director.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

EMERGENCY REPAIRS

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

On December 17, 1972, there was a mechanical failure of the hot water circulating pumps at the William M. Trotter School, 135 Humboldt Avenue, Roxbury, Mass.

Because of this failure and the extreme wind and cold, the heating elements in seven-teen rooms were frozen, causing complete failure of the heating system.

In order to make emergency repairs, to prevent further damage, and to provide heat as quickly as possible for the health and welfare of the pupils and teachers, I am awarding a contract without the formality of public advertising to L. H. and J. J. Jacobs Co., 153 Lamartine Street, Jamaica Plain, Mass. 02130, in an amount not to exceed five thousand five hundred dollars ($5,500).

Very truly yours,

ANTHONY L. GALEOTA,
Chief Structural Engineer.

SUFFOLK COUNTY

COURT HOUSE COMMISSION

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

In anticipation of adoption of the 1973-74 budget, and because of the satisfactory service rendered by the Federal National Linen Service of Boston, in supplying towel service to the Suffolk County Court House, the Court House Commission believes it would be for the best interest of the City of Boston and the County of Suffolk to continue this service with the Federal National Linen Service, and respectfully requests your authority to dispense with advertising and to award a contract to Federal National Linen Service on the basis of supplying one thousand, three hundred towels weekly, for the period commencing April 1, 1973, and ending on June 30, 1974.

The total amount contemplated for expenditure under the proposed contract is seven thousand and ninety-eight dollars ($7,098), based on the rate of thirteen hundred (1,300) towels per week at a price of seven cents (7 cents) per towel. This amount represents no increase over the previous year's contract.

Federal National Linen Service owns the towels, bears the losses and replacements, guarantees the suitability of the towels furnished, and undertakes to save the county from any claims arising through the performance of the service.

In past years when the Commission publicly advertised for bids for this service Federal National Linen Service was the only vendor to submit a bid.

In view of the foregoing the Court House Commission is of the opinion that nothing would be gained by the City of Boston or the County of Suffolk by publicly advertising for bids for this service.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN E. POWERS,
Chairman.

New Headquarters for Boston 200

One Beacon Street is living up to its claim as "The Great American Address." This summer Boston 200, the city's official agency to commemorate the American Revolution Bicentennial, will move its headquarters from City Hall to the new forty-story office building.

The office space, valued at $220,000, has been donated to Boston 200 by Commercial Union Assurance Companies, owners and major tenants of the building, at the corner of Beacon and Tremont Streets.

"This is one of the largest single donations from a private company we have received to date and we are most appreciative of Commercial Union's contribution," said Mrs. Katharine D. Kane, director of Boston 200.

To date Boston 200 has generated some $2,370,000 in gifts and investments from the private sector to fund bicentennial projects.

Referring to the British-owned worldwide insurance organization, Mrs. Kane said, "It's interesting to note that if King George III had been as generous 200 years ago, as Commercial Union is now, there might never have been a revolution."

Henry S. Stone, chief executive of Commercial Union, said, "We are delighted to accommodate Boston 200 and we are pleased this will be as significant a contribution in its way as Mrs. Kane indicates."

Mrs. Kane said that the reason Boston 200 decided to move was that larger contiguous space is needed and none is available at City Hall. "We will, however, maintain a small office at City Hall for meetings and other purposes. I expect the new quarters will greatly maximize the efficiency of our operation," she said.

The official theme for Boston 200 is "The City in America" which emphasizes its evolution using Boston as an example. The city-wide program begins in April, 1975.

HOT LUNCH AND CONVERSATION

Every day from Monday through Friday there is a hot, tasty meal served to Charlestown residents aged sixty and over, at the Meeting Hall of the Rutherford Avenue Elderly Housing.

This program is made available to Charlestown seniors through the cooperation of the State Executive Office of Elder Affairs and the Mayor's Commission on the Affairs of the Elderly. It is administered by Federated Dorchester Neighborhood Houses, Inc., and several community-based agencies, including the John F. Kennedy Family Service Center on Winthrop Street, which provides community liaison and supportive services.

All Charlestown residents sixty and over are invited to come and bring their friends to the Rutherford Avenue Meeting Hall at 12 P.M. every weekday. There is a suggested donation of fifty cents per person. For more information call Kit Clark at 282-9753.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PROGRAM: A REPORT

The City of Boston's Capital Improvements Program is designed to meet the facility and service needs of the residents of Boston. It is a comprehensive package of essential new construction, alterations, and renovation projects which have been developed through a complex process of cross evaluation by city departments and neighborhood organizations.

This report describes how the plans evolve and provides an overview of Boston's Capital Improvements Program for the next decade.

Responsibility for the Program

The development and implementation of the ongoing Capital Improvements Program is primarily the responsibility of three city departments: Public Facilities, Parks and Recreation, and Public Works. The Public Facilities Department was created in 1966 to plan a capital improvements program and to carry out the construction and maintenance of Boston's public facilities (exclusive of school building maintenance) in compliance with this program. The building of parks and other recreational facilities is shared between the Public Facilities Department and the Parks and Recreation Department by mutual agreement, while the Public Works Department is responsible for the construction of streets, sidewalks, sewer and water lines, city-owned vehicular and pedestrian lighting.

Capital Improvements . .

The Public Facilities Department is assigned responsibility for developing a ten-year capital improvements program, and for coordinating the annual work programs submitted by each department. The Boston Redevelopment Authority oversees improvements in urban renewal areas, and develops long-range planning recommendations for all Boston neighborhoods.

The creation of a new department to guide the city's Capital Improvements Program reflected a growing recognition in the mid-1960s of the critical need to revitalize Boston's physical plant. With the exception of City Hall and the Hynes Veterans Auditorium, the previous two decades had produced little major municipal construction. Less than $20 million had been spent yearly, much of it concentrated on the massive Boston Redevelopment Authority renewal programs downtown. Since 1968 yearly expenditures on schools, parks, and other needed facilities have increased by more than 250 percent.

Since 1968 the major thrust of capital improvements has shifted away from the Central Business District, and to Boston's traditional residential neighborhoods. Most of Boston's neighborhoods were originally independent, and they have retained their distinctive character while offering the overall city great resources of vitality and stability. Urban renewal programs designed to revitalize downtown areas offered little help to many of the neighborhoods that were showing the effects of neglect. The city administration perceived that maintaining the quality of life in these neighborhoods was critical to Boston's survival, and the development of a responsive capital improvements program became top priority.

The Capital Improvements Program has developed major improvements in every neighborhood in the city, including twenty new schools, seven new libraries, and eighty-eight park projects. Each of these was planned in cooperation with interested community groups, and they receive intensive use.

The response to Boston's program in the financial community has been encouraging. Boston city bonds, which are used to finance most municipal improvements, received an upgraded rating for the first time in fourteen years. This reflects a growing confidence in Boston's Capital Improvements Program and will enable the city to save over $280,000 in interest payments on bonds to be issued this year.

Development of the Program

Within the framework of the Ten-Year Capital Improvements Program, proposals for an annual capital improvements program are submitted to Public Facilities by each city department and the Boston Redevelopment Authority. Some departments request loans for programs or projects that they will carry out, while others request that projects be done for them by Public Facilities.

The Public Facilities staff reviews each proposal from two perspectives: to determine how projects affect each other and what impact they will have on the neighborhood, and to judge the fiscal feasibility of the proposal.

Through the Little City Hall in each neighborhood, the Office of Public Service gathers information for Public Facilities on neighborhood needs and priorities, and the review by Public Facilities utilizes this local input, as well as the more comprehensive and long-range views developed by professional planners.

The budgetary review determines the city's ability to finance projects, calculates the debt service they will incur, and predicts their impact on the city's property tax rate. This last calculation is especially important in a city that must rely on property taxation for 70 percent of its revenue while over 50 percent of all property is tax exempt.

Upon completion of reviews, project proposals may be sent back to the operating departments for revisions, and, if necessary, are resubmitted to Public Facilities for a final review.

The capital improvements budget compiled by Public Facilities is coordinated with the operating budget through the Administrative Services Division, and is submitted as a recommendation to the Mayor for his implementation. If he concurs, he submits an appropriations package to the nine-member City Council which appropriates all funds to be spent by the city, and authorizes loans to meet appropriations, transfers from special accounts, and tax orders. The Council may withhold approval from part or all of the Capital Improvements Program, but it cannot initiate additions to the program.

Once City Council approves appropriations to finance the Capital Improvements Program, the appropriate departments — Public Facilities, Public Works, and Parks and Recreation — implement the program. If subsequent state agency approvals are needed before funds can be expended, Public Facilities usually obtains these. Bonds are issued, from time to time as needed, to replenish the cash flow in the treasury, and to balance accounts at the end of the fiscal year.

SWIMMERS: TAKE ADVANTAGE

Swimmers of every age and ability will find a course suited to their interests at the new Mason Pool on Norfolk Street this spring.

"This is the most recently completed of the city's six new neighborhood pools," said Mayor White. "It is here for the community to use and enjoy to the fullest.

"The Parks and Recreation Department will be running a first-rate program here this spring under the supervision of Harry Powers and his staff, and I hope we'll see a large turnout for every one of the programs."

Commissioner Anthony Forgione of the Parks and Recreation Department stressed the safety as well as the recreational value of swimming.

"Anyone who enjoys boating or other water sports should know how to swim for his own safety and the safety of others," Mr. Forgione said. "Of course, that is not to overlook the value of swimming as exercise for all ages."

The first of the spring classes to get under way was the Water Safety Instructor course on March 19 at 6 P.M.

To be eligible for this advanced course, you must be at least seventeen years of age and have a current Senior Life Saving card. The class will meet for thirteen to fifteen weeks, on Tuesday evenings, from 7 P.M. to 10 P.M. Although there is no charge for the course, participants will be required to purchase three Red Cross books.

The Senior Life Saving course began on March 20 at 5 P.M., and is open to advanced swimmers who want to become lifeguards or improve their water safety skills.

The advanced beginners class will start on April 17 at 4 P.M. Anyone who has completed a beginners course, or who can swim at least 25 yards in deep water, is encouraged to enroll.

The beginners class will start on April 22 at 4 P.M. and is open to anyone who would like to learn to swim.

And, of course, Senior Swim Time will continue every weekday from 2 P.M. to 3 P.M., for elderly people who would like to take a swim at a time set aside especially for them.

Registration for the classes will be at the first meeting of each course. For more information, call Harry Powers at 427-7347.

SUCREST CORPORATION LOCATES IN CHARLESTOWN

Mayor Kevin White has announced that SuCrest Corporation of New York will purchase and recondition the Revere sugar plant in Charlestown where they will continue to refine and market granulated and liquid sugar in Boston.

Earlier this year, United Brands Company announced the closing of its Boston sugar refining plant, laying off more than 500 employees.

"SuCrest's decision to locate in the city is an example of Boston's attractiveness to businesses in other areas of the country. Boston is a growing city, and we're happy SuCrest has chosen to grow along with us," Mayor White said.

"SuCrest has informed us that it plans to rehire many of those laid off by the Revere closing. In addition, the company plans to obtain a major portion of its financing from a neighborhood bank," he added.

The Mayor's Office of Commerce and Manpower, under the direction of Gerald W. Bush, played a major role in bringing the SuCrest Corporation into Boston.

According to SuCrest President Robert Rapaport, production of sugar at the plant is expected to resume within two months.

SuCrest Corporation is a 110-year-old producer of sweetening products with annual sales in excess of $200 million and major plants in New York and Chicago.

MBTA APPLIES FOR NEW BUSES

Authorization has been granted by the Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA), to file a $9,100,800 federal aid application for the purchase of 200 new air-conditioned, radio-equipped buses.

The application for 80 percent federal assistance will be filed with the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA), Department of Transportation. The 20 percent local share of the estimated $11,376,000 cost of the buses is available under bonding authorization given by the 1973 General Court.

The new buses will enable the Authority to continue its policy to replace 100 overage buses per year in order to reduce the average age to six years. Since no replacements were made in 1973, the proposed purchase of 200 buses would be for both last year and this year. Before the bus replacement policy was instituted, the average age of the buses was fourteen years. Under the policy, the average age has been reduced to seven and six-tenths years.

The new buses will be equipped with two-way radios and an intrusion alarm. They will also be equipped with V-8 engines in order to meet 1975 federal pollution standards which six-cylinder engines cannot meet and, in accordance with new federal safety guidelines, they will be equipped with antiskid devices.

SCULPTURE DISPLAY AT I.C.A.

Sculptress Cecile Abish will construct a "one-of-a-kind" sculpture display entitled "Surface Clearance" at the Institute of Contemporary Art, 955 Boylston Street, Boston. On exhibit April 3, through April 13, "Surface Clearance" exhibits sculpture designed specifically for the Institute's gallery space—works which have never before been viewed.

Cecile Abish (artist-in-residence at University of Massachusetts, Amherst), has built a number of large sculptures specifically for such locations as the Bykert Galleries in New York, the Aldrich Museum of Contemporary Art, and the New York Cultural Center. The philosophy of "Surface Clearance" sculpture is to take possession of a surface, change it into a sculpture, and thus make the surface become a borderline between "change and unchange." Boundary lines of a surface become delineations for a piece of sculpture.

The Institute's Gallery hours are: Monday through Saturday, ten to five, and Sunday, two to five. For further information call 266-5151.

RESEARCH BUREAU CELEBRATES FORTY-SECOND ANNIVERSARY

On March 23, 1974, the Boston Municipal Research Bureau celebrated its forty-second anniversary. On March 23, 1932, a small group of distinguished Boston civic and business leaders established the Research Bureau to study the facts and procedures affecting the expenses of the City of Boston and to suggest methods for increasing the efficiency and lessening the cost of public service.

How the Bureau Is Managed in 1974

The Bureau is a nonprofit, nonpolitical organization managed by a forty-member board of directors; a thirteen-member executive committee; and a three-man professional staff headed by the executive director.

At the annual meeting on January 22, 1974, the following officers for this year were elected: Chairman, Robert J. Spiller, President of Boston Five Cents Savings Bank; First Vice-Chairman, John Larkin Thompson, President of Massachusetts Blue Shield, Inc.; Second Vice-Chairman, George B. Rockwell, President of State Street Bank and Trust Co.; and Treasurer, Robert S. Swain, Jr., Vice-President of New England Merchants National Bank.

The Bureau's executive committee for 1974 consists of the officers, members ex-officio, plus Oliver F. Ames, Bertram A. Druker, Gordon E. Emerson, Jr., Brinley M. Hall, Robert C. Jordan, Norman B. Leventhal, Colman M. Mockler, Jr., Thomas L. P. O'Donnell and King Upton.

New directors elected at the January meeting were Eugene M. Freedman, Lawrence T. Perera, and Joseph P. Tyrrell.

The Executive Director Joseph R. Barresi, has over twenty years' experience in Boston municipal finances with the Bureau and is only the fifth executive director in the Bureau's forty-second-year history, thus attesting to the stability of the Bureau over the years.

Bureau Objectives for 1974

In 1974 the Bureau will continue to press for fulfillment of the Mayor's austerity program by measuring personnel changes and recommending how to use revenue-sharing funds. The Bureau will continue to focus attention on the property tax problem in Boston through a series of reports and work on property tax limitation. The Bureau will also continue its renewed interest in development proposals for the city. Finally, during the year, the Bureau will issue special reports covering a variety of municipal problem areas.

TROMBONE PLAYERS NEEDED

The Boston Youth Jazz Ensemble, an eighteen-piece big band, has openings for two trombone players.

For further information, contact Keith or Chris Sipes, at the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs, Room 817, New City Hall, Boston 02201, or call 722-4478.

The first United States adhesive postage stamps were issued in 1847, and in 1855 compulsory prepayment of postage was instituted. Earlier, the recipients of mail often had to pay postage upon delivery.

TAX ABATEMENT INFORMATION

Boston property taxpayers, who qualify for an abatement as a disabled veteran, blind, or elderly, will receive two forms this year; both should be returned immediately to the city.

Completion of both forms qualifies those eligible for abatements for the tax period January 1 to June 30 this year, and for the tax period July 1 to June 30 next year.

There are about 15,000 Boston taxpayers currently eligible.

Boston Assessing Commissioner Bernard F. Shadrawy explained that this year will be the only year when disabled veterans, the blind, and elderly must file two abatement forms.

"The city changes this year from the traditional January to December fiscal year to join the state and federal governments on a July to June fiscal year," said Mr. Shadrawy.

"On this onetime basis, all those eligible for special property tax abatements are requested to return immediately the two applications they are receiving.

"The sooner the applications are returned, the more assured we can be that all special abatement credits will be deducted from the appropriate tax bills," Mr. Shadrawy explained.

Mr. Shadrawy said tax bills for January 1 to June 30 of this year, which will complete the unusual eighteen-month tax period established for the changeover to a new fiscal year, will be mailed on or about April 15.

The bill will represent approximately half of the prior tax bill of 1973, with the 1974-1975 fiscal bill, based on the next established tax rate, to be mailed out next fall.

Bills are due and payable within thirty days from the mailing date. If the bill is not paid within thirty days, interest on the bill for the first six months of 1974 will accrue from April 1, at eight percent.

The first touch of spring is the Internal Revenue Service.

To: All Bureaus, Divisions, Districts, Offices, Sections, and Units.

Copies to: All Superintendents, Deputy Superintendents, and Directors.

Mention at Roll Calls.

Post until March 15, 1974.

Departmental directives dated May 30, 1973, and October 17, 1973, established procedures for communication between the various districts and the Operations Section. Specifically, paragraph two of the directive dated May 30, 1973, and paragraph one of the directive dated October 17, 1973, required that all districts and units supply the Operations Section (via the hot line) with a list of all units on street duty, this list to be provided at the beginning of each tour. This procedure has resulted in the required information being compiled in an unsatisfactory manner due to a lack of centralization.

Effective March 6, 1973, the responsibility for compiling this information will rest with the spare dispatcher on duty at the beginning of each tour in the Operations Section. He will contact the duty supervisor in each district and unit to obtain an accurate listing of all units on street duty for that tour.

IV. EDITORIAL

The following editorial was telecast from March 4 to 9, 1974, on Channel 7:

"In our busy and troubled lives we too often take for granted those persons who make invaluable contributions to the community.

"A recent letter to us captured the essence of long overdue appreciation for our fire fighters. We'd like to read you a few excerpts.

"How do you find a man that will willingly risk his life for someone else's, not just once, but for years, day after day?"

"You don't. They are a special breed and you'll find them together, working for the same cause.

"Ask yourself, would you walk into a house of flames to rescue a family or maybe just one old man you've never met?"

"If you can say yes, then ask yourself if, once inside, you saw nothing but black smoke, felt flames biting your legs, and only heard a faint cry, would you continue through, or would you run to save your own life?"

"Answer for yourself; you'll find very few braggarts in the Fire Department, for it's their job.

"We think the fire fighter deserves more credit. After all, it isn't his life he's saving, but it could be yours."

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT

Purchasing Division BUSINESS FORMS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I am in receipt of a request from the Commissioner of the Assessing Department, copy of which is attached, relative to the purchase of various billing forms, stock paper, and clause cards.

Moore Business Forms, Inc. furnished the above in 1972 to the complete satisfaction of the Assessing Department. This company has submitted informal written quotations.

In view of the foregoing, authority is requested to dispense with publicly advertising for bids, and to award a contract, without public advertisement, to Moore Business Forms, Inc. In my opinion, the best interests of the city will be served by awarding the contract in the manner requested.

The amount of the contract is not to exceed $28,985.55, net.

Respectfully yours,

KEVIN P. FEELEY,
Purchasing Agent.

AUDIO-VIDEO EQUIPMENT

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On September 29, 1972, your Honor approved a permission to award a contract to New England Film Service, Inc. for furnishing audio-video equipment to the Public Facilities Department based on the publicly advertised Proposal No. 189 publicly opened and read in this office on July 5, 1972.

The City Auditor has notified this office that he cannot approve the contract submitted to him for approval since, according to his records the Purchasing Division copy of the bid of New England Film Service, Inc. was not checked by the Auditor's office and is carried on their records as "no bid at Purchasing."

It is therefore requested that all bids on Items No. 9, 13, 16, 18, 22, and 31 on the publicly advertised Proposal No. 189 be rejected and permission be granted me to dispense with further advertising and award a contract, without public advertisement, to New England Film Service, Inc., at the prices submitted on the publicly opened and read bid of July 5, 1972. The amount of the contract is not to exceed $53,108.18, net 30 days.

It is my opinion that, in this manner, the best interests of the city will be served.

Respectfully yours,

KEVIN P. FEELEY,
Purchasing Agent.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Authority is requested to award a contract, without public advertisement, to Dennison Manufacturing Company, Copier Division for the continuation of the rental of copying machines located throughout City Hall for the period from April 1, 1973, to June 30, 1974 inclusive.

This request is made based on the award of the original contract which resulted from a survey that had been conducted and also the fact that this company offers the greatest cost advantage to the city.

The amount of the contract is not to exceed $24,000, net.

Respectfully yours,

KEVIN P. FEELEY,
Purchasing Agent.

DRUGS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On March 31, 1972, your Honor approved a permission to award contracts to several companies for furnishing drugs to the various city departments from April 1, 1972, to March 31, 1973, inclusive.

The bid of Scientific Products, Division of American Hospital Supply Corporation, was not signed on the Auditor's copy; the cash discount for Abbott Laboratories read 2 percent, time of payment, on the Auditor's copy; the bid for Picker Corporation was late at the Auditor's office and the bid of Warner Lambert was late at the Purchasing Division. Because of these discrepancies, the bids from the aforementioned companies are considered irregular.

It is therefore requested that all bids on items awarded to these companies be rejected and permission be granted me to award contracts, without further advertising, to the above mentioned companies for the items awarded to them originally. It is also requested that my original letter dated March 30, 1972, be amended to reflect these changes.

Respectfully yours,

KEVIN P. FEELEY,
Purchasing Agent.

FURNISHING DRUGS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On March 5, 1973, bids for furnishing drugs to the various city departments were publicly opened and read in this office. On March 30, 1973, your Honor approved a permission to award contracts to several companies, and subsequently approved an amendment to the original letter by deleting awards to two companies.

In the award letter it stated that several items were being evaluated and would be awarded at a later date. This evaluation has now been completed. The lowest acceptable bidders on the several items were Schering Corporation, Schering Corporation Diagnostics Division, Scott Laboratories, Inc., and Syntex Laboratories.

Permission is requested to award a contract to Scott Laboratories, Inc., in an approximate amount of $15,000, less 2 percent discount, time of payment.

The bids of Schering Corporation and Schering Corporation Diagnostics Division were received late and the Auditor's copy of the bid of Syntex Laboratories was filed in the Purchasing Division.

Inasmuch as the above companies were the lowest acceptable bidders or only bidders and the manufacturers of the items bid, it is requested that permission be granted me to reject bids received on Items 70, 183, 261, 282, 301, 303, 304, 330, 406, and 594, dispense with further advertising, and award contracts, without public advertisement, to the following companies at the prices submitted on the public bid, and at the amounts not to exceed those indicated:

Schering Corporation, $110,715.70, less 2 percent, 30 to 60 days net; Schering Corporation Diagnostics Division, $20,000, net, 30 days; Syntex Laboratories, $10,565, net.

Respectfully yours,

KEVIN P. FEELEY,
Purchasing Agent.

ASSESSING DEPARTMENT

COMPUTER PROGRAMS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your approval of the award, without advertising, of a contract to the Julian R. McDermott Corporation, for services during the period beginning January 1, 1973, and ending June 30, 1974.

1. To produce computer programs which will be used to generate the real estate tax billing for the city; the personal property tax billing; abatement certificates; exempt property listings; and records related to betterments and water/sewer added to taxes. Also, computer programs to generate all working papers and commitments related to the above.

2. To produce computer programs for the purpose of generating statistical information to volume of various types of property changes and sales in the city.

3. To participate in the origination of new work procedures, design of new forms, equipment evaluations, and training of personnel, as appropriate, for the new computer billing system of programs.

4. Specific emphasis is to be given to shortening the time required to prepare the tax billing record to three months as required by law for the eighteen months interim fiscal year; to the development of more accurate locations and mailing addresses; and to development of a computer data bank suitable for recovering information useful in city management.

The total cost for these services will not exceed fifty-three thousand dollars.

As Mr. McDermott and members of the above corporation have worked intensively with the department since 1969 in connection with work for the Redevelopment Authority; since they are thoroughly familiar with the kinds of record-keeping problems which regularly occur in connection with Boston real estate; since they are expert in the data processing area, and offer a competence in economics and real estate as well, public advertising would serve no useful purpose and in the best interests of the city we recommend approval of this request.

Very truly yours,

THEODORE V. ANZALONE,
Commissioner of Assessing.

CONSULTANT'S SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

Your permission is respectfully requested to award, without advertising, for consultant's services for a determination of the fair cash value of the personal property of the Boston Gas Company, for the City of Boston, to R. W. Beck and Associates, 40 Grove Street, Wellesley, Massachusetts 02181.

The term of this contract will be from October 1, 1973, until completion of the services. It is expected that the services will run for approximately one year from date of contract. In no event will liabilities under the contract exceed forty-five thousand dollars ($45,000).

This contract is being awarded, without publicly advertising, because of the professional skill and expertise of R. W. Beck and Associates in performing this type of service to best serve the interest of the City of Boston.

Respectfully,

THEODORE V. ANZALONE,
Commissioner of Assessing.

LAND OWNERSHIP SEMINAR

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your written authority to award a contract, without advertising, to the Boston Foundation, for the purpose of holding a seminar to examine trends in land ownership and use, and their impact on housing and income for the cities.

The seminar will be held at the Parkman Center, 33 Beacon Street, Boston, during the month of January and participants will include assessors, members of the academic community doing research in this area, representatives of neighborhood housing groups, and development companies.

The contract will be for a period from November 1, 1973, to March 1, 1974, and the total cost of the contract will not exceed $3,475. Time is allowed for the collection and research of material to be presented and the preparation of summaries and reports following the seminar.

In view of the professional and unique nature of the services to be performed, it is my opinion that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,

THEODORE V. ANZALONE,

Hub Renewal Projects Studied by HUD

An in-depth study of Boston's renewal program by an independent research firm shows that delays in completing the renewal projects can be attributed to factors beyond the control of the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

The study, done for the Department of Housing and Urban Development by Real Estate Research, Inc., shows that renewal projects "have significantly changed the visual character of the city and have been the major single factor in the creation of a better downtown climate for investment in both commercial and residential development."

But the study goes on to point out that project execution has lagged since 1967, and says the cause of delay comes from one major factor — the unrealistically low estimates on project costs in the original loan and grant applications.

According to the study, "Project execution depended upon predictable and orderly approval of amendatory budgets. In the absence of sufficient and predictable additional funding, project execution became haphazard . . . (and) an orderly sequencing of priority actions became difficult to implement."

The study also blamed delay in renewal progress to the government's moratorium on subsidized housing and the curtailment of section 312 funds for low-interest loans to rehabilitate housing in renewal areas.

Calling for more flexibility in project plans, the study said that new directions in transportation planning for Boston, and particularly the South End, made many aspects of the original plans "irrelevant."

Nevertheless, Boston's experience in land disposition for renewal areas is quite unlike the problems encountered in many other cities, the study points out. In Boston, for instance, the BRA has little difficulty in finding interested developers for a site if it is not environmentally encumbered.

BRA Director Robert T. Kenney, commenting on the study, said, "We are not pleased that the renewal program has encountered these delays, but the study does verify what we have known all along, that the projects were underfunded to begin with, and that amendatories have not been sufficient to facilitate completion of the renewal program."

"More important, an analysis of the delays in our urban renewal program has also revealed that the projects, despite difficulties, have had a positive impact on the city."

Mr. Kenney said, "Personally, it is of small comfort that an independent and objective evaluation of our program shows that delays have been caused by factors beyond our control."

"We are committed to finishing the job we started and hope that

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PROGRAM: A REPORT

Schools

More new school facilities have been built by the Public Facilities Department in the past six years than in any other comparable period of time in the history of the Boston school system. School loan orders totaling more than $263 million have been passed since 1968 in addition to funds of $66 million voted between 1962 and 1967, financing the construction of sixteen elementary schools, one middle school, two high schools, a new Boston Business School, a central school warehouse, and annexes to three other schools. This massive building program has permitted the closing of thirty archaic schools since 1963, some over a century old.

The resurgence of school construction has been highlighted by the community school concept and a new approach to school design and construction called the Boston Standard Component System Program (BOSTCO). Community schools encourage intensive use of the facilities in nonschool hours by all members of the local community, and BOSTCO enables schools to be designed and built in record time, at a significant dollar savings.

Ground was broken for four schools in January, 1974, and six more schools will begin construction the federal government will view this study as another good reason to provide the funding that will enable us to carry out the program to completion."

The 250-page study was done over a period of six months. Boston was one of twelve cities selected to be studied so that HUD could determine what has caused a slowdown in land disposition for urban renewal projects, and also discover what means could be taken to bring about closeouts of urban renewal projects.

The study involved a thorough analysis of BRA records in addition to numerous interviews with BRA staff, private developers, and individuals from urban renewal areas. Coordinator for the study at the BRA was Robert F. Walsh, Deputy Director for Community Development.

Four of Boston's seventeen renewal projects were selected for detailed study in the report. Two projects, South End and Washington Park, were predominantly residential rehabilitation projects which required 20 to 30 percent of the existing housing units. Two other projects, South Cove and Downtown-Waterfront, were related to the downtown and called for multiple land use.

ENERGY EATERS

The energy crisis may change the shape of our skylines.

Architects and construction engineers are revising their blueprints these days. The electricity required just to operate buildings consumes 50 percent of all the electricity produced in the United States.

Take the giant energy guzzler, the World Trade Center in New York. This 110-story building alone consumes as much electricity per year as a city with a population of 100,000. None of the windows open. There are no individual switches to turn off lights.

Fifty percent of all electrical energy in new buildings goes to provide artificial light, which in turn throws off excessive heat which must be cooled with more energy. Some lighting systems in new buildings can never be turned off. Sealed windows waste energy, since windows could be opened at night or in moderate temperatures when neither artificial heating nor cooling would be needed.

Glass buildings with sealed windows and centrally controlled air and lighting systems have sprung up everywhere. One of the reasons they eat up enormous amounts of energy is that glass is such a poor insulator. Now builders are emphasizing that heat loss could be cut in half if double panes of glass are used with open air space between them. Heat gain can be reduced by a new reflective metallic glass which blocks heat and light from the sun. Building at slanted angles from the sun can also prevent heat penetration from the sun.

A Rand Corporation study says that better insulation in new housing would cut heating and cooling requirements by 40 to 50 percent. Extra construction costs, says the report, could be recaptured through reduced fuel and utility bills.

To find out more about how the energy crisis is changing the shape of our lives, contact the American Lung Association of Boston. The amount of energy we use — and the pollutants it creates — is a matter of life and breath.

by the end of the year, including the new 2,500 student Campus High School.

Boston also has plans under way for the Occupation Resources Center (ORC), a new approach to occupational-vocational education designed to offer courses to all Boston high school students in the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades. Students will enroll in the ORC courses for one or perhaps two days weekly, or for a block of several consecutive weeks, while they retain their primary enrollments at their home high school. ORC courses will include exploratory work in "clusters of occupations," mini-courses in key skills and specific occupational training courses. Working relationships will be established with local business and industry for supplementary on-the-job training. Because the ORC is not strictly a vocational training school and is designed to break down barriers between vocational and academic education, it is estimated that 60 to 80 percent of all high school students will participate in its programs. (The school will handle 1,800 to 2,100 students at a time.) Courses will also be open to post-high school students.

Both the ORC and Campus High will be located within a thirty-six-acre secondary educational complex in Lower Roxbury-Madison Park. This will provide a central location for their city-wide student bodies and will permit shared use of many administrative, recreational, and educational facilities.

A new central kitchen was opened in 1973 enabling the city to deliver hot lunches daily to school children. Food is processed, cooked, packaged, frozen, and stored in a renovated one-story building — formerly a private automobile dealership — in Dorchester. Eventually the kitchen will provide lunches to children in all public schools, and will allow great savings by minimizing the kitchen equipment needed in each school.

Libraries

The main thrust of library improvements has been to replace outdated and inefficient branch libraries with modern, attractive, and conveniently located neighborhood facilities. Consideration is given to special community needs, as in the Roxbury Civic Center Library (about to begin construction), which will include a community meeting room, space for a coffee shop, and an African book section. The Roxbury Little City Hall is being included in the same building for better service to local residents. This major regional library also will back up other branches in this central section of Boston.

The Public Facilities Department has built six new neighborhood libraries and a major addition to the downtown library in Copley Square.

The addition, designed by Philip Johnson, opened in 1972, adjacent to the eighty-year-old landmark central library. The buildings are linked architecturally and functionally, and together provide the key-stone services of the library system. Some three million books are housed in the new building, including a circulating and non-circulating record collection, a picture collection, and special collections for children and young adults. Special attention is given to people with reading handicaps (large-type books), and foreign language needs. The addition provides some 500,000 square feet of space and has conference facilities as well as a large lecture hall.

STUDENT WORK EXHIBITION

The VALUE program (an open-campus program run jointly by the Institute of Contemporary Art and the Boston Public Schools), will host an open house to exhibit student work, on Thursday, April 11, from 11 A.M. to 12:30 P.M., at VALUE headquarters, 45 Myrtle Street, Boston.

The participants of the VALUE program (Visual Arts Laboratory in Urban Education), are students from Boston metropolitan area high schools engaged in studying Boston by means of video and photographic equipment. According to Boston Public Schools Superintendent William Leary in his recent address to VALUE: ". . . white people and nonwhite people can communicate in a number of ways, particularly through the arts and through activities which are shared programmatically. The VALUE program is the best evidence that people can work together — in programs that are positive, beneficial to all, and which involve a sharing of communication."

IN-SERVICE TRAINING COURSES

To All Department Heads.

This is to advise that the Institute for Governmental Services of the University of Massachusetts is offering a course to municipal employees in "Effective Supervision," which started Thursday, April 4, 1974, at its Boston campus, 100 Arlington Street, Boston, Room 622, from 4 P.M. to 6 P.M., and will be conducted each Thursday thereafter for a period of ten weeks.

As this is a federally funded program defined as "programs that deal with state and municipal employees" with no charge involved, and, as time is of the essence, it is suggested that you publicize this information throughout your department in order that supervisory personnel may take advantage of this offer on or before April 4.

To expedite registrations for this course, you are requested to forward the names of individuals interested to:

Mr. Walter Monkiewicz, Middlesex House, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, Massachusetts 01002, as speedily as possible or, due to the time limit, call Mr. Monkiewicz at 1-413-545-0001 or 0002, and submit the names of proposed registrants.

We are hopeful that the City of Boston will have a full complement of supervisory personnel attending these classes for the next ten weeks and, in this respect, your full cooperation is necessary.

Sincerely,
EDWARD T. SULLIVAN,
Director.

HUD BOOKLETS AVAILABLE

The Department of Housing and Urban Development, continuing the federal emphasis on nationwide historic preservation, has made available reprints of reports on such activities by several local redevelopment and Model Cities agencies.

The reprints are: Historic Preservation Plan (Savannah, Georgia), Prospects for the Past (Sheboygan, Wisconsin), and Revitalizing Older Houses in Charlestown (Massachusetts).

The reports are in keeping with a 1971 Presidential Executive Order, concerned with protection and enhancement of the cultural environment.

HUD, involved in support of historic preservation activities nationwide for many years, is undertaking a number of activities involving state and local governments to increase support in such projects.

The booklets show, from the viewpoints of widely different communities, how preservation can be made an integral part of urban planning and a positive force in the revitalization of America's cities and towns.

James Biddle, president of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, characterized the reprints as "outstanding examples of how enlightened urban renewal and housing authorities, with the assistance and leadership from HUD, have furthered preservation planning objectives . . . HUD is making an invaluable contribution to the preservation movement . . ."

Commenting on the booklets, HUD Secretary James T. Lynn said, "It is our hope that they will raise the sights of planners, elected officials, and neighborhood and preservation groups throughout the country in the interest of building stronger, more livable communities."

Single copies of the three reprints are available free by writing to:

Richard H. Broun, Acting Director, Community and Environmental Standards, HUD, Room 8204, Washington, D.C. 20410.

"T" AUTHORIZES PARKING LOT IMPROVEMENTS

The Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) has authorized a parking lot improvements program at twelve commuter parking lots throughout the transit district.

Approved by the Board was an engineering contract award to Fay, Spofford & Thorndike, Inc., of Boston, to prepare plans, specifications, and construction contract documents for various improvements that can be undertaken in a relatively short time in order to meet demands of expanding ridership. The contract has a ceiling of $102,000.

Scheduled for improvements are the parking lots at: Wood Island Park and Orient Heights Stations on the Blue Line; Asticou Road and Walk Hill Street, both of which serve the Forest Hills Station on the Orange Line; Mattapan, Milton, Butler Street, and Cedar Grove Stations on the Mattapan High-speed Line; Ashmont and Kendall Stations on the Red Line; and Arlington Heights which is used by park-and-ride bus commuters. The Lechmere lot on the Green Line will also be improved.

The proposed improvements include: regrading and repaving, new or improved drainage systems, security fencing, control houses, new signs, pavement markings, parking bumpers, and new lighting systems.

The parking lot improvements program is part of the Authority's $11,899,640 Program for Plant Improvements — Phase II, for which the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA), Department of Transportation, approved a two-thirds grant of $7,933,092 in June, 1973.

BOSTON 200 SEEKS BIDS FOR OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER

Proposals for Boston 200's official newspaper — which will be published beginning January, 1975, offering detailed coverage of Boston bicentennial events — are currently being solicited by Boston 200, the city's official bicentennial organization.

The newspaper, aimed at Boston residents and the fifteen million visitors expected during the bicentennial, will also include facts on the Boston 200 trail and exhibit systems, historic pieces relating to Boston in the Revolutionary era, news of national bicentennial planning, and features on people involved in preserving or exploring Boston history.

"We are asking all bidders to consider the most effective publication for keeping Boston residents and visitors informed about the bicentennial," said Lewis A. Carter, Jr., director of public relations and advertising for Boston 200. "In evaluating proposals, we will be looking for a basic understanding of Boston, and the Boston 200 program, financial capability, efficiency, royalties offered, and previous performance of the organization under consideration."

Requests for proposals are available from the Boston 200 Corporation, Room 602, Boston City Hall. Proposals must be submitted no later than 5 P.M., Wednesday, May 1.

FOOD PRICES OUT OF SIGHT

The Boston Consumers Council has reported the findings of a survey which indicated that no supermarket chain in Boston is consistently less expensive than any other.

The survey shows that the prices of milk, butter, bread, coffee, and other common items have risen in the past year at all stores.

The Consumers Council, a division of Mayor White's office, visited a total of nineteen supermarkets that represent the six major food chains serving the City of Boston.

A twenty-two-item market basket of commonly purchased items showed price increases from 15.9 percent to 20.1 percent over what they were just one year ago.

Richard A. Borten, Executive Director of the Consumers Council said, "Each time we have surveyed supermarket prices, we have found a different chain to have the lowest total price — and it is clear that there is very little difference between prices at such chains as A & P, Star, First National, Capitol, Purity Supreme, and Stop & Shop."

Mr. Borten added, "This information doesn't provide much consolation to the average consumer who keeps paying a larger and larger share of his income just to put basic food on the kitchen table."

MATTAPAN SQUARE TO BE REVITALIZED

Through the combined efforts of several city agencies and local citizen groups, Mayor Kevin White has launched a massive $200,000 revitalization program for Mattapan Square.

The program designed to preserve the neighborhood area, will bring new street lights, roadway improvements, street furniture, trees, and parking improvements.

"Mattapan Square is an important neighborhood business area, and through the combined efforts of the city and local residents, we hope to assure that it will remain an important influence for neighborhood stability in the years to come," the Mayor said.

"The preservation and revitalization of this area is important not only for the residents of the area, but for the future of the city as a whole," he said.

"Mattapan has a future, and the city is committed to playing an important role in that future," the Mayor said.

The city project will focus on three areas:

Four landscaped plots to extend from sidewalks on each side of Blue Hill Avenue, reducing street width, improving pedestrian access, and defining the shopping area;

New landscaped and lighted ways to the stores from the River Street Municipal Parking lot and from the Cummins Highway area; and

New yellow mercury vapor lamps along Blue Hill Avenue to provide brighter lighting in the shopping area.

PATRIOTS' DAY

Less than a month after Edmund Burke urged Parliament to keep the peace, Great Britain and its American colonists were at war. The first shots of the American Revolution were fired at Lexington, Massachusetts, where British troops marching toward Concord attacked the American minutemen.

Briefly, this is how the fighting started. At Boston, British General Gage secretly ordered soldiers to destroy war materials which the colonists had stored at nearby Concord. He also commanded his men to seize Samuel Adams and John Hancock, two members of the Massachusetts Committee of Correspondence, who were staying in Lexington.

However, when General Gage's secret was discovered on the night of April 18, 1775, three colonists, Paul Revere, William Dawes, and Dr. Samuel Prescott, rode through the towns and villages west of Boston, warning the people that the "British were coming," and called the minutemen to arms.

Paul Revere roused Adams and Hancock at Lexington, and they fled from the town. On the westward road both Revere and Dawes got by the British patrols, but only Prescott got through to warn the Concord residents. At dawn on April 19, 1775, the British troops marched through Lexington toward Concord.

Minutemen faced them on the village green at Lexington, but did not attempt to halt their march. Nevertheless, the British fired at the minutemen, and eight Americans were killed.

At Concord the British soldiers destroyed the colonists' supplies, but now the minutemen were ready. At North Bridge, in Concord, a battle began which will be remembered in our country's history. There approximately 450 minutemen met the British force, and the battle ensued.

Finally the enemy broke ranks and hastily retreated. All the way back to Boston the battle raged. From behind stone walls, fences, and trees, colonists from the towns along the way fired at the retreating British soldiers. At sunset the weary British column reached Boston at last. Of the 700 soldiers who set out that morning 273 were killed, wounded, or captured. The war with the British had begun!

MUSEUM OF SCIENCE EXTENDS VISITING HOURS

Boston's Museum of Science announces a return to regular hours which had been curtailed since December to conserve energy.

Effective immediately, the Museum will be open Monday through Saturday, 10 to 5, Friday night to 10, and Sunday, 11 to 5.

The previous early closing Monday through Thursday is no longer considered necessary in view of the government's relaxing of stringent energy restrictions and more availability of fuel.

The Museum will continue, however, to operate the heating and ventilating equipment in accordance with the FEO, which requires that temperature be maintained ten degrees below previous setting and air-conditioned spaces no lower than seventy-eight degrees. It will also retain several other measures adopted last fall to save energy.

Buildings and Grounds Superintendent Edward H. Konetchy estimates the measures effected a 35 percent saving from October through February, over the same period last year.

VI. COMMENDATION

Fire Fighter Leo J. Mullin of Ladder Company 14 is hereby commended for responding to and assisting in company operations at Box 5164, on March 13, 1974, while he was off duty. He remained on duty and responded with the company when two members were injured.

VII. HIGH COMMENDATIONS

At 2013 hours, March 1, 1974, Engine Company 14 responded on a still alarm to Jamaica Plain for an automobile in the water with persons reportedly in the vehicle. Upon arrival the lights on the vehicle could be seen under the water about twenty feet from shore.

Without hesitation, Fire Fighter Charles F. Lane removed his protective clothing, fastened a signal line to his waist, proceeded into the icy water, and made one dive to see if anyone was in the car. Fire Fighter Michael C. Williams proceeded into the water to assist in the search, but on arriving at the car, was only able to assist Fire Fighter Lane to return to the shore. Both men by this time were severely chilled by the extremely cold water. Both men were removed to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and treated for exposure, after which they returned to duty.

Since this rescue attempt was undertaken with complete disregard for the danger and discomfort involved, the Fire

Commissioner is pleased to highly commend Fire Fighters Charles F. Lane and Michael C. Williams of Engine Company 14 for their intrepidity.

VIII. LETTER OF APPRECIATION

The following letter is published for the information of the department:

"February 21, 1974.

DEAR COMMISSIONER KELLY,

We are most appreciative of the speedy response and skillful action of the Fire Department in dealing with our facility, located at 79 Chandler Street. This fire occurred between 2 A.M. and 3 A.M., on the morning of February 18. I assume it was the company located at the corner of Berkeley Street and Columbus Avenue, and I hope you will pass on our thanks to them.

Without their extraordinary speed and skill the fire would shortly have destroyed the whole building. We are most grateful that they were able to confine the blaze to the one room in which it started.

Sincerely,

MASS. HALF-WAY HOUSES, INC.,
LOWELL L. ERICKSON, President."

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

COMMERCE AND MANPOWER

TRAINING PROGRAM

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Department of Labor requires us to make a concerted effort to place present Emergency Employment Act participants into unsubsidized employment in private industry. Therefore, as Director of Commerce and Manpower, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and awaiting bids, and award a contract for a training program to Data Education, Inc., of Waltham for $7,124.94 maximum. The contractor will develop expertise in staff trainers in job counseling and training program planning, and will develop training plans for E.E.A. participants through September, 1972.

The subject services are of a highly special and unique character and, for this reason, it is felt that a public solicitation for bids for these services would serve no useful purpose. The sole source of funding is derived from the Federal Emergency Employment Act Program with no financial assistance from the City of Boston.

Respectfully,

GERALD W. BUSH,
Director.

FIRE DEPARTMENT FIRE EQUIPMENT REPAIR

DEAR SIR:

I respectfully request your written permission to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record in amending the contract with Woodward's Spring Shop, Inc., 111 McGrath Highway, Quincy, for the emergency repairs of fire equipment and vehicles which require specialized skills by amending the original contract price in the amount of $15,000. The contract, Proposal 588, then shall not exceed $24,000.

This increase in the original contract price of $9,000 is necessary due to the amount of emergency repairs required during the life of this contract which ends March 31, 1973.

It is my opinion that public advertising is not appropriate under the circumstances and the contract with Woodward's Spring Shop, Inc., should be amended.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES H. KELLY,
Fire Commissioner.

HEALTH AND HOSPITALS DEPARTMENT RADIOISOTOPE SCANNER

DEAR SIR:

At a meeting of the Board of Health and Hospitals on May 2, 1973, it was voted to renew the city's contract, without advertising, with Lepeska Leasing Company, 301 East Main Street, Barrington, Illinois, for the leasing of an Ohio Nuclear Model 84FD Dual 5-inch Crystal Radioisotope Scanner for use in the Radiology Division at Boston City Hospital, for the period April 1, 1973, through December 31, 1973, in an amount not to exceed $4,051.50.

Since the Radioisotope Scanner is specially suited to the needs of the Radiology Department in the radioisotope diagnostic area, and inasmuch as the cost of such rental from Lepeska Leasing Company is reasonable, it is felt that no benefit will accrue to the city by publicly advertising for bids.

Your permission is respectfully requested to award this contract to the Lepeska Company under the terms stated above.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS E. GUINEY,
Executive Director.

MODEL CITY ADMINISTRATION

LANGUAGE TUTORING

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I refer to my letter of September 29, 1971, wherein I requested and you approved on November 29, 1971, the award of a contract to La Alianza Hispana de Dorchester y Dorchester y Roxbury, Inc. (now officially called La Alianza Hispana, Inc.), a nonprofit corporation with offices at 655 Dudley Street, Dorchester, Massachusetts. The contract award referenced above was in an amount of $70,000, under funds provided by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Under the terms of the original contract La Alianza carried out the Mothers Tutoring Mothers component of the Model Cities program. The project's purpose is to develop English-speaking proficiency of Spanish-speaking adults.

We now request Your Honor's written authority to dispense with advertising in order that we might award a contract in the amount of $30,000 to La Alianza Hispana, Inc., to continue to carry out the Mothers Tutoring Mothers program. The contract will be funded by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The program will operate from March 8, 1973, through September 30, 1973.

La Alianza Hispana, Inc., successfully operated the program under the contract originally awarded.

For the foregoing reasons, we request that the contract be dispensed from being advertised in the City Record.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

DRUG REHABILITATION SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I refer to my letters to you of November 24, 1969, July 23, 1970, September 14, 1971, and June 20, 1972, in which, and pursuant to which, you granted authority to award contracts without advertising, to For Individuals Recovering Sound Thinking, Inc. (FIRST), for drug rehabilitation services in the Model City Neighborhood in the Four Action Year Plans.

Accordingly, I hereby request authority to dispense with advertising in connection with the award of a contract for drug rehabilitation services to FIRST, 167 Centre Street, Roxbury, Massachusetts, in an amount not to exceed twenty-three thousand dollars ($23,000). The reasons for not inviting bids by advertisement with respect to this contract are the uniqueness of the services provided by FIRST and the necessity of a continuing relationship with FIRST. The period of performance of the proposed contract will be August 1, 1973, through November 30, 1973.

Should there be any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Respectfully,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

ADULT EDUCATION PROGRAM

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City Agency, I hereby request your approval to award a contract for services in an amount not to exceed fourteen thousand, seven hundred sixty-six dollars ($14,766), to the Higher Education Program, Inc., a nonprofit corporation with offices at 460 Blue Hill Avenue, Roxbury, Massachusetts, for conducting an adult education program.

The Higher Education Program, Inc., has the staff and personnel which has had successful experience and background in operating and advertising an adult education program. It shall make available to adult residents of the Model Neighborhood, an adult education program which will offer educational studies in the areas of basic skill development, high school equivalency exam preparation, and counselling services.

The program to be conducted has evidenced its value to adult residents of this community who have availed themselves of this educational opportunity. The awarding of this contract to the Higher Education Program, Inc., will insure the continued success of a developed adult education program for the Model Neighborhood area.

Classes will be conducted in facilities located at 460 Blue Hill Avenue, Roxbury. This site will facilitate community accessibility. The funds to be provided under the contract will be utilized to cover the cost of salaries, space, equipment, overhead, and program expenses.

This contract will be effective during the period of August 1, 1973, through November 30, 1973.

It is, therefore, requested that notice of this contract be dispensed from public advertising in the City Record.

Sincerely,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

PROGRAMS FOR ELDERLY

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As Administrator of the Model City Agency, I hereby request your approval to award a contract, without advertising, to the Council of Elders, Inc., a nonprofit corporation with offices at 280 Martin Luther King Boulevard, Roxbury, Massachusetts, in an amount not to exceed fifty-seven thousand, seven hundred thirty-four dollars ($57,734), for purposes of operating a program for the elderly of the Model Neighborhood area.

The Council of Elders will administer and operate a comprehensive set of programs for the elderly in the Model Neighborhood area, including a nursing home project, and operation of senior action centers which shall provide focus for educational, social, and recreational activity.

The proposed contract will include funds for the salaries of approximately twenty-one (21) regular employees.

The program will be effective from August 1, 1973, through November 30, 1973.

The reasons for not inviting bids by advertisement are the uniqueness of the services provided by the Council and the necessity of a continuing relationship with the Council of Elders, Inc.

For the foregoing reasons, advertising in the City Record would be inappropriate.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

HOUSING COUNSELLING

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As Model City Administrator, I hereby request your written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract not to exceed ten thousand dollars ($10,000), to the Roxbury Multi-Service Center, Inc. (the Contractor), a nonprofit corporation with offices located at 317 Blue Hill Avenue, Roxbury, Massachusetts. The period of performance shall be from August 1, 1973, through November 30, 1973.

The contract is to provide funds for the continuation of a housing counselling services program funded under four prior contracts with the Model City Agency. Under the proposed contract, the Contractor shall provide renter counselling and homeownership counselling services in the Model Neighborhood. Those services shall include assisting clients in locating and renting adequate dwelling units, assisting clients in pursuing code enforcement, assisting families in determining whether homeownership is a feasible answer to their housing needs, assisting families seeking to buy a house, in finding a home, obtaining a mortgage, and dealing with related problems of home purchase and ownership.

The Contractor is recommended to carry out the program because first, it is a local organization with unique expertise in community housing counselling services; second, it is continuing a valuable program being satisfactorily carried out under a prior contract with the Model City Agency.

Award of this contract is consistent with the city's grant agreement with the Department of Housing and Urban Development, which provides the maximum opportunities for employing local residents in connection with all programs funded by the Model City Agency.

For the aforementioned reasons, it is requested that the notice requirement of advertising in the City Record be waived.

Respectfully,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

CITIZEN EVALUATION PROGRAM

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City Agency, I hereby request your approval to award a contract, without advertising, to the Boston Model Neighborhood Board, Inc., with offices located at 333 Dudley Street, Roxbury, Massachusetts, in an amount not to exceed $10,347, to carry out a Comprehensive Citizen Evaluation Program, which is a component of the Model City Demonstration Program. The period of performance shall be from August 1, 1973, through November 30, 1973.

The purpose of the program will be to monitor, record, and evaluate activities and the performance of the contractors selected by the Administrator to provide services for Model Neighborhood Area residents. The board will furthermore evaluate such priority projects and program objectives relating to the area as it may determine. Also, site investigation of existing Model City funded projects will be made. The Board, in conjunction with the evaluation staff of the Model City Agency, shall conduct ongoing evaluation of contractors' performances.

The Boston Model Neighborhood Board, Inc. has been selected to carry out the Citizen Evaluation Program pursuant to the guidelines of the City Demonstration Fourth-Year Program as was submitted to and approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The Fifth-Action Year, which commences on August 1, 1973, specifically provided for the Board to carry out each of the above projects and the City Council, by its approval of the Fourth-Year Programs, has confirmed the same.

For the foregoing reasons as well as the fact that the Board has successfully carried out the aforementioned program for the preceding four years, I hereby request authority to dispense with advertising in connection with the award of the contract to the Model Neighborhood Board, Inc.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

Mayor Urges: Replace Racial Imbalance Law

Statement of Mayor White Prepared for Delivery at the Legislative Hearing on the Racial Imbalance Law, April 3, 1974.

I come before you today in two capacities:

First, as a citizen of Boston, to restate my position of last year, and to reaffirm my commitment to replacing an unworkable law with a realistic three-part Legislative program.

As Mayor, my power is limited, but my concern is not, and for that reason, I stand before you today in my first capacity as a citizen.

This is not a new problem . . . these are not unfamiliar faces . . . and today we will hear not unpredictable positions.

In fact, this is an old problem. My interest and involvement in this issue has been constant for the past six years, and my position remains basically unchanged.

In 1968, before this body, it was Louise Day Hicks, Ruth Batson, and Kevin White who testified.

I've come before you time and time again. Last year I issued a lengthy twenty-two-page position paper. Today, exactly twelve months later, I will leave copies of that paper for the Committee, because my position today is just what it was one year ago.

Let me briefly summarize that position:

First: I am for integration and I am against forced busing, and they are not mutually exclusive.

Second: I am for neither repeal nor retention of the Racial Imbalance Law — I am for its replacement.

The Racial Imbalance Law was intended to eliminate discrimination based on race, and yet, it is a law that reinforces discrimination based on class.

The law was intended to equalize racial imbalance, and yet, it is a law that encourages inequality and separation between a city with concentrated problems and a suburban area abundant with resources.

It is a law that is punitive in its approach and, in my opinion, fatally flawed because it is based more on the principle of coercion than on the spirit of cooperation.

It is, in short, a law which imposes defective means to achieve a worthwhile goal. For those reasons, it should not be rejected summarily, not repealed automatically, rather, it should be replaced.

Third: As a citizen, I have advocated time and time again, and I repeat again today, that the Racial Imbalance Law should be replaced by legislation which guarantees equality of educational opportunity on a metropolitan basis.

Unless three simple legislative steps are taken, our shared goals will not be implemented, and I will continue to advocate retention of the law itself.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PROGRAM: A REPORT

Public Safety and Law Enforcement

New Police and Fire Department facilities have been constructed by the Public Facilities Department throughout the city to replace outdated buildings and to help provide more efficient and effective services. Five fire stations and four police stations have been opened since 1968, including the award-winning renovation of the Back Bay fire station, and plans are under way for six more Fire Department facilities.

One of these projects, Battery Wharf fire station, will transform an abandoned waterfront coal bin into a new home for both the harbor and the local land fire companies. The renovated structure will also allow 12,000 square feet for commercial office space, turning a useless eyesore into an attractive building that is both a needed new public facility and an addition to the city's tax roll.

The Roxbury Civic Center courthouse replaces an outdated, 130-year-old building and houses six courtrooms and judicial research library facilities. The new courthouse is part of a $5 million civic center complex in the historic center of Dudley Station, including a police station and the Roxbury Civic Center Library.

Racial Imbalance Law . .

The Legislature tomorrow can do the following three things:

One: Fund METCO. Fund it adequately and fully, so that every child in this city, black or white, can attend a suburban school on a voluntary basis, if that is the wish of his or her parents.

Two: Increase state funding of Boston's school system. Not only to give our schools needed resources, but to equalize financing between the central city and its wealthy suburban neighbors, and to eliminate the equation which bases the quality of a child's education on the wealth of his community.

Three: Legislate an end to unequal distribution of resources and opportunities within the city, so that black parents can have a legal guarantee of equity for their children.

None of these steps has been taken. All of them could be taken immediately and without delay.

So as a citizen, I come to restate my position of the past. That position is clear and on the record. This will not be the first time I have appeared before you to discuss this law or to state my position for its replacement. But it will be my last.

I come before you today in a second capacity, as Chief Executive of this great city, the capital of this Commonwealth. I come before you in that capacity out of growing apprehension and with a sense of outrage — apprehension at seeing this city, its people, and its proud neighborhoods polarized by race and paralyzed by fear — and outrage at those who disguise their personal ambition in the cloak of moral absolutes, and deceive their followers with half-truths and full falsehoods.

Today, in my second capacity, as Mayor, I am appealing to the Legislature and to all who care about or are affected by this controversy to act forthrightly, with honesty, with courage, and in a spirit of co-operation.

Specifically, as Mayor, I appeal to the reason and the decency of all concerned to join together, no matter what personal positions separate us, to follow three basic guidelines for discussion and action:

First: Give us an answer. I call upon the Legislature to act quickly and to act decisively. Don't drag out the discussion or postpone your deliberations. Don't drag the children and parents of this city across the political landscape so that every politician can use the issue to run for public office.

The time for debate and agonized rethinking is long since past. The Legislature today knows whether it will repeal the law, and the Governor today knows whether he will veto the repeal. So please don't tell us that you are going to "rethink" the problem.

The School Committee has postponed the inevitable and deceived the public for nine long years . . . and the parents of this city won't tolerate indecision or equivocation from the Legislature for nine more days.

Second: Let us have the determination to air our opinions, but let us also have the courage to state and hear the truth.

To those here in the auditorium today and to the thousands outside who have marched in support of repeal, I want you to understand one hard fact:

If the Imbalance Law is repealed, and nothing is substituted in its place, the probable result will be a federal court order requiring more than three times as many children to be bused — 15 percent or 50 percent.

Those are the alternatives. They are also the facts — hard and irrefutable — and no boos for the Mayor or catcalls from the floor will change, can affect, or will postpone their implementation.

You might not like what you hear, but it is the Mayor's obligation to inform.

It was one of your colleagues here in the Legislature who two years ago was defeated because he spoke the truth. He said there would be no busing out of East Boston.

Two days ago, he was vindicated. There will, in fact, be no busing out of East Boston.

If this is the price of speaking the truth, then those in public office (like myself) should be prepared for the consequences, and not deterred from our responsibilities.

Third: Let us together appeal for depolarization and for greater understanding between people and neighborhoods, between those here today, and those who will speak tomorrow.

The supporters of the law must understand that the overwhelming majority of the thousands of people here today are not bigots and are not here because they oppose integration. Supporters of the law must be made to understand that those here today oppose a law which is clearly unworkable, poorly designed, punitive in approach, and based on coercion. They share a legitimate concern for quality education and for the safety of their children.

Those who favor repeal of the law, must understand that those who will gather tomorrow share a concern for their children for their safety, and for their future.

But together we must defuse the rising tension in this city based on race, and together reaffirm both goals: integration and quality education. The principles on which the law is based can be defended as moral absolutes — but the law itself cannot.

There are no simple or easy answers . . . and we have made errors, but as we grope and we stumble to find our solution, let us remember the words of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt:

Better a government that errs in the spirit of charity (and compassion) . . . than a government frozen in the ice of its own indifference.

MAYOR DECRIES TENANT HARASSMENT

Statement of Mayor Kevin H. White.

An outrageous series of incidents of harassment and illegal maneuvering is taking place in the Fenway.

A landlord on Peterborough and Queensberry Streets is moving to evict more than 350 tenants in blatant disregard for law or human decency.

Heat has been shut off indiscriminately through several nights of subfreezing temperatures. The lack of legal sophistication of elderly tenants has been played upon to create a situation of near panic.

For my part, this malicious ridicule of tenants' rights stops as of this moment. The Rent Control Law simply does not allow it.

I have instructed the Rent Control Administration to file criminal charges against the landlord, and also to enjoin the landlord from further harassment of these tenants.

I fought for rent control to protect tenants from unscrupulous landlords, and the tenants will be protected in this incredible instance.

In taking the oath of office more than six years ago, I made a commitment that Boston would be a decent, livable city for all its residents, and, in particular, for its tens of thousands of elderly residents.

That commitment will be kept, and this conniving will be stopped.

Capital Improvements . .

Other proposed law enforcement facility improvements have been subject to extensive cost effectiveness and feasibility studies, with major construction now expected to begin within the next two years.

Improvements to the Deer Island Correctional Facility and construction of a replacement for the Charles Street Jail are in the planning stages. Current plans call for construction of a new jail on Deer Island, enabling recreational, medical, educational, and other facilities to be used jointly by the jail and the correctional facility. Plans for renovating the Deer Island structures are being formulated in tandem with the jail, but the scope of the project will be determined by the amount of federal and state funding available.

A space-use and feasibility study of the old and new Suffolk County Court Houses at Pemberton Square has recommended retaining and renovating both buildings, with the possible creation of 160,000 additional square feet of office and courthouse space, while preserving the architecture of the older building, built in 1894.

Health and Hospitals

In 1968 the Public Facilities Department began work on a multimillion-dollar construction and modernization program at Boston City Hospital (BCH). The full project will be completed in 1975 and will cost over $56 million.

Major improvements include a twenty-eight-story nurses residence, a six-story nurses educational building, and a twelve-story (100 apartments) doctors residence. A new five-story building is being built over Massachusetts Avenue, containing the most modern outpatient facility in New England, increasing present outpatient capacity fourfold, and including a day care center and playground for visitors, as well as 8,000 square feet of commercial space. New emergency care facilities have been built and an $8-million renovation program has improved virtually every building on the hospital site. The project has been funded through city bond issues with only $3.4 million from the federal government.

At the Long Island Chronic Disease Hospital, the Public Facilities Department has completed a $1,800,000 Dietary Center, including a new cafeteria and kitchen. Several buildings at the Mattapan Chronic Disease Hospital have been renovated, and additional improvements are planned for that facility.

Neighborhood health clinics have been planned throughout the city in cooperation with neighborhood planning groups, and with sponsorship from the areas' private hospitals and medical schools. One clinic is presently under construction in Dorchester, and four more will be under construction in 1974 — two as part of Community School projects, and two as part of Model Cities Family Life Centers.

LEARN TO SWIM

Starting the week of April 15, the Boston Parks and Recreation Department will offer swimming lessons for beginners, advanced beginners, and intermediate swimmers at the Healy Pool in Roslindale.

Parks Commissioner Anthony Forgione stressed the safety, as well as the recreational value of swimming.

"Anyone who enjoys boating or other water sports should know how to swim for his own safety and the safety of others," Mr. Forgione said. "Of course, that is not to overlook the fact that swimming is excellent exercise and enjoyable recreation for all ages."

Beginners will meet on Monday and Wednesday, from 4 P.M. to 5 P.M. Advanced beginners will meet on Tuesday and Thursday, from 6 P.M. to 7 P.M., and intermediate swimmers will meet on Wednesday, from 6 P.M. to 7 P.M., and on Thursday, from 4 P.M. to 5 P.M.

The Healy Pool is located at Healy Field, 160 Florence Street, Roslindale. For more information, call 327-1159.

CULTURAL AFFAIRS EXHIBIT

The Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs and the Exxon Corporation are sponsoring a daily exhibition of contemporary Puerto Rican prints from the Exxon collection and works of six local Hispanic artists, which began on Tuesday, April 2, at Boston City Hall's fifth floor gallery.

The exhibit will be at City Hall until April 25, 1974.

HINSDALE P. O., AD INFINITUM

When Mrs. Nadia Kondrat unlocks the Hinsdale, New Hampshire, post office each morning, she opens the door on 158 years of history.

One day this year the venerable two-story wood-frame building on Main Street will open for the 50,000th time. It is, by all accounts, the oldest continuously operated post office in the United States.

"I've always said this place was a museum," says Mrs. Kondrat, who in 1973 became only the eleventh postmaster in the town's history.

The 3,000 people of Hinsdale, a paper mill town in the scenic Connecticut River Valley of southwest New Hampshire, take their post office in stride, but visitors are impressed.

In its more than a century-and-a-half of life, the post office has undergone several refurbishings. The present brown and white paint was put on twenty years ago for Hinsdale's bicentennial celebration. Inside, new light fixtures and walls painted "government green" give the post office an atmosphere of cozy efficiency.

Throughout the years, Hinsdale's post office has provided a forum for informal daily town meetings — the post office lobby. Hinsdale has no home delivery of mail so townspeople meet at the post office each morning to pick it up and also pass the time of day with neighbors.

"That's the Chamber of Commerce out there," says Mrs. Ellen Stephens, a postal clerk, pointing to the lobby. "Just working here we hear all the rumors, all the really good news. We don't have a newspaper so this is how people find out what's going on."

Some things don't change. Since 1816 — longer than any similar office in the United States — the Hinsdale, New Hampshire, post office has sold stamps, moved the mail, and provided a community meeting place.

IN YOUR EASTER BONNET

Boston Commissioner of Parks and Recreation Anthony Forgione invited families from every neighborhood of the city to join in a revival of the traditional Easter Parade which was held on Easter Sunday.

"Easter Sunday has always been a day for families to spend together. After church services on Easter morning, I invited families from all over Boston to join us in a promenade through some of the most beautiful and historic of the city's parks," Mr. Forgione said.

The April 14 parade began at the corner of Tremont and Park Streets at 11:30 A.M. It made its way through the Common, across the Public Garden bridge, and along the Commonwealth Avenue Mall to Dartmouth Street, ending at Copley Square at 12:30 P.M.

A band, playing springtime favorites, accompanied the strollers on the parade route, providing music at Copley Square where Easter bunnies distributed candy and balloons to the children.

The parks were in fine condition for the occasion. The Common, Public Garden, and Commonwealth Avenue Mall have all been included in the Park Department's extensive clean-up and improvement program this winter.

"Now that warm weather is here, people will be able to see how much progress our maintenance division has made in restoring these areas to their deserved beauty," Mr. Forgione said.

"I hope that everyone who enjoys these parks from now on will respect our maintenance efforts and will do his part to keep them in good condition."

PHOTOGRAPHERS, SNAP TO IT

A photography event sponsored by the Institute of Contemporary Art will take place April 15 through May 3, in a trailer truck parked in four different locations around Boston.

The truck, open daily from 10 to 5, will be located at the following places: April 15 to 18, Prudential Center at Huntington Avenue; April 19 to 22, to be announced; April 23 to 30, at City Hall Plaza (Government Center); and May 1 to 3, at Prudential Center, on Boylston Street.

Staged by artist Phillips Simkin, the event enables the public to enter the truck, take home a cardboard camera, shoot one picture, and send the camera back to the Institute (955 Boylston Street, Boston) for development. All photographs returned to the ICA will be developed and placed on view there during the show. A catalogue will be printed of the photographs in the exhibit and mailed back to all participants to document this exhibition of art "for the people, by the people."

TWO APPOINTMENTS AT ABCD

Robert M. Coard, Executive Director of Action for Boston Community Development, Inc. (ABCD), Boston's official antipoverty agency, has announced two appointments.

Jose D. Jiminez will direct the Youth Affairs Department of ABCD. Mr. Jiminez formerly worked for Boston's Manpower and Commerce Department and is a Spanish affairs specialist.

Angel M. Dominguez will be deputy director of programs. He was a resource mobilizer and planner for the New England Farm Workers' Council and a consultant for Interstate Research Associates (IRA), Washington, D. C.

Americans today receive an average of 428 pieces of mail each annually, contrasted with six letters a year in 1847.

THE DEVIL YOU SAY

Witches and the devil in Massachusetts are the subjects of two of the most recent books by Marion L. Starkey, the author who will appear at the Boston Public Library's special National Library Week program for senior citizens. Miss Starkey may well spellbind her audience with the events which led to the famous Salem trials. The program has been scheduled for the Library's Never Too Late Group on Thursday, April 25, at 2 P.M. All interested adults are invited to attend free of charge.

The title of Miss Starkey's talk, "The Devil in Massachusetts," has been taken directly from the earlier of two books. Her most recent work, "Visionary Girls," weaves a tale not only of the madness which actually gripped Salem of 1692, but views the social, political, and psychological makeup of the town.

In her latest book on Salem Miss Starkey has written a gripping story with an unbelievable cast of characters weaving a nightmare based on one that actually occurred near Boston. Her talk at the Library will be about her books on Salem and the young hysterical girls who influenced sober adults to decide in favor of the capital punishment of their day — execution by fire — for "some of the most righteous among" the adult women.

"YOUR EGO IN BLOOM"

*Sometime when you're feeling important,
Sometime when your ego's in bloom,
Sometime when you take it for granted,
You're the best qualified in the room,
Sometime when you feel that your going,
Would leave an unfillable hole,
Just follow this simple instruction
And see how it humbles your soul.
Take a bucket and fill it with water;
Put your hand in it up to the wrist.
Pull it out, and the hole that's remaining
Is a measure of how much you'll be missed.
You may splash all you wish when you enter,
You may stir up the water galore,
But stop — and you'll find in a minute
It looks quite the same as before.
The moral in this quaint example
Is just do the best you can.
Be proud of yourself, but remember,
There's no indispensable man.*

Effective Thursday, March 21, 1974, at 8 A.M., the following Motor Pool changes will be enacted:

COURT TRANSPORTATION

Motor pool vehicles will no longer be checked out to officers for court appearances. Headquarters personnel who must appear in court will report to the front desk of the Headquarters building by 8:30 A.M., Monday through Friday. A cadet will transport them to the court of their choice. Personnel returning to Headquarters are requested to contact the desk officer at extension 233-234, and leave their name, unit, and court location. A cadet will then be dispatched to return them to Headquarters.

AUTHORIZATION FORMS

Because of the great demand for motor pool vehicles, Headquarters personnel will be required to submit an authorization form, signed by their superior officer or immediate supervisor, to the desk officer prior to checking out a car. These forms are available at the front desk of the Headquarters building.

ASSIGNED PARKING SPACES

All personnel are reminded that there is a parking lot containing a reserved parking space for each motor pool vehicle. The black bold-faced number at the corner of the key ring designates the assigned parking area. Operators are instructed to park all vehicles in the designated parking space. This will enable other operators to quickly locate the vehicle.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

MODEL CITY ADMINISTRATION LEASING CERTAIN PREMISES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City Administration, I hereby respectfully request your Honor's written authority to dispense with public advertising in the City Record, in leasing certain premises which I deem necessary and convenient to provide space to operate an interim Family Life Center under a grant contract between the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the City of Boston, Model City Administration.

The premises are to be leased from the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Boston. Included in the proposed lease is the entire building and adjacent land known as, and located at, 39 Brookside Avenue, in the district of Jamaica Plain, Boston, Massachusetts, containing approximately six thousand (6,000) square feet of net usable space.

The term of the lease shall be for twelve months, from September 1, 1972, to August 31, 1973. Rent will be paid by the city at the rate of four hundred and fifty-nine dollars ($459) per month. The space is rented for a maximum of $5,508 for the twelve-month term.

Since these facilities are both adequate and convenient, it is believed that public advertising would be of no usefulness in this instance.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

SERVICES TO SPANISH-SPEAKING

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City Agency, I hereby request the authority to dispense with advertising in connection with the award of a contract in an amount not to exceed eighty thousand six hundred forty-five dollars ($80,645), to La Alianza Hispana, Inc. (the "Alliance"), a Massachusetts nonprofit corporation having its principal office at 655 Dudley Street, Dorchester, Massachusetts, for a comprehensive program of social, educational, and economic development services for Spanish-speaking residents of the Model City neighborhood.

The proposed contract for the program will provide for social services to assist with problems concerning housing, employment, legal, and other personal and family problems, a program to instruct Spanish-speaking residents in reading and writing the Spanish language, a public school liaison program which will interpret public school requirements and procedures to Spanish-speaking residents, and make the public school system aware of the special needs of the Spanish-speaking children, a youth cultural arts and recreation program, services and assistance with housing problems, and assistance to businesses in the Model City Neighborhood owned or controlled by Spanish-speaking residents.

Approximately twenty-three employees of the Alliance will be employed and compensated under the contract, including an executive director, an economic development specialist, social services workers, housing workers, an education coordinator, a public school liaison, and office staff. The contract will also include funds for accounting services, staff training, equipment, and supplies, rental of space and utilities. The contract will be effective as of August 1, 1973, and will terminate November 30, 1973.

The reason for not inviting bids by advertisement with respect to this contract are the special qualifications for serving Spanish-speaking residents of the Model City neighborhood which are possessed by the contractor and the necessity of a continuing relationship with the Alliance.

For the foregoing reasons, advertising in the City Record would serve no useful or practical purpose.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I hereby request authority to dispense with advertising in connection with the award of a contract in an amount not to exceed $15,957, to Massachusetts Mental Health Research Corporation, 75 Fenwood Road, Boston, Massachusetts. This contract will provide continuing comprehensive mental health services to children at the Model City Sub-Area I Family Life Center, and the compensation thereunder will constitute the local share for four months of an annual $404,000 staffing grant by the National Institute of Mental Health to Massachusetts Mental Health Research Corporation. Approximately six persons will be compensated pursuant to this agreement, including a psychiatrist, psychologist, psychiatric nurse, and mental health neighborhood workers.

These professional personnel shall diagnose and treat individual mental health problems and counsel children and their parents; develop a program of training and consultation for the Family Life Center employees and work with community agencies, schools, and youth drop-in centers with respect to children's mental health problems.

The reason for not inviting bids for this contract is the consideration that this type of contract is for a highly specialized type of service for which the competitive bidding process seems singularly inappropriate, and the necessity of having a continuing relationship with Massachusetts Mental Health Research Corporation.

The proposed contract shall be effective during the period beginning August 1, 1973, and terminating November 30, 1973.

Should there be any questions, or should you require further information, please do not hesitate to call me.

Respectfully,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

XEROX EQUIPMENT

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As the Administrator of the Model City Administration, I hereby request your written authority to dispense with public advertising in the award of a contract in an amount not to exceed seven thousand, five hundred dollars ($7,500) to the Xerox Corporation, Rochester, New York, with local offices located at Charles River Park, Boston.

Under the terms of the contract, the contractor will provide and serve Xerox reproduction equipment during the period August 1, 1973, through November 30, 1973.

Because this equipment is adequate and is the only available equipment of its class, it is believed that public advertising would serve no useful purpose. We, therefore, request that award of this contract be dispensed from being advertised in the City Record.

Very truly yours,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

TENANT ASSISTANCE SERVICES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

As Model City Administrator, I hereby request your written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract for services in an amount not to exceed ten thousand dollars ($10,000), with the Tenants Association of Boston, Inc. (the Contractor), a nonprofit corporation with offices located at 192 Humboldt Avenue, in the Roxbury district of the City of Boston. The period of performance shall be from August 1, 1973, through November 30, 1973.

The contract is to provide funds for the continuation of a tenant organization and education program funded under four contracts with the Model City Agency. Under the proposed contract, the Contractor shall provide general tenant assistance services, including assistance in proceedings before the Rent Control Board, referral to and utilization of the Housing Court, liaison services with the various city and state departments, and publication of tenants rights and remedies. The Contractor shall also continue its tenant education program in rehabilitation projects of six or more units which have been or are in the future selected by the Model Neighborhood Board.

The Contractor is recommended to carry out the program because, first, it is the only local association with extensive experience and expertise in tenant organization and education; second, it is continuing a valuable program being carried out under a prior contract with the Model City Agency and has already clearly proven its capacity to conduct a successful tenant organization and education program.

Award of this contract is consistent with the city's grant agreement with the Department of Housing and Urban Development which provides that maximum opportunities for employing local residents will be provided in connection with all programs funded by the Model City Agency.

For the aforementioned reasons it is requested that the notice requirement of advertising in the City Record be waived.

Respectfully,

PAUL PARKS,
Administrator.

PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT

TRANSPORTATION OF HANDICAPPED

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Your permission is respectfully requested to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record, and to award a contract to Congress Taxi Association, Inc., 1890 Columbus Avenue, Boston, for providing transportation of physically handicapped and mentally retarded children in various Parks and Recreation Department recreation programs. The cost of transportation will be $0.50 per mile which is the standard rate of taxi companies for transportation of handicapped persons. The cost to the city will not exceed $3,500. The contract will be for the period July 3, 1973, through August 29, 1973.

As the proposed contract is to be one for the performance of services of a special nature which the contractor has properly performed for the city in the past, and as Congress Taxi Association, Inc. is recommended by the Massachusetts Department of Special Education which must approve transportation for reimbursement, a public solicitation for bids would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH E. CURTIS,
Commissioner.

LANDSCAPING SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your authorization to dispense with inviting proposals in the City Record, in amending the agreement with Storch Associates, dated January 12, 1972, and approved by your Honor on February 8, 1972, for landscape architect and engineering services to prepare plans and specifications and the supervision of construction of improvements, landscaping, and beautification to various park facilities in conformity with the department's Open Space Program. The amendment will cover the cost (architect's fee) of increasing the scope of the project from an estimated construction cost of $1,106,400 to an estimated construction cost of $1,160,400, thus raising the present basic fee and maximum liability of the city from $138,300 to $142,890.

In view of the nature of the services to be provided by Storch Associates, I believe it is in the best interest of the city not to publicly advertise this contract.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH E. CURTIS,
Commissioner.

SURVEYORS' SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I hereby respectfully request the authorization of your Honor to dispense with public solicitation for proposals in the City Record, in awarding a contract to Universal Engineering Corporation, with offices located at 100 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass., for property line and topographic survey at various park sites within the City of Boston, for a fee not to exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), computed in accordance with the Recommended Fee Schedule for Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors, Inc., Minimum Fee Schedule for Professional Services (1969).

The subject services involve the performance of unique and technical skills, requiring highly special training and development, and it is not felt that their procurement would be assured through the medium of a public advertising for competitive bids.

The above services are to be performed between July 15, 1973, and December 31, 1973, and will be charged to Parks and Recreation Budget 1-11-41 ($13).

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH E. CURTIS,
Commissioner.

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT

LEASING CERTAIN PREMISES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

Under a delegation of its power by the Public Facilities Commission to the Director of Public Facilities, I hereby respectfully request your Honor's written authority to dispense with public advertising in extending the term of the lease of certain premises deemed necessary by the Director for office use by the Superintendent of Schools. There is a further delegation of power from the Commission to the Director to execute such lease or extension thereof upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor of Boston.

The demised premises are offices numbered 403 through 409, at 11 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass., consisting of approximately 1,828 square feet. The term of this extension will be from April 1, 1973, through March 31, 1974. (The city will also have an option to extend this term for an additional three months if deemed necessary.) The rental for the period April 1, 1973, through March 31, 1974, will be $10,968 (ten thousand nine hundred and sixty-eight dollars), payable in twelve (12) equal installments of $914. Included is a standard tax escalator clause based on 1971 taxes with a ratio of 1.7 percent.

Since this space is both adequate and convenient, it is not felt that public advertising would serve any useful purpose in this instance.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

Under a delegation of its powers from the Public Facilities Commission to the Director of Public Facilities, I hereby respectfully request your Honor's written authority to dispense with public advertising in leasing certain premises deemed necessary and convenient by the Director for School Department purposes. There is a further delegation of power from the Commission to the Director to execute such lease or extension thereof upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor of Boston.

This lease will be an extension, for an additional twelve-month term, of the lease expiring March 31, 1973, the new term therefore being April 1, 1973, through March 31, 1974. The city will have an option to extend this term for an additional three months if it is deemed necessary. The lessor is the Bradley Real Estate Trust, c/o R. M. Bradley and Company, 250 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass. 02116.

The premises covered under this lease will be the first floor (consisting of 10,200 square feet) of the building known and numbered 11 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass. These premises have been leased by the city since 1966 for use by the Department of Planning and Engineering of the Boston School Department. (It is anticipated that this department will be relocated in the old City Hall Annex when remodeling is completed.) The annual rental for the premises will continue to be $54,468, payable in twelve equal monthly installments of $4,539. The original lease which is being extended also contains a standard tax escalator clause based on an 8.9 percent ratio and provision for rent increase if the lessor's building employees' wages exceed a certain figure. These and other clauses continue as before.

Since these offices have proven adequate and convenient, it is not felt that public advertising would be useful in this instance.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

ARCHITECT'S SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I have been authorized by the Public Facilities Commission, to request of your Honor, both in the name and on behalf of that Board, as I now do, to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record, and to enter into an agreement with Charles A. Maguire and Associates, Inc., now known under a duly recorded change of name as C. M. Maguire, Inc., a Delaware corporation, duly licensed to do business in Massachusetts, with local offices at 60 First Avenue, Waltham, Mass., amending a contract between the City of Boston and Charles A. Maguire and Associates, Inc. (C. E. Maguire, Inc.), dated November 17, 1970, and approved by the Mayor of Boston on December 15, 1970, providing for the preparation of working drawings, detailed specifications, and construction costs estimates for, and for the supervision of, construction of a school building (the Georgetown School), in the West Roxbury district of Boston, so as to raise the $51,600 amount presently authorized for expenditure for supplementary services under the contract to the sum of $59,600, representing an addition of $8,000.

As your Honor may recall the estimated construction cost of the aforementioned school, as set forth in the original letter of award and in the contract, is $5,564,000, and our experience on projects of this size is generally that we are required to expend about one half of one percent of such cost for materials' testing and inspection services. In the present case then, the $51,600 supplementary services figure ought to have included approximately $25,000 and more for testing and inspection services; whereas, in an effort to cut costs, only $11,000 was in fact carried out therein, resulting in the proposed $8,000 amendment to the contract. In short, the need for materials' testing and inspection services exceeds in cost by $8,000 the $11,000 amount included in the contract for that purpose.

In view of the circumstances that contracts may be altered pursuant only to Acts of 1939, chapter 156, section 2, which requires a writing signed by the parties thereto, by the surety company on the bond, and bearing the Mayor's written assent thereto, public advertising thereof would not be of avail to the city.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT'S SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I have just been authorized to request, in the name and on behalf of the Commission, from the Mayor, as I hereby do, written authority to dispense with inviting proposals by advertisement in the City Record, and to award to Edwards and Kelsey, Inc., engineers, consultants and landscape architects, a New Jersey corporation, licensed to do business in Massachusetts, 470 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, Mass., a contract to prepare schematic designs, design development drawings, basic outline specifications, and construction cost estimates for use in the construction of a park at Jeffries Point, in the East Boston district of the City of Boston, at a cost for such services not to exceed $26,140 (including the amount of $7,000 for supplementary services); and to execute such contract, in the name and on behalf of the Commission, upon receipt of said written authority from the Mayor.

Those services to be rendered under the terms of the proposed contract are in a highly special category; the aforementioned firm has had a wealth of successful experience in this and several interrelated areas of professional service; and, we are thus assured of its competent performance in connection with the subject project. Thus, we feel that public advertising for competitive bids here would not inure to the benefit of the City of Boston.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

SECURITY ASSISTANCE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On June 7, 1973, in response to my written request of May 21, 1973, your Honor authorized the award of an unadvertised $9,023.84 contract to the Boston Foundation, Inc., a nonprofit Massachusetts corporation, to hire (from among persons recommended by the related School Community School Councils), and furnish to the city, four (4) persons to provide security assistance in the operation of the Community School Program at the Agassiz and Hennigan Community Schools. Subsequently, it was determined that the John Marshall School was, in fact, to be considerably more active, during the ensuing proposed contract period, than the Hennigan in Community School Program matters. Therefore, subject to your Honor's approval, I hereby amend my said initial letter of May 21, 1973, by substituting therein the John Marshall Community School in place of the Hennigan Community School.

Respectfully,

ROBERT J. VEY,
Director.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PROGRAM: A REPORT

Parks and Recreation

The major goals of the Parks and Recreation Department have been to create more and better open space, particularly in the neighborhoods; to encourage more use of recreational facilities; and to intensify use of Boston's historical open spaces in ways compatible with their character. To these ends, improvements ranging from resurfacing of basketball courts to construction of important new facilities have been carried out at more than eighty locations throughout the city.

To extend use and decrease vandalism, floodlights have been installed at forty-three sites throughout the city at a cost of more than $4 million. Nearly half a million dollars has been spent in the 429-acre Franklin Park to renovate the playhouse-in-the-park, improve the roads, create new picnic areas and a sledding hill, and undertake large scale replanting. A master plan for extensive restoration of the Boston Common and Public Garden has been completed recently, and will include the repair of paths and fences, along with major replanting.

A recent innovation has been the "Cameo Park." Cameo parks create an intensive play area in a small space, or within a larger recreational Kendall, women; H. Morse Payne and Joseph Eldredge, architecture; Hon. Cornelius Howard, Irish history; Marchese faa di Bruno, Italian history; Byron Rushing and Ray Coleman, Black history and community; Elmer Engstrom, civil liberties and law; Paddy Warlock Moore and Bernice Miller, child care.

Chairmen of task forces on ecology and environment and military history have not yet been chosen.

Neighborhood Bicentennial Committee chairmen and community representatives are: Joseph Smith, Allston-Brighton, Helene Johnson and Dan Ahern, Back Bay; Barbara Saulnier, Beacon Hill; Anna M. Cole, Bromley Heath; Marie Alves, Jack Alves, John Tosi, Robert Davidson, and Vincent Strout, Charlestown; Frank Chin, Chinatown; Sandra Young, Columbia Point; Augusta Bailey, Elsie Franklin, John Madden, and William Severy, Dorchester; Edith DiAngelis, Michael Laurano, Mary Ann Martinez, and Eleanor Welch, East Boston; Robert Case and Virginia Hurley, Fenway; Nancy Hannon, Hyde Park; Philip Fixler and Vivienne Thompson, Jamaica Plain; Joyce Scott, Mattapan; Rev. Wilfrid T. Bouvier, S.J., and Anthony Lombardozi, North End; Florita Baxter, Orchard Park; David Kuntz, Roslindale; Eva Jordan, Roxbury; Mrs. George P. Morris and Geraldine Marcinowski, South Boston; Graham P. Teller and Florence Moore, South End; Ellen Feeney and Lester Brooks, West Roxbury.

"I am very pleased to be working with this Advisory Board and know their input will make Boston 200 a strong program," Mrs. Kane said. "A Boston 200 Corporation Board of Directors will complement the Advisory Board."

Boston 200 will focus on the people, heritage, culture, commerce, and environment as they relate to 200 years of evolution of "The City in America," Boston's bicentennial theme. The program begins in April, 1975, and continues through 1976.

Boston 200 office is located in Boston City Hall.

space. They incorporate both active and passive recreation, featuring creative uses of running water and natural wood play equipment. Each cameo park is unique, reflecting the design taste of the neighborhood and the multiple uses of the basic equipment.

Another innovation is the "Plant-tree Program," a project to reforest Boston's bald spots. Contributions from individuals, block clubs, businesses, and public agencies pay for the purchase and planting of a tree on a site selected by the donor and approved by the city. The Parks and Recreation Department supplies the tree and the labor at cost. More than 425 trees have been planted in Plantree, in addition to the 650 trees planted by the city annually.

Public Works

Since 1968 the Public Works Department has spent more than $28 million on improvements to city streets, sidewalks, water and sewer mains. Attempts have been made to design improvements that enhance the character of local neighborhoods, as in Beacon Hill where brick sidewalks have been retained and gas lamps are used. During the last three years a wheelchair ramp program was implemented, constructing sidewalk curb cuts and ramps in the areas of highest use by handicapped persons, such as Government Center and along Boylston Street to the Prudential Center.

Construction has begun on the central maintenance garage, a $12 million facility in the South Bay area which will provide most municipal vehicles with routine servicing and maintenance. The centralization of maintenance functions will enable the city to close down four garages — selling at least one — the Albany Street garage.

Street lighting in Boston has been traditionally owned and maintained by the Boston Edison Company. Over the past few years, the city has begun to purchase its own street lighting system, spending $2 million through urban renewal bonds since 1969. Over the long run city ownership of lighting is more economical than leasing, and it permits great flexibility in experimenting with new types of equipment and in designing lighting programs for special needs. It will, for example, enable the city to place a specially designed mix of vehicular and pedestrian lights in the Mattapan Square shopping area, and to install sodium vapor lights in ten other business districts.

The Bicentennial

There is no question that the Bicentennial will bring large numbers of visitors to Boston. Because significant federal or state aid has not been made available, Boston is developing Bicentennial-related activities throughout the city, with an emphasis on the points of historic interest in the residential neighborhoods. In this way the office for the Boston Bicentennial can take advantage of the capital improvements already planned, and any benefits from the Bicentennial celebration will be dispersed throughout the city.

The Public Facilities Department has recently undertaken a feasibility study on the development of a Visitor Hospitality Center

GET YOUR DOG LICENSED!

Mayor Kevin White has announced the start of a city-wide drive to register and license Boston's 70,000 dogs.

The campaign, designed to eliminate the spiraling population of stray dogs in the city, requires licenses for all dogs old enough to be vaccinated against rabies.

"Licensing is required by law, not just for the protection of the public, but for the animal as well," the Mayor said.

"We want to ensure that Boston's streets are safe to walk in and that dogs in the city are well cared for.

"Licensing protects every person in Boston from the threat of stray and dangerous dogs, and if a dog is lost or stolen, he has a greater chance of being found and returned to his owner."

Registration fees, payable at any local Boston police station, are $3 for male dogs and spayed females, and $10 for unsplayed females.

Proof of rabies vaccination and spaying is also required when applying for a license.

James Shevlin, Boston Animal Control Commission Director, said the licensing effort depends on the close cooperation of every dog owner in the city.

Shevlin said the number of stray and abandoned dogs in the city is increasing and that enforcement of the license law will protect the public and the unwanted dogs.

He said the city is opening a low-cost neuter clinic to control the number of unwanted dogs, and that the Animal Rescue League is running a rabies clinic the first four Wednesdays in May from twelve to four.

For more information call the Animal Control Commission at 722-4100, Ext. 8187.

MBTA ANNOUNCES A NEW BUS REPLACEMENT PROGRAM

The Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) has announced a new bus replacement program intended to improve the quality, reliability, and attractiveness of the MBTA's bus service throughout the seventy-nine communities in the district.

The new program will also reduce the cost to the cities and towns of MBTA bus service and will comply with federal conditions established by the United States Department of Transportation, whose Urban Mass Transportation Administration is the source of federal funds for bus purchases.

The MBTA currently has 1,209 buses in its fleet, 730 obtained with federal funds since 1964, and 479 buses built between 1955 and 1963, bringing the average bus age to 8.3 years.

The new bus replacement program calls for a fleet of 1,200 buses, with an average fleet age of five years and a ten-year normal life span per bus. To achieve this desired objective the program recommends the purchase of 480 new buses in 1975 and replacement at a rate of 120 buses a year beginning in 1977.

The MBTA, by increasing its annual bus replacement from 100 to 120 will be able to retire buses after ten years of use instead of twelve, and could realize savings in equipment maintenance totaling some $600,000 a year.

With 80 percent federal funding for new bus purchases available from UMTA, the increase in the local share cost to the Authority to implement the new program will amount to approximately $200,000 per year.

As a first step in the new bus replacement program, the Board of Directors directed MBTA General Manager Joseph C. Kelly to file an amended grant application with UMTA to increase the number of buses requested under pending applications by 177.

HUD PLANS AFFIRMATIVE ACTION PROGRAMS

Affirmative action programs to insure minority contractor participation in housing construction projects are to be undertaken by all offices of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The requirement that each HUD regional, area, and insuring office plan, carry out, and monitor a plan providing minority contractors and subcontractors "every feasible opportunity to participate" in HUD-funded construction was issued jointly by Sheldon B. Lubar, Assistant Secretary for Housing Production and Mortgage Credit, and Dr. Gloria E. A. Toote, Assistant Secretary for Equal Opportunity.

The memorandum from the assistant secretaries to HUD field offices called for special efforts to achieve a significant percentage of minority contractor participation at all levels, including general and speciality contracting awards.

During FY 1975, the affirmative action plans developed in each region will be formally reviewed and approved by the Office of Equal Opportunity and the Office of Housing Production and Mortgage Credit. These plans will include target goals for the award of contracts to minority-owned and -operated construction firms.

"It is our purpose," said Dr. Toote, "to assure and confirm the minority contractor's or subcontractor's access to the housing construction process and consideration for contract awards."

Assistant Secretary Lubar said that the special efforts of all employees will "help assure the success of this program."

Boston was incorporated as a city on February 23, 1822, after ten futile attempts, viz., in 1650, 1659, 1667, 1708, 1744, 1762, 1784, 1791, 1804, and 1815. Revised charter adopted in 1854. Charter again revised in 1885 and amended in 1909. Charter of 1909 amended in 1914 as to nominations and elections.

RENT CONTROL TO CHALLENGE EVICTION NOTICES

Mayor White initiated a two-pronged plan to protect 350 tenants of apartments on Peterborough and Queensberry Streets from being evicted.

The Mayor's action resulted from a recent meeting with representatives of the Fenway Area Tenants Union protesting actions taken by Copley Management and Development Corporation.

His orders on behalf of the tenants were:

Assignment of a special team of housing inspectors to investigate each dwelling unit for housing code violations.

Instruction of the Rent Control Administration to challenge each and every eviction notice.

"Systematic attempts to violate tenants' rights are malicious and inhumane, and they must stop," the Mayor said.

"I have instructed Rent Control Administrator John Grace to take every legal action necessary to see that justice is brought to these tenants. Mr. Grace has my full support in making sure that slick operators are brought to bay."

Buildings to be inspected include 120-124 Peterborough Street, 98-106 Queensberry Street, 60 Queensberry Street, and 111 Park Drive. Buildings on Jersey Street will also be inspected.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

April 5.

General Order No. 16

I. FIRE ALARM BOX INSTALLED

The following fire alarm box has been installed, and company commanders shall add it to circuit card No. 49:

15-182, Central Storage Building, No. 150, University of Massachusetts, Columbia Point.

II. HIGH COMMENDATIONS

At 0545, March 7, 1974, the department responded to Box 2387 for a fire in a three-story, wooden-frame building at 47 Walden Street, Jamaica Plain.

Upon arrival of the companies at the scene, the fire which probably originated in the first-floor kitchen had extended to the interior front hall, to the only interior stairwell that was to provide a means of egress from the upper floors, and had involved the front living room on the first floor. The stairwell fire had cut off all escape from the second and third floors where four young children were trapped by fire and smoke. The fire was also extending externally by way of kitchen windows, overlapping and igniting the exterior wall, and entering under the eaves to the third floor involving the cockloft. At about this time the fire involved the entire first floor, part of the second floor, and was well involved in the cockloft. Heavy smoke was present inside and outside, making roof ventilation difficult.

Fire Lieut. Robert Callow of Ladder Company 10, and Fire Fighter James McDonald of Ladder Company 30 ascended a ladder which had been raised to a window on the third floor, right side. When Lieut. Callow reached the window, he discovered that he was right at the stairwell and required a drop of several feet to the stairs. He, accompanied by Fire Fighter McDonald, and without the benefit of gas masks, searched the rooms for the trapped children. In a rear bedroom, Lieut. Callow found a young, semi-conscious girl, carried her to the window, lifted her over his head, and passed her to members on the ladder who carried her to the street. He then returned to the room and assisted by Fire Fighter Paul Moore of Ladder Company 30, who had entered the floor from a ladder in the rear, they found a small child. Fire Fighter Moore, who was wearing a mask, carried the child to the street by the stairway which by this time had been partly secured by the engine companies.

Meanwhile, Fire Fighter James Welsh of Ladder Company 10, equipped with a mask, ascended the ladder to the third floor at the stairwell, where he was required to drop several feet to the landing. He groped his way around the third-floor-rear bedroom where he found a young boy on the floor between two beds. He carried the boy down the stairway to the street, placed him in an ambulance, and accompanied him to the hospital, administering oxygen enroute. Just after the third child had been removed from this room, the ceiling fell, flames belched from the attic, and the room became fully involved in fire.

As members of Engine Company 28 were advancing a line over the stairs, Fire Fighter Anthony Crisafolli of Engine Company 28 found a female child on the second floor landing. He endeavored to make his way down the stairs with the child, but was hampered both by his breathing equipment and by the lines which were being extended up the stairway. Because of these impediments he was assisted to the first floor by Lieut. Callow who was coming down from the third floor. The child was removed to an ambulance by Lieut. Callow, who accompanied her to the hospital administering oxygen enroute.

The foregoing rescue work was performed under extremely difficult and dangerous conditions and involved extreme personal risk to the members involved. Since their heroic actions undoubtedly resulted in the saving of the lives of the four children, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to highly commend Fire Lieut. Robert Callow of Ladder Company 10, Fire Fighter Paul Moore of Ladder Company 30, and Fire Fighter James Welsh of Ladder Company 10, and their cases are referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

III. COMMENDATION

The Fire Commissioner and Chief of Department are pleased to commend all members of the various companies that responded to and worked at the fire at 47 Walden Street, Jamaica Plain, Box 2387, at 0545 hours, March 7, 1974. It was only through the combined efforts of every man present that the lives of the four children were saved.

It was a perfect example of every man doing his job as it should be done. The running and advancing of lines, the raising of ladders, and the ventilating, all were performed with alacrity and dispatch. Not the least worthy are those members who searched without avail for the youngsters.

It was indeed a joint effort of men "just doing their job" which reflected utmost credit to the department.

IV. LETTER OF COMMENDATION

The following letter is published for the information of the department:

"March 28, 1974.

DEAR COMMISSIONER:

In a day when one receives so many complaints, I felt I should write you this note of commendation for the work your fire fighters did early Wednesday morning in Hyde Park. From my address you must realize my home is opposite the church which was razed by fire.

The men who responded on a cold, windy morning did a superb job in containing the fire so that it would not spread to nearby homes, all of which are wooden, including mine. One does not realize how difficult their job is, unless they witnessed it as I did.

Through your office kindly congratulate your men and give them my sincere thanks.

Sincerely,

BENJAMIN J. CHEFITZ, M.D.,
1110 River Street, Hyde Park."

Commissioner's Memorandum No. 74-20
Post until April 10, 1974.

The Boston Police Department is proceeding with the centralization of administration of paid details, but offered to postpone distributing details equally throughout the department, Tuesday, pending discussion with the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association.

I have taken this action to provide every opportunity for the union leadership to inform the department of any objections to this plan.

I think it is important that every member of the department know why we have instituted a program to centralize details.

The leadership of the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association first brought to my attention the problem of unequal distribution, and numerous patrolmen have also complained about the present system.

I proceeded with this plan with the understanding that the union leadership and the men wanted this done.

As for the centralization of the administration of the plan, we are required to do this by the Internal Revenue Service. We must end cash payments and withhold taxes at the time of detail payment.

Centralization will also mean that eleven police officers now administering the system will be freed for street duty.

These are the only reasons for centralization no matter what rumors may be spread.

Even though centralization of paid details was never a subject of collective bargaining, we kept the union leadership fully informed of planning for this project. Discussions have been held for nine months with members of the Labor Management Committee.

We adopted suggestions in the plan made by the leadership. We also agreed to postpone implementation of the plan from January 1, 1974, to April 1, 1974.

When we learned, Tuesday, that the leadership was again asking that the plan be further discussed, I suggested that we postpone any change in the method of distribution of details.

I informed the union leadership that details would continue to be assigned as in the past, pending discussions, although we would administer the paper work centrally.

This suggestion was refused and a boycott called.

The boycott is unnecessary and only hurts the men in our department.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

Mention at Roll Calls.

Post until April 18, 1974.

For some time, there has been considerable difficulty in the issuance of special orders regarding department funerals. Much of this difficulty was caused by the lack of clearly defined policies regarding the services to be provided by the department for various types of funerals, the absence of a standard form that could be filled out to provide the necessary information, and uncertainty as to who was responsible for gathering the necessary funeral information, and/or preparing the order for printing.

These problems have frequently resulted in orders being issued too late for affected units to comply and in other snafus in department funerals.

To improve the speed and completeness of funeral orders, the following procedures are being established for the gathering and submitting of funeral information and the preparation of the order itself:

GENERAL PROCEDURES

1. The family of the deceased member must request a department funeral.

2. When a department funeral is requested for a retired or active member, not killed in the line of duty, the hospital liaison officer will be notified without delay. He will complete Form No. 1633, Department Funeral Information Form, and deliver it to the Planning and Research Division.

3. When a department funeral is requested for a member killed in the line of duty, the Commissioner will designate a command officer as superior officer in charge of the funeral. That officer will see that Form No. 1633 is completed and delivered to the Planning and Research Division.

4. When a request for a department funeral is made on a weekend or holiday, the person responsible for submitting Form No. 1633 will notify the director of Planning and Research by telephone of the time and date of the forthcoming funeral so that arrangements may be made to prepare the order as early as is necessary to allow affected units to comply.

DEPARTMENT FUNERAL INFORMATION FORM (Form No. 1633)

There are three types of funeral the department may be called upon to arrange: retired member, active member, and member killed in the line of duty. Form No. 1633 is arranged so that information necessary for a particular type of funeral can be obtained and submitted in an orderly fashion. The form should be filled out according to the instructions it contains.

A supply of Form No. 1633 may be obtained from the Planning and Research Division.

Post until April 18, 1974.

To improve the movement of written communications within the department, the following procedures are being established with regard to the mail system.

1. All sorting of mail into the mail boxes (see attachment A), will be done by the headquarters mail clerk or the district mailmen. Mail to be sorted will be placed in the separate box provided for incoming mail.

2. Where a mail box is shared by two or more units, one of those units is designated, by underlining, as the primary recipient in the box. The primary recipient is responsible for seeing that all other units in the box receive their mail and the proper number of orders and directives as specified in attachment B, Directives Distribution Key.

Example:

Referring to page B-4, the Directives Distribution Key should be used as follows: in the box for District 1, Area B Deputy, Emergency Services Unit, and the Boston Municipal Court Case Supervisor, the headquarters mail clerk will place six (6) copies of each special order, commissioner's memorandum, or personnel order. In that box, District 1 is underlined and is therefore the primary recipient responsible for forwarding mail and orders to the other units in the box. All the mail in that box will be delivered to District 1. The person responsible for mail at District 1 can look at the key next to the District 1 box and see that the six copies of an order he has in hand should be distributed: three to District 1, one to the Area B Deputy, one to the Emergency Services Unit, and one to the Boston Municipal Court Case Supervisor.

If the order in hand were a rule and regulation or a training bulletin, he would have 266 copies to be distributed: 230 to District 1, two to the Area B Deputy, thirty-three to the Emergency Services Unit, and one to the Boston Municipal Court Case Supervisor, as specified in the Rules and Regulations/Training Bulletins column of the key.

3. Preprinted envelopes will no longer be used for orders except for those sent to the recipients in the City Hall and District Attorney's office boxes.

4. The headquarters mail clerk will make deliveries to all headquarters recipients twice daily, except on weekends and holidays, from 9 A.M. to 10 A.M., and from 3 P.M. to 4 P.M. On weekends and holidays, mail may be picked up in the mailroom.

These procedures are effective immediately. All members should be guided accordingly in their use of the mail system.

It has come to my attention through in-service training sessions that Rule 24, section 2, and Rule 23, section 9, requiring sergeants and patrolmen to maintain a diary of their on-duty activities for five years, is no longer necessary. With the changes being made in the department's reporting system, these regulations would result in unnecessary duplication of records by field personnel.

For these reasons, Rule 23, section 9, and Rule 24, section 2, are rescinded, effective immediately.

However, officers are encouraged to maintain, on a voluntary basis, their pocket diaries to record private information not available in department records.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Permission is hereby requested of your Honor to award a contract, without advertising, to the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company to provide engineering personnel, as necessary, to locate the cause or source of defects or problems that may develop on the overhead crane controls at the South Bay incinerator for the period April 1, 1973, to June 30, 1974.

It will be the responsibility of the contractor to locate the cause or source of any electrical trouble that may develop and to recommend the steps to be taken by the city to correct the situation and, furthermore, it will be the function of the contractor to supervise the installation of new parts in the system in a particular case. The parts and actual installation will be performed by others. The contractor will, however, make adjustments to the installation in order that the new parts and materials installed will perform at peak proficiency.

The contractor will perform this work at such times as he may be called upon by the proper authorities. The contractor will be paid at the prevailing rate for such services, which is $25 per hour straight time and $50 per hour overtime, and, in addition, a travel allowance for each service call of $0.10 per mile. The overall cost of these services shall not exceed $4,750.

It may not be inappropriate for me to add, that since all the crane electrical controls were in fact manufactured by the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company, and thus its personnel is more familiar with the same than others, it would seem that public advertising for these services would achieve no practical purpose.

Respectfully,

JOSEPH F. CASAZZA,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SAFE STREETS ADVISORY COMMITTEE FEMALE RESIDENCE

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As Executive Director of the staff of the Safe Streets Act Advisory Committee, I respectfully request your written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to D.A.R.E., Inc., in an amount not to exceed $15,000, for the period January 1, to December 31, 1973.

Award of the contract is made pursuant to a grant by the city from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, in the amount of $365,000, under sections 303 and 304 of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (P. L. 90-351). The grant was accepted by order of the City Council on April 30, 1973.

Under the terms of the contract D.A.R.E., Inc. will start up a female residence at 957 Blue Hill Avenue, Dorchester, for girls placed by the Department of Youth Services.

Funds provided will pay for costs of renovating and furnishing the building as a female residence, for eight- to ten-year old girls. The Department of Youth Services has made a commitment to purchase residential services for girls committed to it as the building is ready for occupancy. The female residence will operate at 957 Blue Hill Avenue, in cooperation with the existing youth residence at 955 Blue Hill Avenue.

In view of the unique nature of the program and the proven ability of the corporation to operate residential programs, it is respectfully requested that public bidding be dispensed with.

Respectfully,

DONALD B. MANSON,
Executive Director.

New Gardening Program Planned for Bostonians

Anthony Forgione, Commissioner of Parks and Recreation, has announced a new "Plot Planting" gardening program which will bring the popular victory gardens to eleven sites in Boston neighborhoods.

The new program was officially launched on April 27 at 11 A.M., when Mr. Forgione met in the Fens victory gardens with gardeners from that area and other Boston neighborhoods to survey the planting areas.

"Gardening has been a favorite pastime for Bostonians ever since the victory gardens of World War II," Mr. Forgione said.

"The Fens gardens have been a great success and now we are making vacant city-owned sites available in the neighborhoods so that even more people can enjoy the satisfaction of growing vegetables and flowers in the heart of the city."

Mayor Kevin White pointed out that the program will benefit both the gardeners and the city.

"The gardeners will enjoy both the recreational benefits of working in their gardens and the economic benefits of homegrown vegetables which can help to cut family food costs," Mayor White said.

"The city, and particularly the neighborhoods where the gardens are located, will have replaced vacant and unsightly vacant lots with productive and attractive gardens," he added.

The eleven sites will provide about 1,000 individual plots of land, approximately 10 feet by 15 feet in size. They were selected because they will require a minimum of preparation to be tillable. The land will be cleared and rototilled by the Parks and Recreation Department. The rest will be up to the hard work and imagination of the gardeners, within guidelines established by the department.

"This is designed to be a do-it-yourself program," Mr. Forgione explained. "We hope that it will appeal to all age groups and we expect to see many families, from grandparents to preschoolers, getting together to share the task of tending their plots.

"Late in the summer we will hold a 'City Farmers Fair' on the Boston Common so that the gardeners will have an opportunity to display their produce, and we will award prizes in the tradition of an old-fashioned county fair," he added.

Applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis beginning April 29. They will be available from area coordinators and Little City Halls. Plots which are not planted by June 15 will be forfeited.

The sites and coordinators are:

Brighton: Chestnut Hill Avenue — Coordinator Leo Fremont, 2003 Commonwealth Avenue — 782-3996.

Roxbury: 140-170 Harold Street

East Boston

The planning procedure which results in the creation of the Boston Capital Improvements Program is as diverse as the neighborhoods involved. No major capital improvement is undertaken by the city without critical input and considerable support from the community affected. The following case study illustrates this interaction between community and City Hall in one of Boston's distinctly independent residential neighborhoods, East Boston.

Planning the Capital Improvements Program involves more than mobilizing and meshing the efforts of the planners, architects, engineers, draftsmen, and other city employees. In addition to the work of downtown professionals, which tends to be quiet and far from the public eye, all plans for capital improvements are subject to the scrutiny, advice, dissent, and review of local residents — residents for whom the facility is being designed and who will have to live with the finished product long after the professionals have gone on to other projects.

Revitalizing local neighborhoods means planning new facilities with residents as well as for them. Participation of local residents demystifies an important urban process. In the short run it creates delays in construction schedules, adds yet another layer of meetings and decision making, and engages a healthy amount of manpower over an extended period of time. In the long run, however, good working relationships are developed between the community and the city, and completed projects tend to be more accepted and more used by the community.

East Boston is a good example of the rewards and the frustrations of neighborhood participation in the capital improvement planning process. Created from a massive landfill process linking together five islands in Boston Harbor, East Boston covers a peninsula which extends into Boston Harbor on the extreme northeast corner of the city. It is geographically separate from the rest of Boston, accessible only by the Sumner, Callahan, and MBTA Tunnels crossing under the harbor.

Aside from its geographic isolation, the most marked physical characteristic of East Boston is the presence of Logan International Airport, a sprawling jetport serving the entire Boston and New England region. Logan occupies two-thirds of the land of East Boston, about 2,400 acres, and continues to grow by fill to seaward and by purchase and takings to landward. The airport abuts several residential areas, creating noise pollution problems on a massive scale, and it generates large amounts of automobile and bus traffic along the two major divided highways that knife through the community — the East Boston Expressway (U. S. #1) and Bennington Street.

In spite of its physical and geographic liabilities, East Boston continues to be a thriving community for about 39,000 people. Settled by the Irish, beginning in the 1840s, and later by Scandinavians, the area became dominated by Italian immigrants following the First World War. That domination continues today, and first- and second-generation Italians and their sons and daughters comprise the majority of East Boston's population.

The edges of the neighborhood not abutting the airport are dominated by aged seaport facilities, most unused for many years. East Boston's last and remaining heavy industry — ship repairing — is housed in these waterfront structures. Small manufacturing plants are scattered throughout the area, but they, too, are only a shadow of the busy past, gone for several decades.

Residences are built close together, and open space, particularly recreational space, is at a premium. A Boston Redevelopment Authority study in 1971 found less than 100 acres of open space in East Boston. This amounts to about 2.5 per 1,000 residents, or less than half of the normal Boston rate of 5.4 acres per 1,000.

Following the major airport expansion at the end of the 1940s East Boston experienced a marked population decline, from 51,000 in 1950 to 39,000 twenty years later, but there are indications that the population has stabilized since the last census. Continuous community organization efforts have been under way for the last few years, and East Boston is the only community in the city that can boast of three local newspapers.

There have been other signs of resurgence. In 1964 a new federally subsidized private housing development, Brandywine Village, was built for 500 low- and moderate-income families. More recently an extensive community battle was waged against construction of a new 10,000-foot runway at Logan Airport. After months of organizing, rallies, and hard work, the community was victorious, and expansion plans were suspended in 1971. Local residents have clearly decided that East Boston is a good place to live and one well worth fighting for.

MAYOR APPOINTS KRISTEN WAINWRIGHT

Kristen Wainwright has been appointed director of visual and environmental arts for Mayor Kevin White's Office of Cultural Affairs.

She supervises the department which coordinates City Hall exhibits and programs, the Bicentennial tapestry program, City Hall tour guide program, and city celebrations such as the Fourth of July and Christmas.

Her department also develops collaborative projects with Boston's visual arts institutions, oversees the OCA's visual presentations, and implements several major art projects each year such as June Art in the Park.

Ms. Wainwright will supervise the development of the visual components of Summerthing and Boston's Neighborhood Festival.

NEW TOUR GUIDE DIRECTOR

Mrs. Elizabeth G. Cook, director of the Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs, is pleased to announce the appointment of Mrs. Mary Beth Danenbarger to the post of tour guide director.

Mrs. Danenbarger hires and trains the tour guides who give detailed tours of City Hall and direct people from the information booths at City Hall. She coordinates tours for an average of 125 persons daily. Mrs. Danenbarger also works with Kristen Wainwright, director of visual and environmental arts for the OCA, on presenting to the public the art exhibits and gallery displays at City Hall.

The tour guides provide an aesthetic as well as a conceptual history of Government Center and full information on city, state, and governmental services. Tours are available Monday through Friday, from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M., every half hour.

The tour guides are students in the work-study program at Northeastern University. Four tour guides are hired at a time for a three-month period.

Prior to joining the OCA, the new director was an English teacher in the New York public school system.

She attended Manhattanville College where she majored in English. Mrs. Danenbarger and her family reside on Beacon Hill.

In announcing the appointment, Mrs. Cook said, "The Mayor's Office of Cultural Affairs is very fortunate to have Mrs. Danenbarger as tour guide director. Under her supervision, we are assured of a continued successful program."

WHAT IS PUBLIC ART?

Seeking to define and arouse concern about public art, the Institute of Contemporary Art, 955 Boylston Street, Boston, will host a symposium May 1 through 4 entitled: "Arts Renewal: Boston's Visual Environment 1974-1984." The symposium will bring together people who affect our city's visual environment — artists, architects, urban planners, businessmen, government officials, teachers, and community residents — in order to discuss such questions as: What is public art? Should art have a role in urban planning? What should be the role of businesses in enhancing their neighborhoods? How is a piece of public art made and who is responsible for its maintenance?

A special feature of the ICA symposium is a bus tour of public art in Boston. Buses will leave the ICA at 9 and 11 A.M., May 4 (50 cents charge). In addition, four sessions will be open to the public, all at 8 P.M.: May 1, at the Boston Visual Artists Union Gallery, 3 Center Plaza, Government Center, entitled "Public Art: An American Phenomenon"; May 2, at New England Life Hall, entitled "Why Public Art?"; May 3, at the Boston Architectural Center, 320 Newbury Street, Boston, entitled "The Community: Public Art for Whom?"; and May 4, at the Institute of Contemporary Art, 955 Boylston Street, Boston, entitled "Dreams and Plans: What Next in Public Art?" Among the speakers are several nationally known crusaders for public art, including John Sears, Bennard Perlman, Robert Sommer, and Saul Wurman.

The Institute further hopes that "Arts Renewal" will introduce to Boston a whole range of possible activities to occur during the Bicentennial.

NEW COLLECTION SYSTEM FOR TAXPAYERS

Mayor Kevin White has announced that property tax bills for the six-month period January 1 to June 30 will be mailed as the city complies with a new state law requiring the collection of taxes every six months.

Mayor White said the tax rate for the first six months of this year will be $98.40 — one half of last year's twelve-month levy (rounded to the nearest dime).

"In most cases, property owners who pay their taxes to the bank monthly will not be affected by the changeover since they will have six months' taxes accumulated in their escrow accounts," he said. Bills are payable thirty days from the date of mailing.

The next property tax bill will be due in November and will be based on a new tax rate, which will be announced in the summer. Taxpayers will be required to pay only one-half of the November bill, with the balance due in May, 1975.

In explaining the advantage of the new system, Mayor White said the city's dependence on borrowed money to pay its operating expenses until tax collection time will be lessened greatly. By collecting taxes every six months, the city will be on more of a pay-as-you-go plan, saving the taxpayers approximately $1.5 million annually in interest payments.

The new collection system also gives the taxpayer the convenience of paying his or her property taxes every six months, instead of in one lump sum. It also brings the city's budgetary structure into line with the state and federal systems.

Bills may be paid at the main City Hall or at any Little City Hall. For reasons of security, cash cannot be accepted at the Little City Halls.

NEW POLICE CARS FOR HUB

The Boston Police Department has ordered 207 new vehicles, many of them air-conditioned patrol cars, it has been announced by Commissioner Robert J. di Grazia.

He said the additional vehicles would bring the department to the greatest strength in its history in authorized transport.

The vehicles will start arriving in about three months and will include both marked and unmarked patrol cars, station wagons, motorcycles, ambulance wagons, and tow trucks.

On the matter of the air-conditioned cars, Commissioner di Grazia said, "I feel that a car is much like an office to a police officer. He spends much of his time in it and it should have the equipment he needs and be as comfortable as possible."

JUDGE'S RULING SUPPORTS POLICE COMMISSIONER

Suffolk Superior Court Judge Francis J. Good has ruled that only Police Commissioner Robert di Grazia has the authority to prescribe the weapons to be carried by police officers on duty.

The ruling came in a suit filed by Boston City Councillor Albert L. O'Neil against Mayor Kevin White and Commissioner di Grazia for refusing to implement an ordinance passed by the Council last December requiring all police cars to be equipped with shotguns and shotgun racks. The Council overrode the Mayor's veto of the ordinance.

"The ordinance is plainly an effort by the City Council to overstep its authority and invade the business of the operation of the Police Department, which . . . was set aside for and specifically assigned to the Police Commissioner," Judge Good said. "It is the decision, judgment, and discretion of the Police Commissioner which is required, rather than orders of the City Council or anyone else who would undertake to force their decision, judgment, and discretion upon him.

"The laws have been designed, in part, to eliminate any interference with the Police Commissioner's operation of the Police Department," he said, adding, "The ordinance in question plainly violates the clear intent of the statute."

HUB SEEKS AID TO COMBAT LEAD POISONING

The Department of Housing and Urban Development is asking scientists and engineers to help develop improved methods for detecting lead in painted surfaces, as part of the expanded federal effort to combat the lead poisoning hazard in housing.

Nearly all of the nation's 30 million pre-1940 housing units contain some lead-based paint, as do many of the post-1940 units. The National Bureau of Standards estimates that up to 600,000 children between the ages of one and six have "elevated blood-lead levels," commonly caused by eating flakes of lead-based paint.

HUD research efforts are directed toward eliminating the lead paint hazard from federally owned or financed housing, and towards helping states and localities make their lead poisoning prevention programs more effective.

Detection of lead in painted surfaces is an essential step in these efforts. Up to now, however, lead detection systems have been either too imprecise to be adequate or too expensive to be widely available for lead poisoning control programs.

HUD, therefore, has just issued a Request for Proposal (RFP) inviting technicians to design and test moderately priced, portable devices which can give quick, precise lead measurements. HUD's Office of Policy Development and Research will select and fund one or more proposals submitted in response to this RFP. Devices developed for HUD should be capable of detecting and measuring 0.5 milligrams (mg) lead/square centimeter (cm²) through multiple layers of paint on a variety of surfaces including interior and exterior walls, ceilings, floors, doors and door frames, window frames, trim moldings, and porches. The cost per analysis must not exceed $2 and proposals will be evaluated against a preferred cost level of under $1 per analysis. Systems must be capable of safe operation by a semiskilled person. Detection and measurement should not cause damage to the housing unit or disagreeable side effects for its occupants.

The National Bureau of Standards will provide HUD with technical assistance in evaluating the devices produced.

Copies of the RFP (H-298-74) can be obtained by writing to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Contracts Division, Research Branch, 451 Seventh Street S. W., Washington, D. C. 20410.

DEPARTMENT HEADS REQUEST PRICE INCREASE FOR NO-BID CONTRACTS

Mayor Kevin H. White will file a home rule petition requesting an increase in the city's maximum for no-bid municipal contracts from $2,000 to $5,000.

The request will be filed as part of a larger home rule legislation package to be submitted probably within a month.

If approved, the request will allow city departments to award — with mayoral approval — job contracts costing up to $5,000, without going through competitive bidding.

The $5,000 limit would then match the state maximum.

The petition is being filed because many department heads had requested it as part of administrative reform to speed things up.

Raising the limit to $5,000 would be more effective and efficient. The amount of municipal contracts in the $2,000 to $5,000 range is extensive.

MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL CONVENES

More than 250 members of the supervisory personnel of the City of Boston attended a special meeting of the Management Development Council recently in City Hall.

The meeting was held to promulgate the Executive Order of his Honor, Mayor Kevin H. White, relative to the benefits and responsibilities of the managers of the city. The meeting was conducted by Robert P. Cunningham, member of the Administrative Services Department, and chairman of the Management Development Council.

Deputy Mayor Edward T. Sullivan expressed his belief that the enthusiastic implementation of the Executive Order would lead to the strengthening of the Management Council, and provide a system of two-way communication between the managers of the city and the administration. He stressed the fact that he was anxious to receive from the career personnel of the city, suggestions for the improvement of services by more efficient and economic means.

George Farrah, director of operations for the Traffic and Parking Department, and Joseph Paul Sullivan of the Personnel Division of the Administrative Services Department explained the various provisions of the order to the members.

Nominations of candidates for election of four members to the Management Development Council were made at this meeting. Those nominated were:

Howard J. Buckley, Health and Hospitals Department; Dorothy M. Curran, Parks and Recreation Department; Suzanne Delvecchio, Law Department; * George Farrah, Traffic and Parking Department; Rosemary Griffin, Fire Department; * James J. Hyde, Treasury Department; * Francis J. Kelley, Building Department; Leo F. Martin, Building Department; * James A. O'Rourke, Public Works Department, Sewer Division; and Henry R. Previte, Youth Activities Commission.

* Incumbent

Following the meeting, a reception was given the managers by his Honor, Mayor Kevin H. White, at which John Flaherty, the first chairman of the Council was honored. A committee composed of James O'Rourke, of the Public Works Department, Helen Sullivan of the Assessing Department, and Frank Kelley of the Building Department presented Mr. Flaherty with gifts and a scroll in appreciation of his efforts on behalf of the managers of the city.

A suggestion that the managers meet more frequently is being given favorable consideration by the Council.

IV. LETTER OF THANKS

The following letter to the Fire Commissioner is published for the information of the department:

"922 East Broadway,
South Boston,

April 4, 1974.

DEAR MR. COMMISSIONER:

On behalf of my wife and mother, who suffered the agonizing experience of seeing our infant son on the brink of death, may I call to your attention the exemplary performance of your men who on March 25, 1974, at approximately 2 P.M., answered a call of distress when our six-week-old son suddenly stopped breathing, and the efforts of my wife to revive him were hopeless.

Their response was magnificent! In minutes, the ladder truck and chief's car from K and Fourth Streets responded, and the men who came into the house conducted themselves in such an efficient and professional manner that it helped to calm our anxieties. Two men began administering artificial respiration, while a third arranged to transport the baby to Massachusetts General Hospital, where he is still recuperating. There is no question in our mind that these heroic efforts saved our baby's life.

When we met the fire fighters at the hospital, being so humble, they refused to divulge their names. Two days later, upon recognizing my mother in a Dorchester department store, the lieutenant approached and inquired as to the baby's condition. Again he refused to identify himself, stating that he was happy to be of service. It was only through a friend stationed at that house were we able to learn their identity. We want to commend Chief Sikora, Lieutenant DeSisto, Fire Fighters Robert Mansfield and William Robinson.

To say "thanks" seems trite, but it's thanks that we offer to these men for their courageous efforts that day. I hope that through you, in a position of high authority, we are able to express our undying gratitude to these men.

May God bless and keep them in His care.

Gratefully yours,
MICHAEL A. JOYCE."

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without public advertising, based on the following communications:

SAFE STREETS ADVISORY COMMITTEE CRIME PREVENTION PROGRAMS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As Director of the Mayor's Safe Streets Act Advisory Committee, I respectfully request your Honor's written authority to dispense with advertising in the award of a contract to the South Boston Action Council, in an amount not to exceed $70,000, for the period July 1, 1973, to June 30, 1974.

Award of the contract is made pursuant to a grant which comes to the City of Boston from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration through the Governor's Public Safety Committee under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (P. L. 90-351), as amended by the Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1970 (P. L. 91-644).

Under the terms of the contract the South Boston Action Council will continue a community education and community organization program in the D Street neighborhood in South Boston to encourage neighborhood participation in crime prevention efforts and to promote police/community cooperation.

The South Boston Action Council is a community-based self help organization. It initiates programs designed to encourage community development. A variety of social, health, and welfare services are offered to residents of South Boston, many of which will be directly tied into the security program. The Action Council will provide the type of sponsorship, community orientation, and staff competence necessary to make the project a success.

Because of the unique services required to perform the obligations of this contract, it is believed that public advertising would serve no useful or practical purpose.

Respectfully,

WALTER JABZANKA,
Acting Director.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE REPAIRING FIRE DAMAGE

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

A fire has caused extensive damage to the Champlain School, 22 School Street, Dorchester, Mass.

Because of the hazardous condition this fire has caused to the building and its contents, and to prevent entry to the building as it is now, and to protect the health, safety, and welfare of persons and property, I have awarded an emergency contract, without public advertising, to R & L Construction Company, Inc., 1849 Dorchester Avenue, Dorchester, Mass., to clean up the damage and make temporary repairs to secure the building and remove all debris, loose plaster, and burned equipment.

This portion of the emergency work will be in an amount not to exceed thirty-nine hundred dollars ($3,900).

Respectfully yours,

ANTHONY L. GALEOTA,
Chief Structural Engineer.

SUFFOLK COUNTY

Municipal Court, Roxbury District
COPYING MACHINE

YOUR HONOR:

I hereby request permission to award, without advertising, a contract to the Xerox Corporation of 100 Charles River Plaza, Boston, Mass., for the rental of Model 4000 copying machine. Inasmuch as this machine has been installed in this court for approximately the past year, and this same type machine and other machines of the Xerox Corporation are used in various departments of the City of Boston, I feel that no useful purpose would be served by soliciting bids for the rental of such a machine.

This equipment has been used very effectively in the past year to help us complete the vast amount of paper work which is required in our court.

The monthly minimum rental charge for the Model 4000 copier will be two hundred and twenty-five dollars ($225), plus a per copy charge of $.029. However, this copy charge will be applied as a credit to the ($225) minimum charge.

This contract will run for the period from April 1, 1973, through June 30, 1973, and will not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000).

Sincerely yours,

KEESLER H. MONTGOMERY,
Clerk of Court.

Registry of Probate INDEX TO DIVORCES

DEAR MAYOR WHITE:

I hereby respectfully request written authority to dispense with public advertising for bids and enter into a contract with the firm of Hall and McChesney, Inc., P. O. Box 591, Syracuse, New York, for the professional services of creating a computer-edited and printed index to divorces in the County of Suffolk for the period 1957, through 1972, using punched cards in the Registry as source material.

This company has submitted a full contract price of $14,430, for performing all of the services outlined in the specifications (a copy of said specifications is attached).

The aforementioned firm, Hall and McChesney, Inc., in 1969 did a computer-edited and printed index for the probate side of Suffolk Registry, and the previous Register was well satisfied with the results. In addition, this firm does work for the Suffolk Registry of Deeds and various other registries throughout the Commonwealth. I know of no other firm offering this service.

It is necessary to consolidate the divorce indices by provision of chapter 215, section 55, and it is my opinion that no advantage would be gained for publicly advertising for bids.

Very truly yours,

JAMES W. HENNIGAN, JR.,

HON. KEVIN H. WHITE, MAYOR OF BOSTON

GERALD F. O'LEARY
PRESIDENT, CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 66

MONDAY, MAY 6, 1974

NO. 18

Mayor Plans Revitalizing City Services

Mayor Kevin White, drawing on recommendations of the Home Rule Commission, has proposed a major overhaul of city government to eliminate functional overlap and to increase citizen awareness and access to city services.

Among the departments affected would be Administrative Services, Building, Housing Inspection, Auditing, Real Property, and Public Facilities. Some recommendations require only administrative action by the Mayor, while others can be effected by city ordinance and home rule petition.

"There must be an alteration of those practices and institutions which immobilize us when efficiency is so vital," Mayor White said. "There also must be a modernization of city procedures so that Boston will be prepared to meet current problems.

"Government costs are rising nationwide at a phenomenal rate, and one contributing factor is duplication of personnel services. City governments must periodically re-examine the functions and production of various agencies, so that each citizen is assured of receiving maximum value for his or her tax dollar."

In its report to the Mayor, the Home Rule Commission said:

"... the best hope for stemming the tide of rising governmental costs is ongoing evaluation and modernization of the structure, management, and resource-utilization of city government. Managerial innovation in government may serve a role in raising productivity analogous to technological innovation in manufacturing."

In his home rule and organizational reform package Mayor White proposed:

A merger of the Building and Housing Inspection Departments and the special street inspectional force of the Public Works Department into a new Department of Building and Housing Regulation, with services (except major building inspection) decentralized in the neighborhoods;

Creation of a new Department of Consumer Affairs/Boston License Board, which would be responsible for the issuance of most city licenses and permits, with License Board members appointed by the Mayor (presently, Licensing Board members are appointed by the Governor);

Creation of a new General Services Department, which would oversee building maintenance, data processing, purchasing, printing, and the general accounting office. The Auditing Department would turn over its preaudit function to the General Accounting Office and convert to a post-audit department. The Real Property Department would be abolished, with its functions divided between the new department and the Public Facilities Department.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PROGRAM: A REPORT

After two decades of virtual neglect by city government, East Boston became the focal point of revitalization efforts in 1968 as part of a new city-wide policy. The neighborhoods, where people lived, were to be the target of large-scale renewal and capital improvement projects. Basic policies and planning objectives were defined for each neighborhood, and these objectives were translated into specific strategies calling for the development of a variety of capital projects.

In East Boston the objectives were formulated within an overall policy framework: East Boston would continue to be a residential area — Logan Airport expansion in the direction of the community would be contained. From this other objectives developed. The population was to be stabilized and its residential capacity increased. Open space — primarily recreational open space — would be reclaimed. This included both extensive renovations of existing parks and playgrounds and the development of new recreational facilities.

The close-knit community structure was to be encouraged and preserved, and the neighborhood schools were to be improved or replaced with modern facilities. All school construction and renovation was to include soundproofing ma-

Mayor Plans . . .

Creation of a formal Landmarks Commission, with power to designate as landmarks public and private buildings, sites, and areas deemed to have special historical and architectural value;

Abolishing the annual police census of residents at a savings of $500,000 annually — this would be in line with new city and state voter registration reforms;

Raising the informal bid limit from $2,000 to $5,000. The $2,000 limit was set in 1890;

Creation of the Office of the Budget and the Office of Labor Relations — both functions presently are incorporated within the Administrative Services Department which would be abolished;

A revision of fees and charges for licenses and permits, which would generate an additional $2.4 million in new city revenue;

A number of reforms in the Civil Service laws; and Creating the positions of deputy mayor, second deputy, and third deputy. (This has been accomplished by administrative action of the Mayor.)

In its report to the Mayor, the Home Rule Commission noted: "One of the chief causes of unresponsiveness (to the people) is the diffusion of responsibility in city government. City agencies and officers can easily pass the buck, citing activities beyond their control. While the concentration of executive authority in the Mayor is no guaranteed cure of the problem of bureaucratic shuffling, reinforcing and simplifying accountability to the Mayor can strengthen the city's capacity and desire to be responsive to its people.

"Elements of efficiency are also intimately bound up in increased responsiveness to city government. A city cannot be said to have efficient delivery of services to its people when the services do not vary to different communities in the city. Thus, the city's efficiency in the Back Bay area, with 96 percent of its residents without minor children, cannot be measured in the same way as its efficiency in Hyde Park, where 46 percent of the families include children.

"Finally, efficiency and responsibility are closely related. The city cannot achieve its goal of efficiency without establishing organizational accountability and authority which permit aggressive executive action to resolve problems, albeit clear lines of responsibility are not in themselves sufficient to resolve major issues unless they are complemented by managerial competence and efficient operating procedure."

Capital Improvements . .

materials to lessen distraction from the community's noisy neighbor. Finally, to strengthen residential areas and stimulate home improvements, a street and sidewalk improvement program was added to the list.

Formulating objectives and accomplishing them are entirely different matters. Central to Mayor White's administration's promise to revitalize the neighborhoods was the pledge to decentralize some of City Hall's administrative functions, resulting in the creation of Little City Halls in every Boston neighborhood. Neighborhood councils, called Local Area Councils (LACs), were organized in conjunction with the Little City Halls. The local councils were to funnel citizen complaints, review municipal programs and projects aimed at the neighborhood, organize community opinion on local issues, and take action when appropriate.

The East Boston Local Area Council is really a set of councils with overlapping memberships. Councils are established in response to priority concerns and hold weekly meetings, open to all members of the community. Officers are elected annually in local elections open to residents over the age of fourteen, and who have attended at least two meetings in the past year.

Capital improvements recommendations are under the jurisdiction of the East Boston Master Planning and Land Use Advisory Council (formerly two councils, merged together in 1971). Other community groups such as the East Boston APAC (Area Planning and Action Council — the OEO antipoverty agency) channel their input on capital improvements through this local advisory council. The council receives administrative and clerical support from the Little City Hall and planning assistance from the Boston Redevelopment Authority district planner.

No formal procedures have been established for neighborhood involvement in planning capital improvements, but a general format has emerged, mutually satisfying the East Boston Local Advisory Council, the Little City Hall, the Public Facilities Department, the Boston Redevelopment Authority district planner, and the other city departments and consultants involved. All proposed municipal projects are brought to the council's attention by the district planner, the Public Facilities Department, or the Little City Hall manager. A subcommittee is formed, charged with the responsibility of reviewing all phases of the project in detail and mobilizing neighborhood participation for the review.

Since 1968 all capital improvement projects planned by the city for East Boston have been subject to this process and the results have been encouraging. All final decisions relating to the design, location, and scope of the project have been reached by a mutual consensus of the residents, Public Facilities Department, and the other involved parties. There have been no permanently damaging battles (although there have been many long and heated arguments) on the way to consensus, and the residents and the city officials and planners have developed mutual trust and respect.

Even more important, the council has made a number of substantive changes in the city's plans. In the proposed Barnes Middle School, the site plan was altered, shifting the location of the school and recreational facilities. Changes were also made in the design of the school and in the proposed curriculum. For the new Paris Street swimming pool the neighborhood requested and received an Olympic size pool instead of the smaller one the Parks and Recreation Department had planned.

MUSEUM PLANNED FOR OLD IRONSIDES

A $2 million fund-raising drive is currently underway to build the U.S.S. Constitution Museum at the Boston Naval Shipyard in preparation for the multi-million bicentennial visitors. Members of the local Constitution Chapter, U. S. Naval Reserve Association have presented a $1,000 contribution to Rear Admiral Joseph C. Wylie, U.S.N. (Ret.), president of the U.S.S. Constitution Foundation.

Admiral Wylie has announced his intention to have the museum in operation alongside Old Ironsides by Patriots' Day of 1975. Contribution funds will be used to renovate the building, construct five galleries which will feature the history of the oldest commissioned warship in the world, and hire personnel to maintain the new national attraction. Under legislation filed in Washington, the museum is being planned as part of a twenty-five-acre historical site that the National Park Service will operate at the shipyard.

Honorary trustees of the U.S.S. Constitution Museum Foundation are Charles Francis Adams, Jr.; former Speaker John W. McCormack; Rear Admiral Samuel Eliot Morison, U.S.N.R. (Ret.); and former Senator Leverett Saltonstall.

Serving as trustees of the Constitution Museum are Jason A. Aisner, Anthony Athanas, James H. Ballou, Ralph H. Doering, Jr., J. Richard Lamere, Mrs. Ronald T. Lyman, Leon F. Kaufman, W. James McDonald, and Peter B. Seamans.

COMPLAINTS: ALL IN A DAY'S WORK

Ruth Cucchiella likes to save money . . . other people's money, but she isn't a local banker.

She investigates consumer complaints in the Back Bay, Beacon Hill, and the Fenway. She's one of ten consumer investigators placed in the neighborhood Little City Halls by the Boston Consumers Council.

"In these times of spiraling prices it is crucial that every consumer have a clear understanding of the laws enacted for his benefit," Mayor White said recently of the consumer investigators.

"Our investigators, trained in consumer law at Boston College, are well equipped to counsel individuals on their legal rights, as well as to bring quick and effective action for individual consumer problems."

Last year alone, Ruth handled nearly 800 consumer complaints and 85 percent of these were resolved in favor of the consumer.

Mrs. Cucchiella, who has worked out of Back Bay, Beacon Hill, and Fenway Little City Hall within City Hall for two years, says most of the complaints she receives concern rent security deposits and faulty workmanship.

In one case she helped a woman, who had been waiting eight months for her son's $500 defective drum set to be repaired, get results. The manufacturer who was repairing the drum set had never heard of the merchant from whom the woman bought the drum set. The woman received a new drum set from the merchant the next day.

Complaints about poorly made shoes run high on Ruth's list of complaints. It's not unusual, she says, to receive four or five complaints each week from working women whose shoes have not held up well.

To Mrs. Cucchiella, the amount of money involved in a case is secondary. Protecting the rights of the consumer and pointing out the traps and dangers found in the marketplace come first.

Ruth Cucchiella's performance record rests on her negotiation know-how. To get the ball rolling, three steps are required:

Recording each consumer complaint on a special form; finding out what evidence a consumer has (a receipt or contract) that proves an agreement was made with a merchant;

Contacting the merchant or salesman, to hear his side of the story; and Deciding, based on the law, who is right and who is wrong.

In most cases, once the merchant understands the legal rights of the consumer, he will comply, says Mrs. Cucchiella. If not, she will prepare the consumer's evidence for Small Claims Court. "By then the merchant realizes we mean business and usually settles outside court," she says.

Mrs. Cucchiella, who lived and ran a restaurant in the North End for twenty years, and now lives in Jamaica Plain, has a special tip for consumers.

"Merchants often mistake kindness for weakness. If you raise your voice and sound firm, you'll get better results," she says.

To this friendly, energetic woman ensuring good results is making a daily effort to help consumers stay on their toes.

If you have a consumer complaint call the Back Bay Little City Hall in City Hall at 722-4100, ext. 288, and ask for Ruth Cucchiella.

LET'S KEEP AMERICA CLEAN

LEAD POISONING HEARINGS

James T. Lynn, Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, announced that the department will hold hearings on the causes and prevention of lead poisoning.

The week-long hearings, beginning on May 20, 1974, will be designed to obtain information from private and public sources concerning the causes, treatment, and elimination of lead poisoning.

This information, the Secretary declared, will assist HUD in meeting its responsibilities under recent amendments to the federal Lead-Based Paint Poisoning Prevention Act. Those responsibilities include establishing procedures to eliminate as far as practicable the hazards of lead-based paint poisoning in HUD-related existing housing.

The official notice of the hearings, published in the April 8, 1974, issue of the Federal Register, provides detailed information concerning the hearings and solicits information concerning the following:

Evidence on all potential sources of lead poisoning in children;

Indicators of the severity of lead poisoning as a childhood disease;

Evidence to define a level of lead in painted surfaces which may be hazardous to children;

Methods of inspecting for lead hazards and detecting lead levels in paint on surfaces;

Methods for eliminating hazards to workmen and residents in removing lead-based paint;

Methods and procedures for eliminating conditions hazardous to children;

Impact of hazard elimination requirements and procedures on the availability of otherwise standard housing, especially in the inner city;

Alternate solutions for lead-based paint hazard prevention;

Use of available resources to best combat lead poisoning; and Suggestions for furthering new research and demonstration approaches of the department.

FENWAY RENEWAL PROJECT: A REALITY

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has presented the Fenway Project Area Committee (FenPAC) with a check for $5,000, signaling the official start of FenPAC's operations as the Fenway community's representative in the planning and redevelopment activities in the renewal project.

BRA Director Robert T. Kenney, in presenting the check to Anne Gulo, FenPAC chairperson, said, "The FenPAC, consisting of elected representatives and appointed members from Fenway community groups and institutions, is a good reflection of the social fabric and diversity of the community. The contract between FenPAC and the BRA is indicative of the Authority's continuing commitment to citizen participation in the renewal and planning process.

"We look forward to working constructively and effectively with FenPAC in considering the needs of all the Fenway's residents, namely students, property owners, and the elderly," he continued.

Under the contract signed April 11, the thirteen-member committee will review and approve or disapprove all recommendations made by the BRA director to the BRA Board, the decision-making body of the Authority. FenPAC will also prepare a newsletter to keep Fenway residents informed of planning progress in the renewal project, and will communicate the opinions and wishes of Fenway residents to the BRA regarding renewal activities.

Nine FenPAC members were elected under the auspices of the City of Boston Election Department last October 6, representing districts within the Fenway, and three elected at large. The four other committee members were elected or appointed by the St. Botolph Citizens Committee, the institutions in the Fenway, the Symphony Area Property and Business Owners' Association, and the Fenway Civic Association.

The BRA is providing an annual budget of $35,000 for three years to enable FenPAC to hire staff and consultants and to carry out its other specified activities.

DON'T GET STUCK

Only nine days remain to have your Massachusetts registered motor vehicle and/or trailer inspected in compliance with the law. Inspection ends May 15.

Drive to the nearest official inspection station today. Delay may mean that stations may be too busy to make repairs and last-minute inspections.

It is important that you have your registration with you. The registration number on it must match the number on your plate; the vehicle identification number on it must match the VIN on the vehicle. If they do not match, go to a Registry office and have corrections made before you go for inspection, or your vehicle will not be inspected.

Remember, also, that studded tires must be removed before May 1. In order to avoid a rejection sticker, repair work must be completed before the vehicle is submitted for inspection.

HUB GETS BICENTENNIAL CASH

The Massachusetts Bicentennial Commission has chosen 15 community projects to share a total of $50,000 in small matching grants.

Among the communities chosen to receive the largest grants — they may not exceed $7,000, and must be supplemented by equal local funding — are Boston, for a black heritage trail; Cambridge, for a history of the city for children; and Fall River, for a maritime pavilion built around the bow of the U.S.S. Fall River.

The announcement comes as the Bicentennial Commission is seeking $2.5 million from the Legislature.

Boston will receive $7,000 for a walking tour of historical sites of Boston's black community from the seventeenth to the twentieth century, extending and upgrading a project in progress since 1965 of the Museum of Afro-American History, in downtown, Beacon Hill, and the North End.

"LITTLE GREEN MEN" CONTEST

Nearly 2,000 entry blanks have been picked up for the "Little Green Men" contest at the Hayden Planetarium of Boston's Museum of Science, it was reported recently.

Because of leapfrogging interest, the Planetarium has extended the deadline for entering drawings, paintings, or models of extraterrestrial life to May 15.

Excellent prizes in three age categories from under twelve to over eighteen are now on exhibit in the Planetarium lobby. Winners will also receive a one-year Museum membership. The nine winners will be chosen from among a group of finalists, all of whom will receive passes to the Museum and Planetarium.

Dr. Donald Menzel, former director of the Harvard Observatory, is among local scientists who have agreed to judge the contest. Another local judge is Dr. Marvin Minsky of M.I.T.'s Artificial Intelligence Laboratory.

The Planetarium has on exhibit paintings of several fanciful outer-space creatures by Professor Menzel and of another fanciful creature, the Gleeble, by Richard Sheffield of the Museum staff.

"These are purely imaginative works," says Planetarium Director, John M. Carr. "To be eligible for the contest, however, the entries must show both imagination and scientific merit. For example, knowing the atmosphere, the size, and other facts about a planet, you can make some guesses as to what might live there."

The "Little Green Men" contest is being held in conjunction with the current Planetarium program, "Earth Calling," which reports on astronomers' efforts to find out whether intelligent life exists in this or other star systems. Some lighthearted drawings of beings that conceivably could live on various worlds were made for the program by Wendy Pini, wife of Planetarium staffer Richard Pini, and Nancy Daniels of the Museum gift shop.

Contest entry blanks are available at the admissions desk and in the Planetarium office. They will be mailed if the request is accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

MUNICIPAL RESEARCH BUREAU REPORT

City and Suffolk County personnel numbers increased by twenty-one in the month of March — the second consecutive month in which both city and county personnel numbers increased. Whether monthly personnel decreases have reached a plateau and personnel numbers will level off before reaching the 1,600 goal is still uncertain. A more intense effort to reduce personnel numbers is required within the next three months if the goal is to be reached.

In the 15 months since the personnel reduction program began city and Suffolk County personnel numbers have decreased by 1,264 or 7.7 percent. The reduction of 1,264 represents 79.0 percent of the employee reduction goal of 1,600. For this goal to be reached, city and county personnel numbers must decrease by 336 or 112 in each of the remaining three months — a challenging task since in the last six months from September, 1973, through February, 1974, city and county personnel numbers have decreased on an average of only sixty-one per month.

For the month of March the total number of personnel filling permanent city positions and paid from city funds increased from 13,757 to 13,771, an increase of fourteen. The March increase was due to a personnel increase of thirty-three in the Fire Department not offset fully by personnel decreases in other city departments. From January 1, 1973, to March 31, 1974, city personnel numbers decreased from 15,067 to 13,771, a decrease of 1,296 or 8.6 percent.

Suffolk County departments increased their personnel numbers for the fifth consecutive month. In the last five months county personnel numbers have increased by thirty-nine. During March, Suffolk County personnel numbers increased by seven. From January 1, 1973, to March 31, 1974, county personnel numbers increased from 1,441 to 1,473, an increase of thirty-two or 2.2 percent.

Chief Justice of the District Courts of Massachusetts, regarding the obligation of the courts to have personnel available at night to respond to applications for search warrants and other necessary criminal processes.

To satisfy this obligation, the justice or first justice of each district court will see that this department receives a list of names, addresses, and home telephone numbers of the judges, clerks, and assistant clerks authorized by law to issue criminal processes for the court.

In conformance with this, the following procedures will be followed by members of this department engaged in warrant serving functions:

1. Commanding officers of Districts 2, 6, 7, 11, 14, and 15 will see to it that the district court in their district is contacted on a daily basis to obtain the name and home phone number of the person or persons available for warrants at night. Units in need of such information can call the district station in which the concerned district court is located.

2. The officer who wishes to apply for a warrant will, prior to making application, discuss his intent with the district court prosecutor and the department legal advisor for the purpose of determining the legal sufficiency of the affidavit.

3. Whenever possible, officers will conduct their business with the court during ordinary business hours to minimize the frequency of nighttime applications.

As soon as a list of court officials is available, it will be distributed to the necessary units.

This procedure is effective immediately.

MBTA Lists Safety Improvements

"A year of genuine progress," is the way Joseph C. Kelly, General Manager of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA), has described safety improvements on the transit system during the past twelve months. "Following the fires of last January and February, 1973," Mr. Kelly continued, "the Authority stepped up its regular safety program. Now, a year later, a wide range of safety-related improvements have been completed or are nearing completion."

To accomplish the great bulk of the effort, the Authority filed for a federal grant of $10,601,640 with the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) of the Department of Transportation in February of 1973. Approval of this application was given by UMTA in June. The total project cost of $15,902,460 also received a one-third matching contribution of $5,300,820 from local funds.

The principal safety projects completed or begun include the following:

Installation of an independent A.C. lighting system throughout the subway, with power supplied from a variety of sources. This system is designed to eliminate the possibility of lighting failure during tunnel emergencies when the Authority's conventional D.C. power is interrupted. New A.C. lighting is already in place and in operation on a major portion of the Red Line, and work is progressing well elsewhere.

Installation of new ventilation fans throughout the subway, and rehabilitation of older units. As with the lighting, A.C. power supplied from independent sources will allow continued operation of ventilation equipment during any emergency that might disrupt the Authority's regular electrical power. Also included in this work are modifications to street gratings over vent shafts permitting better emergency entrance and exit to the subway tunnels.

Installation of a complete public address system in all downtown subway stations. This network will be centrally controlled from the Authority's Dewey Square Control Center and will permit prompt notification to passengers during delays and emergencies. The system is already installed and in operation on a station-by-station basis. Full central control is scheduled for late spring.

Installation of a complete communication system on the Blue Line, including four base stations, cables, antennae, a public address system, and a train indication system between Maverick and Aquarium Stations. This will give all Blue Line trains continuous voice contact with the Dewey Square Control Center.

Construction of dry standpipes in critical tunnel locations.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PROGRAM: A REPORT

Familiarity with the city's plans has led to meaningful neighborhood involvement in the planning process. In all cases the East Boston district planner provides residents with technical assistance in the analysis of plans and the formulation of alternatives. The Local Advisory Council review process has been so successful that the community has demanded and received the opportunity to review private development proposals as well as municipal ones. In fact, virtually all major construction projects built in East Boston have been subject to a neighborhood review process. Certainly no municipal projects could be built without a consensus between the city and the neighborhood.

The shift in city policy and the development of a meaningful local review process has substantially affected municipal capital investment in East Boston in the last five years. This period has witnessed a dramatic move away from the city's past neglect to the implementation of deliberate plans with specific objectives and real accomplishments. The expansion of recreational opportunities has been highlighted by the construction of the Olympic-sized Paris Street swimming pool and a forthcoming $1 million park, including a sheltered street hockey rink in a renovated structure at

The system has been designed with connections at street level to enable the Fire Department to pump water directly into the subway during fire emergencies.

Purchase of vacuum equipment to be mounted on work trains for cleaning subway tunnels more quickly and efficiently, and decreasing the risk of fire from trash accumulations in tunnels.

Modernization of the MBTA's transportation/operations radio network including replacement of obsolete equipment.

Installation of a public address system on the Orange Line between Dover and Forest Hills Stations.

Installation of special fire protection equipment in relay rooms and signal control rooms.

Installation of a new emergency exit in the Blue Line tunnel near Bowdoin Station.

Installation of a fire alarm system at the Everett yards and shops.

Acquisition of twenty-seven two-way portable radios.

Acquisition and installation of twenty-four mobile radios for maintenance and supervisory vehicles.

Placing of ladders on all rapid transit cars and at regular intervals throughout the tunnels to facilitate evacuation of trains during emergencies.

Installation of additional heavy-duty fire extinguishers on all rapid transit cars.

Mr. Kelly pointed out that the Authority has also reviewed all of its emergency procedures. Acting jointly with the Boston Fire Department and the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, it has revised and updated these procedures, and MBTA personnel have all been reinstructed in their new responsibilities.

"We fervently hope that we never again experience any tragedy like last year's fires," Mr. Kelly said. "But it is reassuring to know that we are now completing a $15 million safety program that will lessen the odds against a repetition and also greatly improve the calibre of transit service we provide."

Capital Improvements . .

Jeffries Point. Floodlights have been installed at East Boston Stadium, American Legion Playground, and are scheduled for the Noyes Playground later this year. Smaller renovations including basketball courts, resurfacing and fences, have been completed at the Paris Street Gym, McLean Playground, Souza Park, Brophy Park, and the Sumner and Lamson Playground.

Extensive sidewalk and street improvements have been done at Jeffries Point, Central Square, and locations throughout East Boston. (As was hoped, a significant amount of home repairs has occurred in the areas most heavily improved.) Additional capital expenditures include remodeling of the District 7 Police Station and sewer and water main improvements. The old city Health Building and Hospital Relief Station have been remodeled and renovated into community health and mental health centers, respectively.

The single most important improvement, however, is the Barnes

Middle School, where groundbreaking took place in January, 1974. The school, being built on the waterfront, will have spaces for 1,000 students and recreational and educational facilities open to all community residents. It will cost $12.6 million and is scheduled to open in September, 1975.

Major renovations at East Boston High School should be under design within the next two years. The work at the high school will include overall modernization and soundproofing of the building. Another waterfront park is being planned on Sumner Street, adjacent to the Maverick Square housing project. A quarter of a million dollar loan order for the park has already been approved by the City Council and application has been made for federal matching funds.

Much work remains to be done to make East Boston the kind of residential neighborhood everyone would like it to be. However, residents have been encouraged by the fact the the job is well under way and by the city's obvious interest in cooperating with them in the planning of their community's future.

The rapport which has developed between residents and city planners and the enthusiastic spirit which infuses the Capital Improvements planning project makes East Boston a model for the entire city.

MUSEUM OF SCIENCE: THE PLACE TO VISIT

Where does one learn about Asia, bread- and wine-making, electricity, and water pollution? During May, the place to go is Boston's Museum of Science, where a variety of intriguing Friday night programs are being held this month.

Throughout the school year, the Museum offers a Friday night special every week at no cost above Museum admission, which is reduced to half price after 5 p.m. (one dollar for adults and fifty cents for children). This year's presentations, which have run the gamut of physical science and natural history topics, will conclude on June 7, with an evening focused on the culture of Armenia.

A highlight of the month will be the presentation of a multiprojection slide show, "Lifestyles of the Asian Peoples," on May 17. Prepared by Museum Trustee Nick DeWolf, the forty-five-minute program offers a personal and empathetic look at the peoples who captured his respect and curiosity during his Asian travels. This dynamic program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The emphasis will shift to water pollution on Friday night, May 24, with an award-winning film on how rivers absorb waste and what happens when they become overloaded. Entitled "The River Must Live," this twenty-one-minute color documentary from Shell Oil Company will be shown at 7 and 8:15 p.m.

The story of electricity will come to light the following Friday, May 31, when "Charge and Discharge," a forty-five-minute auditorium program, is presented at 7 and 8:15 p.m. Using a variety of unusual devices including a static machine, Jacob's ladder, and exploding wire, this fast-paced presentation makes properties of electricity understandable and exciting. This is the first time that this program, given to visiting school groups during the year, is being presented to the public.

Visitors may enjoy a complete evening at the Museum by beginning in the Skyline Cafeteria overlooking the Charles, where delicious meals are served from 5 until 8 p.m.

The Friendly's Ice Cream and Sandwich Shop on the Museum's second floor serves light meals throughout the evening.

The Museum, open until 10 p.m. on Fridays, is easily accessible by MBTA—take the Green Line, Lechmere car to Science Park. For those who drive, ample parking is available at reasonable rates in the garage.

MAIL EARLY PROGRAM LAUNCHED

Mail early in the day is the theme of Postmaster George K. Walker's message to local businessmen as the U.S. Postal Service launches an intensified campaign to change the traditional mailing patterns to conform with today's new electronic mail-processing equipment.

"Over 4,000,000 pieces of outgoing mail are deposited in the Boston Postal District daily, 75 percent of which is received at the South Postal Annex after 5 p.m.," Mr. Walker stated. "All of our electronic equipment is being fully utilized during the evening and early morning hours, but we have the capacity to provide better service to our customers if we receive and process some of this mail early in the day."

Mr. Walker is requesting the business community to analyze and review their firms' mailing operations and to establish an afternoon cutoff (usually between 2 and 3 p.m.) for low priority mail that could be deposited the following morning. "The benefits in improved service to the customer and cost reduction to the Postal Service will be significant," the Postmaster stated.

Additional ZIPtronic letter sorters are being installed at the South Postal Annex, which is the largest mail distribution center in New England, to handle the growing volume of mail.

Tours of the South Postal Annex for business groups to observe modern letter-processing equipment can be arranged by contacting the Postmaster's office.

The Postmaster has announced that effective May 1 the Post Office will not stamp mail deposited after 7 p.m. with the current day's date.

CITY CORPS STARTS VOLUNTEER PROGRAM

City Corps, Boston's volunteer recruitment program, announced the start of a city-wide summer drive to recruit volunteers for placement in city departments and community-based programs.

"There is no limit to the valuable resources that can be developed through the use of volunteers in city government," Mayor White said.

"Volunteer work can be an important instrument for developing and expanding the interests and experience of our citizens, and for bringing imagination and skills to the many programs existing within city government," he said.

Frank Crossen, Director of City Corps, said the development of the program was made possible through the award of a federal grant from ACTION.

Under way since last September, City Corps has placed more than one hundred volunteers in part-time positions with twenty city departments.

In addition to recruiting volunteers for placement within existing programs, City Corps is developing special projects intended to meet the varied interests of volunteers.

Volunteer positions available now and through the summer include:

"Tiny Tots" aides, recreation instructors, and senior citizen aides for the Boston Parks Department.

Recreation and educational instructors for Camp Joy, a summer program operated by the Parks Department for handicapped children and adults.

Research assistants for the Council on Drug Abuse, Rent Control Board, and the Animal Control Commission.

Job developer in the Penal Institutions Department.

Research assistants for "Free Boston," a project to compile by neighborhood everything in Boston that's absolutely free.

For more information about the many interesting opportunities available for volunteers in city government, contact City Corps at 722-4395.

FUNDS ALLOCATED FOR MODEL CITIES PROGRAMS

Secretary James T. Lynn of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development has announced the release of appropriated funds for urban renewal and Model Cities programs during the remainder of fiscal year 1974.

In addition, the department will ask the Congress for an additional $325 million to be used in fiscal year 1975, which begins July 1, 1974, to provide community development funds during the transition period between the present categorical grant system and the expected new community development legislation which would authorize a new consolidated grant program.

Secretary Lynn said that $281 million will be released immediately to enable urban renewal and neighborhood development programs in 430 neighborhoods throughout the country to continue at approximately their previous funding level. He said an additional $200 million transitional funding will be sought for urban renewal in fiscal year 1975.

Further, toward achieving such transition $75 million will be released to assist Model Cities programs in 145 cities in fiscal year 1974 and an additional $125 million will be requested for fiscal year 1975 use.

In addition, rehabilitation loan funds under the section 312 program will be available, above the $60 million previously budgeted, to assist urban renewal activities.

The release of available funds will make a total of $600 million in urban renewal funds and $150 million in Model Cities funds available during fiscal year 1974.

The fiscal year 1975 allocations for urban renewal and Model Cities will be charged against whatever the local unit of government will be entitled to in the first year of the consolidated grant approach, expected to start January 1, under legislation now being considered by the Congress.

"I indicated previously that additional transition funds under the old categorical programs had to be determined, in amount and in timing, with reference to the commencement date for the new community development program," he said. "The results of legislative efforts during the past weeks by the House Subcommittee on Housing give me hope that legislation will be enacted in the months immediately ahead and provide for commencement of the new program not later than January 1. This provides a base point for the department to move ahead with the interim funding plan."

The released funds, and the supplemental funds for fiscal year 1975 when they become available, will be allocated to the HUD field offices on a prorated basis for distribution to communities in their jurisdictions.

SENIOR CITIZENS: BE ALERT

The following suggestions for the safety of our senior citizens have been given through the courtesy of the Crime Prevention Section of the Boston Police Department.

1. Institute a buddy system for shopping, etc. In other words, have someone accompany you so as to afford mutual protection.

2. Carry a whistle or similar device for alarm purposes or scream loudly for assistance if attacked.

3. Never carry large sums of money, credit cards, or valuables in purses or handbags which could be easily snatched.

4. Beware of manipulators who offer get-rich-quick schemes, sharing in lost money, those who represent themselves as law enforcement officers, government officials, etc., as you may fall prey to the so-called "flimflam" game. If approached, notify the local police immediately. The more convincing they are the more apt they are to be dishonest. Always remember that no one is going to give you, a stranger, anything for nothing. The only one that does receive anything for nothing is the swindler.

5. Always do business with a reputable firm, especially in large transactions. Always seek professional advice before signing a contract. If in doubt, check with your Better Business Bureau or local banks. It is always advisable to know your personal banker.

6. Never open doors unless you know the caller. Above all, never allow a stranger in the house under any pretext.

7. Beware of the many ruses used to gain entry which include: having a child ask to use the bathroom, asking to use the phone in cases of emergency, etc.

8. Keep your doors locked at all times, day and night. Have an "eye viewer" in your door. Your windows must be secure also and don't neglect the burglar's favorite entry — your basement windows and doors.

9. Always keep in touch with others by visits or telephone for mutual protection.

10. Always have police emergency number handy, and if unable to remember the number, dial operator and say "police emergency," and be sure to give your address or location.

11. Never place valuables in shopping bags or shopping carts, as they may be easily stolen.

12. Never park in poorly lit or deserted places.

13. Always lock your doors when driving and roll up your windows when driving through congested areas when you may be required to stop for traffic lights. If accosted in a vehicle use your horn as a signal for help.

14. Avoid darkened doorways, heavy shrubbery, alleys, or other places where culprits may hide, and do not walk close to buildings whenever possible, but rather walk in the middle of the sidewalk or nearer the curb or roadway.

15. If attacked, it is not advisable to resist robbery or purse snatching attempts. Remember it is better to lose your valuables than your life.

16. Use caution in carrying so-called protective devices as they may be used against you. Remember your best weapon is your scream or shouts.

17. If you see a crime being committed notify police immediately. In all cases try to secure an accurate description of the perpetrator.

PUTTING CARS OUT TO PASTURE

That sacred cow — the family car — was put out to pasture during the energy crunch. Small cars, car pools, and public transit took their places in the sun.

Days will be a lot sunnier and less polluted if the family car stays off the streets. Detroit got the message fast and dramatically increased its production of small cars, which run on less gas and spew fewer pollutants into everybody's lungs. Car pools caught on in many areas and may become permanent fixtures — spurred on by free or preferential parking provided by employers, by reduced insurance rates in some places like Pennsylvania, by decreased bridge tolls in Delaware. Other allurements such as cash bonuses, green stamps, free gas, and dinners-on-the-house have also been offered by employers.

In Denver, every one of 25,000 federal employees in one concentrated section was asked to fill out a form listing working hours and home address. A computer produced a list of people living within a three-quarter mile area. The engineer in charge of the effort says the aim is to persuade people to use pools permanently. "We don't want it to be a momentary thing to whisk away when the energy crisis is over," he says.

Some people prefer buses to car pools, and they have hired their own. As a result of the energy crunch the Seltzer Company in Philadelphia became a "baby transit system" and ran thirty-two buses for employees. At Westinghouse Electric in Pittsburgh, employees chartered a bus which travels a twenty-mile route and saves almost 20,000 gallons of gas a year.

Several cities offer free rides on downtown shuttle services subsidized by local governments. The number of passengers using public transportation across the country has increased for the first time in this decade.
